
Colonnade

Special Collections

10-21-1939

Colonnade October 21, 1939

Colonnade

Follow this and additional works at: <https://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade>

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the Mass Communication Commons

Recommended Citation

Colonnade, "Colonnade October 21, 1939" (1939). Colonnade. 337.
<https://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade/337>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Special Collections at Knowledge Box. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colonnade by an authorized administrator of Knowledge Box.

THESE PEOPLE MAKE NEWS

Red faces! They are for various reasons, the chiefest of which is embarrassment, and these moments were the reporter's objectives this week.

Tch! Tch! one dirt column in this paper is enough but the interviews are already written now—it's too late.

Libby Upshaw's face turned pink at just telling her reporter her mishap. She smirked in a sort of meek manner and said, "My most embarrassing moment during my stay on the campus was at the annual picnic. When Sanford won the skit, I was so excited that I fainted. You can never imagine how stupid I felt when I regained consciousness."

When your reporter approached Lucia Rooney, who was bustling about per usual, she gasped, "Embarrassing experience? Oh, I've had a few, but have been fortunate in eluding most of them this year. Perhaps my worst such a moment occurred night after our first orchestra practice as I was walking back to the dormitory. I thought I'd tell these girls how glad I was they were going to be in our organization. I asked them how they liked GSCW and whether they were freshmen or transfer students. You can imagine my embarrassment when they replied, "Oh, we're sophomores and like GSCW fine. We were in your dormitory last year."

Clarence Alford seems to think that as whole, she has been master of most situations at hand, during her time on GSCW campus, but she did break down with one experience. "I was in a class in which proverbs were being discussed, and the teacher had gone into one of those long, drawn-out lectures when I suddenly thought of my proverb, 'Practice what you preach.' Not only did my face turn red, but my ears tingled with the harsh words of the irate professor."

If you have ever been subjected to any such crucial moments, you perhaps realize what an embarrassing moment can mean, or do you?

The Colonnade

Vol. XIV Z122

Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Ga., Saturday, October 21, 1939

Number 4

Wm. Beebe Opens Lyceum Series

Author and Scientist to Relate Wonders of Ocean Depths Seen From Bathysphere

DR. WILLIAM BEEBE, who will lecture here October 23 in the first of the Lyceum series.

Dr. William Beebe, the daring scientist who electrified the world with his descent to the depth of 3028 feet in the waters off Bermuda, has been secured to come here at G. S. C. W. on Monday night, Oct. 23, to give his sensational lecture, "Five Hundred Fathoms Down."

Conqueror of Neptune

A number of years ago, Dr. Beebe, feeling that the last great unexplored portion of the earth's surface was the ocean area, transferred his sphere of action from the jungle to the ocean depths. When he announced his first sea-going expedition it was front-page news. Dr. Beebe, scientist, was going to investigate the myths and mysteries of the fabled Sargasso Sea. From that time until now, his underwarter activities have been constantly on the front page of the American press. His descents in a steel ball to depths never even penetrated by light, have caught the imagination of people in this country and in Europe. Man had challenged nature in every other element. William Beebe was first to conquer the realm of Father Neptune. The books which he wrote about his undersea exploits are as fine bits of literature as his jungle essays. These books are "Beneath Tropic Seas" and "Nonsuch, Land of Water."

Nine Tons Water Pressure

A window of fused quartz strong enough to withstand the pressure of nine tons of water, yet clearer than glass, afforded to Dr. Beebe an opportunity to

(Continued on page two)

Spectrum Announces All Staff Vacancies Filled

The Spectrum Staff was made complete at a meeting last week. Many additions and changes were made on the regular staff.

The complete list is as follows: Catherine Cavanaugh, editor; Deanie Carruth, and Eva Daniel, associate editors; Beck Earnest, business manager; Sara Alma Giles, and June Moore, assistant business managers; Mary Sallee, literary editor; Virginia Collar, assistant literary editor; Loree Bartlett, clubs and organizations editor; Martha Daniel, and Mary Martin, assistant clubs and organizations editors; Dot Peacock, photographic and feature editor; Martha Ducey and Ruth Adams, assistant photographic and feature editors; Doris Thompson, circulation manager; Dorothy Miller, Jessie Marie Brewton, Stella Ferguson, Martha Lee Miller, Louise Faver, Betty Reeves, assistants; Sara Henderson, art editor; Alice Stevenson, and Beulah Dowda, assistant art editors; Mildred Purdow, Angeline Barker, and Thelma Broderick, typists; Annette Rogers, Betty Veal, Jeanette Dozier, "Dovie" Chandler, also on the editorial staff.

Serving as advisor to the Spectrum is Miss Mamie Padgett, instructor in art on the GSCW faculty. Miss Padgett is particularly well-suited to this position, since she has worked with the Spectrum for several years in the past, though she has not been active for the past two years.

Spectrum plans for this year are going forward rapidly, as photo-taking at Eberhart's begins, and arrangements for having pictures made in ordinary costume rather than in drapes are being made. In order to facilitate the photography work, students are urged to have their pictures made on schedule.

'You Can't Take It with You' Is Jester's Fall Production

Date Set for November 16; Student-Faculty Cast Selected

"You Can't Take It With You", one of the most popular plays of last year, written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart will be presented by the Jesters on November 16. This play is slightly different from the screen version by the same name.

Faculty For Male Leads

Tryouts were held on October 13 and members of the faculty were invited to a play reading on October 17. The cast has not been definitely selected but townspeople and faculty members will be given the male roles.

Each year the Jesters give two big plays and this is to be the fall production. Miss West will direct it and Mr. Luecker, new speech teacher on the faculty will do the staging.

Debate Club Initiates Eleven New Members

Eleven new members were admitted to the Intercollegiate Debating Society through tryouts held recently. They are: Anne Bridges, Carol Estes, Nancy Greene, Audrey Jenkins, Betty Jordan, Neil Mainor, June Moore, Lucia Rooney, Olivia Schramm, Doris Stevenson, Anne Stubbs.

With Mr. Luecker, a new member of our speech department, as coach and counselor of the club, the organization is anticipating a very successful year. The plans before Christmas include a Georgia Forum to be held on the G. S. C. W. campus on December 2. This forum will be sponsored by the intercollegiate Debating Society in conjunction with the Georgia Alpha Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta and will include debaters from colleges all over the state. The question to be discussed is: Resolved, That legislation should be enacted in the United States providing for conscription of wealth in time of war.

Sixty Students Attend Atlanta Concert Series

When this year's concert season in Atlanta opened Thursday night with John Charles Thomas, about sixty girls and faculty members of G. S. C. W. were in the audience.

This is the third year that students have been able to obtain student rate tickets for the Atlanta concert series, the number of girls, buying tickets increasing from about six the first year to sixty this year. Two buses are now necessary to transport the group. Since such a large number bought tickets, eight-dollar orchestra seats were available for six dollars and a quarter.

The Metropolitan baritone Thursday night was the first of a series of artists of unusual musical proportions. Others are: Fritz Kreisler, November 8; Bidu Sayao, soprano, and Ezio Pinza, baritone, in joint recital December 16; Kirsten Flagstad, January 20; Ballet Russe De Monte Carlo, February 29; Vladimir Horowitz, March 16.

STRANGERS DO NOT INTEREST DOT—SHE SPEAKS TO NONE

Perhaps one must assume that Dot Peacock's mother, taught her never to speak to strange men. One night last week when she and Eleanor Peebles were trudging from Sanford back to Ennis they were accosted by a man, apparently very boldly trying to strike up an acquaintance. He didn't even bother to ask their names. He only asked where they lived. Well maybe Dot's nearsightedness can be blamed but she mustered up her "most snootiest" manner and postively refused to answer him. That foolish feeling doesn't begin to express what Dot felt when she found she'd been acting ugly to Tom Bragg, the night-watchman.

INDEX

Article	Page
Book Review	5
Concert Drive	5
Golden Slipper	3
Opinion Parade	5
Radio Program	2
Scandal-light	2
Sports	4

First Y Forum on Modern Religion Led by Dr. Hines

Literary Guild Takes Sixteen New Members

Having passed the requirements—an upper classman, recommended by a faculty member for good work in literature courses—sixteen new members were tapped by the Literary Guild Friday night.

Eloise Bowlan, Virginia Howard, Anne King, Eleanor Powers, Catherine Leach, Martha Fors, Virginia Hudson, Louise Ray, Katherine Bowman, Ruth Bone, Lois Suder, Josephine Bone, Eva Abrams, Nell Craft, Lucy Duke, and Rosalyn Redman were selected for membership.

WILLIAM BEEBE (Continued from page one)

record, study and sketch the mysterious life that swam past his vision. In constant telephone communication with a stenographer seated on the deck of the barge overhead, he dictated his observations and impressions of the hidden mysteries of the deep. Dr. Beebe has had prepared a series of animated cartoons that are in themselves almost miraculous. Absolutely authentic and faithful to detail, these cartoons have been prepared under the personal direction of Dr. Beebe and give an astonishing picture of deep-sea life. He will also illustrate his lecture with still and A replica of Dr. Beebe's bathysphere is on display at the New York World's Fair, along with many other fascinating exhibits of his expeditions.

Overheard at a Bar-meeting: "The law business in this town is terrible. I think I'll take my witnesses and move out of town." —Teacola.

CAMPUS
A MARTIN THEATRE Phone 44
Mrs. Frank D. Adams, Mgr.

Mon.-Tues., October 23-24
"GOODBYE MR. CHIPS"
with
Robert Donat — Greer Garson

Wednesday, October 25
"STOP, LOOK AND LOVE"
with
Jean Rogers — William Franklin

Thursday, October 26
"HOTEL FOR WOMEN"
with
Anne Sothern — Linda Darnell

Friday, October 27
"CHICKEN WAGON FAMILY"
with
Jane Withers
Also: "MARCH OF TIME"

History Groups To Hold Forum On Tax System

The History Club has selected as a subject for study and discussion this term "the Georgia tax system". They have been asked by Miss Emily Woodward, journalist and founder of the Georgia Public Forums, to form a unit on forum work here. After a study of the problem during the first quarter the club is planning to hold one or two forums on the "tax system" with Miss Woodward as a guest.

Public forum work in Georgia is to be sponsored by the University of Georgia and the United States Department of the Interior. Dr. Harmon Caldwell has been named administrator and Miss Emily Woodward, counselor and director of the program of forums.

Seniors Hold Open House For Faculty

Inaugurating their year's social program for the purpose of giving every senior some responsibility in the working out of the programs, and to educate the seniors more carefully in the social graces, the senior class held "open-house" Sunday night.

Faculty members and visitors in the dormitory were invited and refreshments were served in the recreation hall.

The receiving line included: Betty Adams, president of senior class; Evelyn Veal, vice president; Evelyn Cawthon, secretary; Louise Stanley, treasurer; Annette Rogers, president of town girls; Martha Fors, representative to Upper Court; Jeanette Pool, representative to student council; Harriett Hudson, president of Student Government; Dot Peacock, president of the Recreation association; Marguerite Jernigan, president of the YWCA; and Miss Ethel Adams, dean of women.

Frances Parker, chairman of the dinner committee, has announced that the second senior social function was a formal dinner in Ennis dining hall Thursday evening at 6:30. Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Fowler, Dr. and Mrs. Rufus W. Oakley, and Miss Ethel Adams, were invited as guests of the dormitory.

Call by to see our Latest Fall Fashions. SPORTS WEAR Afternoon and Night COWART'S DRESS SHOP

Being a Twin Is Convenient But It Has Its Drawbacks

Newspaper's Duty to Ga. Youth Is Radio Hour Theme

Several members of the Georgia State Press Association will be honor guests of the Georgia State College for Women hour over WSB on Saturday, October 28, at twelve o'clock Milledgeville time. This will be the fifth of the series of programs for this school year under the head of "Georgia and her Youth," stated Mrs. Nelle Womack Hines, radio director.

Mr. Roy McGinty, of Calhoun, State president of the Press Association, Mr. Jere More, of Milledgeville, immediate past state president, and editor of the Union-Recorder, Mr. Tom Twitty, editor of The Milledgeville Times, and Miss Margaret Weaver, editor of The Colonnade, GSCW weekly will have a part on this program.

Recognizing the fact that our colleges and newspapers have many common problems—both trying to get people of the state to think along the right lines—these editors will be asked to give their opinions as to HOW we can bring our papers and our colleges closer together in cooperation to help solve our educational problems, and to help the youth of Georgia.

Stories by Scandal-light

Those of us who heard Mr. Hines last Monday and Tuesday will agree that he is a superior person, but I can't bring myself around to seeing him through Hilda Fortson's eyes. In an answer to his willingness to confer with the students, Hilda stated that Mr. Hines would be available either individually or collectively.

Everyone says my ears need washing, but I could have sworn that one of the Spirits in the Parent's Day program said, "Freely we have deceived, freely give."

Profound is one only word which can adequately describe Miss Greene. She informed her Ancient History class that in ancient Egypt, birth was hereditary. And to think, all these years I have lived in utter ignorance of the barest facts of life.

Humiliated as I become in doing so, I must confess that the incident last week about the Mona Lisa was slightly erroneous. Although it was printed as heard, Dot Peacock has never had Art. Kitty was not the other girl, and I have come to wonder if da Vinci actually painted the picture. At any rate, Dot and Kitty were deluged with people wanting to borrow Art Materials and asking who was the painter of Mona Lisa.

What would you do if your date came in one night, got your sister instead of you, and went off? Well, if you were a twin, you wouldn't even be surprised, or so says Nell Nelson of Bell Annex. "I am so used to it," Nell continued, "that I hardly notice when our best boy friends get Betty and me confused—although sometimes it's rather embarrassing, as you can guess."

Nell and Betty Nelson are just one of four sets of twins at GSCW. They are freshmen and hail from Cartersville, Ga. The other twins are Miriam and Nellie Bennett from Gay, Ga., (sophomores), Lois and Elizabeth Pope from Alamo, Ga., (Juniors), and Margaret and Myrtle Keel from Milledgeville, (Freshmen).

Lois Pope tells us of a delicate situation that she got into here at G. S. C. W. It seems that Elizabeth was absent from a class one day, and so she answered for her when the roll was called. Well, this would have been all right if the teacher had not called on the missing Elizabeth for a lengthy discussion on some complicated subject. Since there was no other way out, Lois had to stand and give the discussion, pretending she was Elizabeth all the time!

Nellie and Miriam look so much alike that, when they were in the first grade, the teacher could not tell them apart. All the children in the class were supposed to be able to write their names on the board, so, since Miriam could write both their names and Nellie could write neither, Miriam took the place of both of them when the teacher called for the names to be written.

In every case except for the Keels, the twins dress exactly alike, which makes identification a pretty tough job. All of the sets, except for the Keels again, like the same kind of food, and clothes; and even think the same things at the same time, in lots of cases.

As one of the Pope twins expressed it, "When a girl has a twin, she feels almost like the other girl is part of her!" Personally I have wished plenty of times that I could be two identical people at once; but when I think about seeing my faults staring me in the face, I think maybe I wouldn't like it so well.

But we are about to leave out another twin who is in our midst—Viola, the maid in Atkinson is a twin, too!

SEND US YOUR FILMS

AMERICA'S FINEST 25c FILM SERVICE

Write for free stamped mailing bag and price list

Kelly & Green
Bristol, Virginia

CONCERT TICKET SALE REACHES 700

Local Membership Drive Closes Today; Students Must Raise Total to 1000

By Irene Laughlin

500 students and 200 townspeople have joined the Milledgeville Concert Association according to the latest report.

Maybe these girls are smiling because they believe theirs are the best parents in the world, or perhaps they are proud to pose with their parents as the residents of Bell Annex who won first prize on Parents Day.

Campus Editors Attend ACP Meet At De Moines

Catherine Cavanaugh, editor of the Spectrum, and Margaret Weaver, editor of the Colonnade, will attend the annual convention of the Associated Collegiate Press, in Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 26-28.

Thursday will be given over to registration, motion pictures, and tours—through the Register and Tribune plant for newspaper delegates, or through Wallace's Farmer plant for yearbook and magazine delegates. Friday and Saturday will consist mainly of roundtable discussions and speeches on the various problems of college journalism. People important in the field of journalism will be in charge of committees, will lecture, or lead discussion groups.

Drake University, acting as host to the convention, has planned two dances—one on Thursday night dubbed the "I-Opener", sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic sorority, and Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society; the other an informal dance on Friday night. On Saturday afternoon tickets for the Iowa State College vs. University of Missouri football game will be available for forty cents to delegates. Governor of Iowa George Wilson will be present at the convention banquet Friday evening. Prominent names associated with the convention are: Fred L. Kildow, director, Associated Collegiate Press; Gardner Cowles, Jr., executive editor, Des. Moines Register and Tribune, and president Look magazine; J. N. "Ding" Darling, nationally syndicated cartoonist Kenneth E. Olson, director, Medill school of journalism, Northwestern University; E. W. Hill, vice-president, Jahn and Ollieh Engraving Co.

Rival Classes Begin Practice For Golden Slipper—Nov. 10

Upper Classmen Elect Dormitory Officials

W. C. Budd, Bass Baritone, to Sing in Music Chapel

Rev. Warren Candler Budd, bass baritone, is to be presented October 25, on the Wednesday chapel program. He is to be accompanied by Miss Alice Lenore Tucker, with whom he has studied several years. Rev. Budd, a graduate of Duke University, is the present pastor of the First Methodist Church in Warrenton. He was formerly located at Hardwick.

- The program is to be the following:
- I. But the Lord is Mindful of His Own — From Mendelssohn's "St. Paul."
 - II. Recitative—From the "Rage of the Tempest," From Handel's Poets, "Scripio." Aria—Hear Me Ye Winds and Waves, From "Julius Caesar."
 - III. "Sylvia"—Speaks.
 - IV. Goodnight Farewell—Kuck-en.
 - V. King of the Forest—Parker.

Council Presides Over Elections

Arline Rodgers, Atkinson; Julia Fleming, Beeson; Carolyn Adams, Bell; Betty Adams, Ennis; Belle Wood, Mansion; Louise Ray, Mayfair; and Elizabeth Upshaw, Sanford, will lead the various dormitories during the next year as a result of dormitory elections held last week.

Members of Student Council were in charge of elections in all except the freshmen dormitories, where officers will not be selected until the girls become better acquainted. Other officers elected are: Atkinson—Mary Beth Christian, vice-president; Lucy Gillian, secretary; Eva Daniel, treasurer; Peggy Booth, sports leader. Beeson—Lucy Duke, vice-president; Margaret Pitts, secretary; Carolyn Stringer, treasurer; Virginia Reynolds, sports leader. Bell Hall—Martha Ducey, vice-president; Anne Taylor, secretary; Margaret Baldwin, treasurer; Jerry Denham, sports leader. Ennis hall—the class officers serve as dormitory officers, and include: Evelyn Veal, vice-president; Evelyn Cawthon, secretary; Louise Stanley, sports leader.

Mansion — Charlotte Nolan, vice-president; Ann Marchman, secretary; Julia Hayes, treasurer. Mayfair—Nelle Craft, vice-president; Hortense McDonald.

The annual Golden Slipper contest is under way. Slated for November 10, the freshmen and sophomores have only three weeks to produce a thirty minute dramatic play and a ten-minute skit.

A committee made up of representatives of both the sophomores and the freshmen met Wednesday night with Miss Chandler, Dean Adams and Mrs. Noah, representing last years judges to talk over the rulings to be made for this year's contest.

Posters are not to be judged separately, but will be made on alternate days by the two classes as a semblance of their spirit.

The Sophomores will retain Dr. Dawson as their class sponsor, and the freshmen have still to choose their leader.

Anne Upshaw was appointed head of a committee to find a freshmen play, and Fannie Taylor.

CGA Officers to Study Campus Life at Winthrop

For the purpose of comparing the two College Government Associations, five representatives of G. S. C. W. will be the guests of Winthrop College the week-end of November third through fifth.

Those making the trip are Miss Ethel Adams, Hamlett Hudson and Virginia Collar, of Student Council, and Marion Bennett and Lucy Duke of Upper Court.

This is the first of a series of trips to other colleges and return visits here, provided for by the new C. G. A. budget.

Bryan, Garrett Will Head GSC Symphony Orchestra

Jeanette Bryan was elected president of the orchestra at the meeting held last week. Elected to serve with her are Jean Garrett, vice-president; Florence Stapleton, secretary; Gene Hopkins, treasurer; and Gwen Mullins, librarian.

The first violinists of the orchestra are Laurette Bone, Jean Croil, Dorothy Davis, Helen Foster, Jean Garrett, Olive Meadows, Eugenia Shy, and Fannie Laura Taylor.

Playing the second violin are Josephine Bone, Mary Frances Cox; Fay Crowder, Wellene Harris, Marilyn Jossey, Blanche Layton, Catherine Leach, Geneva Morris, Frances Nunn, and Emily Rowan.

Mary Jo Baldwin, Paula Bretz, Maggie Jenkins, and Elizabeth Ledbetter are the viola players.

Due to the large membership, we are slated to hear some of the world's greatest artists. Among those on the maybe list, from which three or four will be chosen, are Bruna Castagna, and Elizabeth Wysor, contraltos; John Carter, tenor; Albert Spalding, violinist; Guiomar Novaes, and Mieczyslaw Munz, pianists; and Bartlett and Robertson, duo-pianists. The drive went over with a bang. Why? Because the students and townspeople who have been members in previous years know they will get their money's worth, and don't mind saying so. Sarah Frances Bowles, senior, said that she would do without lunches long enough to get the membership fee rather than miss the concerts. "Just thrilled to death" coming from Jane McConnell, junior, is praise indeed, and so, with recommendations such as these it is no wonder that the students bought. They know a bargain when they see one.

The cellos are manned by Sue Bretz, Helen Mumford, Catherine Pittard, and Christine Rachels, Lena Bowers plays the bass. The flautists are Martha Coleman, Carrie Bailie, and Shirley Johnson, Stella Ferguson, Sara Kinnebrew, Sybil Lindsey, and Saralyn play the clarinets. The oboe is handled by Jeanette Bryan, while Mary Ford manages the French horn and Lois Wall McCrory plays the bassoon.

The saxophones include Doris Dunn, Madelynn Lamb, Nell Moore, and Cornelia Gaston. Margaret Keel, Lucia Rooney, and Elizabeth Walker manipulate the trumpets, while Gene Hopkins, Luella Peacock, and Florence Stapleton slide the trombones. Frances Coleman handles the tube, and Gwen Mullins, and Thelma Broadwick manage the tympani.

SPORTS RACKET

CATHERINE CAVANAUGH and DR. EDWARD DAWSON are shown as they start on a tour with bicycles rented from the Rec. Association.

Town Girls Take Bigger Part in Campus Activities

"What should be one of the foremost groups of girls on the G. S. C. W. campus," the town girls, it is now beginning to be realized. The town girls for years should have been taking an active part in the extra-curricular activities of the college, but for one reason or another, they just haven't. This year they've started off with a bang and have representatives in every organization on the campus. Not only this, but they have organized a club called the "Town Girl's Club," which will meet the first Saturday in every month at the chapel period. The object of this club is to unite the town girls in a co-operative body. They will pay dues with which they intend to fix up the "town room" and also to buy a page in the Spectrum. The local talent also excels in sports. Their team ranks third in the volleyball tournament, which is still in progress. Dovie Chandler is sports leader and has as her team-mates: Eugenia Shy, Mary Sallee, Christine Willingham, Sara Taylor, Emily Baston, Dot Keel, Cornelia Stemberge, Marie Hargrove and "Sis" Flemister. Josephine Bone is a member of the Y Cabinet and Laurette Bone is the treasurer of the Student Government.

The most popular organizations in the "native" opinion are: Literary Guild, the Geography, Chemistry, Scribler's History, Elementary Teacher's Modern Dance, Folk Dance, Dramatic Clubs, and the A Cappella Choir and Aeolian Glee Club.

Here are only a few of the 120 girls from Milledgeville who are making themselves known on our campus. If you don't know them, then make it a point to meet them. Mary Sallee and her sister Ann, Sara Councille, Sara Lawrence, Josephine Bone, Blanche Maudron, Elizabeth Hollinshead, Dovie Chandler, Elizabeth King, Louise Ling, Dorothy Keel, Ruth Banks, Barbara Ann Conn, Dot Smith, and Louise Keel.

Bell's Beauty Shop
SECOND FLOOR

Reconditioned with new machinery.

Three operators with Master's license.

As good work as you can find in any shop in Georgia.

If you want the best shop at
E. E. BELL CO.

Folk Dance Club Tryouts Reflect Record Interest

Folk dancing seems more popular than ever on the campus this year, if the number who came out for try-outs has anything to do with it. There were more girls out Friday night for the purpose of trying out for the club than has been in previous years.

New members are: Gerry Denard, Myrtle Keel, Louise King, Marie Hargrove, Winona Murphy, Jean Garrett, Sally Keith, Mary Scott, Jane Hudson, Ruth Richards, Gonnis Jackson, Alice Mann, Ann Stubbs, Rebecca Taylor, Margaret Baldwin, Roslyn Sylvester, Elaine Baker, Frances Bennett, Peggy Booth, Ann Waterston, Olympia Diaz, Mickey McKeag, Grace Turner, Clara Roughten.

Swimming, Golf, And Tennis Club Tryouts Under Way

And if these aren't ten of the best swimmers you could find on any campus; north, east, south, or west, then we miss our guess.

After taking the rigid entrance examination for the club, these girls were finally selected: Henrie to Carson, Celia Craig, Ruby Donald, Mary Ford, Helen Haulbrook, Jane McConnell, Miriam McKeag, Douglas Mercer, Winona Murphy, and Beth Williams.

The first meeting, which will be held on next Monday in the pool at 8 p. m.

The first golf club try-out was held last Thursday afternoon, but for the benefit of those who were unable to be at the meet, there will be another try-out on this coming Monday afternoon on the back campus from 4 to 6 o'clock. This will absolutely be the last try-out, so be sure an be there.

The tennis try-out will be held on Monday afternoon at the same hour on the tennis courts. All tennis fans are urged to be "at the scene" and ready to make the team for G. S. C. W.

Drugs and Flowers
PHONE 118
FRALEY'S

Eat With Us and Get The Best
PAUL'S CAFE

ODORLESS CLEANERS
One Day Service
PHONE 559

"Recreation Helps Prevent Crime," Waldman Says

Review by Elnor Owen
"Recreation and Crime", an article written by Henry S. Waldman appearing in the January 1939 issue of the Recreation Magazine is reviewed by Eleanor Owen.

Mark Twain once made this comment about the weather: "Everybody talks about it but nothing is done about it. So it is with crime; Everybody talks about crime and nothing is done about it until screaming headlines once more arouse people.

The officers of law are always on watch for criminals. They never think of trying to eradicate the conditions which are causing their citizens to become criminals. There is no single cause of crime. But a few of the more outstanding causes are incompetent parental control, broken homes, poor housing conditions, slum areas, lack of recreational facilities, mental deficiency, and school maladjustments.

The age-old policy of pursuing and punishing the criminal have not brought civilization very far. Prevention is the key to the crime problem and every dollar spent for crime prevention will cut down criminal class and reduce the size of our jails.

Public recreation can play a big part in a community crime prevention project. A large number of juvenile delinquents have no contact with character-building organizations or recreations groups. Fewer than 10% of juvenile delinquents were active members of such groups when they committed their offence. Recreation pays dividends to

(Continued on back page)

ENNIS COFFEE SHOP
Eat with us for the Best and Most Convenient Across from the Campus

BRUSH-WOOL SWEATERS
In all colors.
UNION DEPT. STORE

In Between a Sandwich and a Drink both for a dime.
BINFORD'S
Drugs

ANGORA SWEATERS — All Shades
Complete your wardrobe with DOVEDOWN HOSE
79c and $1.15
Best in quality and cheapest in price.
G. & L. Dress Shop & Beauty Parlor

Before deciding on your Gifts special occasions, call at WOOTTEN'S BOOK STORE
And see one of the largest stocks of Holiday Goods in Middle Georgia.

Be Sure to Shop
SHUPTRINE'S
ANNIVERSARY SALE

Ladies' SHOES
50c up

Special on Hosiery
WALKING CHIFFON
59c
EXTRA SHEER
2 Thread
79c

SHUPTRINE'S
"Modes of the Moment"

SPECIAL
49c HOSE
Full fashion.
ROSE'S 5c & $1.00 STORE

Your Exclusive
SANTONE CLEANER
Snow's
Phone 440

Major Attitude Problems Face Honor System Committee

This week, on Wednesday, the first official meeting of the honor system committee was held. And so is initiated the long hard pull towards an honor system for our school. It would probably be advantageous to look carefully at the principle problems confronting this committee.

First there is that attitude towards grades, which places the mark on the outside of the paper in a much more important position than the knowledge that mark is supposed to represent. In short, grades become so important to the student that she is willing to go to any length to keep up a mark expected by the teacher, or parents. Which brings us to the root of the evil. Parents and teachers who demand certain averages, often do more harm to the girl than flunking could ever do. It should be impressed upon the student, that while grades are important insofar as they may represent knowledge acquired or work done, they are not important when they represent only the work of another and certainly not important enough to warrant theft.

The attitude towards cheating itself is also deplorable. A study in contrasts will probably illustrate this point. In a certain southeastern school, where an honor system is a tradition of 125 years standing, during a four year period there were only three cases of cheating, and these all freshmen. One of these cases occurred in a class room where 23 students were taking an exam. The student in question sat on the front row, so that everyone could not possibly have seen him, yet 12 people reported that student for cheating. The exam was held at 8:30; at 11:00 the student had been sent home by the student governing body. Can one imagine such a situation in our school at the present? Yet, it is on such thorough disapproval of dishonesty that our system must be built. Without this foundation the system will be only a frame-work.

A corollary problem is the attitude toward reporting students for infringement, and the opposite of our campus situation may again be recognized in the above story. Perhaps when dishonesty in academic work is strenuously objected to because we realize that people who refuse to stand on their own feet are breaking down the morale of the group, acting as parasites, we will look upon them rightfully as enemies of our group and feel it is necessary either to reform them or remove them.

The faculty part of the committee is headed by Dr. James Stokes, and includes Miss Mary Lee Anderson and possibly three others to be appointed. Marion Bennett, representing the senior class; Hortense Fountain, of the junior class; and Lucy Duke, of the sophomore class are student representatives of Upper court, which is sponsoring the establishment of the honor system. Harriet Hudson also sits on the committee as an ex-officio member, representing student council.

In getting at the bottom of the problem and finding a solution, the committee naturally turned to other schools which have worked out their system successfully, or to schools with similar problems to ours. The committee is now carrying on correspondence with such schools as: Swarthmore, Amherst, Tulane, Washington and Lee, Ohio University, Virginia and Indiana State Teachers' Colleges, and several state women's colleges.

Senior Code Orientates Students to Post-College Life

This week the senior code, representing the seniors' desire to assume greater responsibility for their own conduct, was passed by the Faculty Student Relations committee. The drawing up of the senior code was begun in an effort to help seniors adjust them-

Parent's Day Pronounced An Outstanding Success

Parents Day has come and gone and we are now recuperating from the deluge of approximately 750 parents, brothers, sisters, cousins, and all other manner of kin. Reviewing the event, we believe, unquestionably, that Saturday was the most successful Parents Day in the memory of any student here.

Without reserve, we commend the Alumnae officers, Miss Katherine Scott and the Granddaughters Club, for their ceaseless efforts and we congratulate them on the results obtained from the splendid program. Arrangements were planned so that no emergency presented itself. There seemed to be an answer to every question.

Along with the Alumnae Association and the Granddaughters Club, the Bursars office is in line to receive a vote of thanks. At the picnic lunch there was ample and delicious food for everyone. We appreciate this especially in the light of the stringent economy now inflicted on this school as on all state schools.

We join with the other guests in our thanks for a delightful time and our plea that this occasion never again be omitted from the school calendar.

oneselves to living in an ordinary community. Recognizing the fact that a college such as this is an artificial environment, that people whose every action is decided beforehand by an external power soon lose the power to decide for themselves, the administration inaugurated this method of easing the seniors from one atmosphere to another. Living under the code provides more privileges and equally as many responsibilities for the girl, and this opportunity should result in and usually does, a growth in the personality and decisiveness of the girl.

Furthermore, it develops a group-consciousness. Girls living under the code realize that some regulations are necessary for the good of the group, and begin to govern their actions less from a moral standard than from a concern for the common welfare.

This year another step was taken in that there were no privileges named in the code; instead a few necessary regulations were agreed upon by the class, and all other things are permissible. This of course is exactly like the experience met by people out of school, since the national, state, and local laws do not specify what one may do, but what one may not do, and all other things are left to the individual's discretion.

The Colonnade

Published weekly during school year except during holidays and examination periods by the students of the Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Georgia. Subscription price $1.00 per year. Entered as second-class matter October 30, 1928, at the post office, Milledgeville, Ga., under the act of March 3, 1879.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO • BOSTON • LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

Editor-in-Chief Margaret Weaver
Managing Editor Panke Knox
Business Manager Julia Weems
News Editors Winona Murphy, Luca Rooney
Circulation Managers—Darren Ellis, Ruth Stephenson.
Editorial Assistants—Mary Black, Frances Moore, Blanche Layton, Marion Bennett, Carolyn Stringer.

Parade of Opinion

By Associated Collegiate Press

As always happens when a great political or social question faces the nation, college students are today forming organizations to influence the opinion of their fellow students on the questions of war and neutrality.

Independence League
At Princeton University, undergraduates have formed "The American Independence League," which is "dedicated to the purpose of inrevaling strengthening and expressing the determination of the American people to keep out of the European war." The League already counts one-third of Princeton's student body as members, and a second chapter of the organization has been formed on the Harvard University campus. Incidentally, national headquarters of the new organization are in the offices formerly occupied by the Veterans of Future Wars, now defunct.

Not quite so serious, but just as interesting, are two other proposals that have made their appearance in the last week or two. In the University of Pittsburgh's towering Cathedral of Learning there has sprung up the "Loyal Order of Sons of Leavenworth," whose slogan is "If America goes to war, we go to Leavenworth." Here's an interesting paragraph from a letter explaining the organization: "Hurry!" Form your own District Cell of the Loyal Order of Sons of Leavenworth! Pick your coll-mate while you may. Write now for your free membership card entitling you to all the privileges of our future home. Write today to ask any questions you may wish about our secret shuffle, our national symbol—the ball an dchain—or any other practices of our exclusive Order."

BOOK REVIEW

"Grapes of Wrath", John Steinbeck
By JOSEPHINE BONE

"Grapes of Wrath" is like a widely advertised perfume,—"definitely not for the timid!" The book is a saga of an Oklahoma sharecropper family, the Joads, and their tortured migration to California. When the crop failed, the dust storm came, and the mortgage was foreclosed, there was nothing left for the Joads but to move West. So they piled every member of their prolific family into an old Hudson-six jalopy, and headed for the rich lands of the Imperial Valley.

There is Ma Joad eternally forgiving; Grandpa, who dies the first day on the road, and Grandma, who lives only till she reaches the desert. There is Uncle John always laboring under a guilt-complex; and there is Tom, a paroled convict. This desolate picture is completed by Noah, the feeble-minded eldest son, the daughter Rosasharn and her husband Connie; finally, the younger ones Ruthie and Wingfield.

Witticism and Criticism

Johmte Graham—Elizabeth Williams

"O wad some Power the giftie gie us
To see oursel's as ithers see us!
It wad frae mony a blunder free us,
An' foolish notion;
What airs in dress an' gait wad
leave us, an' ev'n devotion!"
—ROBERT BURNS

Small wonder few people like to go to chapel; Who, we ask, can hear and see anything that's said or done? On one side a girl is ejaculating over a recent letter, another behind is studying French aloud, and other in front is reading a newspaper. What with the stretching of the neck, half-standing half-sitting posture, and endeavor to hear above the racket one has gotten little out of chapel.

Chapel is a place for quiet behavior and attention. It is for the benefit and pleasure of the students and those who do not take advantage of it should positively prevent others from doing so!

"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." The expression is often quoted, but some people would profit by remembering it.
(Continued on back page)

From Politics to Fiction-- All in Rental Library

Calling all students who like to read! The library is full of new books, which would be well worth anyone's time to read. Those in the rental collection are: "Democracy Works" by Arthur Garfield Hayes, "Highland River" (Winner of the James Tait Black Memorial Prize) by Neil McGunn, "Doctor, Here's Your Hat!" by Joseph A. Jerger, "Country Lawyer" by Bellamy Portridge, "Blick Narcissis" by Rumer Godden, and "The Wedding" by Grace Lumpkin, who is a Georgian. It is said that "The Wedding" is probably about Athens, though she called the town Lexington in her book. In the main collection at the library there are three grand new books—"I Wanted To Be An Actress" by Katharine Cornell, "French Life" by Feuillerat and "A Puritan in Babylon" by White.

GOLDEN SLIPPER

(Continued from page three)
lor was elected to take care of the administration details. These two girls will act in lieu of the freshmen officers.

DORMITORY OFFICERS

(Continued from page one)
secretary; Celia Craig, Sports leader.
Sanford—Nancy Ragland, vice-president; Doris Watson, secretary; Winonah Murphy, treasurer; Althea Gillan, sports leader.

RECREATION HEALTH

(Continued from page four)
the community in form of healthy children and good citizens that cannot be calculated in dollars or shown on a financial basis. Lack of recreational facilities is undoubtedly an outstanding cause of juvenile delinquency.

Howard, State ACE Head, Talks Here Monday

Mrs. Betty Howard, state president of the Association for Childhood Education, will speak on the program of the sectional meeting of the A. C. E., Monday, October 23, immediately following the general meeting of the G. E. A. here, Miss Hazel Gewinner, president of the Macon branch, and another speaker, whose name was not announced, will be present to contribute to the program. A. C. E. publications will be exhibited and explained by Miss Mildred English, principal of the Peabody Practice School.

This meeting, held in room 1 of Chapell Hall, should be profitable to all, whether or not they be interested in Elementary Education.

Boss: You should have been here at nine o'clock.

New Employer: "Why: What happened? —South Georgian.

SCANDAL-LIGHT

(Continued from page two)
Swearingen remarked that he had been getting more-all-round ever since—one needs only to see a '28 Capel picture to be convinced of this truth.

One of Miss Burfitt's education classes had a harrowing experience the other day. She suddenly announced that they would all take out pencils for their mid-term exams. After quite a debate, Mill Burfitt was convinced that the date was October 16, and not November 6. The freshmen are still wondering if she was trying to tease them, or whether she was seriously mistaken.

WITTICISM AND CRITICISM

(Continued from page five)
ing it. Especially those people who remain in the telephone booth when someone comes in to make a call. The considerate thing to do would be to quietly go outside until the person has finished talking (just in case there are those who do not know about consideration).

Campus Snapshots: Group of English teachers discussing what's -wrong-with-English-pupils - in-general... A Bookkeeping student sighing over the long assignment for tomorrow... Girls shivering in their gay plaid pleated skirts, soft sweaters and thick ribbed socks... News hawk of the COLONNADE interviewing Cynthia Mallory of the Y...Group of Peabody six graders playing baseball on the tennis court.

Signs that read like this to be commonly seen (but which aren't sometimes): PLEASE GO AROUND, CLASSES IN SESSION—PLEASE USE OTHER DOOR OF DRESSING ROOM, JOIN THIS OR THAT CLUB, LIBRARY CLOSED FROM 5:50 TO 7:00.

Those who did not hear Rev. Hines speak are the only ones who did not enjoy hearing him. His addresses were both interesting and enjoyable. One girl put it like this, "Not stuffy, but marvelous!"

PERC WESTMORE

ANN SHERIDAN

PERC WESTMORE, make-up expert for Warner Bros., says it takes the right combination of color, line and contour to bring out the best features of all stars. Here you see him with glamorous ANN SHERIDAN who is currently starring in "THE ANGELS WASH THEIR FACES" a Warner Bros. picture

Chesterfield's

RIGHT COMBINATION
of the world's best cigarette tobaccos brings out the best features of each

All the fine American and Turkish tobaccos in Chesterfield's famous blend are known for some particular smoking quality...

and the way Chesterfield combines these fine tobaccos is why you get a milder, better-tasting smoke with a more pleasing aroma.

That is why, when you try them we believe you'll say...

They Satisfy

for your pleasure...
The Right Combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.