Ethel Dallas Hill, from LaGrange, will be the speaker for the annual Parent's Day program which will be held in Russell auditorium, Saturday, October 18, at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Guy Wells, Miss McDowell, and Ruth Adams, president of the Granddaughters' club, will welcome the parents, Mrs. Willie Thornton will respond to the greeting from the Granddaughters. The devotional will be given by Augusta Slappey.

The time preceding 11 o'clock will be used for registering the parents at the individual dormitories. The first two periods of classes will meet as usual.

A prize will be given by the Granddaughters club to the dormitory which registers the greatest number of parents. This will be based on a percentage basis. Last year's winner was Bell Annex.

Parent's Day was inaugurated eight years ago when Miss Louise Smith, a present member of the GSCW faculty, was president of the Alumnae association and sponsor of the club. Since that time it has been the custom for the Granddaughters to annually black lace backdrops give that look of elegance for evening. Nominations for Who's Who will be received in the College Government office until 4 p.m. Wednesday, October 15. Each junior or senior may nominate as many as 20 students whom they consider outstanding and have an average of C or above.

Faculty nominations must be in Dean Taylor's office not later than 4 p.m., Wednesday, October 15.

The heads of the three major organizations and the editor of the Colonnade are automatically nominated by virtue of their office.

The Registrar shall determine the four seniors having the highest academic ranking over a period of three years. These students are likewise automatically nominated.

A faculty committee of five selected by the Dean of Instruction shall make the final selection from the list of nominees provided for above.

The Freshman Y Club had its first official meeting in Beeson Rec Hall Monday night, Oct. 6. There were over 150 girls present. The program consisted of a welcome by Miss Cynthia Mallory, and short speeches by presidents of ten of the campus clubs, Martha Duke and Faye Hancock were elected as monitors for the remainder of the year.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting to be held Monday night, Oct. 13, at 7:00 o'clock in Beeson Rec Hall.

Millinery is going to be sensible this season. Or is it only that we have become accustomed to these things called hats. Round and round go the designer's thoughts, and where they'll end—goodness — nobody knows. The spinning wheel of skin calot. The casual, soft bur-fashion seems to have landed on felt is still the favorite of the cover-up hats that completely campus. But well on its way to curtain the hair or fit closely in the top of the list, is the new butch-boy cap in hand-sewn felt.

The snood is staging a colossal comeback this fall. Many of the smartest heads will be covered with woolen crochet. The profile hat with shoulder length brim is just right for classic beauty. Draped velvet snoods and black lace backdrops give that look of elegance for evening.

For that extra for your cloth coat, tuck your locks inside a snood of fur. An especially striking one is a great butterfly bow of Persian-lamb aloft the new pure-brow hair line.

The shops are filled this season with military hats. Imagine a khaki can with your fur coat if It's smart to top your proverbial black costume with a brilliant, theatre red hat. Another idea that will add fire-works to last year's drab suit is a skull-hugging, black and white, pony-now, you can—it's chic. The hats of the last World War are influencing the designers greatly. So hold on to your hats! They may be the latest thing twenty years from now.

Hiking, Boating, Eating, Will Fill Program; Dormitory Skits Scheduled for Evening

The annual hike is planned for Tuesday, October 14, from 2 to 8 p. m. at Lake Laurel, according to Miss Ethel Adams, Dean of Women. Members of the faculty and student body will attend and transportation in buses will be provided.

Students may hike around the lake, go boating, enjoy the lodge and all other facilities of Lake Laurel, Candy and fruit stations will be placed at various points over the route of the hike around the lake in addition to the picnic supper.

The evening program will consist of stunts given by each dormitory. A prize will be awarded for the best skit. Entertainment after the stunts will be arranged by Doris Warnock and Miss Grace Potts.

The students are asked to cooperate fully with the transportation committee while going and returning on the buses.

The Milledgeville College A Cappella Choir, composed of GSCW and GMC students from 12 different states, had its first practice of the year Oct. 6 under the direction of Mr. Max Noah. Already the choir has begun practice on Handel's "Messiah" in anticipation of the annual Christmas program.

The choir members include: Melissa Norton, Mary Helen Ramey, Eugenia Wilson, Jeanette Cross, Nan Gardner, first sopranos; Marian Browne, Evelyn Echols, Alline Fite, Mary Hancock, Virginia Hirschburg, Sue McLeod, Mary Caroline Miller, Sara Jo Nutt, Vivian Pulliam, Roberta Roberson, Louise Simmons, Geraldine Smith, Sally Smith, Harriett Howard Wills, Lena Bowers, Grier Allen, Annette Coleman, Blanche Muldrow, Juliette McKinley, Marian Stewart, Bette Urquhart, second sopranos.

The new faculty members were honor guests at a reception held by Dr. and Mrs. Guy H. Wells at the Mansion Friday night from eight to ten o'clock.

In the receiving line were all of the new faculty, Dr. and Mrs. Wells, Dean and Mrs. Taylor, Miss Ethel Adams, Dr. and Mrs. Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Beeson, Colonel and Mrs. Jenkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Fowler.

The guest included the faculty of GMC, the old faculty of GSCW and the senior class. Also heads of all the civic and patriotic organizations of the city, and all of the county health officials attended.

Citizens of Milledgeville and representatives from the student body and faculties of GMC and GSCW will attend the annual dinner Monday night in the GSCW tea room to start the sixth annual membership drive for the Milledgeville Cooperative Concert association. The drive for memberships will end Friday night, October 17. No memberships will be available after the campaign closes, nor will admissions be sold at the door. All membership cards are transferable and may be given to any friend for ad-

Football Etiquette

When you go to a football game, what do you want to see? The game? That is what most of the students who attended the GMC game Friday night, November 3 saw, but a few students marred the pleasure of the grandstand by behaving too boisterous. Yelling for the favorite team is part of the fun but while carrying on a personal conversation with the girl next to you, you should lower your voice. Several people since the game have made the remark that they heard about trips taken this summer by particular students in which they had not the least interest.

GSCW students are not the only spectators at the games. If you have something important not concerning the game modulate your voice. Our students will be allowed to attend several games in the future. Check yourself as to whether you know "football manners."

Green Campus Again

Have you noticed the back campus recently? The paths that were formerly there have grown up so well that it is necessary to trim the grass. Last year we could imagine the whole expanse of the hockey field covered with grass and now it is a fact.

The physical education department wishes to thank the students for cooperating by using the walks. We feel that no one deserves thanks because we all want our campus to look good. It is not a matter of one spot on the campus being more attractive than another, we want to approve the whole campus.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

In regards to our library, I firmly believe that absolute quietness should prevail there. Most students consider the library the place to study because of good lighting, reference books, and should I say quietness or not? It all depends on the time of the day and on the group of students gathered there.

I believe many students who enter the library noisily are unaware of their disturbing others and therefore, I am calling it to your attention and theirs. However, I believe students disturbing others inside the building are perhaps inconsiderate and need special reminding that the library is for them, yes, but for others also.

Miss Hensbrough is going to be at Thursday night orchestra practice this year, even though she's not on campus.

All the choirs had their first practice on Monday afternoon. Honor Week begins next Monday. Let's make it a success!

The cutest name I've heard recently is Jack Jackson from Washington.

These white uniforms you see around the campus are dietetics majors who are having a course in institutional management this quarter.

The Student Council and Faculty-Student Relations Committee had their quarterly dinner meeting on last Monday night in Mansion Dining hall to discuss campus problems.

The President's club is now called the Pan-Hellenic Council. Mary Jeanne Everett and Audrey Jenkins mentioned the point that seniors should be able to walk with dates in Nesbitt Woods.

I heard Miss Maxwell tell some girls that she would "jerk their skirt off" if they took more than a minute each for Jester's try-outs last Thursday night.

Name It

By DILSEY ARTHUR

This typewriter is leering at me. It must know that I'm at a complete loss as to what I shall put in this column. There are, of course, several alternatives. I could write about politics, except that I always go rampant when about music, but you know more about it than I do. Books might be my subject. Personally I rebel when anyone discusses or recommends literature to me. Don't you like to make up your own mind?

By the process of elimination I'm left with an idea which perhaps you aren't entirely familiar with. It all centers around that mysterious something which most of us don't possess but is the treasured gift of actors and actresses.

You immediately think of Hedy Lamarr and Sterling Hayden or Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine. No doubt you know everything about them, including whether they like zippers or say ain't in private.

I have others in mind. None others than those girls whom you see daily here on the campus and who, in all probability, are your farthest idea of a potential Katherine Hepburn or Katherine Corneil.

This fascinates me. It is a never-ending source of entertainment for me to see college girls of today transform themselves into soothsayers of centuries ago or into characters in situations usually entirely foreign to them. Surely it is an enviable talent to be able to discard one's looks and personality for that of another.

Let's take a look at an audience during the presentation of a play. Somehow the people on the stage have succeeded in making them forget their surroundings and the fact that they played bridge with the heroine that afternoon or are angry with the hero because he failed to give them a good grade the previous quarter.

Perhaps it is an innate quality. Possibly it can be acquired. Whatever it is, these people love their work. They are never happier than when they can drop the routine of their lives to assume the exciting and romantic identity of a lay character.

like, and they are also working on their skit. The hike, you know is on next Tuesday.

President and Mrs. Wells gave a reception last night for the new members of the faculty. The senior class was invited too.

Hugh Hodgson gave an interesting performance on Wednesday night. Let's go out to Appreciation Hour every Wednesday night.

Miss Leech has spent around five years in research among old letters, diaries, newspapers, and memoirs for this highly informative, completely entertaining book. Washington, its men, its women, its leaders, and its historic landmarks are told with all the charm and interest of fiction and yet gives the reader a picture of our national capital that we as Americans of today should know about.

This is not a biography of Lincoln and Miss Leech did try for a time to leave him out of this story of Washington, the city; but Lincoln, the Civil War and Washington are so closely associated that to leave out one is to miss part of the story as you will see.

From the time when old General Scott first appears to suppress the sedition threatening the life of Lincoln, the President elect, until the time when Lincoln traveled to Gettysburg to deliver his historic address, the reader's attention is closely held by the many incidents that unfold around our capital.

The trial of Mrs. Surrat and the amazing activities of Mrs. Greenhow, one of the outstanding spies of the war all contribute to the interest aroused both by new incidents that Miss Leech has uncovered and also by familiar incidents that have lost none of their interest in retelling.

REVEILLE IN WASHINGTON is fast climbing the list of the Nation's best sellers and will make a most enjoyable addition to your fall reading list.

This Collegiate World

(By Associated Collegiate Press)
Well, at any rate this educator tried to scale the heights.

Dr. A. D. Fraser, University of Virginia archaeologist, wanted to examine an old stone mill at Newport, R. I., in an effort to ascertain its disputed origin.

Newport firemen let him take a fire ladder so he could climb over the mill wall, but just as he started to do so police came along and halted him.

"We don't even allow Harvard and Yale boys to go in," said the police, explaining there is a long-standing rule against permitting anybody in the structure, which some believe was built by Vikings centuries ago.

Remember to use the trash cans placed in convenient locations on the campus when you wish to throw away paper. Do not edge the walks with trash.

Zapoleon Lists Announcements Qualities For Happy Life

By BETTY PARK

"If you develop all five of the following qualities you won't leave college with your diploma as a child afraid of the world, but as a woman with confidence, who has learned to enjoy the good things of life," says Mrs. Margaret Zapoleon of Washington, D. C., the second speaker in the Vocational Guidance Series sponsored by College Government. She spoke Tuesday morning at 10:30 in the Russell Auditorium.

These qualities are important to you no matter what occupation you have chosen to follow:
First: Good health habits.
Second: Dependability — and this is a habit.
Third: A sense of craftsmanship.

Fourth: A spirit of cooperation. That is — a person who is willing to do more than just his share, and makes allowances for others.

Fifth and last, and probably the most important because it runs through the other four habits — the habit of acting reality or conquering circumstances. "One must develop confidence." If you can make a habit of solving little problems on your "morning muscles" and will be more able to solve the big problems of your life.

College women should develop the art of friendship. They are looked up to as citizens to take a place of leadership, and to take on responsibilities in the home because of their higher education. In this present time of emergency it is those who are prepared in special fields that must take on responsibility.

The Debate club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:15.

The Colonnade staff will meet Monday afternoon at five o'clock in the Colonnade office.

IRC Fetes RAF Saturday At Nesbits

The International Relations club entertained new members today, October 11, at 4:00 with a social gathering in Sanford parlors and a picnic supper at Nesbit Woods.

At the same time several students from the aviation training field of the Royal Air Force near Macon were guests of IRC. These RAF boys are from all parts of the British Empire, Wales, Canada, Singapore, and Scotland.

The gathering will discuss British and American matters, and the program theme will be "The British Empire."

Games have been planned for the afternoon and the entertainment will be concluded with a picnic supper at Nesbit Woods.

The new members of IRC are: Mary Alexander, Virginia Austin, Beulah Brown, Cora Davis, Dilsey Arthur, Patricia Hillman, Billy Burdez, Florence Hooten, Frances Elizabeth Hooten, Dorothy Mann, Hilda Pope, Sara Taylor, Mary Jeanne Everett, and Hazel Killingsworth. Mary Jeff Whelchel has been elected as an associate member.

The Chemistry Club will hold its first meeting Monday night, October 13, at 7:15. The club will meet in Parks 33.

The Refugee Ball was graced with more than one person from abroad. Here's a group of R. A. F. boys who were being entertained at their first girl-break dance in our country. The girls and their dates snatched on the roof are: Sara Butler, A. H. Brown, Dewi Thomas, Margurite Bassett, Hazel Killingsworth, Trevor Martin, Eunice Odom, Leslie Prickett.

Y Director Of Tech Speaks At Vespers

Charlie Commander, Y Secretary at Tech, will speak at Vespers Sunday night. The subject of his talk will be "The Bible—Its Essential Message and Whether We Can Believe in It."

Five Tech students will accompany the speaker to the campus. After vespers they will lead a round-table discussion in the Y office on points made by him in his talk. Everyone is cordially invited to attend both the vesper program and the discussion group.

Religious Emphasis Week Set Oct. 21-23

Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Atlanta, will open the meetings of the Religious Emphasis Week sponsored by the YWCA. The programs will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. from October 20-23.

Dr. Maurice Trimmer, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Macon; Dr. William Elliot, pastor of the Druid Hills Presbyterian Church of Atlanta; and Canon Robert Crandal of Saint Phillips Cathedral in Atlanta will be the other speakers.

Private conferences may be scheduled with any of the visiting pastors during the week.

The religious groups on the campus are assisting the Y with the arrangements. The Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal are in charge of publicity, entertainment, worship programs, and properties, respectively. Special prayer groups will be held in each dormitory the week preceding the programs.

Cast Chosen For College Production

THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER, a recent Broadway hit, will open the 1941-42 season of the College Theatre on November 6, Marion Stewart, Mildred Covin, and Mr. Leo Leucker will play the leading roles. The production will be given by the Jesters and members of Alpha Chi Omega under the direction of Miss Edna West.

Mildred Covin who was in charge of the annual sale of season tickets for the College Theatre reports the sale of about 550 tickets.

Wed. Program Presented By Pittard

The second concert on the weekly Music Appreciation Hour series will be given Wednesday night, October 15, at 8 p.m. in Russell auditorium. Miss Lois Catharine Pittard will be the soloist for the evening.

Miss Pittard, a native of Winnetka, received her early musical education in the nearby city of Athens, studying piano with Mrs. E. C. McEvoy, Mrs. Katie Jester Griffith, and Hugh Hodgson, and violin with Mrs. John Morris. After receiving her Bachelor of Music from Wesleyan Conservatory, where she was a pupil of Joseph Maerz, Miss Pittard did two years of graduate study with Hugh Hodgson, and later studied with Edwin Hughes and Sascha Geronitzki of New York City.

For the past three summers she has been a scholarship pupil of Kurt Wanasek at the American Conservatory of Music with a major in piano.

The program is as follows: Fantasie and Fugue in G minor, Bach-Liszt.

Andante Favori, Beethoven; Sonata, Opus 22, No. 3, Schumann; Presto, Andantino.

Le Contrabandiste, Schumann-Tausig.
Gavotte and Musette, Trucco.
Polka from "The Golden Age," Schostakowitch.
Mephisto Waltz, Liszt.

Concert Series

The following artists are available for the coming season: Kayl. The photos were taken last spring. The front cover of the booklet shows a co-ed who since has "flunked out" of school and a boy who has transferred to Case college.

"That authority that is the final executive in all matters is the supreme court."

"You may date on the porches and in the wreck halls."

Such were the answers given by our freshmen on the annual handbook test. One just can't help but wonder what Dr. Wells would think of the supreme court being the final authority on our campus, and just how our recreation halls recent being called "wreck halls."

Humorous answers were rare this year, so said the freshman sponsors. Perhaps our incoming students are becoming more thorough in the matter of studying rules, or perhaps the class as a whole decided this was no time to be witty.

Another freshman test paper told us that "Mrs. Adams is our dean of women."

As usual the Alma Mater was changed a bit; the words given were: "Guiding each way, serving our day."

When asked the necessary requirements for making dean's list a freshman who could see far in the future remarked: "Since I am not planning to make dean's list, I see no need for me learning what it is I have to do to make it."

So often after passing our freshman year we lose some of the witless that only freshmen originate. What would we do without our new class to supply us with delightful humor now and then?

Corinthian Announces Staff For Year

Nineteen students have been invited to join the Corinthian Staff, having been elected by the old staff by popular vote.

The following people were selected from a list of recommendations by English teachers and staff members:

Editorial: Dilsey Arthur, Kay Carpenter, Margaret Ennis, Dot Hall, Floride Holley, Tillie Middlebrooks, Joyce Slate, Jane Sparks, Ann Stubbs, Elizabeth Tatum, and Mary Bagwell Tucker.

Business: Oberley Andrews, Flo Finney, Martha Evelyn Hodges, Margaret Keel, Jane Reeves, and Lavinia Roughton. Art: Betty Sue Smith and Joan DeWitt.

And then there is the case of Ohio Wesleyan university, which selected the wrong "typical" students when preparing a picture booklet on its activities.

The photos were taken last spring. The front cover of the booklet shows a co-ed who since has "flunked out" of school and a boy who has transferred to Case college.

NYA News

The Residential Project will begin its annual Forum Season next Thursday night. The theme for the winter will be "Georgia's Problems." Miss Josephine Wilkins, of the Georgia Fact Finding Movement has been invited to open the 1941-42 forum season. Miss Wilma Paschal, Youth Council president, is in charge of the forum.

Frances Barkwell, of Dublin, has been operated on at Scott Hospital for appendicitis.

About forty of the girls went to Atlanta Saturday to attend the Fair, and to hear National NYA Director Aubrey Williams. The 21 year old girls had gone up the week before to join in the citizenship program and to hear Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

The NYA ceramics group had an interesting exhibit at the Fair. Miss Eliza King, state director of Youth Activities, will be the guest of the NYA and speak at their chapel Monday.

Guest artists at our chapel services recently were Miss Nan Gardner, soloist, and her accompanist, Miss Rountree.

Miss Mary Burns spoke to the group Thursday on GSCW traditions. Miss Effie Bagby and the Barnes House girls were hostesses Friday night at a beautiful buffet upper. Miss Etta Mae Johnson is president of Barnes House.

Tentative plans are being made for a series of suppers at Lake Laurel at which the guests will be boys from the Madison NYA Project.

The girls in Jones House spent a day and night at Lake Laurel last week.

Article by Mrs. C. B. McCullar, our Youth Activities director, entitled "Teachers, Too, Can Be Charming," appeared in the October GEA Journal, and will appear in The Florida Teacher next month.

Eleven Home-ec Students Teach

According to an announcement by Miss Jessie M. McVey, head of the Home Economics department at Georgia State College for Women, eleven members of the senior class in that department are serving as student teachers.

A list of those who are teaching Vocational Home Economics during the fall quarter are: Beth Williams and Mary Power at Madison; Elizabeth Pope and Ernestine Wynn at Bowman; Nelle Craft and Helen Haulbrook at Easton; Mary Jane Clarke and Miriam Kitchens at Midway; Doris Lane and Rosa Knight at Metter, and Lena Belle Kay at Vidalia.

All graduates of last year's Vocational Home Economics class have been placed in teaching positions or in agencies where Home Economics workers are used.

A La Mode HomeEc.Club A Capella Hear Institute Entertained Speaker With Pinic

Once again GSCW swung out, and once again the students swung in the finest fashions they had.

Hazel Holloman covered the dance in a lovely gown! The black velvet top had a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and a scalloped edge which ran into a skirt of salmon pink taffeta. On the right side of the skirt was a black applique floral design.

Charlotte Conn looked stately enough in her beautiful white French marquisette. Narrow strips of silver formed stiffeners for a fitted waist and sleeves made of red and white horizontal stripes with red and green flowers embroidered on the white stripes.

Darian Brown had oomph plus in a pink marquisette with black lace straps over the shoulders and one strip of black lace around the upper part of the gathered skirt.

Martha Wright looked as though she had stepped out of her grandmother's album in her black taffeta dress with white lace on an off-shoulder line. The waist was in scalloped design onto a full skirt. A narrow black ribbon around her neck made her look even more old-fashioned. The long flowing sleeves added dignity and loveliness. She wore silver sandals and carried a silver bag.

Jane Lancaster chose black for the dance. An embroidered bodice with tiny shoulder straps pointed down into the skirt of black net. Several blue bows found place around the skirt.

Bows in the skirt seemed quite the thing for Ann Eley had some of fuschia down her black net. Her handkerchief was of fuschia, too. They were too tiny strips across the shoulder and a silver clip at the neck.

Betty Nelson was gowned in a white silk shantung with the boat-neck blouse front.

Corsages were scattered all around the dance floor, but then, we won't go into flowers.

Y Membership Drive to Open Monday in Chapel

At chapel Monday, Oct. 13, the YWCA will open its annual membership drive with a forum discussion in which Dr. Mack Swearigen, Mrs. Wilbur Duncan, Marian Bennett, and Martha Daniel will participate.

The theme of the discussion will be: "What I Think is Important in College Life," and each speaker will give his idea of the subject.

Also at this time, membership application sheets will be distributed among the students, and all will be given an opportunity to join by singing the membership pledge thereon, and by indicating the activities in which they are interested. These sheets will be kept as personal records of Y members. Everyone is urged to join this organization.

Mrs. Zapoleon spoke to the Home Economics club on the future of home economics—trained people and their place in national defense. She told of the home economics field openings in teaching, commercial and demonstration work, technology, radio, journalism, advertising, merchandising, and the sciences and the advantages of each. She emphasized the fact that instead of becoming crowded the field of Home Economics was becoming less crowded, and more in demand. Woman's place in defense may definitely be found in the Home Economics field.

The social committee headed by Janis Dunbar is composed of Faye Crowder, Sidney Clark, and John Rose.

With a beginning of fifty girls and thirty cadets, Director Max Noah states, "With the present possibilities the 1941-42 Choir should be the best Milledgeville has produced."

Basque Back in Style

TIGHT VELVET BASQUE and full skirt of contrasting material is one of the more popular styles this year for both street and formal wear. Mizzie Goulet of the CBS "The O'Neills" shows wears a youthful model, reminiscent of peasant costumes, in red velvet and black sheer wool with black embroidery trim. (Lane of Salzburg.)

Sportations

By MARGARET WILSON

Here's good news! Tonight (Saturday night) you can come to the gymnasium and dance, play badminton, table tennis, and do other things that you enjoy. Yes, the Recreation Association is having the first Play Night of the year at 8:00. Come, and if you have a date bring him, too.

Volleyball was played this week, Monday through Thursday—with an average attendance. The following girls came out Wednesday: Thelma Broadrick, Mildred Carr, Doris Warnock, Glynise Smith, Wilma Carter, Ann Tribble, Margaret Wilson, Marion Nelson, Lucy Browning, Ann Haddie, Mayo Aultman.

The freshmen physical education majors met together Thursday to talk over the plans for the year. Glynise Smith was elected treasurer of the Physical Education Club. Cornelia Harris, president of the club, gave arrangements that have been made about the trip to Lake Laurel on November 1.

The regular meeting of Folk club is every Tuesday night at 7:15.

Frosh to Elect Class Officers November 3

The annual election of Freshman class officers will be held on November 3, Martha Daniel, President of CGA, has announced. Her purpose in so early an announcement is to remind the students to study the question seriously with due regard to the capabilities of the nominees.

Nominations are made by petition, each of which must be signed by twenty-five students and dropped into an especially provided box in the CGA office. On the date set for the election, booths and ballot boxes will be provided in Arts.

Further announcements will be made in dormitory meetings, which the CGA will call and supervise. Students are advised to watch for them.

Modern Dance Group Completes Tryouts

Tryouts were held Wednesday night at the Modern Dance club's regular meeting. Those who filled the requirements and are invited to become members of the GSCW Modern Dance club are the following: Margaret Wilson, Mary Nell Veal, Evelyn Pope, Sue Landrum, Sue Herring, Thelma Broadrick, and Sara Baccus. Modern Dance club meets every Monday night at 8 o'clock and every Wednesday night at 7:15.

Campus Briets

The Penguin club will hold tryouts Monday night, Oct. 13, at 8 o'clock in the swimming pool. The tryouts consist of four elementary strokes, the front crawl, back crawl, breast strokes, and the side stroke.

The swimming pool is open every Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday at 4:30 for all students' use.

The FTA club will hold its first meeting Tuesday night, Oct. 14, at 7:15 in 216 Education building. All members are urged to be present.

The Chemistry club will hold its first scheduled meeting of the year Monday, October 13, at 7:15 in the chemistry lecture room. All old members and those wanting to become members are urged to be present.

The girls in the methods class in the home economics department have chosen as their project this quarter the beautifying of the home economics building. They have chosen to care for the bulletin boards, flowers, club room and the miscellaneous work.

Each week Dr. Jacobs, of the Education Department, conducts a study group on Human Development. Those participating are the Home Economics and NYA staff.

A call meeting of the Granddaughters club will be held Thursday night October 16 in Park 27 at 7 o'clock. It is most important that all members be present, as final plans for Parents' Day will be discussed.

We thank you for the privilege of serving you.

Education Dept. Offers Visual Course

GSCW has about $3,000 worth of visual aid equipment in the Education building. This equipment consists of various slide projectors, about 3,000 slides, a film strip projector, numerous film strips, a reflectoscope, a silent movie projector, a sound movie projector, and about thirty selected motion picture films. There is also a motion picture camera.

At the present time about 30 students and faculty members are learning to operate this equipment. They are being instructed by Lavinia Roughton and Dilsey

Arthur, who have charge of the equipment under the education department. These students and faculty members are meeting each evening from 7:00 to 8:00 and upon completion of the course will be given certificates as qualified operators of the equipment and will operate it for various departments on the campus.

One of the recent trends in educational policies over the country has been the increased use of audio-visual aids in instruction. GSCW is fortunate that there will be plenty of operators over the campus after this week who can serve the needs of the various instructors.

Dr. Harry Little, head of the education department, states that there will be another school for those who do not complete requirements at this time and for additional ones who desire to learn how to operate the equipment in January.

Lavinia Roughton is a freshman from Macon. She received her training in the high school there where she had charge of the visual aid department. Dilsey Arthur is a sophomore who worked with the visual aid equipment here last year.

It is said that several of those who are interested in visual aids instruction will attend the state meeting in Atlanta November 13-15.
