Atlanta Symphony; Messiah Perform In Russell Auditorium

This week we were fortunate in having on our campus two outstanding musical events. The Atlanta Symphony Orchestra played Monday night in Russell Auditorium and the combined choirs of Milledgeville presented the "Messiah" on Tuesday.

Under the direction of Henry Sopkin, the Atlanta Symphony presented a program that included Roman Carnival Overture by Hector Berlioz, Symphony in D Minor by Cesar Franck, Jean Sibelius' Swan of Tuonela, Smauel Barber's Adagio for Strings and Sorcerer's Apprentice by Paul Dukas.

The audience show their approval by applauding until the conductor returned for an encore, "Lady of Spain," which, when announced drew oh's and ah's from the delighted audience. The program was closed with a favorite, "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Russell Auditorium again filled to capacity on Tuesday evening to hear George Frederick Handel's ever famous Christmas music. Dr. Max Noah conducted the choirs, Miss Maggie Jenkins was the organist and Mrs. W. H. Allen the pianist. Also featured on the program was the String Ensemble of the Atlanta Symphony who stayed over to be in the "Messiah." The soloists were Miss Alberta Goff, Soprano, Miss Laura Dell Trapnell, Mezzo-Soprano, Frank Sule, Tenor, and Henry Faust, Baritone.

Student Paper

Left Staffless

ATHENS — Acting editors of the University of Georgia's Red and Black published a farewell issue of the student newspaper today, and then resigned — leaving the publication virtually without a staff.

Priscilla Arnold, of Marietta, and Gene Britton, of Moultrie, acting editor and acting managing editor, respectively, are latest student journalists to resign in a current controversy over the newspaper's stand against segregation in education.

Editor Walter Lundy Jr. and Managing Editor Bill Shipp had resigned Wednesday, protesting what they termed "a board of control that would throttle our editorial rights." Miss Arnold and Britton had been appointed to replace them.

Only an assistant news editor and a sports editor and women's editor remained on the official staff tonight.

The controversy which caused the resignations began with Red and Black editorials assailing segregation. An editorial exchange between the student newspaper and the Augusta Courier, edited by Regent Roy Harris, followed.

When university officials attempted to set up a board that would control editorial opinion expressed in the student publication, partially supported by university funds, the two top editors quit.

Lead editorial of the Red and Black yesterday attacked the control board.

Opinions and Attitudes

By Sadie Resseau

Ques. — How Did We Enjoy the Concert?

Mecky Smith says: "I know the Atlanta Symphony was very good, but I believe I enjoyed the one they put on last year better than I enjoyed this one."

Pat Warner truthfully declared: "When I heard them play before, they played livelier pieces than they played last night. Last night their pieces were the most serious that I have ever heard them play."

From the thoughts of Billy Sue West: "The most amusing thing that held my attention was the band leader's way of leading the band."

Ann Sigman's impression is: "I think it is something that everybody should have attended, because it is the best entertainment that we have all the year around."

Baby Contest

Attention, all clubs! Now is the time to enter your faculty advisor or in Y's "baby contest", to be held during W. U. S. week, February 8-12. Get a baby picture of the faculty member you wish to sponsor and turn his, or her name in to Pat Blalock, box 797, before February 1st. Further details will be announced later.

News From Pi Omega Pi

During the fall quarter four students were initiated into Gamma Nu Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, National Business Education Honorary Fraternity. They are: Winn Robinson, Elaine Burch, Jacquelyn Keith and Floy Black. This brings the membership to eight.

Two members, Dot Houston and Libby Smith attended the annual convention of the Southern Business Education Association which was held in Birmingham, Alabama. Dr. Donald C. Fuller, Miss Elizabeth Anthony, and Miss Jane White also attended.

On Sunday, December 7, the annual Christmas dinner was held at Miss Anthony's Parkhurst Apartment. The attraction of the afternoon was the showing of the films which Mr. Joseph Specht took on his trip to Europe.

During the Christmas vacation Miss Jane White, Sponsor, and Miss Ester Ortega, Secretary, will attend the National Business Teachers Association Convention in St. Louis. The Gamma Nu Chapter is preparing 14 posters which will be presented by Dr. Alan C. Lloyd, Editor and Publisher of Gregg Publications in his lecture-demonstration of basic business teaching aids. Miss White has also assisted Dr. Lloyd in getting together teaching aids for use in this lecture. This project is one of several that Gamma Nu Chapter is undertaking and which they will present to the examining committee this spring when the selection is made of the top ten chapters.

Fifth Annual Guest Assembly For High Schools Jan. 22-24

Over four hundred high school students are being invited to GSCW campus for the fifth annual Georgia Girls Guest Assembly. The Assembly which acquaints girls with the college, its purposes and aims, activities, students and faculty will be held January 22-January 24, 1954.

Battalion Review and Crack Squad Demonstration at 4 p.m.

Cornelia Otis Skinner, famed author and actress, will give a performance Friday evening. Following this will be pajama parties in all of the dorm rec halls and Taps sponsored by YWCA.

An informal open house will be held at the Mansion on Saturday morning where students will have the opportunity of visiting one of the oldest and most noted homes in Georgia. A discussion session among college students and their high school guests will be held in the dormitory parlors. A faculty member will be present at these "Information, Please" sessions to help in answering the various questions about the colleges, finances, etc.

The students will join in a Play Day to be held in the Gym at 3 p.m., Saturday, and after dinner they will see the collective efforts of College Theatre, A Capella Choir, and the Modern Dance Clubs, in "Curtain Time."

The Assembly will officially adjourn on Sunday morning but the students are invited to attend church with GSCW girls and to remain for dinner.

The past assemblies have been very successful events at GSCW and many present students remember them as their first introduction to college life. The College is anxious to have all interested girls visit us for this weekend, so if you have a friend still in high school give her address to your faculty advisor so she may receive an invitation to High School Weekend.

High school seniors are invited to come to GSCW Friday morning and to attend regular college classes from 11 to 1 o'clock. Lunch will be held in the Atkinson Dining Hall at one, after which students will be free until 3:30 when the Convocation will be held in Russell Auditorium. Dr. Henry King Stanford and Miss Pat Sutton will give official welcome to the students. Davenport Field, GMC, will be the place of the GMC

MERRY CHRISTMAS HAPPY NEW YEAR

Noted Visitor Dies: Terrell In Mourning

Patsy Blalock

T. P. 2, who arrived Wednesday night to visit Miss Rachel McEver, of 2nd floor, Terrell Proper, died Thursday at noon after a sudden and brief illness.

Last rites for T. P. 2 were held at 3:15 Thursday afternoon in Terrell Proper round-room. The casket, lined with tissue paper, rested upon a white muslin-covered ironing board, and a spray of pink roses rested atop the coffin. A bouquet of dead (to fit the occasion) chrysanthemums rested on chairs at each side of the bier. The entire room was draped in black skirts.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Elaine Holloman, scripture was read by Miss Rachel McEver, foster mother of the deceased, and Miss Pat Warner led the prayer. An original version of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" was rendered by Miss Nancy West, and as a final tribute, Miss Georgia Lee Coley led the group in

Christmas Dance Big Success

One of the most festive occasions of the year occurred Saturday night when the Christmas Dance, sponsored by the Senior Class, was held in the Gym. Beautifully decorated with greenery and holly the stairs led to the gym door where the immense Christmas tree could be viewed. The bandstand was at one end of the gym and a fireplace and candles at the singing "So Long, It's Been Good to Know You."

Fall Bearers were Miss Marianne Rivers and Miss Ramona Gilbert.

Burial followed at "Front Campus Cemetery." The Rev. Holloman dug the grave with a cake knife, and the funeral cortege was witnessed by, among others, Miss Iva Chandler, and Mr. Joe Specht.

Besides Miss McEver, survivors of T. P. 2 include the twenty other residents of Terrell Proper, second floor, all of whom mourn the loss of the most noble sparrow who ever flew the halls of Terrell, other. The goal boards each had a huge red Christmas stocking filled with toys hanging from it and on one wall was amural with snowmen and Christmas Carolers.

The music was furnished by the "Professors" from Georgia Teachers College at Statesboro. The floor show was highlighted by a group of impersonations with records that was given by Bobby Schendick of Decatur who is making a name for himself in the entertainment world.

The little gym was magically turned into the refreshment room and it was decorated with greenery and candles on each of the small tables.

All the fun of the evening came to a close for underclassmen at twelve, but the Seniors continued their merrymaking at a breakfast with their dates in the College Cafeteria.

The dance will live for a long while in the memory of Jessies and as they store their pretty dresses away thoughts will run ahead till the next dance, which, like everything, is the very best for a cherished moment.

Sebba Is Banquet Speaker

Dr. Gregor Sebba of the University of Georgia was the speaker at the fall meeting of the Georgia Beta Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu which was held in the College Cafeteria on December 3.

Dr. T. E. Smith, chapter president, presided at the meeting and Mr. Herbert Massey gave the invocation. The speaker was introduced by Miss Nancy Kobs, vice-president of the chapter. "Forecasting in the Social Field" was the topic of Dr. Sebba's thought-provoking address. Born in Latvia, educated in Austria, and now working in Georgia, Dr. Sebba is a statistician, an author, a linguist, and the possessor of two doctorate degrees. He is now a citizen of the United States and has served in the U. S. Army.

Members of the International Relations Club were invited to hear the address with Pi Gamma Mu members.

CHRISTMAS FOR ALL

God bless old jolly Santa Claus
And speed him on his way
With presents for theyoung and old . . . to brighten Christmas day . . . with pretty dolls and Teddy bears . . . for little girls and boys . . . And luxuries for older folks . . . Who look for larger joys . . . May Christmas bring good will to men . . . And peace to every land . . . With faith and hope and charity . . .
And love on every hand . . . Let everyone help Santa Claus . . . To be a real success . . . And decorate each Christmas tree . . . with perfect happiness . . . and may the spirit linger through . . . The year about to start . . . that God may give His blessing great . . .
To every human heart.

DECEMBER RAIN

December rain is like no other rain.
It strips the last pretenses from the trees
And bares the hollows in the mountain's face
Before it finds its way to final seas
Through hidden courses in the sodden earth.
Impersonal as fate, slow and austere,
It falls, performing in a solemn rite
The last ablution of the dying year.

Y's Owl

As I breezed into cabinet meeting last Wednesday, I stopped short at the door — "Goodness!
I must be in the wrong place. We never have dressed formally before. I almost flapped out when my eyes found my apartment mate, Izzie, who wasn't dressed formally — not by a long shot. I then discovered President Caldwell and Miss Folger were ushering for the 'Messiah'".

Everyone surely was excited and up in the air over something.
It turned out to be a "Good Will Deputation" from Tech coming during Winter quarter. Wonder what Jeanne Brannan meant when she jumped up and shouted. "Oh!
There will be enough for all of us."

Let's try to make some little child's Christmas a bit happier this year. We want everyone to bring toys to the Owlcove. They are to be distributed to needy families. This is our chance to share and, after all, that's the real spirit of Christmas.

So this is Dead Week — I haven't been to any funeral procession, but judging by the dark circles under eyes there must be some sort of contagious disease around here that will soon kill off a few.

The holidays will be here before anyone drops dead from pure exhaustion, so keep your chins up and Happy Holidays.

MODERN DANCERS TO SEE BALLET

Tentative plans are now under way for thirty - two members of the Modern Dance Clubs to attend the Sadler Well's Ballet in Atlanta on January 6th.

Both clubs have choreographed new dances. The Junior Dance Club will present two new ones and the Senior Dance Club will produce "Rehearsals Under the Big Top" to the music of Richard Rogers.

Mrs. Hodges is planning to take pictures of these dances which will be shown during High School Weekend.

Freshmen Win Volleyball Championship

By Sue Ozburn

The Freshmen took their fifth win while only losing one game to become the undisputed champions of both class and dormitory play. The Freshmen, after losing to the Seniors in an over time game 42-39, came back to avenge their loss and assure themselves of the title with a 33-31 victory over the seniors in the inal game. The game proved to be very close, and the fighting Irish had to put up quite a battle to finally edge a determined Senior team. Both teams were cheered on from the side lines by their sister classes, whose enthusiasm was rewarded with one of the of the most beautifully played games seen this year.

In the semi-final game the Seniors took a close victory from the Juniors. The game ended in a 25-25 tie. In the overtime the seniors scored 18 points while the Juniors could only account for 8. The final whistle found the Seniors on top of a 37-33 score.

In chapel, Mary Alice Clower, president of Rec., presented Mae Jane Scott, captain of the Freshmen team with the volleyball trophy.

Christmas Spirit

Take a few minutes off this week and drop by Porter Gallery and see the original Christmas decorations on display by the Art Department. You'll find quite a variety and though everything may not appeal to you there's sure to be at least one "intriguing" object de art.

We found something designed for every age group from a traditional Christmas tree to a mobile and attractive dried flower arrangements as well as several door arrangements that are very different.

While you're there step upstairs to Room 1 and gather some more ideas to try out at home, in your dorm room, class room or most anyplace you want to be a bit Christmasy.
