A co-ed, now rivalling Pope, writes an "Essay On Man" and, following Caesar's division of Gaul, divides all men into three classes; those we use (or that use us), those we enjoy, and those we love. Personally we would like a combination of the three kinds, but are well aware that they ain't no sich animal. In our own humble opinion most of them belong in the first class but even then, some of them are not even useful.

The faculty of the University of Georgia is studying a "two year" graduation plan designed to give the upper classmen five or six hours of work each week on particular subject instead of three as now required. The new plan would award certificates of graduation at the end of the sophomore year. This would necessitate the organization of the freshman and sophomore classes into a junior college and the junior and senior claesses into a senior college. -Red and Black.

CONCERNING RULING NEW ABȘENCES

Due to a recent investigation conducted by several members of the faculty-there will be no points taken away from the final grades on account of illness either on the campus or at home, if a doctor's certificate is presented with the absence card.

This information was announced to the students by Dr. Beeson, at chapel on Friday morning.

Heretofore, absences of any kind, except where special permission was granted by the President have counted off so many points according to the credit hours of the course.

BOUND

A short interview with the head librarian, Miss Sattenfield, reveals Dr. Darell B. Harmon, research an interesting bit of news in regard to the greatly needed bindings for the current magazines. This feature of work in the library is rapidly materializing and Miss Satterfield hopes to be able to send the magazines off at an early date to be bound into volumns. The bindings are to be done in Library Buckram Binding and After studying the colleges in the volumns are to be placed shelves in the reading room where they will be more easily accessible to every one at all times.

> The bindings for the magazines have long been needed and when secured will keep greatly in improving the efficiency in the library as well as preserving the magazines for permanent record.

> Current popular daily newspapers are also to be put away for references and safe-keeping in similiar bindings.

Among the recent best fiction which has been added in the Library is: "The Ring of the Lowenskolds," by Selma Longerlof, "The Fortunate Wayfarer," by E. Philips Oppenheim, "Madman's Drum", by Lynd Ward, and "Portrait by Caroline," Sylvia Thompson,

The former is a book in three parts, each part of which is a conintrigue in the country of Sweden.

"The Footunate Wayfarer" is a welcome edition to the collection of Oppenheim mystery stories.

"Madman's Drum" a novel in wodcuts by Lynd Ward is the second of those peculiarly depicted novels." God's Man by the same author is the other novel of that type in the Library.

"Portrait by Caroline" is another interesting work of fiction by the author of "Hounds of Spring", Sylvia Thompson.

"American Leviathan" by Chas A and William Beard and "The Story of The Nightingales" by E. A. Robinson are among the non-fiction in the Library.

Another interesting bit of news gathered in the interview was that a collection of sixteen volumns has been added to the Chancer sheld. This brings the total number of works and criticisms of this immortal story teller up to a quota sufficient for the time being for scholastic refer-

MAGAZINES IN LIBRARY TO BE AUTHORS UNDER 40 WRITE VERY FEW GOOD BOOKS SAYS ERSKINE

Noted Writer Tells of the Procedure in The Writing of His Novels; Advises All Writers

Cleveland, O .- (AP.) - "Few good novels are produced by writers under the age of 40," Prof. John Erskine. author and president of the Julliard Music Foundation in New York, said in an interview here. "I don't want to discourage young writers, but too often they are sucked dry by their first success. Then they go into retreat in a closet with books and we hear no more of them," Erskine advises that every author have a lot to do besides writing. Other work would furnish the writer material to write about," he said.

In writing a novel, Erskine rarely writes more than an hour a day. Usually he puts down only 300 words, which is about a page of print, he said.

This is ms program in constructing a novel: a first draft with no revisions, after six months spent collecting data, then critical revision, and finally dewriting often two or three times.

Eriskine is a tall easy-mannered man with a heavy but pleasing voice. He doesn't care to talk about his writings with most people ,he said, tinuation of a delightful family | because they try to be complmentary, and to "play up to a successful author."

> Erskine is on leave from Columbia University, where he taught English. He is striving to "make America as much a music loving country as Germany." He dreams of seeing the majority of American shehoolboys pianists and most of the aldermen acquainted with the organ, and the whole country as versed in music as it is in baseball.

> This country suffers more than any other from inhibitions, he said, and defined the term as "unwillngness to do the beautiful or delightful." People are afraid of being laughed at, he said Music is underrated as a method of mental training,—he added, and is one of the things laughed at in many places.

Too much money is wasted on private music lessons, he said, which stop in two or three years.

BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT MAKES COLLECTION OF ILLUSTRATIVE MATERIAL

The department of Biology is making an interesting collection of magazine pictures and articles pertaining to any phase of biology. These clippings will be mounted and is now being used exclusively in the filed according to the subject treated and will be used as illustrative material for the biology lectures. Nature magazines, science magazines and others furnish the source of the collection.

"The philosophy at Georgia State College for Women intrigues me very much," said Dr. Harmon, as it sets out to do the job differently. The institution sets out to provide for the cultural, vocational, and professional education of women and is doing it nobly. It has sensed another obligation, that of training women for home making."

The philosophy of the college is definitely set forth as follows:

The object of the State in establishing and supporting this College is to provide for the young women of Georgia an institution in which they may get such special instruction and training as will prepare them to earn their own living by the vocation of teaching or by those industrial and fine arts that are suitable for women to pursue. Moreover, for the sake of a higher culture, the institution teaches those branches of learning that constitute a good general education and lead to the achieving of the baccalaureate degrees. It futhermore instructs and trains its students in those household arts and sciences that are essential to the complete education of every woman, whatever her calling in life may be or in whatever sphere of society she may move. In other words, the purpose of the College is to prepare the young women of Georgia:

- 1. To do intelligent work as teachers, according to the best methods known to modern education.
- 2. To earn their own livelihood by the practice of some one or other of those industrial arts suitable for women to follow.
- 3. To exert an uplifting and refining influence on the family and society by means of cultured intellect, which can only be attained by a systematic education in the higher branches of learning.
- 4. To be skillful and expert in those domestic arts that lie at the foundation of all successful housekeeping.

FROSH IN ENGLISH HAS A HARD TIME

First October Term Is Terrifying, Overwhelmng, and Most Delightful.

An undergraduate's first October term is the most terrifying, the most overwhelming, and the most deightful thing that can happen to

The first outstanding characteristic of a Fresher (at Oxford or Cambridge) is his freshness, the second his noble effort to conceal his freshness, and the third his miserable failure to do so.

The really overwhelming desire of the average Fresher is to possess himself of a gown sufficiently tattered to disguise him as a third-year man. He succeeds usually in looking like a Fresher disguised as himself.

Among the mysteries into which the Fresher is initiated sooner or later is the place in the scheme of things which is occpuied by the college servant-in Oxford "scout," in Cambridge "gyp."

Undergraduates in colleges live on "staircases." Each staircase has a guardian angel in the person of a 'scout" or "gyp." The happiness college is in the hands of the scout in charge of his particular

A good scout can turn college rooms into a paradise. A bad scout, a In one swift moment he will take disgrauntled scout, an untipped scout, Up again his yoke-but near the ivy can transform a whole starcase into a purgatory.

The Fresher learns these and other things. He finds that he must address his tutor as "Sir"; he must must not be seen to enter or leave a public house he must not drive a motor car until he has ceased to be a Fresher; he must be in college by James Whitcomb Riley in Scribners. midnight, and must pay a fine if he is out later than 10 p. m.; he must not work in the afternoon; he must Second Oldest Newspaper in the learn how to wear grey flannel trousers gracefully; he must not decorate his room with articles bearing his college crest; and he must never forget that although tradesmen call him "Sir" and his tutor calls him "Mr." he is still legally a boy and still in the eyes of the University "In Statu Pujillari."—The London Evening Standard.
