Nan Gardner and Willie Lou Sumner Will Be Presented In Joint Recital Friday

Soprano, Pianist Are
Students of Mr.
Noah, Mrs. Allen

Nan Gardner, soprano, and Willie Lou Sumner, pianist, will be presented in a joint recital Friday evening, May 21, at 8:15 in the auditorium of the Georgia State College for Women.

Nan, who is a sophomore, has studied during the past two years with Max Noah, and for the past year has been soprano soloist with the Milledgeville College Choir and a member of the Madrigal Octette.

Her program will include numbers from Handel, Haydn, Schubert, and from more modern composers.

Willie Lou is a student of Mrs. W. H. Allen, with whom she has studied for the past three years. Her program consists of numbers by Raff, Chopin, Tschaiikowsky, Debussy and Carpenter.

The following program will be presented:

O Sleep, Why Doest Thou Leave Me? from "Semele" G. F. Handel.

II Bacio (The Kiss), L. Arditi. La Fileuse, Joachim Raff. Nocturne Op. 19, No. 4, Illyitch Tschaiikowsky.

Valse in E Minor, Frederic Chopin.

My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair, Joseph Haydn.

Ave Maria, Franz Schubert. Clair de Lune, Claude DeBussy.

Danse, Claude Debussy.

Polonaise Americaine, John A. Carpenter.

Little Star, Frank La Forge. A Spirit Flower, B. Martin Stanton.

Blue Are Her Eyes, Winter Watts.

The Wind's In The South, John Prindle Scott.

Library Receives Many New Books

The library has recently acquired quite a few new books in many fields, and the student body as a whole might be interested to know the names of these books.

Among those books dealing with life in the South are: T. C. Johnson's "Scientific Interests in the Old South," "The Three-Headed Angel" by Roark Bradford, "That Was a Time by Harriet Gift Castien, As I Live and Breathe by Willie Snow Etheridge, Absalom, Absalom! by William Faulkner, None Shall Look Back by Caroline Gordon, St. George of Weldon by Robert Ryge, The World With a Fence by Marion Sims, and In Old Natchez by Catherine Van Court.

Prominent among the travel books are Invitation to Travel by Helen Dean Fish, European Journey by Philip Gibbs, Traveling Light by Mildred Harrigan, and

Kethley Heads Jesters For Second Term

Mary Kethley was unanimously re-elected by the Jesters last Thursday night to head their organization for the coming year.

The following girls were elected to serve with her; Eugenia Taylor as vice-president, Martha Poole as secretary, and Hilda Fortson as treasurer.

Mary was elected president of the Jesters in the fall to take Virginia Forbes place when she resigned.

At the same meeting chairmen for the most important committees were selected and voted upon. These committees are stage, property, wardrobe, business, and publicity. There heads are respectively Harriet Hudson, Roxanna Austin, Elizabeth Donovan, Annelia Brown, and Elizabeth Barnhill.

The meeting was closed with plans for an informal tea as the last meeting.

Wells Will Give Graduation Talks

Dr. Guy Wells will give the commencement address at Donalds-ville, Georgia on May seventeenth. Dr. Wells was superintendent of the schools at Donalds-ville for the school year of 1921-22. He will speak on "The Educational Changes Since 1900".

He will also give the commencement address at Montrose, Georgia on the twenty-first of May.

Last Thursday Dr. Wells spoke to the Hartwell Rotary Club and to the high school.

FSCW Set-Up Is Surveyed By Hudson

A survey of the student government set up of the Florida State College for Women was made by Harriette Hudson, president of next year's sophomore class, who left here on Friday for Tallahassee.

Harriette was sent as a delegate from Student Council to investigate the method of operation of student government at the Florida college. Since F. S. C. W. is a woman's college, somewhat similar to G. S. C. W. it is extremely probable that they will have problems and difficulties like our own and a study of their methods may lead to the solution of our problems.

Ruthenium Has No Use, Is Chemical Curiosity — Howe

More than fifty years ago a little Massachusetts boy recently come South witnessed the horrors of the Reconstruction era and made a silent vow that he would help the section and the people he saw being exploited. On Saturday night that vow was fulfilled as the little boy, now James Lewis Howe, received the Herty medal for outstanding work in Southern chemistry.

Dr. Howe, who is head of the Washington and Lee department of chemistry, is one of the world's outstanding authorities on Ruthenium, a rare metal of the platinum group. Ruthenium, although it is of the platinum group, will never be worn as jewels by women, says Dr. Dr. Howe. In fact, it has no commercial value "no earthly use" as he himself puts it. It is a chemical curiosity.

"It has no use and I'm not trying to find a use for it," stated

1937 Spectrum Will Arrive This Week

New Book Features
Padded Covers

The 1937 Spectrum is expected to arrive the first of the week according to Ruth Finery, editor of this year's annual. They will be delivered by the circulation assistants under the direction of Margaret Bennett, circulation manager, to the dormitories.

This year's book is said to be one of the most attractive annuals put out during recent years. A distinct innovation is the use of color on the main division pages which provides a decided contrast to the black and white lithographing customarily used. The padded covers of the book give additional richness to its general appearance.

All students who have been in residence at the college for three successive quarters will receive a Spectrum without any additional cost. Those who have been enrolled in the college for two quarters may purchase a book for $1.17. Students who have been here only one quarter may purchase one for $2.34. The price to faculty members and others who may wish to buy a Spectrum is $3.50.

Typist Gives Speed Demonstration Here

Miss Hortense Stollnitz will give a typewriting demonstration and lecture Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Peabody Auditorium. She is sent to us thru the courtesy of the Educational Division of Remington Rand Typewriting Company, New York, New York.

Miss Stollnitz holds records established in International Typewriting Championship Contests, which show her to have achieved a greater speed than any other typist in the world. In addition, her broad experience in training and helping typewriting teachers and typists in all sections of the country makes her advice authoritative.

Miss Stollnitz's Novice Record is 114 words per minute for 15 minutes, which has never been equaled. She holds the Amateur Record of 137 net words per minute for 30 consecutive minutes. This record is particularly notable because Miss Stollnitz is the only typist ever to have won the International Amateur Contest during the first amateur year (which is the second year of a typist's experience).

Miss Stollnitz holds the Professional Record of 159.1 words per minute for one hour, the highest rate anyone has ever achieved for so long a period of time. No other typist has ever approached this record.

The two next highest champion contestants which our competitors boast of have records of 140 words and 144.3 words per minute. It can

Stewart Here For Series of Talks

Religious Emphasis Week at Georgia State College for Women was closed Friday with a chapel talk by Mr. Donald Stewart, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Mr. Stewart spoke to the student body on "Excess Baggage", taking up the last topic of his general subject for discussion, "Living Creatively" on which he has spoken in his previous chapel talks this week.

Mr. Stewart was brought to the campus by the Y. W. C. A. in co-operation with the Administration as the principle speaker on the programs for Religious Week, May 11-14. During his stay on the campus, Mr. Stewart has addressed the student body each day at the chapel period, made several talks to smaller groups of students in the form of classroom discussions, and made a series of platform addresses each evening on "Toward a New Philosophy of Life". In addition to his other activities Mr. Stewart granted private personal interviews to many of the students who wished to see him.

For the past week Mr. Stewart has been the guest of Dr. Guy H. Wells, president of G. S. C. W., and Mrs. Wells at the Mansion. He has been entertained by several of the faculty members, by the various departments of the Y. W. C. A., and by the Kiwanis Club of Milledgeville. He was the guest of honor at a tea Thursday afternoon given by Dr. and Mrs. Guy H. Wells at the Mansion.

The Macon G. S. C. W. club will sponsor a ride over Macon for members of the Georgia Dietetics Association when they meet in annual session on May 14th.

Many Noted Come Here to Affairs of

Dr. James Lewis Howe, of the school of Applied Chemistry at Washington and Lee University and head of the department of chemistry for the past four years, will be awarded the Herty medal, symbol of outstanding work in southern chemistry ceremonies, climaxing the celebration of Herty Day, Thursday.

Dr. Howe is one of the outstanding authorities on the element Ruthenium and Ruthenium is one of the platinum group of metals, possessed of many valuable properties. It is even harder than steel but is very brittle and has no commercial value. In certain states it is used as a preservative and does not require presence of air to cause it to corrode.

Herty day is held annually at the Georgia State College for Women in honor of the southern chemist, Dr. James Herty, whose experiments with slash pine have made it a household word throughout the South. The award is given by a committee of the Georgia State Society cooperating with local organizations in the South. The committee is headed by Sam Guy of Emory University.

Dr. Howe is one of the outstanding authorities of southern chemistry of service. He came to the South from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has been a pioneer in his search in the South. He received his Ph.D. in 1859 and is a graduate of Harvard College. He did his graduate work in Germany at Göttingen and Berlin. Many outstanding scientists from the South have been his students.

Hines Interviewed Burrus On

Miss Juliette Burrus, bus, president of the 1937 class of the Georgia State College for Women, was interviewed Wednesday during her regular monthly college radio broadcast over radio station WSLC at 4 p. m. in Atlanta.

In this interview, Miss Burrus described the operation of her social life of Ennis Hall home, and related interesting anecdotes of the class and its members.

Music was furnished by the seniors, pupils of Mrs. Wilcox Nunn, Bostwick, and Homer Allen. They are McCarthy, White Oak, and played "Impromptu" in G major by Schubert, and Miss Burrus played "Le Plus que Les" by Debussy.

Campus Group Plans Retreat

Officers and faculty advisors of the three major campus organizations met on Sunday, May 17, in Ennis Recreation Hall for a spring retreat to discuss plans of general campus interest.

The College Government Association, Recreation Association, and Y. W. C. A. were represented and the presidents of these organizations served as chairmen.

The retreat was opened with a worship service led by Lucile Butler, president of the Government Association. Chairmen of the first retreat included a discussion and consideration of the plans called for by the G. S. C. W. debate in chapel on Friday.

It is hoped that the debate can be postponed until Saturday, so that the student body will have the opportunity to hear Mr. Marshall, who is an exceptionally fine speaker as well as an exceptional personality.

The group agreed on a chief factor in maintaining a high morale for which it would be responsible. The group agreed on a chief factor in maintaining a high morale for which it would be responsible.

Members of the local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will launch their campaign to restore the original furnishings to the Executive Mansion with a tour through the historic homes of Milledgeville to be conducted on May 19.

The Mansion will celebrate its centennial next year and it is the plan of the U. D. C. to observe this occasion by attempting to restore as far as possible the original furnishings of the Mansion when it was the Governor's residence in the days when Milledgeville was the capitol of the state.

Milledgeville in addition to being a bird sanctuary might well be termed a sanctuary of homes which have preserved the ante-bellum atmosphere. With such homes as the Crawford home, Newell House, the Ferguson home, and Lockerly Hall here the tour should attract favorable attention and greatly further the plans of the U. D. C.

He discussed the relation of law and government to college rules and regulations, and stated that the nature of law was "whatever seems to be of value in the long run". The fact that college students are of the age when a transition is taking place between dependence on others and independence was pointed out. It was agreed that in this period students must rely for help in making rules and regulations upon the wisdom and experience of older persons.

A closing statement was made by the group in a brief devotional by Mary Elizabeth Dale, who led the period. A buffet lunch was served at one o'clock by courtesy of the Administration.

Peter Marshall Expected Here

Rev. Peter Marshall, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Atlanta, is expected to address the student body in chapel on Friday. He will be in Milledgeville conducting services at the local Presbyterian church on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

He is one of the outstanding young ministers of Atlanta and is especially popular with the young people there. Rev. Marshall is Scotch and has a brogue that is said to be as engaging as the Oxfordian accents of Rev. Donald Stewart, who conducted Religious Emphasis Week on the campus during the past year.

McCrary Will Head Home Economists

Frances McCrary was elected president of the Home Economics Club at a meeting held on May 8. Elected to assist her were Lucy Wagner, Vice-President; Jennie Rose Warner, Treasurer; and Sara Wicker, Secretary.

The plans also discussed plans for sending a representative to Kansas City to the National Home Economics Association which will be held in June.

As the crowning piece of irony Jane instructs her solicitors to keep the Antigua stamp until the sixteenth birthday of her niece, Sarah, at which time it is to be sold for her benefit on condition that she does not cede her rights to any male member of the Price family.

So it was a very remarkable stamp, this Antigua, penny piece—so remarkable that we wager another book could be written about it, that volume dealing with Sarah and her brother Reginald and the Antigua stamp.

Despite the fact that he is one of the world's outstanding authorities on Ruthenium, Dr. Howe says that less is known about it than any other metal.

Dr. Howe is the fifth chemist to be honored with the award of the metal named in honor of Dr. Charles Herty. Dr. Herty expressed himself as being very happy over the decision of the awards committee not only because of the exceptional merit of Dr. Howe but also because of the life-long friendship that exists between him and this year's recipient of the medal. Dr. Sam Guy, Guy, of Emory University, is chairman of the awards committee of the Georgia Section of the American Chemical Society which cooperates with the Chemistry club in the awarding of the medal.

Juniors Will Honor Seniors With Dance

Juniors will honor the members of the graduating class at the annual Junior Senior dance on Saturday, May 22. Plans for the dance are being handled by the class officers, under the direction of Sue Thomason, class president.

Not all details for the dance have been completed but present plans include the engaging of the Georgia Bulldogs from the University of Georgia to play for the occasion. The place for the dance has not been set definitely.

Seem' The Cinemas

"There's No Two Ways About It" you'll have to see the "Top of the Town" at the Campus on either Monday or Tuesday. Starring Doris Nolan, George Murphy, and Hugh Herbert, it's the latest in musical comedies. Gertrude Neisen, the torrid torch singer, is featured. Some of the seniors who saw her in Washington will want to hear her sing, "Where Are You".

Andrews Will Speak On Chapel Program

Mr. Joe Terrell Andrews, of Milledgeville, will speak in chapel on Tuesday, according to the schedule of programs. Mr. Andrews is a prominent business man of Milledgeville, and is engaged in the insurance business.

AAUW Honors Miss Crowell

The members of the local chapter of the American Association of University Women will entertain in honor of Miss Winifred Crowell on Tuesday evening, May 18. Miss Crowell will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by the organization.

Miss Crowell has been an active member of the local group and has also been outstanding in the state organization having served as editor of the A. A. U. W. bulletin. She will retire from teaching at the end of the school year to return to her home in Nova Scotia.

Miss Ida Pound is the retiring president of the Milledgeville chapter of the A. A. U. W. and has been in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Raleigh and Drake In Piano Recital

Mrs. Raleigh Drake and Mr. H. F. Kraft, instructors of music at Wesleyan Conservatory in Macon, gave a joint piano recital at the Georgia State College for Women during the chapel period Thursday.

Mrs. Drake has studied piano in Boston and in London, and is now instructor of piano at the Conservatory at Wesleyan. Mr. Kraft is the head of the Music Theory Department at the Conservatory. He teaches both Theory and Piano.

The numbers on the program included Schumann's A Minor Concerto and Hungarian Fantasia by Liszt. Mrs. Raleigh and Mr. Drake were brought to the campus by Mr. Max Noah, head of the music department at G. S. C. W., with the co-operation of the Administration.

The climax of the cinematic week occurs Thursday and Friday when the long awaited film version of "Romeo and Juliet" will be shown at the Campus. Two years of research went into the making of the costumes for the movie, and as it stands the production is authentic to the last detail. An excellent cast, not simply of "big names" but of talented actors and actresses has been assembled to reenact the story of the Montagues and the Capulets. Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard are excellently cast in the roles of the immortal lovers. The names of John Barrymore, Edna Mae Oliver, and Basil Rathbone are outstanding in the list of supporting players.
