Plans Ready For Parents' Day; Granddaughters To Be Hosts

Parent's Day! The most exciting, time consuming day of the year has been set for the 19th of April. This is the day for you to meet your roommates' parents and for the faculty to get acquainted with the Jessies' home town folks.

The Granddaughter's and the Alumnae Association are backing the project that proved the biggest success since its organization last year.

In 1948 Terrell Proper received the handsome prize for the dormitory with most parents present. In 1949 Bell Annex showed the largest percentage of parents.

The day is designed to give the parents a picture of how their daughters live in our campus community. Time has been reserved for visits to classrooms, dormitories, laboratories, and other scenes of everyday activity.

Majors in the various departments will act as guides for the visitors and information girls will be posted over the campus. The members of the Granddaughter's will be official guides with badges identifying them.

The parents will register in the girl's dorm before 12 o'clock. The town girls parents will register on the front porch of Parks Hall. The awarding of the prizes will be immediately after lunch on Parks porch.

Open house will be held all day in the Alumnae Guest House and in the YWCA apartment in Beeson Hall. Everyone is invited to bring their parents. The Home Economics Building will hold open house Wednesday morning from 10:00 until 12:15.

First on the program for the parents will be visiting classes from 8:30 until 10:30, as in progress on regular schedule. Chapel will be held in Russell Auditorium at 10:30. From 11:00 until 12:00 the parents will visit exhibits of students work in various departments, and tour the campus.

Lunch will be served on front campus at 12:30. (Barbecue). Parents will visit the performance of the skill clubs from 2:00 until 4:00 in the afternoon. From 4:00 until 5:00 p.m., Dr. Wells will entertain parents and daughters at a tea in the Mansion, at which the Mardigal Singers will sing.

College Theatre will present the final event of the day when the curtain rises on "Dear Ruth," starring Jane MacCrae, Atlanta, at 7:30 pm.

Schedule of Activities
Exhibits will be continuous. Everyone is invited to visit any and all of the activities in progress.

DR. MACMAHON UNDER TREATMENT IN MACON FOR EYE INJURY

Dr. Donald H. MacMahon, dean of instruction at Georgia State College for Women, has been under treatment in Macon Hospital this week for a serious injury to his eye.

In a freak accident, occurring as he went through a swinging door at the college, the corner of an index card pierced his eyeball.

GOLD KEYS AWARDED STUDENT EDITORS

Gold keys were awarded Friday at chapel at GSCW to Miss Polly Brannan of Lawrenceville, editor of the Colonnade, GSCW student newspaper; Miss Jeanne Suter, Decatur, business manager, Miss Katherine Kent of Tifton, editor of the Spectrum; and Miss Helen Lewis of Elko, business manager.

The pins were awarded by Dean MacMahon.

Petitions for class officers will be nominated until 5:00 Wednesday. Withdrawal will be Thursday and elections, April 18.

Ogden Nash 'Tripped Light Fantastic' Here Last Night For Lecture Series

The famous writer of light verse, Ogden Nash, spoke here on Monday night, in Russell Auditorium under the auspices of the College Lecture Series.

Mr. Nash, who "trips the light fantastic" in verse through the pages of The New Yorker, Saturday Evening Post and other national magazines as well as through some ten books of poetry, recited a number of his classic verses and commented on the turn of events in his life that caused their creation.

OGDEN NASH, writer of light verse who tickled wits of students and citizens of Milledgeville last night.

Ogden Nash's latest book of verse, "Versus," contains as the title suggests, a long list of his aversions. He took a dim view of children's books that aren't really for children, professional optimists, golf snobs, duck hunters, television, women who leave lipstick on glasses, and people who invite you to dinner without telling you how to get there.

On the other hand, he strongly favors spring, ducks, robins and marriage. And middle age being inevitable for anyone who survives long enough, he treats it with affable resignation. In lines finely called "Let's Not Climb the Washington Monument Tonight," he may even have given the definitive last word. According to Mr. Nash, it is the time when:

"—nobody will speak loud enough for you to hear,

And you go to the ball game and notice that even the umpires are getting younger every year."

Ogden Nash himself has reached the midway point in life—or, as he puts it, "I've survived through four and a half of Shakespeare's famous Seven Ages of Man." He was born in Rye, New York, the first of his family to venture north of the Mason Dixon Line. One of his ancestors was Revolutionary governor of North Carolina, and another forebear, a Revolutionary General, Francis Nash, gave his name to Nashville, Tennessee.

Ogden Nash entered Harvard in the class of 1924 but left after one year. This, he maintains, was his original intention and will produce affidavits on the subject should anyone ask. He spent a year at St. George's School in Newport, Rhode Island, where he says, "I lost my entire nervous system carving lamb for a table of fourteen - year - olds."

To continue the biographical details in the inimitable Nash manner; "I next went to New York to make my fortune as a bond salesman and in two years sold one bond—to my godmother. However, I saw a lot of good movies. Then went to work writing car cards for a leading advertising agency. After two years of that I landed in the advertising department of Doubleday Page, the publishing house. That was 1925 and I doubledayed until the beginning of 1931."

Incidentally, it was while he was at this job that Ogden Nash got the inspiration for his particular brand of light verse. Doodling at his desk one day, he came up with the very first sample of Nashism:

"I sit in an office at 244 Madison Avenue,

And say to myself 'You have a responsible job, haven't you?'

Mr. Nash attributes this accidental beginning to a career that has brought him fame as "the sudden and subconscious idea of writing bad verse deliberately." Some verses started with the fabulously twisted words he is noted for and are worked into an idea. Other rhymes are the result of an idea and the tortured words fall naturally to Ogden Nash—into place.

High School Girls Over State To Visit Campus April 19-21

GSCW will be host to an estimated 200 high school seniors for the weekend of April 19-21. This is a new idea originated by some of the faculty members which they hope will be a successful annual affair.

Most of the Georgia colleges play host to the seniors at some sort of entertainment each year. The University of Georgia gives free admission to the seniors of the state for one of the University football teams home games. Brenau college entertains the seniors at a house party each spring.

The plans that have been made for the weekend are far superior to any other colleges and plan to be very worthwhile for the students. Mrs. Willie Snow Etheridge has been obtained as the guest speaker for the occasion.

Student leaders of the college will participate in some of the forums and discussions and the student body will be invited to the sessions.

Each high school having 26 pupils will send one girl, more than 26, two girls, and over 40 members may send three girls.

The program for the weekend is as follows:

Friday, April 21
10:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.—Regis-

ling Club, Gymnasium.
2:30 and 3:30—Modern Dance Group, Studio, or Fashion Show, Porter Hall.

Chapel Program—10:30 A.M.
Prelude in E, Scholin—Miss Maggie Jenkins, Organist.

Devotional—Dolores Wheeler, President, Young Women's Christian Association.

Selection—Cecilian Singers, Wesley Norman, Director.

Welcome—Louise Nelson, President, Granddaughters' Club.

Introduction of Administration Officers of the College, and Greetings—Dr. Guy H. Walls, President, Georgia State College for Women.

Selection—A Capella Choir, Max Noah.

Benediction.

Four To Join IRC European Tour

Dr. Helene Greene will accompany Weylene Edwards, Ann Wells and Katherine Kent on the 1950 International Relations Club European Study Tour, in June.

The American Association of the IRC is arranging the tour in Europe for members of the clubs over the United States and Canada for the summer of 1950. Its purpose is to provide participants with first-hand analyses of European conditions and American-European relations at the midpoint of the twentieth century. The Carnegie Endowment for the International Peace will arrange a (Continued on page four)

The tour will combine serious study with stimulating travel; it offers an unusual opportunity for members of IRC's. Participation will be limited to approximately sixty students from American and Canadian colleges and universities, who will be joined in Paris by representatives of European IRC's.

The group will leave from Quebec, Canada on June 20, on the Cunard Liner Samaria, now being used for student transport. This will dock at LeHavre, France, on June 29, and the group will go by train to Paris.

They will live at the houses of the Cite Universitaire, the group will attend an Institute at the Carnegie Endowment's Europa Center in Paris from 5-31 July. This will be preceded by a reception at the Endowment's Center on 3 July, and a garden party at the American Embassy in Paris on July 4th.

Institute sessions will be held daily from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. A lecture will ordinarily open each session presenting basic back-

Women!

Thought While Not Thinking By MOREY AMSTERDAM

Analysis of a creature known as WOMAN, sent in by a chemistry student:

Symbol: WO
Accepted Atomic Weight: 120.
Physical Properties: Boils at nothing and freezes any minute. Melts when properly treated. Very bitter if ill-used.

Occurrence: Found wherever man exists.

Chemical Properties: Possesses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum, and precious stones. Violent reactions if left alone. Able to absorb great amounts of food matter. Turns green when placed beside a better looking specimen.

Uses: Highly ornamental. An equalizer of the distribution of wealth. Is probably the most effective income-reducing agent known.

Any questions???

Jo: "I don't see where he gets off—springing a test like that. It was too long, and he didn't even go over the stuff in class."

Mary: "I flunked, too."

Did you know you can't kiss a girl unexpectedly. The nearest you can come to it is to kiss her sooner than expected.

ground of a given topic during a 45 minute period. A panel and discussion follows. All lectures and discussions will be in English.

There will be ample opportunity for travel and visits in the Paris Area. There will be a reception at the Unesco house, social affairs with European student groups, visits to museums, concerts and operas, trips to Versailles and Fontainebleu, as well as celebrations of the fourth of July and Bastille Day. A month in Paris in 1950 will be especially significant; this year marks the 2,000 anniversary of the city, and in summer they plan to celebrate the event.

The group will attend a 7 day session of the United Nations in Geneva in July. Visits, trips, concerts, lectures on European reactions of UN will be planned for the seven days.

OGDEN NASH

(Continued from page one) managing editor of The New Yorker in 1931, Mr. Nash has concentrated for some twenty years on producing at a prodigious rate the light verses that have become associated with his name. His book, "Hard Lines," published in 1931, established him as a master of humorous verse. "I'm A Stranger Here Myself," published five years later, was an outstanding best-seller, selling more than 100,000 copies in the original edition. Other tooties in the Nash library which thousands of readers will instantly recognize, are "Good Intentions," "Many Long Years Ago," "The Face Is Familiar," etc. He wrote the lyrics and was co-author with S. J. Perelman of the smash-hit musical, "One Touch of Venus."

PE And Home Ec Club Hold Meet

The Physical Education and Home Economics clubs held joint meetings last week with the home economics girls preparing refreshments and the P. E. Girls doing the entertainment part of the program.

Gwen Bailey led the group in singing and Becky Dennard led folk dancing in the gym.
