The period regularly used as the lecture period will determine the hour of the examination.

Students taking half courses scheduled for Monday, Wednesday, and Friday will take the examination in that subject the first half of the examination period, and those scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday will take the examination the second half of the period.

Regular examinations must be held at the scheduled hours in all courses except physical education 100, 200, and 215; music 212 and 215; and private instruction in music and expression; education 325 and 445; and home economics 432.

Unless this regulation is complied with, credit will not be valid.

Conflicts should be reported to the office of Dean of Instruction. Where a special examination is necessary, it must be after the regularly scheduled hour. Written permission from the Dean of Instruction is required for any examination given out of the regularly scheduled order.

Butch Is Gone! No More To "Teach" Golf

The campus has lost one of its traditions. Yes, "Butch" was practically as important to GSCW girls, as is Parents Day, Herty Day or Graduation.

"Butch" was the pet in every class that met out of doors.

Although the name doesn't sound very feminine, she was of the same sex as other GSC lassies.

Being of canine decent was not a division line in the active brain of this little Boston bulldog. In golf classes "Miss Butch" had to be allowed to retrieve the balls driven by the girls, or class just couldn't go on. Since tennis balls were too large a dose to get in her mouth, she was quite content to sit back on her hunches and watch the game. Her sparkling little eyes actually followed the ball from one side of the court to the other, and there was much the same movement of her head, as is seen in a mass of spectators watching a game in the movies.

How "Butch" knew the schedule of all classes is unknown, but if there was an archery group on front campus she was in attendance. The next hour found her helping umpire a high school softball game.

"Butch" was a gift to Miss Jennings four years ago. She lived on the campus all her life, in her private one-story bungalow next to the hospital. She had her own list of acquaintances—Miss Horsburgh invited her to her home once a week to play with her cat;

Miss Fullbright had her "in" once a day for a romp; Jim, a college cook, sent her a quarter-of-a-pound of meat a day; and she actually got mail addressed "Miss Butch."

Sunday, "Butch," out for a scamp on front campus, was struck by a car, as she crossed the street to visit with some senior friends. Never will so large a group of girls feel such a loss as that of this little dog—the friend to college girls.

Atlanta Club Project Completed

The Atlanta club held its last campus meeting on Monday, May 19. The club gathered at Nesbit Woods for a picnic.

One of this year's projects has been the knitting of a blanket for the British. This is now completed and it is going to be presented to the local chapter of the Red Cross.

The club plans to have one meeting a month during the summer in Atlanta.

Seniors Frolic At Picnic, Tea and Kid Day

Annual senior week is coming up in full sway. Varied activities have been planned, and the seniors, beginning Sunday, are to head the social calendar for the week.

The formal tea, which is to be held in Ennis recreation hall Sunday afternoon from 4:00 until 6:00 honoring the faculty, will usher in the events.

On Monday the chapel program will feature senior talent.

The annual kid's day is to be an event of Tuesday.

Sports day will be held Wednesday. Seniors will have supper in Nesbit Woods.

A bridge party in Ennis recreation hall will take place Thursday afternoon from 4:00 until 6:00.

Senior week will close with the informal dance in Ennis recreation hall Saturday night. The sophomores will entertain the seniors at an intermission party in the formal garden.

Debate Names Greene Head

Pi Kappa Delta held its annual initiation of new members last Saturday, May 10, in Beeson recreation hall. Those initiated were: Dot Hall, Mary Zelma Gillis, Sara Frances Miller, Winifred Greene, and Ruth Banks. The banquet was held at 6:30 in Ennis Coffee shop and the colors of the fraternity, red and white, were carried out in the menu and decorations.

Officers for the next year were elected, including Winifred Greene, president; Lucia Rooney, vice-president; Dot Hall, corresponding secretary, Olivia Schram, recording secretary and treasurer; Mary Zelma Gillis, program chairman; and Nancy Green, news and publicity chairman. The Pi Kappa Delta officers will also serve as officers for the Debating society from whose membership the Pi Kappa Delta initiates are taken.

Dr. Henry Rogers was present to conduct the initiation ceremonies, and Marguerite Chester, a member who has been off the campus this year, was here for the initiation and banquet.

Alumnae Schedule Candlelight Vesper for Seniors June 8

Dr. Steadman V. Sanford, chancellor of the university system of Georgia, will be the principal speaker at the graduation exercises to be held June 9.

The orchestra and the A Cappella Choir, accompanied by Miss Nan Gardner, soloist, will appear on the commencement program. The degrees and diplomas will be awarded after the address by Dr. Sanford.

Dr. Paul L. Caudill, pastor of the First Baptist church of Augusta, will give the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, June 8, in the Russell auditorium.

Dr. Caudill, a graduate of Mars Hill college, Mars Hill, North Carolina, and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky, is at the present time president of the Baptist Sunday School convention.

The program for the baccalaureate services will be as follows:

Prelude
Miss Maggie Jenkins, Organist
Invocation
Music: Grand March from "Aida"—G. Verdi
Symphony Orchestra
Scripture Reading
Prayer
Music: Pilgrims' Chorus from "Tannhauser"—R. Wagner
Acolian Guild Singers and Symphony Orchestra
Sermon—Doctor Paul L. Caudill
Benediction
Postlude
Miss Maggie Jenkins, Organist
Included in the graduation celebrations during the weekend will be a special vespers program Sunday, June 8, conducted by the alumnae association which will be lead by Margaret Meadows.
Sara McDowell, recently elected president of the alumnae association, will be the guest speaker. She was president of the College Government Association in 1939 at GSCW. The program will be closed with a candle-light service inducting the senior class into the alumnae association.

State 4-H Club Elects Biles Officer

Elizabeth Biles of GSCW was recently elected treasurer of the Intercollegiate 4-H club conference at the annual meeting held at Camp Highland.

Representatives from GSCW to the meeting were Elizabeth Biles and Mary Zelma Gillis, Students from Armstrong Junior college, University of Georgia, Abraham Baldwin college, West Georgia college, and delegates from Cobb and Twiggs counties attended the meeting.

The theme, "Rural Youth and National Defense," was led by Mr. G. V. Cunningham, Mr. W.

Commerce Club Ends Year With Picnic at Nesbit

The Commerce club held its last meeting of the year at a picnic in Nesbit Woods, Tuesday afternoon, May 20. As winners of the song-writing contest, members from Ennis were honor guests. The second issue of the "Commercial Letter," a project undertaken by the new officers of the club, came out this week. Editors for the paper will not be elected until next year.

Reorganization

We have been hearing rumors about the changes the YWCA has made in its organization for next year and here they are: first, a new plan for class participation in the Y and second, a different method of the Big Sister idea for the freshmen.

There will be three Y clubs—the freshman, sophomore, and upper classmen which will have their individual officers. Sophomore commission and freshman council as they now exist will be dissolved. Every girl on the campus will be invited to become a member of one of the three clubs which will meet weekly and the subjects for discussions and programs will not be limited to certain topics for the entire year.

We believe that the freshmen found Big Sisters when they arrived on the campus last fall but that the Big Sisters had too many little sisters to take care of. In order not to neglect individual attention for the freshmen next year since there will not be small freshmen Y groups, the Y is making plans for each junior and senior to have a freshman sister, just one, next year. It is hoped that the Big Sisters can really help the green freshman during the whole of the school year!

Seniors Uninterested?

Why do seniors who are elected to offices which do not expire until the end of the spring quarter completely stop active work in those offices the last two months of school?

During this quarter there have been several girls who have evidently considered their duties completed, although they were chosen as representatives of certain groups for the entire year. Just because one is going to graduate in three months she should realize that the rest of the school continues the spring quarter.

Work becomes heavy toward the end of the term, but seniors should attend the meetings of campus organizations to which they could give helpful suggestions for the next year and which they were elected to attend representing a large group of other students.

Campus Improvements

About two months ago representatives from a dozen Georgia colleges came to our campus to form a Georgia Federation of Student Governments. It took time for the constitution to be drawn up and sent out to be ratified by colleges in our state but the schools are joining.

Student Council of our college government recently voted to become a member of the organization. There are similar state federations of student governments throughout the United States. Ours in Georgia is just beginning but next year it will function bringing the students of the colleges of our state into a union for campus improvement.

GADABOUT

By BLANCHE LAYTON

The junior-senior formal brought all the upperclassmen out in their best attire. And did they laugh when Dr. Wells, in an effort to set a balloon out of a basketball goal, fell through a chair!

The Cecilia choir had an entertaining program. I wonder why such a sish of sweetness went forth from the audience when the choir sang "Stardust." Their informal party was fun, too.

Suggestion from students to some members of the faculty: Please put a new picture, an up-to-date picture of yourself, in next year's annual. If your hair is streaked with silver, we love those silver strands, and we want your picture to look as the way we'll remember you. Many of you are many times more lovely now than you were in the "good old days" when the present pictures were taken.

The Phoenix society had a banquet last Friday night in honor of its new members.

These past few days have been hitting the thermometer high, haven't they? Ennis roof has been filled with girls who were suffering to get a tan.

How did you like the set for "H. M. S. Pinafore," or better still, how did you like "Pinafore?"

The Commerce club had a picnic in Nesbit Woods on Tuesday afternoon. Likewise, the last meeting held by the Health club was a picnic on Monday afternoon.

On Thursday night the Cotillion club held a "jam session" to teach other students in the school the rumba. How many of you had success in learning it?

The Folk Dance club had its annual festival on the front campus lawn Wednesday afternoon. Except for the hot weather it was a great success. The green grass was covered with bright-colored broom-stick skirts and dirdmies.

Hats off to Christine Lawrence who took her father to the junior-senior dance last week-end. Be sure to pay all your library fees, and return all books you've borrowed from the faculty, or elsewhere, before you leave.

I've been trying to trace up those students who had the energy to get up at 11:30 p. m. to set the "right room" for next year.

Company E at GMC won first place in the parade on Sunday. So far, Company B is in the lead with points.

Our editor, Lucia Rooney, has been ill for the past week. Evelyn Lane, our business manager, decided Thursday that Lucia needed company. Someone suggested that the Colonnade office be moved over to the hospital. At any

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We wish to thank College Government for the calendars which they presented to the campus this year. These calendars were good reminders of the coming events and were large enough to be used for making notes.

We suggest that College Government plan another calendar for next year and sell it to the students next fall.

Thanks—Two Juniors

Time On My Hands

By JANICE OXFORD

I suppose you have never made a study of women, and neither have I for that matter, but there are quite a few interesting specimens floating around here. Without being personal, I'd like to hit a few high spots in the general run. If your face turns red, or you smile delightedly (because you aren't that way)—don't refuse to speak to me the next time you see me, for I shall put it down to the fact that you simply have a guilty conscience, and that is not my fault.

How about that little freshman that rushes madly about the campus, diving into every extracurricular activity there is whether she is actually interested or not. Her mother told her to get something out of college, and, by jingo, she's going to do it. I present my sympathy to nine-tenths of the poor clubs, because she's always carrying around the tag end of the last meeting she attended.

Just as a matter of contrast, have you made the acquaintance of that "persian kitten lounge?" Always one eye is closed, and the interest she takes could fit easily into a thimble. She thinks doing nothing is the grandest sport there is. She never hurries because it's a waste of time, and in class she drapes in the desk like one of those ancient Grecian garments. Whatever sense she does possess is deftly, but lazily, buried in a deep sleep.

That little one over there with the smug "I always have my lesson" look is an interesting study. The teacher has finally abstained asking her questions because he has learned by now that she always knows the answer, and there is no fun in that. The class heartily despises her, and on the campus you see her book and then Miss so and so. That's all right, she has stuffed more book sense into that little cranium than you ever thought about, and her par-

Insight Into Churchill's Life Is Written By Friend

By DOROTHY MILLER

WINSTON CHURCHILL by Rene Krauss is a timely biography written by a man who has been associated with the diplomatic circles of Europe for the past twenty years and who has been a personal friend of Mr. Churchill for many years. It gives an intimate insight into the life of a man who has held every important post in the British Government until today he holds the greatest post that can be offered to a British subject. British he is to be sure in his habits and outlook, but much of that progressive pioneer spirit he inherited from his American grandfather Jerome (co-editor of the New York Times, during the Civil War and leader of many civic enterprises in New York City) is still to be seen in this 'old man in a hurry' as he is affectionately called by the British.

His has been a charmed life. Escaping from more than one hair-raising situation in his life, his spectacular escape from prison in Africa during the Boer War in which he was serving as a soldier and foreign correspondent will remain as one of the great adventures of modern times.

Fate has played a great part in his life. Rebelling against all schooling he was kept in the low form for so long that today, thanks to the thorough drilling, he received in English, his perfect mastery of English makes him the greatest speaker of modern times.

His attempts to improve the navy and especially to get the tank adopted by the army during the last World War make an interesting chapter. His ability to see into the future in regard to governmental Panel discussions were held. Entertainment consisted of folk games and hiking. The election of officers for the coming year was held. New officers are: Sam Bailey, University of Georgia, president; Nan McCreery, University of Georgia, girl's vice-president; Burney Goolsby, Abraham Baldwin college, boy's vice-president; Dannie Gillis, West Georgia college secretary; Elizabeth Biles, GSCW, treasurer; Fred Peterson, Abraham Baldwin college, reporter; and Jean Patterson, Armstrong Junior college, reporter.

Snapped between dances at the Junior-Senior Dance Saturday night were Hubert Autman, Nancy Ragland, Mary Jeanne Everette and Ralph Twitty. Customarily the seniors have the men at this occasion, but these juniors seem to have caught dates from somewhere.

NYA News After a Fashion

Barnes house had as their guests Dr. and Mrs. Guy Wells, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Fowler, Mrs. C. B. McCullar, Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Miss Mary Davis, and Mrs. Florence Thornton. They entertained at a buffet supper and later in the evening played cards.

Town house spent May 13 and 14 at Lake Laurel. Miss Frances Ramser, physical education teacher, Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Miss Mary Davis, and Miss Margaret Bennet accompanied the girls. The girls enjoyed every minute of their holiday from offices, the hospital, and cafeteria. Even their sunburned arms and backs failed to daunt them!

Louise Hunnicutt returned on Friday after several days illness. Jones house girls are leaving at 4:00 a. m. Saturday, May 24, for a week-end at Buchanan, Ga. While there the girls will divide their time among these sports: swimming, motor-boat riding, and mountain climbing.

Mary Everette has returned to Jones house after a brief illness, and Eulalia Barlowe has recovered from an appendicitis operation.

Lasseter house girls went to Lake Laurel May 21 and May 22, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Commer and Miss Doris Lane. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dewberry and all NYA faculty members were invited.

Earlene Walsh is welcomed back to Lasseter after a mild case of measles.

The following girls, who work in the cafeteria have made good records this week: Louise Stone, honor roll; Dorothy Windoor, Iva Wright, Geneva Collins, Imogene Fowler, and Dorothy Austin, honorable mention.

Dean Hoy Taylor spoke on "The Current World Scene" Monday at chapel.

Dr. Guy Lunsford of the State Health department will conduct a health forum Monday night at 8 p. m.

The NYA staff is in Savannah for a state convention.

Mrs. C. B. McCullar had as her guests Friday Miss Elizabeth Kins and Walter Paschal of Atlanta.

rate, a speedy recovery to you soon.

A lot of the seniors are getting jobs now. Several of the students in the secretarial department have been called to Washington to fill civil service positions.

AAUW Hears Mary Gay

On May 17 faculty and town members of the Association of University Women attended a dinner in the college tearoom. Mrs. Charles Taylor, the local president, presided over the meeting.

The highlight of the evening was a talk by Miss Mary Gay of Atlanta, who is the retiring president. Miss Gay had attended the National Convention of the A. A. U. W. in Cincinnati, Ohio. Her talk was a report of the convention.

By JIMI BENSON

Seniors are well-dressed! If you don't believe it just take a squint at them (or ask a senior)!

Noted at the junior-senior dance: Snookie Thompson, oh so glamorous, in a formal job with black taffeta top and multicolored net skirt topped with black net; Dovie Chandler, quite demure, in a drop shoulder pink taffeta (wasn't that nosegay cute?); Neil Bryan, as usual looking snazzy in black and peach nylon, no less; "Nip" Zeagler actually sophisticated in black taffeta skirt, long sleeved white blouse, wine sash and don't forget the earbobs. Everyone looked so good. There's no limit to the ones who could be mentioned but this column is limited so we'll let it go. Also present—orchids.

"Maggie" Richardson took in a bridge party this week in an aqua number with the most unusual all-colored cork fasteners. She also wore one of those favorites, a coconut straw hat.

For the classroom (isn't it hot) Frances Campbell favors a raspberry print broomstick skirt with a sheer, cool white blouse while Julia Fleming looks actually angelic in a pale pink voile with a lace trim.

Sunday afternoon riding brought Marion Sheppard out in a navy dress with layers of white ruffles. Katherine Sanders simply dazzled that say from Georgia in an aqua linen with white metal eyelets in the yolk.

To get an idea of all the smart new clothes seniors have acquired for graduation partying you'll just have to stay over and see them for yourself.

Hospital List Grows

Admitted to Parks Memorial hospital for treatment during the past week were:

BAPTIST

B. T. U. will meet Sunday at 2:30.

Colonel J. H. Jenkins will be the main speaker at the annual B. S. U. banquet tonight at 6 o'clock in Ennis Coffee shop. All decorations will carry out the Indian theme.

At Nesbit Woods Tuesday morning, May 20, Miss Mildred Owen, Baptist student secretary, honored the new B. S. U. council at a breakfast.

CATHOLIC

The Newman club had a tea at the rectory Thursday afternoon at 5:00.

EPISCOPAL

League will meet Sunday at 2:15 and the subject for discussion will be "Democracy."

METHODIST

League will meet Sunday at 5:00 at which time officers for next year will be elected. This will be the last meeting of the year so members are urged to attend.

PRESBYTERIAN

P. S. A. will meet at 4:15 Sunday. In continuance of the subject, "Sects and Denominations in America" Mrs. J. O. Sallee will speak on the Presbyterian doctrines.

Sara Baccus shows us what the college girl is wearing to church these Sundays. Her dress is of Iretin—the top, white; the skirt, rose and white flowered. The contrasting light blue belt and buttons add to this summer outfit. Her hat is of white straw. White gloves, a blue and white bag, and the always popular blue and white spectators complete the ensemble.

Pinafore Docked Friday Night For Rollicking Time

By BONITA CHIVERS

The H. M. S. Pinafore docked in Russell auditorium port Friday night interrupting its trip on the Seven Seas for inspection by the Honorable Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B. (Leo Luecker) First Lord of the British Admiralty. This brilliant Englishman received both the adulation and respect of His Majesty's Ship Pinafore crew for his excellent behavior and manners bestowed upon their commanding officer, Captain Cocoran (Sandford Taylor) during his stay.

Beneath the colorful flag, babies changed in their cradles save the background for the difficulty aboard the H. M. S. Pinafore while in dock here. A portsmouth Bumboat Woman, generally called Little Buttercup (Fay Crowder) by the gay, British sailors boarded the Pinafore to sell her wares and reveals the mixup around which the plot—(babies rated, and a final reunion in changed in cradles, lovers separated, which all ends happily) revolves.

On quarterdeck of the Pinafore the A Cappella Choir stands out for its excellent performance of a true British crew and again presents a smashing hit.

Sidney Clark, as Captain Cocoran of the Pinafore, displayed all the seaman virtues of a beloved captain. His voice gave strength to his orders.

As Dick Deadeye, Sandford Taylor, was excellent as the ugly, old sea dog who was against the whole idea of the running away of the Captain's daughter, Josephine (Nan Gardner) with a common sailor, Raff Rackstraw (Pete Peters).

Josephine and Raff Rackstraw were splendidly portrayed as a couple in love with their only drawback—birth and station in life. She—the Captain's daughter and he—an everyday sailor.

As Little Buttercup, a Bumboat Woman, Fay Crowder gave us unhappiness, difficulty and finally happiness in her songs, laughter and the selling of wares.

Mrs. Cribbs swayed the Captain into loving her with her deep voice.

Dr. Benham Steward, of Millidgeville as the boatswain won high admiration with his baritone, as Bob Becket.

Filling the role of Hebe, Sir Joseph's first cousin (Dorothy Mae Burge) gave us another good part.

A Cappella needs three cheers for its brilliant colorful performance!

Chapel Programs Include Speakers

The campus 4-H club has invited Dr. George F. Donaldson, dean of Abraham Baldwin Agricultural college at Tifton, as guest speaker in chapel Friday, May 30. Mr. Donaldson is a specialist in the field of rural recreation and is director of recreation at Abraham Baldwin. He is a former teacher of GMC.

Lieutenant Colonel George W. Wannamaker, chemical officer for Fourth Corps Area with offices in Atlanta, was guest speaker in chapel Friday, May 23. He spoke on national defense.

Allegro Elects Hopkins President

The Allegro club held its last meeting Monday night.

Those students performing were: Ann Morris, Frances Coleman, Norma Durden, and Luella Peacock, piano solos; Jane Sparks, a reading; and Marion Stewart, a vocal solo.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Eugenia Hopkins, president; Marjorie Herring, vice-president; Lena Bowers, secretary and treasurer; and Mary Lou Laidler, reporter.

Dances, Picnic Given By Dormitories

Entertainment will vary from pajama parties to dances as dormitories hold their final social events of the year.

Beeson will have a buffet supper in the parlor at 6:30 Saturday, May 31. Dates are to be asked and a dance is to be held afterwards.

Mayfair and Mansion girls will go to Lake Laurel from 2:00 until 8:00 on May 30. Picnic supper will be served. There will be swimming and boat riding.

A picnic in Nesbit Woods at 4:00, followed by a dance in the recreation hall, will be given by Sanford girls.

Bell Annex had a pajama party Saturday, May 17, from 10:30 until 12:00. There was dancing and entertainment by talented members of the dormitory. Refreshments were served.

Health Club Entertained By Woottens

The Health club was given a picnic by Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wootten at the Indian Isle club Monday, May 19 from 4:30 until 8:00.

The entertainment consisted of dancing, bridge, and sight-seeing. A picnic supper was served to the club.

Those attending were: Agnes Evatt, Sara Jolly, Doris Dunn, Winifred Stokes, Evelyn Leftwich, Ruth Stevenson, Georgia Lane, Martha Leach, Lucille McMillan, Harriet Keller, Camille May, Rosemond Ethridge, Ruth Coleman, Betty Cheney, Ruth Brannan, Sara Kitchens, Mrs. Claude Ray, Miss Louise Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wootten.

Memorandum to all model students: A model is only a small imitation of the real thing.

Final Music Recitals Scheduled For May 27, 28, 30, 31

Harriet Chick

Anne Booker

Luecker Reads "White Cliffs Of Dover"

Mr. Leo Luecker, instructor of speech and English for the past two years, read "The White Cliffs of Dover" by Alice Duer Miller in chapel Monday, April 19.

Mr. Luecker studied speech at the School of Speech, Northwestern university. For the past six years he and two friends have had a summer art theater in northern Wisconsin. "There we do some experimental work and the things we like and enjoy," Mr. Luecker said. "We don't do warmed over Broadway chestnuts."

Last summer they did the play "Oedipus," which Mr. Luecker presented here and which was written especially for him.

Mr. Luecker is a professional actor, joining Actors' Equity Association while acting in California in 1937-38.

Bone To Speak At Vespers Sunday

"How to Spend a Profitable Summer" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Josephine Bone, past president of the YWCA, Sunday night at vespers. Special music will be given by Dot Davis on the violin. The sextet will give several numbers. Vespers will be held at 6:45 in the formal garden.

Lanier's Room Visited by Class

By ARAMINTA GREEN

Last Tuesday Dr. W. T. Wynn's class in southern literature made its annual pilgrimage to Sidney Lanier's room in Thalian hall on the site of the old Oglethorpe university. The building is now a part of Allen's sanatorium.

The visitors were served punch and then shown into the room where the poet lived while he attended the university. Attention was called to the heavy, wooden furniture; the long brown bench; Lanier's diploma framed on the wall; and the deep windows. It was from one of these windows that Lanier did his courting, Dr. Wynn told the class. In the evenings when the boys were confined to their rooms "Sid" would rope a basket down the window, and his sweetheart would fill the basket with sweets.

Each member of the class signed her name in the guest book which contains the names of all members of southern literature classes since 1926. It has also been signed by other visiting classes, clubs, and distinguished people.

The room was claimed as a shrine to Sidney Lanier in 1925 by Dr. Wynn, who has refurbished it as nearly like the original as possible. The room is now cared for by Miss Florie Allen of Allen's sanatorium.

Student-Faculty Tennis Tourney Is Under Way

One of the most popular yearly events on the campus is the Student-Faculty Tennis Tournament. Being sponsored by the Tennis club, only Tennis club members and their partners may participate. Games will be played off each afternoon on courts 1 and 2 on back campus, so be on hand for some of the fast moving matches.

Miss Mallory and Reba Mangum drew a bye as did Mr. Noah and Margaret Wood. So they will meet in the second round of the tournament.

Miss Ramser and Marion McLaney advanced to the second round by drawing a bye, and will play the winner of Miss Potts and Ann Haddle vs. Mr. Outland and Margaret Baldwin.

The following drew byes so they will meet in the second round of competition next week. Miss Jennings and Jane Reeve will play Miss Gilmore and Darian Ellis. Miss Maxwell and Betty Brooks will take on Dr. Little and Doris Warnock.

FOLK CLUB SCORES AGAIN

Elementary school, high school, NYA and college students joined forces and danced as one group Wednesday afternoon at the annual Folk Festival sponsored by the Folk club.

Colorful broom-stick skirts, soft voile blouses, bare feet and music by Mary Lou Leadler, Mr. Outland and Katherine Betts created the right atmosphere for the dancers. Over a hundred girls took part.

Different members of the club taught the dances while others demonstrated. The club did, as an exhibition number, Flamborough, an English sword dance. The group used their colorful swords to make intricate designs while dancing.

After the festival the members of the folk club had a picnic supper in the garden next to Bell hall.

Dormitory Rules Desirable But Are Too Numerous

By EVELYN LANE

Education has seemly been called one of our great cultural lags. Machinery, economics, sanitation, and transportation have been by-words of progress. Education has tagged along with the "what was good enough for me is good enough for you" traditional ideas.

In these ideas "rules" have always had a high place. Perhaps psychologically the thing was boiled down to terms of power. It has an element of totalitarianism in it—"the good of the institution."

We as students are not advocating entire abolition of rules in a dormitory. Society demands a minimum of rules for its own protection. This is overworked, however, particularly in an age when education is trying to strain its bonds and become a recognized democratic institution.

Trio Appeared Over WSB

Four music students presented the regular GSCW program over WSB Saturday at 10:30. Corrine Carmichael of Cuthbert was at the piano, and the members of the vocal trio were: Lena Bowers of Camilla, Jo Ann Bivins of Cordele, and Jean Hopkins of Griffin. The program was announced by Nelle Womack Hines, radio director for GSCW.

We have rules in a dormitory for these reasons: to maintain a set standard and provide an excuse for definite authority, and to cover the mass of details in a life which involves many. (This is not always best for circumstances cannot be governed equally).

We have rules—many of them. A minimum is necessary and desirable. Those we have now are good, but a great many are unnecessary and take away any practice of responsibility we might be allowed to develop.

The one rule students are particularly interested in is the one concerning lights. There are many good reasons why we should have this rule. Two of which probably are to cut down the light bill and to protect our health. These are both sensible reasons but it seems that the better way to protect our health would be to cut down on assignments and the many other demands made of us each day. We'll have to admit a light extension is usually due to one of these reasons. Then, too, it seems rather pointless to try to protect part of our student's health while we neglect the other part—poor neglected seniors!

"Miss the Train?"

"Oh, not much," he replied, "You see I never got to know it very well."

Brides Honored At Reception

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Linwood Smith Saturday, May 17, honoring the bride-elects, Misses Dorothy Rountree, Maxine Seabaugh, and Imogene Locket, and announcing the engagement of Miss Louise Crowder.

Rebecca Ernest and Miss Mary Sue Johnson met the guests at the door.

Misses Betty Bradfield, Louise Crowder, Jessie McVey and Mrs. Crowder were in the receiving line. Misses Richardson and Clara Morris ushered the guests into the dining room where they were served ice cream and cake. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out, roses, feverfew, and snapdragons completed the decorations. The guests were served punch on the terrace.

The invited guests were the senior majors of the home economics department and others.

Sallees Entertain Modern Dance Club

Mary and Ann Sallee, entertained the members of the dance group at an ice cream party Wednesday night at their home on Liberty street.

The girls met on the back lawn of the Sallee home for a brief business meeting. Plans were made for the coming week-end to be spent out at the lake. Kitty Burrus assisted Anne and Mary in serving. Betty Sue Smith, president of the club, presented Miss Ruth Gilmore with a gift, in appreciation for her untiring work with the club in preparation for the dance recital.

Those present were: Ann Waterston, Peggy Jones, Rowena McJunkin, Pete Diaz, Betty Sue Smith, Wynelle Shadburn, Frankie Morgan, Martiel Bridges, Margy Evans, Kitty Burrus, Sara Harp, Clara Roughton, Elsie Mae Glascock, Misses Tison and Gilmore, and Ann and Mary Sallee.

you who are enlightened must see, the rest can go hang—they simply aren't important.

That poor little dumb girl. Not literally. She just never should have been made to leave mamma. College is so hard, and the assignments she has. Why she has to write a term paper, and doesn't know the first thing about it. Oh, well, we can't all be brilliant. She'll probably have a rich husband, and make a beautiful wife.

Incidentally I've said enough. You look for yourself. One more parting proverb, and I shall leave you with your embarrassment. "Ain't humanity laughable" . . . and aren't you.

COOLER, Milder, BETTER TASTE
liked by smokers everywhere

Just as you know you'll always find it cooler at the beaches, smokers know they can always count on Chesterfield for a Cooler smoke that's refreshingly Milder and far Better-Tasting.

Everybody who smokes Chesterfields likes their right combination of the best tobaccos that grow in our own Southland and that we bring from far-off Turkey and Greece. THEY SATISFY.
