Eight Hundred Visitors Expected For Second Parents' Day Celebration

GALA DAY SEEN FOR GUESTS EXPECTED

Eight hundred parents and visitors are expected to spend the day on the campus today in celebration of the second annual Parents' Day which is sponsored by the alumnae association and the Granddaughters' club. Acceptances have been received from over seven hundred people and others are expected to come without having written their intentions of coming.

There has been much friendly rivalry between the classes and dormitories in an endeavor to have the largest number of parents present, with Bell Hall and Bell Annex seeming to have a slight lead, according to present indications. Bell Annex was awarded the prize last year for having the most parents present at the first Parents' Day celebration.

An interesting program has been planned for the day, under the direction of Miss Louise Smith, first vice-president of the alumnae association, and the officers of the Granddaughters club who are Misses Dorothy Ellis, Monticello, president; Virginia Oliver, College Park, vice president; Rosa Blue Williams, Buena Vista, secretary; Harriett Mincey, Warthen, treasurer.

The Parents' Day celebration is one of the most outstanding events of the school year, and every student at G. S. C. W. has been making plans for some time for their parents to visit the school at this time.

The first of the eight hundred visitors are expected to arrive shortly before nine o'clock Friday morning. They are asked to register immediately upon their arrival before the program for the day. Members of the Granddaughters' club will be on the front porch of Parks hall to

Parents' Day Sponsored Twice By Granddaughters Club

The Granddaughters club was organized in 1933 by the alumnae association of the Georgia State College for Women. The membership of the club includes students whose mothers attended school here several years ago. At present there are eighty members.

Miss Louise Smith, first vice-president of the alumnae association, is the adviser of the club and the officers are Miss Dorothy Ellis, Monticello, president; Miss Virginia Oliver, College Park, vice president; Miss Rosa Blue Williams, Buena Vista, secretary; Miss Harriett Mincey, Warthen, treasurer.

The Granddaughters club sponsored Parents' Day for the first time last year, and the annual celebration is one of the major projects for the year.

The members of the club are Misses Louise Alford, Milledgeville; Isabelle Allen, Social Circle; Mar-

Miss Viola Carruth, May Queen and Her Attendants

VI CARRUTH WILL RULE AS MAY QUEEN

The first May festival ever held at the Georgia State College for Women will be held Friday afternoon at which time Miss Viola Carruth, Roswell, will be crowned May queen. The festival will be held on the front campus and will bring the second Parents' Day's activities to a close.

The festival will begin with the procession of the queen and her attendants, who are Miss Mary Jim Williams, Greensboro, maid of honor; and the ladies-in-waiting, Miss Elizabeth Jamison, Savannah; Miss Mary Louise Dunn, Marietta; Miss Marjorie Sykes, Columbus; Miss Caroline Ridley, Atlanta; Miss Dorothy Allen, Hapeville; Miss Georgellen Walker, McDonough; Miss Juliette Burrus, Columbus; Miss Mary Pitts Allen, Monticello; Miss Mary McGavock, Thomasville; Miss Lavert Weems, Cartersville; Miss Eolyne Greene, Macon; Miss Rachel Persons, Monticello; little Miss Anne Wells, crown bearer; little Miss Kitty Marie Smith, flower girl; little Misses Frances Binion and Jean Langley, train bearers.

The theme of the festival will be the seeking of her Fate by the queen. Many opportunities await her, but it is hard for her to make her final decision. Dancers from all classes take part in the activities to help the queen make her decision.

The costumes for the pageant were designed by Miss Mamie Padgett, had of the art department, and Miss Blanche Greene, of the health and physical education department; the dances were directed by Miss Annie Jo Moye, Miss Margaret Candler, and Miss Greene, of the health and

WELCOME!

A unique welcome is extended to you, our parents.

For the first time in the history of the Georgia State College for Women an organization in the great experiment of government—the Student Government Association of G. S. C. W.—says, "We are glad you are here; we shall try to 'govern' your day wisely and enjoyably."

The student Government Association extends a sincere welcome to all of you, and hopes you will come back soon.

Parents' Day Sponsor

Herty Medal to Be Presented Here May 18

The presentation of the Herty medal for this year will be made at G. S. C. W. on May 18 at a meeting of the Georgia section of the American Chemical society. Dr. Francis Perry Dunnington, of Charlottesville, Va., has been named to receive the medal this year which will be awarded at a banquet to be given on the night of May 18.

WELCOME!

We feel that one of the very most important days at G. S. C. W. is the one that we have set aside to honor those who have made our being here at college possible. We have looked forward to your coming for a long time, and wish for you the happiest day ever!

Sincerely,

JANE CASSELS.

Y. W. C. A. President.

Student Government Leaders Installed on Wednesday

The first installation services of the Student Government Association ever held at G. S. C. W. were held on Wednesday morning in the auditorium at eleven o'clock.

The new officers who were installed were Viola James, Atlanta, president; Rosalie Sutton, Brunswick, vice president; Evelyn Green, Atlanta, secretary; Jeanne Parker, Thomasville, treasurer. Grace Greene, Waynesboro, clerk of the court; Georgellen Walker, senior class representative to council; Sara Ruth Allmond, junior representative to council; Frances Roane,

The retiring officers of the association are Elizabeth Pollard, Jacksonville, Fla., president; Viola James, Atlanta, vice-president; Margaret Garbutt, Albany, acting secretary. Billie Jennings, Augusta, clerk of the court; Margaret Ed-

Welcome, Mother and Dad!

And many thanks to the Granddaughters club for instigating the idea of Parents' Day at the Georgia State College for Women.

We have eagerly been waiting for it, these many weeks for the time to come when we might honor our mothers, fathers and guardians at this unique celebration, and now the time has actually arrived.

The faculty and student body extend a sincere welcome to Mr. and Mrs. John Parent and Mr. and Mrs. William Guardian, with the hope that they will enjoy their stay on our beautiful campus.

We hope they like the campus; our classes, our teachers, or dormitories, and our activities. In fact we hope they like everything about the G. S. C. W. campus, because we do. We want them to make plans to come back every year on this time and see how we live, how we work, how we play. We think they will enjoy it, and we know we will.

This Parents' Day celebration is a bit unique, and we think it is a marvelous idea. It is so much fun having Mother and Dad meet our friends, our friend's Mother and Dad, our teachers.

The orchids go to Miss Louise Smith and the members of the Granddaughters club for the planning and the arrangements for the entertainment. They have done a grand job of it, and deserve the heartiest congratulations.

Again, let us extend a welcome to all the parents and friends of the students at G. S. C. W. and hope that they have a grand time while they are here. We will expect them all back this time next year for the third Parents' Day celebration.

Then comes the male survey at the University of Oregon (Eugene) wherein the majority of men queried reported their belief that co-eds are pseudo-sophisticates. Furthermore, one group of them voted 15 to 5 that "down-town girls" were more suitable for dates than the campus beauties.

The New for the Old

The end of the academic year is approaching and with the expiring of the year's pleasures and duties there comes the inevitable changes. Seniors begin to think about graduation; underclassmen anticipate, though few of them will readily admit it, the re-opening of school in September. They look forward to their new positions in the various classes and organizations, and to working and playing together. However, within the everyday routine of work, there are some changes being made which will go into effect before the end of the year. Officers of many organizations have been elected for the next year, and will go into office for a short while before school closes. The old order is changing; the new is replacing it.

With this issue of the COLONNADE the present staff submits its final efforts to make a newspaper that would be worthy of the name. With the aid of the faculty adviser, with the support of the students and faculty, with the suggestions and helpful criticism of many, we have made our attempts at publishing a newspaper during the past months.

It hasn't all been smooth sailing, not by any means much to us all. We hope that these editions of the COLONNADE have been worthy of your enjoyment, or at least your perusal, and that we have been able to perform satisfactorily the task allotted to us for the year.

The COLONNADE is the voice of the students and faculty, although everybody has not recognized that fact during the time the present staff has been in office. It is for the students, about the students, and by the students, with the staff members acting as go-betweens. Any student should feel free at any time to express her opinions through the columns of the COLONNADE.

When the new staff goes into office, give them a hand. They will be more than glad to have suggestions and criticisms. And unless students and faculty members do voice their opinions, the staff cannot be sure that they are pleasing all.

The senior members of the staff regret their seniority as it means giving up work that has been both pleasant and profitable. The other members of the staff regret their leaving because it has been an enjoyable year working together. Association with the official "voice of the students" has not been simply a responsibility that has been at the same time a pleasure; it has been a privilege.

The outgoing members of the staff turn over their typewriters and stubby pencils to the new would-be-journalists with a good deal of regret. We offer you our sincere hopes for the success that you are sure to attain. We anticipate better COLONNADES next year, made possible by your cooperation effort with the entire staff. Regard the COLONNADE as something that belongs to you and to G. S. C. W.—and as such something worthy of your best efforts.

Yours for bigger and better COLONNADES!

Hobgoblins in College

We college girls have a rather hard time: so many standards and conventions that we are supposed to abide by have already been settled for us long ago. We have until now acted largely according to standards set up in the home, sometimes good ones, sometimes outgrown ones. And when we come to school we run into fixed ideas. Discriminations in dress have been set, for instance, and a girl is often miserable because she does not have what June has. She wears bangs and a great many funny-looking curls, and she paints her mouth into a "scarlet gash" across her face, because Katherine Hepburn or Joan Crawford did so in her latest picture and because — well, everybody else does.

The college girl must be very witty and "cute." So often, rather apologetically, she sets aside her good breeding and her good manners. All out for fraternity! And fraternity seems to imply that everyone is like the others; that to be popular and a good sport a girl must follow the crowd. And not being content to be pushed along with the mass under these rather superficial standards, she often lets herself be led into a foolish conformity in deeper things.

Emerson says, "A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds." Parallel is his idea of a foolish conformity. The little mind must bow to the hobgoblin, afraid not to carry on his petty requirements for foolish consistency or conformity. Now, we have all probably come to school with little minds, considering the fact that they contain little. But they do have possibilities for growth. That's why we come to school; to make the best of possibilities; to increase them and thereby increase the size of our minds. So we don't want to give a mere hobgoblin the chance of a dictatorship.

Of course, we believe in making ourselves as personally attractive as possible. If curls and bangs help, then let's have curls and bangs, and lots of 'em. And it's often fun to experiment. Suspicion tells us that the main reason why a person hasn't tried bangs is that she has a cowlick! Individual differences should be catered to, whether in prettiness or smartness.

But just because a girl follows the latest styles in dress, she does not necessarily have to go in for foolish conformities in manner and deportment that seem to suit her dress and the style that "everybody else" thinks is correct. But of course dress and manners are relatively small conformities.

There's always the danger of following the crowd in opinion as well as in bangs. And when one gets the crowd-opinion the backbone begins to soften, and the hobgoblin comes in worrying and nagging and haggling, trying to get us to do, not as we think best, but as he says (he can't think, you know). One particularly apt and angering foolish-conformist said, "I want to like people here at school, but the girls won't let me. I say that I like a certain teacher or student and they exclaim, 'You like her? Why nobody likes her; she . . .'" Of course this girl is doing what she thinks she should in accepting someone else's idea. But such foolish conformity!

Then there is that danger that concerns a girl's attitude toward school work. There are many whose bangs begin with "b" for "bluffing," and that's what they stand for. Now, we've tried bluffing; but we doubt seriously having accomplished anything by it. Can you think of a single time when you have, really? You can't fool teachers. Sooner or later they always manage to find out and it's usually sooner. Most of us have learned better than to practice bluffing; but there are some who still have the habit of trying it. But really and truly, they've bluffed themselves and that's about as far as they've gone, or will ever go.

Another menace is that supercilious vaneer that some girls acquire in regard to religion and religious activities. The Y. W. C. A. has a firm basis; its ideals are worthy of anyone's time and interest. It has something for each student. But there are some who openly scoff, and others who merely stare indifferently at the mention of the subject. The same way about student government. They say it might be all right for some people, but it doesn't concern me. They're afraid the hobgoblin will get them if they don't watch out. They should try getting the hobgoblin and giving him a few scoffs and stares. He's easily scared off. He's afraid of independence.

Ima GOSSIP

A bird in the hand may be worth two in the bush, but no double quantity could climb up to some I saw in a tree last week. Such a proverb needs explaining so I 'spose I'm the one to do it.

Anyone taking bird study might have declared that she was having an optical illusion if she chanced to look into the big tree nearest the flag pole and saw Cook and Doss—two little eggs—nesting among the branches. Tommy and Virginia are the names that make them answer our call, so if you can place your name a little to the left of each of the aforementioned ones you can see what birds I am talking about. These two little flitting freshmen had the high minded thought of climbing a tree, so with the aid of a bench and four bare feet, up they went. You can easily imagine what happened when they decided to come down—only to find that someone had moved the perch they were depending on.

Their flight to the ground was one of the funniest things I've ever seen and if all birds looked that comical when they decided to leave a tree—well, this is already a funny world but many such sights would surely be a wear on the American sense of humor—to say nothing of the trees.

What's this—are our teachers going cannibal while we calmly sit in our classes and wait for the bread of life to gradually soak in? In what? The idea came to me when our own Miss Louise Smith got up in chapel and said she would like to eat the Personality Interest Group. I call that whatan appetite but we can tell from the ones she chose she has good taste.

There's one Senior in this school who deserves a diploma dipped in gold—plus 25 Bell hall as a souvenir. She is none other than Agnes Smith, a hale and hearty soul whose senior privilege it is to keep the three "up and already here" school presidents on the straight and narrow hall. Ag has a time with our Katy Bell, Jane and Vi, but they too have their moments with her. What I wonder is what Ag did to deserve being locked in the bathroom while Jane walked off with the old key not long ago. What's that—a little off key or just a plain old lockout?

I always did like the way Marion Baughn looked into things but now I know she has a keen insight. I found this out when she went to see a friend of hers and found a "busy" sign on the door. Being a "non-believer" in all the signs she sees, she decided to investigate the matter. Ask her what she saw when she pushed a trunk in front of the door, climbed up in top and peeped over the transom. She ain't so dumb!

I may be a gossip, but even I, at times get sentimental. Yes, it's true. And all this Parents' Day talk is making me get soft and gushing, and I can't do anything about it. Gosh, when I think about "Mommy" coming down here, and dad too—and nothing's wrong with me, I mean—why, I get the funniest feeling in the region known to anatomy students as cardiac, or in plain English just the heart. (Yeah, now mommy will know just what they think of me down here, and she'll have confabs with my teachers, and they'll tell her Heaven only knows what, and then she'll have heart trouble, her-

Welcome To The Parents

In behalf of the Recreation Association of G. S. C. W. we extend to each of you a most hearty welcome. It is our desire that on this one day of your life we can make you feel as welcome in our college home as you have made us feel all the many years in your homes.

Our association strives to make all your daughters happy throughout the year, so let us make you feel the same for one day. Again, welcome to our campus!

KATHLEEN ROBERTS,
President.

National Music Week Observed With 7 Programs

National Music Week was observed very profitably on the G. S. C. W. campus. The various programs which have been given proved most enjoyable.

The Y. W. C. A. introduced music week at Vespers on Sunday night with a program on the origin of some of the well known hymns. On Monday night the students and faculty of the music department presented a program. The first part of the program was made up entirely of selections from the compositions of Bach, in honor of his two hundred and fiftieth anniversary. The remainder of the program was devoted to the works of more contemporary musicians.

At chapel on Tuesday a concert was given including the college orchestra, the organ, piano, and a number of voice pupils. The second program which was given on Tuesday was that rendered by the Georgia Cherokees on the front campus from six until six-thirty. Their selections were semi-classical.

Wednesday morning Dr. Wells spoke in chapel on the "Value of Music." There was also some special music in connection with his talk.

Wednesday night at eight-thirty the freshman glee club was presented in recital, under the direction of Miss Alice Lenore Tucker. Mrs. Helen Granade Long, organist and choristress of the Methodist church, was guest soloist on the program.

The last of the musical programs was held at vespers on Thursday night, the subject being "Worship Through Music and Interpretive Dancing." Billie Howington, Viola James, and Billie Jennings arranged a special dance to "Thanks Be To God" and Marjorie Sykes did an interpretive dance to the music of "Adoration."

These programs have been under the direction and supervision of Miss Alice Lenore Tucker, Mrs. Wiles Homer Allen, Miss Beatrice Horsbrugh, Mrs. Nelle Womack Hines and Miss Polly Moss.

Miss Ethel Adams Chosen to Head Deans of State

Miss Ethel Adams was recently honored by being elected president of the state department of deans of college women and high school girls for the coming year. The meeting of the group was held at the Dempsey hotel in Macon with representatives from over twenty educational institutions present.

The membership of the department of deans of women of college and high school students includes many outstanding women in the state. The work in the department takes in problems that affect all campuses, and a closer cooperation of the deans of the state in order that their problems may be solved by the group.

The deans of the state meet each year in the spring for their regular meeting. Next fall a special meeting of the department will be held at G. S. C. W. with Miss Adams acting as chairman. At the September meeting the plan of having a dean of women in the larger high schools of Georgia will be discussed. The installation of deans in these schools will be the major project for 1935-1936.

Among the school and colleges represented at the Macon meeting were Agnes Scott, Piedmont, Breunau, Bessie Tift, Wesleyan, Shorter, G. S. C. W., Mercer, University of Georgia, S. G. T. C., South Georgia State College, Douglas; Pape School, Savannah; Tubman High school, Augusta; Griffin High school, Moultrie High school, Dublin High school, Waycross High school, North Fulton High school, Americus High school, Thomaston High school, West Georgia Teacher's College, Carrollton; Junior College, Augusta.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Is Installed At Vesper Service

New cabinet was installed at a most impressive candle light service Sunday night, April 28.

100 members entered the auditorium first with their candles burning, new cabinet followed singing "Follow the Glean."

Ruth Vinson, president of the "Y" for this year, led a brief but inspiring devotional and passed her light on to the president elect, Jane Cassels, who briefly gave a response to the challenge offered. The light was then accepted by each member of new cabinet and those wishing to do so, dedicated themselves in a few words, to their office for the coming year.

Those elected to serve on "Y" cabinet for the coming year are: Jane Cassels, president; Louise Doneoh, first vice president; Myra Jenkins, second vice president; Mary Dan Ingram, secretary; and Marjorie Lanier, treasurer.

Elected to serve on the executive board of the Y are: Juliette Burrus, Doris Adamson, Henrietta Greer, and Martha Gray Carithers.

Jester's Meeting Held Thursday

The Jesters held their regular meeting last Thursday in the high school assembly room. Miss Katherine Scott and Georgellen Walker were in charge of the program.

Miss Scott spoke on the proper use of makeup and gave demonstrations to illustrate her talk.

The plans for the play, "Judy," which was to have been given this spring, were discussed, and the play was postponed until next fall. The Jesters, instead of giving the play, will assist the members of the senior class in presenting a musical comedy at an early date.

At Summer School

Students at G. S. C. W. during the summer session, June 12th to August 26th, will have the opportunity to hear some of the outstanding lecturers of the United States. In the group are the following:

Dr. Thomas Alexander, professor of Education, Teachers College, university of Columbia, and visiting professor in Berlin University, Germany, will spend three days on the campus giving special lectures and conferring with students.

Miss Lucy Gage, Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, and world authority on primary schools will spend one week on the campus.

Dr. C. B. Glenn, superintendent of schools, Birmingham, Alabama, will give several lectures on education from the southern viewpoint.

Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, Atlanta, Georgia, will lecture on the purpose of education.

Other lecturers of national reputation have been invited and will bring to the campus the best educational thought of the world.

Summer Term Has
New Added Faculty

In 1935 the summer session at G. S. C. W. will give the teachers of Georgia a chance to become acquainted with the new faculty members of G. S. C. W. and to benefit from the new ideas which they have brought to the campus. This will be the first summer session for President Guy Wells, although he is well known by the teachers in the state through his work at Statesboro.

Dr. Hoy Taylor, Dean of Instruction, is also new on the campus having come from Statesboro where he was head of the history department.

Five other faculty members were added to the regular staff during the past year, and the close of the spring quarter will bring to an end their first year of work at G. S. C. W. The new faculty members are:

Miss Ethel Adams, dean of women. Miss Adams came from the Griffin High school where she was dean of girls.

Dr. Harry A. Little, head of the department of education and teacher training, who came to G. S. C. W.

SGA Will Begin
3rd Year in Fall

The Student Government Association of the Georgia State College for Women is now completing the second year of its official regime on the campus.

This association was proposed and accepted by the popular vote of the student body during the first quarter of the year 1933-34 and was operated on an entirely experimental basis for the remainder of the year. The formal constitution was presented and accepted by popular student vote during the last quarter of that year. The present year of 1934-35 witnesses a Student Government Association playing a dominant and vital part in the campus life.

Officiating as leaders of the Student Government Association for the past year were: Miss Elizabeth Polard, Jacksonville, Fla., president; Miss Viola James, Atlanta, vice president; Miss Grace Webb, Quitman, secretary and treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Jennings, Augusta, clerk of court.

The leaders of the association for the coming year of 1935-36 are: Miss Viola James, Atlanta, president; Miss Rosalie Sutton, Brunswick, vice president; Miss Evelyn Greene, (Continued on page 8) from the State Department of Education at Little Rock, Arkansas. Dr. Little has been in charge of the cadet teachers from G. S. C. W. who have done practice teaching in Atlanta during the past two quarters of the school year.

Dr. E. G. Cornelius, head of the School of Secretarial Science, who came to G. S. C. W. from Teachers College in Kansas. Dr. Cornelius has been adviser to the debating club throughout the year, and was highly instrumental in arranging try-outs in the club to select the first inter-collegiate debating team at G. S. C. W.

Miss Agnes Kitzinger, professor of health and physical education. Miss Kitzinger came to the college from the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Martha Sibley, supervisor of student teachers, who came to G. S. C. W. from the State Teachers College at Salisbury, Maryland.

Jesters Present
Musical Comedy

Rosalie Rand, the girl from Indiana, has arrived on the G. S. C. W. campus. It looks like she's going to be a sensation, for she is certainly running riot.

"Rosalie Runs Riot" is the musical comedy which is to be presented in the college auditorium on May 31. It is sponsored by the senior class and will serve as a means by which the graduating class will raise a portion of the $243 which they intend to leave as a loan fund for some sophomore, junior or senior student next year. The rest of the money, which is enough to pay a girl's tuition for one year, will come from one-dollar subscriptions from members of the class.

The play is being put on by the Jesters under the direction of Catherine Mallory. Miss Margaret Candler has arranged the dances and Evelyn Groover is the accompanist.

The cast consists of: Rosalie Rand, a young girl from Indiana, (Catherine Mallory); Ebenzer Rand, her uncle, (Lorraine Carmichael); Howard Vernon, a young drug clerk, (Martha Grey Carrithers); Bella Bonner, a modern old maid, (Weldon Seals); the Vassar girls, (Vera Maxwell and Georgellen Walker); Omimi San Toy, a Japanese girl, (Kitty Moore); Dolores Morino, a Spanish girl, (Sara Ruth Allmond); Paula Dressler, who lisp, (Florence Knight); Lula Gibson, an athletic girl, (Jean Parker); Myra Bryant, a poetic girl, (Mildred Watson); Nina, a young maid, (Sara Bell); Bruce, a chauffeur, (Mildred Stewart); Sheridan Granville.

who dabbles in real estate, (Myra Jenkins); Donald Norman, engaged to Lula, (Martha Harrison); Julian Gaynor, a young poet engaged to Myra, (Edna Lattimore); young boy friends of "Aunt Bella Bonner," Harry, (Palacia Stewart); Johnny (Agnes Smith). Several other characters have not been selected.

Billy Howington, president of the senior class, said concerning the musical comedy, "On behalf of the senior class I wish to thank the Jesters, each of the classes, Miss Margaret Candler, Catherine Mallory and Evelyn Groover for the assistance they are giving in the production of "Rosalie Runs Riot."

Tickets are on sale in the dormitories. Underclassmen are urged to help sell them.

One who laughed but felt a keen and throbbing hold in all that life revealed.

One who hoped and knew beyond the reckless wonders of all human fears; "Adieu" was but a vow before the shrine of God—a token promised—sealed.

A sacrament of infinite being, veiling the dawn of weak and hopeless tears.

By Bernice Brown McCullar Sallie Hall, daughter of Mrs. J. M. Hall, dietician of G. C. S. W., will be married in June to Robert Smith, of Newnan. Since her graduation five years ago, Sallie has been teaching at Roanoke, Ala.

Annie Joe Moye, '29, of Barnesville and Milledgeville, will be married in Barnesville in June to Major Claude Elbert Ray, of the G. M. C. faculty in Milledgeville. They will make their home in Milledgeville next year, where Major Ray teaches physics and military science at the college. He is a native of Blackville, S. C.

Anne Moran (Mrs. Hammond) Carmichael, of Augusta, has been in Milledgeville visiting her mother, Mrs. C. L. Moran.

The memorial to the late Mary Agnes Scott, former teacher at the college and sister of Katherine Scott, past president of the alumnae association, was unveiled recently at the Episcopal church in Milledgeville.

Imogene Hall, who teaches in Marietta, is planning to visit in California this summer.

Elizabeth Scheussles (Mrs. Richard) Cobb, of Alabama, has a young son just two months old. Elizabeth is the daughter of Mrs. Nettie Scheussler, past president of the Business and Professional Women's club in Macon. After her graduation here, Elizabeth did journalistic work.

A recent visitor on the campus was Mildred Wright (Mrs. Dunbar) Hair, of Washington, D. C. Mildred was formerly assistant in the office of Registrar E. H. Scott.

Julia Brown, '31, who is teaching at Weston, is convalescing from a sprained knee.

Julia Veal, who has been teaching mathematics at Hoke Smith Junior High school in Atlanta for the past several years, is convalescing at the Scott Hospital in Milledgeville, from injuries received in a recent automobile accident that occurred five miles from Milledgeville on the Sandersville road. Her father, A. G. Veal, of Deepstep, whom she had been visiting for the week-end, was in the car with her, and suffered only slight injuries.

The Granddaughters club, composed of about 70 students at the college whose mothers are alumnae, were guests of the faculty alumnae at a picnic Saturday afternoon across Fishing Creek. The arrangements for the picnic were in charge of the Activities committee of the alumnae association, which is composed of Miss Louise Smith, vice president; Miss Mary Burns and Mrs. Marie Forrester Martin.

A scavenger hunt was enjoyed by the guests and later a delicious picnic lunch was served. This was the second social occasion at which the alumnae have had the privilege of knowing the college "Granddaughters" this year, the other having been when the Granddaughters themselves were hostesses to the faculty alumnae earlier in the year.

Katie Jordan (Mrs. Frank) Dennis made the Memorial Day address in Monroe on April 26. She is third vice president general of the U. D. C. and was recently hostess at the ziltmore hotel in Atlanta to the president general of that organization who was on a brief visit to Georgia.

Olive Meadows, Josephine Robinson (Mrs. R. J.) McElrath, Mary Lee Anderson, and the other Milledgeville members of the class of 1925 held a committee meeting this week to perfect plans for their class reunion to be held this June.

Miss Clara Lee Cone, director of home economics in the Atlanta schools, recently brought a number of her girls to visit the campus. They inspected the college and grounds, lunched in the dining room, and were tea guests at the Mansion.

William (Mrs. Frank) Bone, formerly of Griffin, and now mistress of one of Milledgeville's loveliest Nelle Edwards (Mrs. Rosser) Smith, of Monroe, was in Macon recently for the banquet tendered her grandfather, Harry Stillwell Edwards, on his eightieth birthday. Nelle, who is a writer herself of no little ability, was very lovely in white, and received the congratulations of a number of other G. S. C. W. alumnae who were present, on her distinguished grandfather's literary achievements.

Alice Myrick (Mrs. Edwin) Bowden went to Macon this week to act as judge in the annual flower show there. She also visited her sister, Susan Myrick, feature writer for The Macon Telegraph.

Bernice Brown (Mrs. C. B.) McCullar, '24, instructor in English at the college, went to Richland Memorial Day to deliver the Memorial Day address there at the invitation of the Robert E. Lee chapter of the U. D. C. This is the second time that she has been back to her home town to speak on Memorial Day.

Liza Pohill, formerly of Hawkinsville, graduate of the G. S. C. W. class of 1917, died at a hospital in Valdosta recently after a long spell of sickness. She had been teaching for sometime in Quitman, Ga.

She was one of the most popular students who ever attended G. S. C. W. and made a fine record both in her scholastic work and in her campus activities. She was a young woman of outstanding character and lovable personality and her death brings deepest regret to all who knew her.

The Reveille of Huey Long's L. S. U. states that the theme of the State Baptist Union retreat will be "More Than Conquerors." If more than conquerors, why the retreat?

We can always depend on The Bulldog to furnish good definitions of words. Such as:

- Malady—a rhythmic song.
- Baron—a person mentally deficient.
- Flaw—the bottom surface of a building.
- Cup—slang for policeman.

I'm gonna quit this hold-up game I'll hang 'round joints no more! So with a sigh, And a faint little cry, The garter stretched out on the floor.—Florida Flambeau.

"Education is learning what not to do," says those of the Emory Wheel. We know what we think, but what do you think, Dr. Little?

New version of an old favorite: I think that I shall never see A think a funny as a tree—"A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed Against the earth's sweet flowing breast" And while her mouth is anchored there Should "lift her leafy arms in prayer,"

The tree would stand upon her face And hoist her legs in empty space, While baby robins sang "tweet-tweet" Among the hair upon her feet. From blue-prints made by fools like me, 'Twould hustle God to make a tree. —Bethany Collegian.

You can always tell a woman, but you can't tell her much.—Tiger, Jensen, S. C. What do roses?

The Yellow Jacket suggests the following theme song for campus courses:

- Astronomy—"Stars Fell on Alabama."
- BBiology—"Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life."
- Economics—"We're in the Money."
- Psychology—"Lost in a Fog."
- Glee Club—"Music in the Air."
- Physical Education—"You're a Buidler Upper."
- English—"Is I In Love, I Is."
- Criminology—"Where Were You On the Night of June 12."
- Physiology—"Pop Goes Your Heart."
- Football—"I Get a Kick Out of You."
- Exams—"The Last Round-Up."

We can all say "Amen" on the last one.

What College Pupils Like in Teachers

(Editor's note: We are reprinting this article on request.)

Qualities which college students admire and desire in college teachers . . . the ability to take it as well as dish it out . . . a ready tooth paste grin . . . neatness . . . a sense of humor . . . a knowledge of when to laugh and when not to laugh . . . a one track mind as far as lectures are concerned . . . a knowledge of when to leave one's self out of the conversation . . . C. T. (common touch) . . . patience (We are all human) . . . absence of sarcasm . . . understanding . . . fairness . . . impartiality . . . absolutely no bluffing (We admire a teacher more who flatly admits he doesn't know and promises to look it up rather than one who doesn't know and tries to pretend) . . . a realization that there are other departments on the campus besides his own (most college students carry three or more courses instead of only one) . . . appreciation of a good joke . . . broadmindedness . . . tolerance . . . an interest in people . . . a sincere interest in education (the field is too full of money chasers—just for a living) . . . recognition of efforts . . . progressive thought . . . a reluctance for untimely, harsh criticism . . . a willingness to do part of the work himself (students can do just so much and no more) . . . recognition of extra curricula activities as a vital part in the development of an individual . . . courtesy . . . high moral standards (but not prudish) . . . ambition . . . encouragement . . . willingness to sing along with the rest of us in chapel.

Sadie Humphrey (Mrs. Farish) Talley, who is teaching the seventh grade at Druid Hills school in Atlanta, is planning to be in Milledgeville part of the summer to visit her mother, Mrs. Joe Humphrey, and her sister, Cecil Humphrey (Mrs. W. D.) Hardy, and to attend G. S. C. W. summer school.

Max Noah will Head G. S. C. Music Dept.

Mr. Max Noah, head of the Gilford college music department at Gilford college, N. C., will be added to the faculty of G. S. C. W. next fall as head of the music department here, according to an announcement last week.

Mr. Noah and his wife and son visited at G. S. C. W. recently for the purpose of interviewing and business matters. He was introduced at chapel by Dr. Guy H. Wells, and made a brief talk.

Mr. Noah has been head of the music department at Gilford college for seven years. He received his A. B. degree and diploma in voice and piano at the Iowa State Teacher's college, and his master's degree in music at Teacher's college, Columbia university.

He is an excellent piano, violin, organ, and cello player, but his work at G. S. C. W. will be mainly in voice. He is particularly interested in chorus and choir work.

Peabody Practice School To Be Open During Summer

Peabody Training school will be operated during the summer quarter for the elementary grades. It will be in session from 8:30 to 11:30 each day. The hours from 8:30 to 9:30 and from 10:30 to 11:30 will be available for use of the students in practice teaching. The period from 9:30 to 10:30 will be used exclusively for demonstration purposes by expert teachers.

An extra supply of folding chairs to accommodate visitors who will wish to observe in the school have been put in the rooms.

Married in June to Harold Hale, of Conyers. Since her graduation at G. S. C. W., Corinne has been teaching at Conyers.

Martha Reviere, who has been teaching at Swainsboro, became Mrs. Hoyt Dobson on April 13, and is now living at Bell Glade, Fla.

SPORTS On Parade

By the Recreation news flashes of the week all you athletic fans can really see the treats in store for you—in fact the treats planned ought to make athletic fans out of some of these campus bench-sitters. How about a good stiff set of tennis to warm up for that tennis tournament which isn't very far off? By the way, that tournament is going to be organized in a completely different way this year. Here's the set-up. Each class is to have a tournament within itself. The best players in each class will make up the number who will play in an elimination tournament. Then two people from the six highest in each class will make a class team. One of the outstanding "racqueteers" of the freshman class is Sue Thomason, who hails from Atlanta. Then Caroline Weddington of the junior class is not to be sneezed at, as you may have seen. Then of course, there's the invincible (?) Katy. She's keen competition for any aspiring champion.

As the band wagon parades on we see a track meet in the limelight on May 22. If your class expects to carry off any honors the class managers better get busy. Monday and Thursday are practice days, y'know.

From some unknown source a rumor has been circulated that since the G. S. C. W. faculty showed up so well against the G. M. C. majors in basketball, that the "Jessies" have developed cold feet when it comes to facing the faculty. How about it, girls? Can you take that? Our guess is that you had better get in training now to keep up with the "doctor's trio"—Cornelius, McGee, and Salley.

Doris Adamson is getting to be as good in archery as she used to be in anatomy (she must still have that rabbit foot). Although she seems to have captured the title of the campus Robin Hood, don't let that keep you from coming out. We still need a few Will Tells.

This May festival has certainly given the campus beauties some exercise. Maybe we should have them more often and then perhaps everyone could do a court bow without too much creaking of joints.

Flash! Girls with permits from home are now permitted to ride bicycles off the campus.

There is no reason that the remainder of this year should not be the best season for sports that has even been experienced on the campus. Everyday girls are getting a "kick" out of play. Now we have just two complaints—more space to play and better tennis courts.

Comments from the big shots: Billy Jennings, outgoing vice-president, says "I think the spring recreation program is swell."

Miss Moye, faculty member, "The spring program looks better than ever. The number of girls in participation has increased far beyond that of last season."

Ag Smith, senior captain of the browns, "The program is a bit wide and the number of girls who play are as many as could be expected in comparison with those taking part in other campus activities."

Kate Bryan, a girl who loves to play, says, "I think the program is

It comes to us as gospel—The pious chaplain of a small, reverent college stopped his car beside a sweating, anguished gentleman who was trying to get a recently repaired tire back on the rim. The chaplain sat in the shade, on his running board and offered kindly, profuse advice. Nothing worked. Finally he suggested the sufferer pray a minute. Willing to try anything, the man did so. On his next attempt to put the tire on the rim, it went on easily. The chaplain scratched his head. "Well, I'll be d-d!" he said.

Reed

And so at last it has come to this—the members of the staff, desperately in need of copy to ra few inches of space, actually condescend to ask ye olde editor to grab the typewriter and launch into poetic rhapsodies about the beauties of nature, and what have you.

Rather, I thought I would launch into poetic rhapsodies—well, rhapsodies, anyway—and then they asked me to give as good a facsimile of Ima Gossip's column as possible. They just don't know the half about that, and you don't either, but maybe I'll reveal the deep secret about Ima Gossip some day soon—how she gets her news, how it's written, and all that sort of thing.

Y'know, all year I've been wanting to rave on about getting the most out of life, launching out into the deep, living up to your capacity, and living now so that when you're dead they'll remember you with kind words, and all of that. Well, you know what happened to that—the French professor—the one they call McGee—stole my speech with his talk in chapel. And piffle, just like that, there went one of my fondest dreams up in smoke. (hot air.) But really, I had some very beautiful expressions for use on the subject, and you would have been moved in spite of yourself.

And it's come to this—or did I say that before? Anyway, it has, and I don't know any gossip, and if I did I'd be scared to tell it. Deep in my heart, I'm a soft little soul, and I just couldn't bear to hurt anyone by repeating malicious gossip. Do you know any? (I have no scruples against listening to a choice bit of scandal.)

I think it would be the best movement ever started on this campus if a petition were sent to the board of regents to see about installing victrolas or radios in all classrooms, all assembly rooms, all dormitory rooms, and out on the campus. It increases efficiency, and we can't do too much in encouraging it. Dr. Wells said so Monday, so it must be so. I'm sure that every one of the twelve hundred students on the campus would be benefited by the movement and I'm all for starting it.

I heard that Miss Napier thinks that there's not only safety in numbers but beauty as well. I don't exactly agree with her on the last point, but perhaps she's right and I'm wrong. Even I admit that I may be wrong at times.

But you'll all have to admit that the orchids, violets, and dandelions should be to B—I mean, Dr. Taylor. He has everybody on the campus, faculty and students, beat on this wise-cracking problem. I wonder how he gets that way? Can he make the remarks? And the funny part of it, he gets better every time he talks. Y'know, sometimes, people make such remarks, make a reputation, and then don't live up to it, but not Dr. Taylor. And the other day in chapel, when he said what he did about faces not counting, well, I just automatically gave him by O. K. for all times—I mean on the wise cracking business. Oh, dear, and all this personality psychology that we've been taking is for no good. What good does it do us to take course after course in developing that old poisonality if the dean of G. S. C. W. says that faces don't count—they only remember us by the seats we sit in?

Wouldn't it be fun to tell the faculty the nicknames that some of the brighter students of names have given them? Wonder what they would say? And again, Dr. Taylor takes the cake for the prize nickname. I can't reveal it, 'cause it was told to me as a secret—and even newspaper women, Dr. McGee, have a little bit on hoonr—but I'll tell this much: It's something that you eat and something you eat out of. Or at least get your liquid refreshment from.

Dr. Sianey Lamont McGee deserves some sort of a medal—he's so darned regular about calling on certain people in class. It's really a joke—not to me, though—the way he can always get some people's name every day—and always when they haven't "read quite that far."

Through the Week with the Y. W. C. A.

During the week of May 5-12 the "Y" sponsored national music week on the campus. The first program in the series was held Sunday night at Vespers at 6:45 p.m. The subject of the service was "How We May Worship Through Music." Hymnology was used as the theme of the program.

The second program was given on Thursday night at 7 p.m. The subject of the program was "Worship Through Music and Interpretive Dancing."

The new cabinet was installed at a candle light service at Vespers Sunday night. The installation signified the dedication of the members of the new cabinet to the service of the Y. W. C. A. The services were opened by the playing of the "Hymn of Lights" and the processional of old and new cabinet members.

Ruth Vinson, president of the Y, talked on religion, after which she gave in symbol the light from old cabinet to the new. The light was received by Jane Cassels, president-elect, and given to each of the members of the new cabinet. Miss Polly Moss spoke on the significance of the office of cabinet member.

The services were closed by the recessional of old cabinet and the playing of "Follow the Glean."

Freshman council entertained sophomore commission at an Easter egg hunt and hay ride at Violet Hill. The prize for finding the most eggs was awarded to Beverly Cone.

After the hunt the commissioners entertained the councillors by imitating different kinds of eggs. A picnic supper was served and the outing was brought to a close with a hay ride around town.

On Thursday night, May 9, Activity Council of the Y presented its annual original play to an enthusiastic audience. This year their production was "Thwarted Daddy Long Legs," a clever and amusing parody on the original story. This is a project undertaken each year by Activity Council to obtain funds to send delegates to the summer camp at Blue Ridge.

Student Gov.

Atlanta, secretary; Miss Jeanne Parker, Thomasville, treasurer; Miss Grace Greene, Waynesboro, clerk of court.

Miss James has been highly instrumental in furthering the student government movement on the campus during the past two years. Having served on Freshman Council, and Sophomore Commission as an officer, and as class officer during her first two years at G. S. C. W., she has proved her executive ability. Miss James has also been active in the health and physical education work.

Miss Rosalie Sutton has served on Freshman Council, Sophomore Commission, and as a class officer for the past two years. During the past year, she was the junior representative on student council. Miss Sutton has done much for the success of the student organization.

Miss Evelyn Greene, Atlanta, secretary, has been among the active students in extra-curricular activities. Miss Greene served most efficiently as president of the Atlanta Club during the past year, and her training and executive ability will be an added support for the organization next year.

Miss Jeanne Parker, also, has been very interested in the campus extra-curricular activities. She was recently elected as a member of the cabinet of the Young Women's Christian Association and in her duties in the "Y" will act as chairman of the committee on student relations.

Miss Grace Greene has served in the capacity of secretary of practically all organizations of which she has been a member during her two years at G. S. C. W., carrying on the duties of secretary of the sophomore class and of sophomore commission during the past year. Miss Greene, also, held the position of editorial editor on the Colonnade newspaper staff and was a winner of several Corinthian contests.

The Student Government Association has been an important factor in all student activities as well as in the campus life of each individual. Every month a student body meeting is held for the purpose of considering all student appeals. Students are encouraged to express their ideas and opinions in regard to the organization, college rules and regulations, and anything that any way affects campus life. These appeals are recorded and finally submitted to the Faculty Committee on Student Relations for consideration.

Student government operates through dormitory courts, an executive board, an upper court, a student council, and the highest reference rests in the Faculty Committee on Student Relations. The officers and representatives officiating in each court and in council are elected by the entire student body. In each body of this system there are advisers to assist in any way needed and to advise the students when needed in their decisions. These officers and representatives are "figure-heads" acting under the guidance of the wishes and desires of all the students in the college. Every student is a member of the Student Government Association and automatically accepts the duties of a member of the association when she enters the college. This is the first year that the

Council Presents Modern Version of "Daddy Long Legs"

On Thursday evening the Activity Council presented "Thwarted Daddy Long Legs" as their annual original play. It was presented in the auditorium at eight-thirty.

The story dealt with Richard Kirkland, an intelligent author, who was repelled by the apparent shallowness of modern youth who "have thrown tradition to palsy scepticism-realism." Richard in trying to solve his problem decides that he will make his own wife; that is, he will find a girl without family ties whom he can mold according to a set plan of his own.

Col. Weathersbee, the family lawyer, having been given the responsibility of finding the girl, resorts to the Institution of Sister Marie Perpetua. After several amusing interviews he selects Margaret Lawrence. The Colonel has sworn not to reveal the girl's name because of a foolish statement made by Richard. On this rests the outcome of the play.

Richard and Peggy meet of course, neither knowing the identity of each other. This revelation is brought about in a pleasing and entertaining way.

The cast included: Richard Kirkwood, Tommy Coke; Peggy Lawrence, Mary Frances Manning; Sister Marie Perpetua, Grace Collar;

Georgia State College for Women has sent representatives to any of the collegiate association meetings of the Student Government Association. Some time ago, Miss Viola James, Atlanta, president; Miss Rosalie Sutton, Brunswick, vice president, and Miss Catherine Malory, Savannah, a representative on upper court, were sent as student representatives to Southern Inter-Collegiate Student Government Association's annual conference held at the Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Fla. It is expected that next year the local college association will become an official member of the Southern Inter-Collegiate Student Government Association.

self). Can you blame me for being jittery?

But really, and truly I think this idea of Parents' Day is a swell idea, and I think the Granddaughters deserve a violet for the idea, and Miss Heat Teacher Smith deserves an orchid. In fact I think so much about the whole thing I'm getting in a confidential mood and pretty soon I'll reveal my true identity—maybe. You'll be surprised—maybe. But don't be, cause IMA GOSSIP.

After a delightful hour of fun, hot dogs, apples and Coca Cola were served. Those present were: Dot Thomas, Ledra De Lamar, Mary Houser Brown, Annie Lee Gasque, Charlotte Edwards, Elsie Kirsay, Dimples Lewis, Annie Laurie Jones, Carolyn Coleman, Sara Calhoun, Virginia Hodges, Bertha Hopkins, Emily Summerour, Edna Earl Smith, Doris Peacock, Marjorie Shuman, Doris Kite, Marjorie Lanier, Mary Mildred Moses, Alice West, Dr. and Mrs. Salley and Master George Salley.

This is the third year that activity council has presented an original play. The purpose of adopting this as a club project is to develop the creative interests and abilities of the girls.

Spanish Club Elects 1935-35 Officers

The members of the Spanish club elected their officers for next year, Thursday afternoon at "Camel's Hump." The new officers are: Elsie Kersey, president; Sara Calhoun, vice president; Ledra De Lamar, secretary; and Carolyn Coleman, treasurer. Alice West, Virginia Hodges, Louise Kite, Mildred Moses and Ruth Gaston enrolled as new members.

LET'S GO MARKETING

Almost every housekeeper has a special store from which she gets most of her groceries. Why? Perhaps one who says, "Oh, I'm so rushed I never have time to go marketing so I give my trade to So and So because they deliver. It's so convenient to have one's grocery store no further than the telephone."

Another might say, "Well, you know a penny saved is a penny earned and as we're counting pennies at our house I buy my groceries at such and such a store because it's so much cheaper."

There are good points in both of these reasons but perhaps they have not been thought very thoughtfully. I don't deny that it is convenient to merely step to the telephone, give your order and have your groceries delivered right to your back door. But are you always satisfied with what you get? Suppose you order a can of tomatoes over the telephone. If you are not there to read the label how will you know what you are getting? Would you use the same grade of peas for soup as you would for salad? You can't blame the clerk if you don't get what you wanted. He's no mind reader you know. Suppose you forget something in the first order, the grocery man has all the trouble of sending up again where if you were at the store with everything spread out before you, you wouldn't be nearly as likely to forget anything. The grocery man had much rather you come early and select your fruits and vegetables than to fuss if you don't get the best when you phone after the vegetables have all been picked over. But for goodness sake, don't be a "Thumper." The grocery has a large enough loss due to spoilage without you thumping and bruising his fruits and vegetables.

If you are trying to economize be sure you go about it in the right way. Don't get cheap food at the expense of your family's health. Take advantage of bargains only when you have storage room. It's no saving to have food spoil on your hands. If sanitary conditions and home storage permits, buy by bulk. The little jars and packages you pay extra for may be very pretty but after all you can't eat the package.

Let's go marketing! When you go into a grocery store, look around! Above all, is the store absolutely sanitary? Is it well ventilated, well lighted, and attractively arranged? Do the clerks smiling and helpful? Do you meet them halfway?

Miss English Is Announced as Peabody Head

Miss Mildred English, assistant superintendent of city schools in Raleigh, N. C., will be added to the staff of the Georgia State College for Women in September, in the capacity of superintendent of the practice schools.

The announcement of Miss English's resignation from her position in Raleigh was made recently. Commenting of Miss English's resignation, Superintendent Paul Reynolds, of Raleigh, stated to a member of the News and Observer staff in that city: "The work of Miss English in the Raleigh schools during her eleven years stay here has been outstanding and has helped to bring the educational program of the local system to the point where it is recognized by many of the leading educators of the country. Her loss will be difficult to offset."

Besides serving as assistant superintendent for eleven years, Miss English was very prominent in the promotion of Parent-Teacher organizations, an active worker with the Association of University Women and past president of the Columbia university alumni association in Raleigh.

At the present time, she is on leave of absence from her duties in Raleigh and is engaged in graduate work at Columbia university, where she received her Master of Arts degree and is now working towards a doctorate.

Miss English was graduated from Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville and worked in the public school of Tennessee, and later became associated with the State Department of Education in Tennessee and went to Raleigh with the highest qualifications for her position. She will continue to teach at Duke university summer school as she has done for the past several years and will come to G. S. C. W. early in September.

Georgia Students On Deputation Tour Present Program

A group of students from the University of Georgia Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. religious activities committee spent Wednesday on the campus. They presented a very outstanding program at the chapel exercises at 11 o'clock, the theme of which was "What Students Are Thinking Today." Mr. H. L. Secret, head of religious department at the University, accompanied the group to Milledgeville.

Miss Agnes Highsmith, associate director of the religious department at the University, presided over the program and introduced the speakers. Those on the program were Harry Baxter, devotional; Walter Wise, who spoke on the subject, "What Students Are Thinking Today"; Claude Greene, who spoke on the subject, "A Changing Democracy."

CAMPUS THEATRE BUILDING

Athletic Group is Founded this Year

The recreation Association of the Georgia State College for Women made its advent into the program of college activities during the latter part of the first quarter and the first part of the second quarter in the year. The formal constitution was presented to the student body and officially accepted at the beginning of the second quarter.

The Recreation Association aims at the provision of some suitable form of recreation for every individual on the campus, as an important part of that individual's development. As presented in the formal constitution the purpose of this organization is: to provide a broad recreational program for the students of the college so that they may be able to select them to find health and happiness for themselves, their families, and their communities, and (2) that will and to have informational and enlightening experiences with other groups.

The YWCA realizes that to be intelligent about present-day problems is not enough, however. As future teachers and parents and community leaders, it is important for us to realize that many mental disturbances could be prevented if children are taught the principle of self-control, and that crime could be lessened through proper education, and so on.

So our program in this respect is two-fold. First, we seek to be intelligent about modern problems, second, we try to find the best authorities on what we as students can do about these problems.

In order that we may thus face life courageously and give the best that is in us to the society, we realize the need of strong spiritual content in our lives, and by no means the least phase of the program of the YWCA is devoted to building up this content in the lives of our students in order that they may realize a rich and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

MISS VIOLA JAMES

healthful hobbies (1) that will help train them for leadership in the great national recreation program. All requisites go to make up a definite training in leadership, stimulation of clear and concise thinking, quick and responsive decisions, pose, strength of will and purpose, and cooperation.

Activities featured at some time during the year are as follows: Soccer, hockey, baseball, volleyball, baseball, tennis, archery, horse-shoe, pitching, hiking, croquet, tumbling, dancing, bicycling, shuffle-board, ping-pong, tenkoi, and track. Special features on the program of the association include a kid party, a skating carnival, and a field day. Also sponsored by the association is the ordering and distribution of Georgia State College for women plaques. A special hour of each afternoon is given over to various recreation activities for the classes, scheduling points for the individual in his class score. The basis of these point is class competition, individual skill, and varsity team competition.

The leaders of the Recreation association for the past year were: Miss Kathleen Roberts, Gainesville, president; Miss Elizabeth Jennings, Augusta, vice president; Miss Robbie Rogers, Gainesville, secretary;

Miss Ruth Vinson, representing the college colors, walked onto the chapel stage between the four class presidents. She was followed by Miss Ethel Adams, dean of women, representing the spirit of G. S. C. W. Miss Vinson handed the new cup belonging to the Student Government Association to Miss Adams.

Miss Viola James, Atlanta, new president, led the line of new members of student council from the right wing of the stage and the old officers and members formed a line from the left wing. As each class president pledged services and her class' loyalty, the members of that class rose and sang the class song.

The singing of the Alma Mater closed the services.

Miss Mary Pitts Allen was a member of Activity council last year and has served as the sophomore class athletic manager during this past year. Her ability as a leader will be a great asset to the association in the coming year's regime.

Miss Elizabeth Stucky will serve as a member of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet for the coming year. Miss Stucky has been outstanding in extra-curricula activities and especially in recreational programs during the past year.

All programs and work of the association are controlled through an executive board of students, and through class committees, managers and captains. Through the Recreation association individuals as well as groups and classes are provided with varied activities and athletics. Several new and interesting features have been introduced on the campus through this association and have been supervised and fostered by its leaders for the advantages of the students.

Mr. K. Weisiger Speaks at Chapel

Mr. Kendall Weisiger, personnel director of the Southern Bell Telephone company was the guest speaker at the special chapel exercises held on Saturday morning in the auditorium. His subject was "The Aims of Education."

Other guest speakers on Saturday were Dr. Ambrose L. Shurie, and Dr. R. R. Hollingsworth, president of the South Western College at Americus.

Mr. Weisiger said that if people were lifted up educationally they would be lifted up culturally. But to do this it is necessary to keep education up with the times.

"Real education," continued Mr. Weisiger, "includes tolerance and appreciation of other peoples' differences rather than their similarities. Anybody can get along with anybody else if their tastes are similar. It takes an educated person to appreciate and get along with another who is entirely different from himself."

"The aims of education are to think constantly, to work efficiently, live abundantly, to play joyfully, and to cooperate with others."

"To educate the youth of today so that the world will be better and a better place for him to live in the following things should be inculcated in the schools: teaching of character; initiative; responsiveness; dependability; self-expression."

and Miss Margaret Burney, Macon, treasurer.

Serving as the officers for the coming year, as recently elected, are: Miss Kathleen Roberts, Gainesville, president; Miss Robbie Rogers, Gainesville, vice president; Miss Mary Pitts Allen, Monticello, secretary; and Miss Elizabeth Stucky, Atlanta, treasurer.

Miss Roberts is also president of the State Health and Physical Education association. She has been active in Y. W. C. A. work, student government activities, and the recreation groups on the campus, and was instrumental in sponsoring the play days for the different classes.

Miss Robbie Rogers acted as secretary of the Recreation Association during this past year and a member of the sophomore commission. She was also a class officer of her freshman class and has been particularly efficient in all recreational activities.

Miss Mary Pitts Allen was a member of Activity council last year and has served as the sophomore class athletic manager during this past year. Her ability as a leader will be a great asset to the association in the coming year's regime.

Seniors Honored By Junior Class At Formal Dance

The Junior-Senior dance, which was one of the most outstanding events on our calendar for the past week, proved to be quite a "noted" occasion.

The junior class was hostess to the seniors and their dates. Some "magic wand" was waved, and almost overnight the gym was transformed into a unique music shop. The big gym was used for dancing and was decorated mainly with large musical silhouettes, musical instruments and the like.

In the little gym the orchestra was placed on a raised platform, around which was arranged an attractive music counter. Juliette Burrus acted as "the lady behind the counter" and took request numbers and during the program, favored those present with a special number, which was composed and arranged by junior class talent. Refreshments were also served in the little gym and crackers were "pulled" from a drum.

The "no break" cards were facsimile of sheet music, which helped to carry out the idea of a music shop.

Those who acted as chaperones were: Miss Ethel Adams, Dr. and Mrs. Hoy Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Salley, Dr. Sidney McGee, Miss Polly Moss.

Herty Medal

Dr. Dunnington has served for forty-eight years as professor of chemistry at the University of Virginia, and as a prolific contributor to scientific literature, has been named to receive the Herty medal for 1935.

The medal is given annually by those interested in the subject of chemistry within the faculty and students of the Georgia State College for Women. The medal is awarded through the Georgia section of the American Chemical society. The announcement of the honor to be conferred on Dr. Dunnington was made recently by Dr. J. Sam Guy, professor of chemistry at Emory university and chairman of the awarding committee.

Dr. Dunnington was born in Baltimore, Md., and received his education at the University of Virginia, and is at present professor of chemistry at the same institution where he was educated. The award committee cited his ability as a teacher, his interest in civic affairs, his work as an analytical chemist, and his achievements and research, pointing out the fact that he has published over sixty-eight chemical papers and essays. One of his greatest works was described as a demonstration of the practically universal occurrence of titanium in American rocks and soils.

Y. W. C. A. Benefits All GSC Students

Acting on the conviction that religion is the whole of life, the YWCA is striving to make it possible for our students to work out a philosophy of life that will allow them to be well-rounded and creative individuals. To have a broad philosophy it would be necessary for one to know life in all its phases. Our opportunities for seeing real life conditions are limited, as they would naturally be on a college campus. However, we have tried to supplement this through reading the best and newest books, bringing religious, economic, and social leaders to the campus whenever possible, and by using every opportunity possible for sponsoring research trips off the campus with small, selected groups of nature students.

For instance, we have attended clinics at the state hospital where we saw life warped through mental disabilities; a small group of advanced students visited one of our negro colleges to see how they lived and the trends of thought they were taking; next year we hope to be able to study life at the woman's prison and the boy's reformatory.

assist in registering and giving out programs. At that time class and dormitory colors will be pinned on the visitors.

An interesting chapel program has been planned for the eleven o'clock exercises in the auditorium. A number of songs, musical selections and short talks will be given at the time. Dr. Guy H. Wells will welcome the visitors, and the response will be given by Mrs. R. J. Mincey, Warthen. The members of the Granddaughters' club will sing several songs, and the special number, A Song for My Dad, written by Mrs. Nelle Womack Hines, will be sung and dedicated to the fathers of the students at G. S. C. W.

Others appearing on the chapel program will be Miss Mary Lee Anderson, president of the alumnae association; Miss Mildred Watson, Griffin; Miss Harriett Mincey, Warthen; Miss Dorothy Ellis, Monticello. Announcements will be made at the conclusion of the program, and the Alma Mater will be sung as the closing number.

The program for the day is as follows:

Freshman Class Entertains At Nautical Ball

"The U. S. S. Freshman" anchored Saturday night, April 27, at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium.

As each couple left their respective dormitories they were presented with a passport in which the program for the evening was found and it was shown to the keeper of the gang plank as they entered on deck. The deck was uniquely decorated for the gala occasion which was to take place aboard the ship during the evening. Artificial rails were placed around the room and a facsimile of the washing waves was designed by some of the original members of the class. The color scheme used throughout the decorations was red, white and blue.

The small gym was decorated as the "captain's cabin" and here, was found the well known and very popular orchestra, directed by Ed Powell. Over in the corner of the same gym was also found a most inviting bar, at which delicious punch and crackers were served. Each cracker had on it the letters U. S. S. F.

The big gym represented the main ballroom of the ship and was also decorated most attractively with the same colors, red, white and blue. Ferns also added to its beauty.

Four "nobreaks" were scheduled for the evening. (This was to give those boys, who were so popular that they didn't even have time to learn a girl's name before up popped another fair damsel, a chance to "at least" learn his partner's name—if not her address.)

The chaperones included: Dr. and Mrs. Wells, Dr. and Mrs. Taylor, Mrs.

MINING MACHINERY BEING RUSHED TO ALASKA NEW YORK

—This spring's gold mining rush to Alaska, already underway, will be a rush of machines rather than of men, according to the National Machine Builders' association. Great quantities of heavy mining equipment capable of working much low grade ore that only mechanical precision in methods of extraction makes usable, now are being shipped on orders prompted by the current price of $35 an ounce of gold. These machines make it possible to work with profit old claims and mines heretofore disregarded.

IN CONSERVING VISION . . .
LIGHT TAKES FIRST HONORS

The studious years of college life, probably, put on your eyes the greatest strain they will ever feel. But they are the only eyes you will ever have and you are far from through with them when college days are over.

Protect them! Remember that their greatest safeguard is adequate, glareless, uniform light. Be sure, first, that you have ENOUGH light. See that all lights are properly shaded. Make sure that your light is uniform, without extremes of light and shadow to cause the pupils of your eyes to expand and contract more often than good visual health allows.

Have your eyes examined if they trouble you, but be sure, also, that the light you read by and study by is RIGHT. One of this Company's lighting specialists will gladly give you—as groups of individuals—more detailed information about the proper care of your eyes through proper use of light. Just a 'phone call to our nearest office is all that is necessary.
