The date proposed for the week-end is Nov. 18-Golden Slipper week-end. Besides having students and faculty, dates and alumnae would see Golden Slipper night. Saturday would be visiting day with lunch on front campus. Saturday nght would feature a dance with an orchestra in the big gym.

Why not? Emory boys slave many hours to perfect Dooley's Frolics each year. Homecoming is a tradition at most every college in the nation.

Many of the recent alumnae return each year to the Slipper event, so why not entertain them after Friday night?

Then there is the question of students being tired after Slipper night. But don't they plan to fill every minute of your time when you visit another college Homecoming? Anyway, you wouldn't stay compleely secluded the rest of tht week-end after Friday night without Homecoming.

Why can't we wake up Saturday morning and the final test of good sportsmanship. greet and entertain our guests, who are sure to be here anyway—and in high fashion!

If you have any ideas on the subject, write a letter to the editor or come to Student Council, Wednesday at 6:15.

When you have graduated, would you like to have a special weekend to call Homecomingin which you felt that YOU were really wanted and expected to come HOME?

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I don't think it is customary, but I am enclosing a sort of poem, a "Recipe for Jessie," which you will be able to use in The Colonnade. I wrote it some time ago, but I waited to send it because I ciate it more then.

October 23, 1949

peculiar only to the class with whose colors they are paired. I only wrote what each color suggested to my mind, just to express how I feel about the spectrum of classes at GSCW.

After all, although I think that class spirit is a wonderful thing still, in every day campus life and in the daily friendships that we make it does not matter what our class colors are-we are all Jessies under the skin.

Golden Slipper Nov. 18

Golden Slipper-just a mere mention of the word and watch an upper classman's eyes light upl Those two little words mean "work, excitement, tension, enthusiasm and calcads of fun" for two whole weeks . . . two weeks in which lessons are practically forgotten for a petite golden slipper on a satin pillow.

The slipper was won by the Frosh last year and it will be a contest of rivalry and good sportsmanship to see who gets to keep the shoe this year. The most wonderful thing about the contest is, even if you lose, you have the warmest sort of feeling down deep inside—a closeness and love for your class mates—and sheer determination to win NEXT year.

The center of rivalry lies in the dramatic field. From a short story or poem, each class adapts a play -staging, casting, directing, and presenting it in the auditorium on THAT night in Nov. There are three days of pre-advertising; exhibition of the displays; pep songs written by each class; and

Are ya excited??? November 18 is the date!!

Letter From Mary Loh

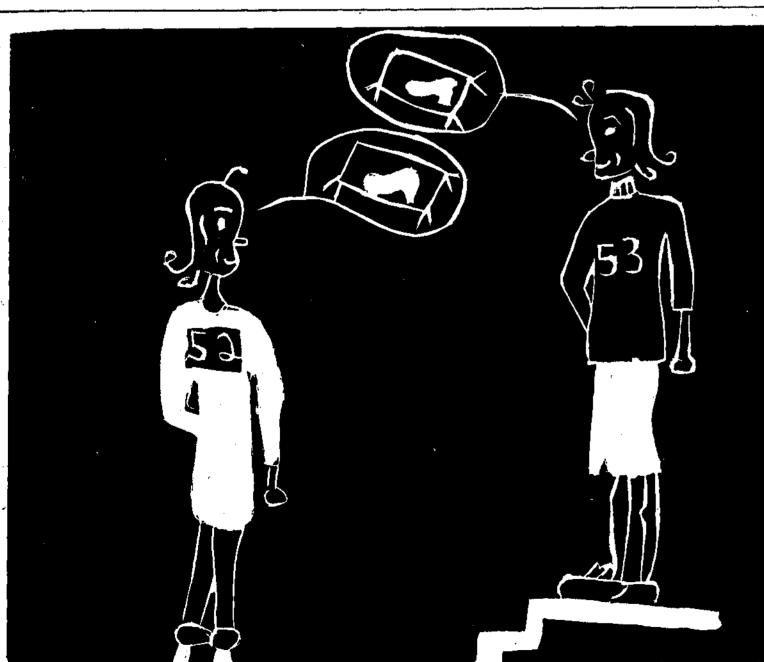

Communication from Mary Loh, last year's Y sponsored foreign student, now studying in Colorado' recently sent the following message back to Jessie:

"I am now rooming with a Chinese girl. She is from Shanghai, too. She is a senior now. She came in 1947, too. But we didn't know each other. She is a very sweet girl. She is frank, too. We have many habits and ideas in common. We always correct each other.

"Colorado is pretty too. But the atmosphere is quite different from GSCW and the school where felt it would be of more value to you around Golden my brother goes. They seldom say "Hi" to each ON FIRST LOOKING INTO THE SENIOR CODE Slipper time. Certainly the freshmen would appre- other. The whole student body is not united together. There is no close friendship between faculty I don't mean to imply that the qualities are and students. I wish the girls in GSCW will realize how lucky they are.

> "Most every meal are cold. There is no variety—always potatoes and seldom a big dinner. In the morning, they have only coffee, donuts, cr milk, dry cereal. They never have eggs, bacon or sausage. Anway I don't eat too much so it is all right to me."

Jessie, maybe we do have a lot to apreciate.

Inflation Explained

In explanation of the recent Colonnade article on "Inflation" we found the underlying facts of the matter. The truth is that the college is not trying to beat us out of a thing.

The ruling on the $1.00 charge for late matriculation is charged after the fifth day of arrival of all students. The college has two sources of income: room, board, laundry, which are for living purposes, costs are minimum: matriculation and fees charged for late registration, matriculation, loss of cards. transfer credits, etc., which goes into the college educational income.

The $5.00 charge at the beginning of the fall quarter is a set basic fee that becomes a part of the room ren and is credited to the dormitory. "The fee is not charged in the summer session and this is probably where some of the misunderstanding

Student Council has recommended that the student body be notified of all additional charges, and be reminded before deadlines for late charges.

One might think that learning punished. After some of the this creed constituted the activities of rat day but how wrong they would be! The greater amount of the rats-to-be had difficulty in learning to correctly assume fifth position of the ballet and while in this position to wag their tails.

A stranger on campus the following day would have been quite amused at the number of frosh whose blouses were held together with safety pins instead of the usual buttons, never guessing that all available buttons had been used to sew that undignified word RAT on the back of the so-called jerkins, though they more closely resembled white towels.

Did someone ask why the noses of all the freshmen were red Monday night? No it wasn't because we weren't able to get the rouge or lip-stick off. Most of them insisted that the unusual color was caused by rubbing our noses on the cement walk in front of arts where we bowed before the Junior flag each time we passed. Some of us seemed to have trouble keeping our leggings pinned to our shorts during this procedure.

Strangly enough, many of the brooms in the freshman dormitories were in poor condition Tuesday. One might assure that we frosh had had the urge tokeep our rooms unusually clean had they not noted that the bright red whiskers worn by the rats the day before closely resembled what had originally been broom straws. Besides wearing whiskers most of us decided to change our hair styles but it was generally agreed that two pigtails showing, with the rest of the hair well covered by a kerchief detracted rather than added to our beauty.

Noted Lecturers To Appear Here

Alice Marble will lecture here Thursday Jan. 19, on "The Will to Win".

Alice Marble was born in Plumas County, California, the fourth child of farming parents. The family moved to San Francisco when Alice was still a child and it was on the sand-lots in that city that Alice achieved her first fame in sports-on the baseball diamond! She was called "Little Queen of Swat" when her brother Dan persuaded her that playing tennis was more "lady-like." She was thirteen when she held her first tennis racket in her handreluctantly!

She became Junior Champion of California in 1931; played on the Wightwan Cup Team in 1933; won her first national championship in 1936; became champion of the world in 1939!

In 1938 she made her singing debut at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Began designing sports clothes the same year and started lecturing: During World War 11 Alice Marble worked for Army and Navy enlistments—was a "morale" speaker at hundreds of win-thewar rallies.

She wrote "The Road to Wimbltdon" in 1944, a consistent bestseller in sports literature.

Miss Marble will also hold a session with tennis enthusiasts on Thursday afternoon, sponsored by Rec and the Dept. of Health and Physical Education.

Merle Miller will present the third Lecture in the series on Monday Feb. 20. His subject will be "Current Books-What People ar Reading and Why."

At th age of 29, has already led an exciting an varied career. Educated at the University of Iowa and the London School of Economics, he started his rporting as a Washington correspondent. During the war he founded and edited the Pacific edition of YANK, and later YANK'S CONTENENTAL EDITION. Today he is one of the busiest young men in New York - an Editor of Harper's, contributor to the Saturday Review of Literature, Reader's Digest, Nation, Survey Graphic, Book-Editor of Pic Magazine, and appears on a semiregular basis on the radio and television, "Author Meets The Critics" -all this in addition to making transcontinental lecture tours, and writing a book annually.

The last of the lecture series is Ogden Nash who will speak here on Monday, April 10. His subject is "Midway Thru Nash."

Mr. Nash was born in Rye, N.Y.,

the first of his family to emerge north of the Mason-Dixon line. He says he has ten thousand cousins; in North Carolina; one of his ancestors was revolutionary governor of that state and another, a revolutionary general, gave his name to Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Nash entered Harvard in th class of 1924 but left after one year. This was his original idea, not the dean's; he has affidavits to prove it. After a remarkable short attempt at teaching and selling bonds, he settled on the literary field as his natural milieu. His first book of light verse, "Hard Lines," established Ogden Nash as master of the humorous rhyme. Twenty years and those 8634 verses have done nothong to tarnish that reputation.

Today Mr. Nash writes for the NEW YORKER and the SATUR-DAY EVENING POST. He wrote the lyrics and was co-author with S. J. Perelman of the smash-hit musical, "One Touch of Venus."

The alarums and excursions of youth have mellowed Ogden Nash and now he is about to be served up with the tasteful trimmings of middle age. Probably, this is the new Nash that America has been waiting for, facetious but no long-
