Annual Contest Arouses Class Spirit on Campus

By Jewell Willie
Pygmalion was a skilled sculptor who lived in ancient Greece.

For reasons which nobody could possibly imagine, he hated all women, perhaps because he could abide nothing short of perfection and all human beings are fraught with imperfections which detract from perfect beauty. Therefore, Pygmalion hid himself to his studio and carved a statue of a woman who was perfect in every way.

His art was so flawless that it ceased to look like art but more like nature. He fell in love with his statue.

For the last few weeks, there have been two groups of collective Pygmalion on the campus. The freshman and sophomore classes had chosen as their goal perfection in their plays and songs for the Golden Slipper contest. They really fell in love with the idea of winning the slipper.

Posters mushroomed up all around the campus over night. The freshmen were determined to destroy the sophomore morale, and the sophomores were just as determined to shake the freshman will to win. Rivalry ran high and reached its climax last night when the sophomore class walked off the stage wearing the slipper.

The tea dance was held this afternoon in Sanford dining hall. Gay colored leaves were used in decoration for the dance to carry out the autumn idea.

Gadabout Campus Camera

By BLANCHE LAYTON

A recent bulletin published by the Dean of Women has been misinterpreted by several of the housemothers and students on the campus.

The announcement read that students must be introduced by responsible people to soldiers if they were not old acquaintances. This does not mean that students may not date men in uniform.

The announcement had one purpose: to encourage the girls not to make dates with soldiers of short acquaintance. Girls may date any friends whom they have known before coming to GSCW or any soldier to whom they are introduced by a responsible person. The responsible person may be another boy of long acquaintance or another student.

If a girl continues seeing a soldier for several weekends, the housemother will ask her to write for special permission from home to date the boy thereby relieving the school of responsibility.

All boys in uniform who date GSCW girls are cordially invited to do so. They are welcome on the campus.

Class Cooperation

The Golden Slipper contest is the only time during the year when the classes actually develop some form of class spirit. It has become a tradition and during the past week the sister classes cooperated with each other in bringing the whole school into the affair.

In the past the freshmen and sophomores have been the only classes concerned. Friday night the contest was nearly as important to the juniors and seniors as it was to the underclassmen. The class songs had been practiced for weeks in advance by all four classes.

This contest is judged on several things but a form of rivalry must not develop between the classes. This annual event is a fine tradition for the campus and improves each year.

My! You can't see straight this week for the seniors. They're all in a dither over the senior dance. And what a dance it's going to be!

Speaking of seniors reminds me of one senior in particular. I just couldn't understand why Faye Johnson was so attentive to the phone on Sunday evening, but when Dorsey Rowe showed up, I knew the reason.

One of the "P. C.'s" on our campus is Jewel Byrd Lanier, who enjoyed the home-going dances at Mercer last weekend.

Did you note the mad rush for tickets to "THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER?"

Mary Griffith, Ruby Donald, and Blossom Davis were visitors to our campus last weekend.

Does Mr. Noah just like to talk or is it that he likes to stand before "such a sea of beautiful faces?"

Wasn't that half holiday appreciated on Armistice day? It gave us a chance to catch up on past work and get ready for some more.

I must say the "peppiest" girl I've seen around in a long time is Joyce Slatte. Even the hospital didn't stop her from singing last night.

The town girls are nominating girls for president and secretary this week.

Virginia Hudson has a fine time chasing people to get pictures for the paper. It's almost as nerve-wracking as being Clark Gable's autograph-seeker and not nearly so interesting.

Atlanta concert ticket holders heard Helen Tranel, dramatic soprano, at the city auditorium on Monday evening.

Huxley Writes Biography Of Father Joseph

By Dorothy Miller

GREY EMINENCE by Aldous Huxley is the story of Father Joseph, the right-hand man and collaborator of Cardinal Richelieu. Since this is the first full-length biography from the pen of the versatile Mr. Huxley, it is an event of the first importance. It is interesting to compare GREY EMINENCE with some of the earlier works by Mr. Huxley.

GSCW Has Winner In Better Drivers Contest

By Mary Brewton

A written examination, numerous driving tests at the Sears' Roebuck parking lot in Atlanta, and a ten mile drive through Atlanta, were the experiences through which Elaine Carter, a GSCW freshman, passed before she was announced the second best driver in the state of Georgia.

NYA News

By SARAH SARRETTE

Elaine, who has been driving for three years, was one of 24, 12 boys and 12 girls, who attended the Ford Good Drivers' league contest in Atlanta last summer. While there they stayed at the Biltmore hotel and were entertained with a supper at the rainbow room in the Henry Grady hotel, a parade from the hotel to the parking lot where the contests were held, and a banquet at which the winner was announced and at which were Governor Talmadge, the head of the Highway Department, the chief of the state patrolmen, and other state officials.

When asked to whom she owed her driving knowledge, she said, "To my parents. My mother was always sweet about riding with me and my father was especially educational. He never took the wheel when I got in a tight place but always made me get out of it myself." After the contest Mr. Carter presented her with a deluxe 1941 Ford.

The test drive through Atlanta was Elaine's first experience at driving in a city of that size. Before this her traffic experiences were in Albany and Thomasville as Meigs "doesn't even have a red light."

There was only a fraction of an inch difference between Elaine's score and that of her successful rival.

is a graduate of Alfred University, one of the finest ceramic schools in this country.

Each day there will be a demonstration of some craft and a small exhibition arranged to point out good and bad design in the various objects. The schedule for demonstrations from 4:00 to 4:30 is as follows:

Monday: Bath

Tuesday: Finger painting

Wednesday: Freshmen doing lapel decoration. Sophomores — book binding.

Friday: Stitchery.

EXHIBITS

The following exhibits will be held from 9:00 to 12:00 and from 3:00 to 5:30 daily.

Monday: Good and bad table arrangements with pottery — china and crafty linens.

Tuesday: Good and bad pottery.

Wednesday: Good and bad household objects, both inexpensive and expensive.

Those girls who compose the sales committee are: Katherine Cunningham, chairman; Martha Duey, Mary Ida Ursy, Dorothy Lewis, Nelle Moore, Mary Frances Lewis, and Mary Esther Harvey.

This I. Q. program is only a part of the nutrition program presented for the month of November. Posters were made by each house stressing the importance of health to defense, Jones, Moore and Barnes houses made the best posters as judged by Miss Kyle, Mrs. Mays, Miss Betty Hays and Miss Rensing, of the art department. Films for the month are to be "Food is Strength" and "Proof of the Pudding."

The following will serve on the publicity committee: Lucia Rooney, chairman, Ruth Adams, and Lula Parker.

The selection and arrangement committee will include the following: Miss Mamie Padgett, chairman, Miss Bancroft, Miss Rensing, Betty Sue Smith and Mary Kennedy.

The campus is cordially invited to visit these demonstrations and exhibits during National Art Week.

Trees and columns were never meant to serve as billboards.

It is hoped that interest in better nutrition was stimulated and will continue to influence the health and well-being of every girl on the project.

Last Thursday's chapel program was made up of people called at random from the audience and asked to perform. Some recited poetry, some played a violin and piano, and some gave talks. The originality of the program made it interesting and enjoyable for the group.

The BSU council of GSCW presented a typical council meeting at chapel Monday.

New NYA project students are: Doris Manning, from Alamo and Imogene Edmondson, from Forsyth.

Sara Singletary left Sunday to accept a job at her home in Blakely.

Miss Shoffelt, the recreation teacher is teaching social dancing at her afternoon classes.

Dr. Francis Wilson, associate professor of zoology at Tulane University, collects seals in order to study their embryology and life history.

Museum Receives
New Relic

By ARAMINTA GREEN

After reading last week's article on the Georgia museum, Mrs. J. L. Beeson, wife of former President Beeson of GSCW, wrote in to tell students of the newest relic to be added to the museum.

The gift is a silver tea spoon, owned by Jared Irwin, first governor of the state to live in Milledgeville, and his wife. It is given to the museum by a descendant of the governor's secretary, Peter Fair, through Mrs. Beeson.

When Governor Irwin was coming to Milledgeville in 1807 he offered an old Revolutionary war friend, Peter Fair, a position as secretary in his service. Both Peter Fair, and his wife, Susannah, were buried in the Milledgeville cemetery. The intrinsic value of a painting or piece of sculpture is not to be found in its exactness—but in its life-quality.

The spoon is decorated with a basket in relief near the end of its handle. Below this is engraved a set of initials, now illegible.
