Dr. Hong Is Appointed Head Of Graduate Studies

President J. Whitney Bunting announced that the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia has approved the appointment of Dr. Everett N. Hong to fill the position of Director of Graduate Studies. This appointment is a major step in Georgia College's growing graduate programs.

Dr. Hong will oversee the college's current graduate offerings, as well as several additional master's degree programs planned for the near future. Currently offered programs are the Master of Business Administration Degree, the Master of Education Degree with concentrations in several subjects, and a six-year program leading to the Specialist in Education Certificate.

In addition to his duties as Director of Graduate Studies, Dr. Hong will hold the rank of Professor of Business Administration and will teach one graduate course each quarter.

The Botany and Ecology classes of the Georgia College Biology Department enjoyed a field trip into the mountains of Northeast Georgia on the week-end of May 10. The classes lodged at Tumbling Waters Camp near Clayton, Georgia. The mountains, waterfalls, and beautiful scenery were both educational and enjoyable. Those included in the trip were: Dr. Harriet Lipscomb, Dr. David Cotter and family, Mr. C.P. Daniel, Mr. Charles Brassel, Ronnie Anderson, James Thompson, Mary Jane Dalton, Nancy Hopson, Alice Simmons, Patty Smith,

Eakins, Martha Rainwater, Ruth Thompson and Hugh English. Among the sights visited were Brasstown Bald, Mountain City, Dawsonville nuclear plant, Oconee National Forest, and Pinola Mountain.

To ABM Or Not To ABM

Last Monday afternoon two Georgia College professors and several interested students gathered at "das kaffee hause" to debate an issue that is very much at hand. Whether we need an ABM system to protect us or whether our present system is adequate.

Mr. Hemphill supported the Laird view of the Nixon administration, which is trying to push the Anti-Ballistic Missile system into production as soon as possible. Mr. Sharp was of the negative view. He supported the MacNamara view, which is trying to say that we do not need an ABM system, that our present system is adequate.

It was a very interesting debate for all who attended. The debate was followed by a question and answer period.

I will not attempt to judge as to who had the edge in the debate, for I though both carried their points very well as well as attacking each others points.

State Student Government Workshop

Last May 9, a group of interested students, which numbered about 8, took off from Georgia College at 6:30 in the morning for Atlanta. We met at the Dinkler-Plaza Hotel about 9:00 A.M. for the first annual State Student Government Workshop. There were representatives from most every college in the state. We were promptly assigned tables for the day. At each table there were from 4 to 6 people from different colleges across the state and a member of the legislature.

Lt. Governor George T. Smith gave the opening address in which he welcomed all the delegates from the various colleges and then gave a tentative outline of the days events.

There were several speakers who brought their ideas and problems from various colleges, including such subjects as to why Georgia is ranked so low on the national education chart, while at the same time it is ranked as number 6 in the nation as to the portion of its tax dollar that goes to education. We were 45th on the educational chart while we were paying a whopping 59% of every tax dollar on education in this state. We also talked about reducing available loans and taking this money and making more scholarships available, and why the Governors Aid to education bill was defeated. If private schools should receive any public funds, if there should be any difference in the rules from one university system school to another, if there should be a double standard for men and women students. We even discussed how mature incoming Freshmen are and what the main problem behind this is. We discussed the possibility of more trade schools to take care of the rising need for skilled labor, and if courses should be introduced into the college for negro students dealing with their heritage.

There was much discussion from the floor. This was one of the best attributes of the workshop. After every speaker there was considerable time given to questions from any delegate at the convention.

This was the first one of an annual event. All the legislators said that they were looking for an even bigger turn-out next year.

I would urge any and all students to plan for this trip next year. It is here that you have the ability to do something about the changes that you want in your school.

Miss Anne Patterson

Presented In Voice Recital

The Music Department of Georgia College will present Miss Anne Patterson, soprano, in recital Monday, May 19, at 8:00 P.M. in Porter Auditorium. Miss Patterson, a 1968 honor graduate of Georgia College, is the daughter of Mrs. S.M. Patterson of Milledgeville.

Music for the recital ranges from Baroque to Contemporary pieces, and includes a song composed recently by Miss Lucy Underwood, Assistant Professor of Music at Georgia College.

Miss Patterson will be assisted by Henry Ross, Jr., of the Georgia College piano faculty.

Has College Made A Difference?

Looking back over the past years at Georgia College can you truthfully say they have been worthwhile? Have you been influenced by anything which has become a part of you? It has been said that college broadens and expands a person and his ideals. This is the true objective of attending college; to allow a person to grow toward his best potential being.

If you are a person who does not really see what is around you but merely looks at it, you are not growing. If you accept thoughts and judgments and do not ponder their validity or practicality you are not growing. If you listen and do not hear, if you wonder and do not seek or if you take and do not give, then you are not growing.

College is a testing stage for growing into life. How you live during your college years is a mirror image of how you will live afterwards. College molds the future by molding you. But to let college mold you, you must be a conscious involved person, who incorporates responsibilities, goals, ideas and interaction with people and, at the same time, does not lose sight of the idea that the main reason for going to college is to get an education.

Today's college students are facing a greater challenge than ever before. In a time of international and national turmoil and change the students of today must become the responsible citizens of tomorrow. Have you firmly established ideals that will guide you through life in order that you can accept this challenge and grow into your full potential?

Tennis Club

On May 14, the student-faculty tennis tournament was to begin. But unfortunately it was called off because of rain. It was to continue Thursday but was again called off because of rain. The tournament will continue Monday May 19 at 4:00 if weather permits.

On May 22, the tennis club will play the Tennis Team. The match will consist of five doubles games. The match will begin at 4:00 on the Tennis Courts.

Everyone come out and support the teams and faculty.

Dr. Dooley And Robert Henderson On TV

Dr. B. J. Dooley, assistant professor of Business Administration and Economics, and Student Robert Henderson of Macon will appear on television May 22, to discuss current research in consumer protection being carried out by the members of a graduate business class. They will appear on Channel 13's "Date With Del" program at 1 p.m.

The topic of discussion will be a study of the effectiveness of consumer protection regulations in Georgia. The study is now being carried out by the members of Dr. Dooley's graduate class in business relations with government. The group's goal is to make its findings available to libraries, better business bureaus and chambers of commerce units throughout the state as a foundation for subsequent research into consumer complaints and possible remedies.

'The Play's The Thing'

Again the Georgia College Theatre has proved its worth and value on the GC campus. While some other aspects of the college community seem to lag somewhat sleepily behind, the theatre this year has been alive and moving, presenting worthwhile and entertaining drama. No Exit and Waiting for Godot, the fall and winter productions respectively, were capped with Luv, the spring production which was presented last Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings.

Luv is an uproarious comedy which, while it offers no moral suggestions or formulas for happiness vividly illustrates that while man is executing his search toward the exit from meaninglessness, he must laugh at himself. And how the audience does laugh from the moment Harry Berlin, played by Merv Leacro, wanders onto the stage. Tired of living, the despondent Harry has donned his paper sack hat and has decided to throw himself into the ocean, when his old classmate from Polyarts Un., Milt Manville, played by Darryl Herren, makes the scene and saves him. But Milt is no happier than Harry, for though he has achieved material success, he is caught in the eternal triangle he is in love with one woman and married to another. And thus he suddenly hits upon the plan which will hopefully solve all the problems. When Milt's wife, Ellen, played by Janice Smith, appears, he throws her into the arms of Harry, encouraging them to get to know each other. They do, and then there is a divorce followed by two marriages, the marriage of Harry and Ellen and the marriage of Milt and the girl he thinks he is desperately in love with. But still the ideal happiness is not to be found. Things are worse than ever. Milt and Ellen decide to remarry, while poor Harry is again left alone in the world. Yet, even as they decide upon remarriage, Milt and Ellen make their last exit bickering -- leaving Harry alone with the yelping dogs of his mind. Though the end is somewhat sad, it is not depressing, for the whole play has been laughing at people and their sometimes "insane" ways. We offer our thanks and commendations to College Theatre and especially to the director, Mr. Eddleman, and the members of the cast for this excellent production. We will be looking forward to next year.

Temporary Loan Fund Becomes Operational

R. Martin McGirt, Jr.
Director of Financial Aid and Placement

The editor of Colonnade first asked those of us in Student Personnel Services if we had ideas we would like to share with the students at least in every second issue of the newspaper. We began on this basis but soon discovered that even a column every issue would not be too frequent from our point of view, since we would like to discuss a number of questions with the students. The editor made this space available.

In this present issue, Mr. Martin McGirt, Director of Financial Aid, shares information on the new temporary loan fund for the students.

I am happy to announce that the Ethel Adams Loan Program is now in operation. Established from College Government Association monies to provide temporary loans, the first disbursement was made on May 15.

All full-time students are eligible to apply for loans not to exceed $100. Application is made through the Financial Aid and Placement Office. Normally twenty-four hours are required to process applications. The amount to be borrowed and the date(s) on which repayment can be made are requested at the time application is submitted. A service charge of from $1 to $4, depending on the amount borrowed, is made on each transaction. Usually repayment will be required within 60 days or by the end of the quarter, whichever comes first.

A College Government Association committee composed of Troy Holloway, Louise Benson and Larry Thigpen worked with me in drawing up recommendations for administering the loan program. This group also requested that a standing committee of C.G.A. be formed to review the operation of the program, to give C.G.A. periodic reports on the status of the fund, and to propose administrative changes in the operation of the program as necessary.

To assure that the fund will remain intact for the use of future generations of students, all loans will be made through the college, and the full authority of the college will be used to collect overdue accounts.

I am pleased that this new service is now available to Georgia College students and hope that it will be well used.

Ethel Adams Loan Fund

The Ethel Adams Loan Fund is already in operation. It is to my understanding that several loans have already been granted.

A committee was appointed by C.G.A. to work up the recommendations for the loan fund. The committee consisted of Troy Holloway, chairman; Louise Benson and Larry Thigpen. There were several recommendations made of which I shall list the six most important:

1. Any student taking at least twelve quarter hours of course work for credit will be eligible to apply for a loan.

2. A minimum of $10 can be borrowed, a maximum of $100.

3. Service charges will be as follows:
Loan Amount $25 or less, service charge - $1.00.
$26 to $50, $2.00. $51 to $75, $3.00. $76 to $100, $4.00.

4. A student must apply in advance for a loan. Normally 24 hours will be required to process the application.

5. Since the college already administers loan funds and can use its full authority to see that loans are repaid, it is recommended that the Ethel Adams Loan Fund be administered as an agency fund of the college. Applications for loans will be handled through the Financial Aid Office.

6. A student committee will evaluate the program, report on the use of the fund to C.G.A., and recommend administrative changes when indicated. The student loan committee shall also have the right to reject applications from any student known to have a poor credit record.

These recommendations were approved by a faculty committee and then sent to the Board of Regents who in turn gave their approval, then to C.G.A. and was finally signed into effect by President Bunting.

This loan fund is made available to any eligible student and should be used by them whenever needed. If you request any further information on the matter Mr. McGirt will be glad to answer any question you might have. This is just another way that C.G.A. and our administration is trying to help you, the student, in any possible way.

Subscription To The Colonnade

In response to inquiries by Alumni and Student Teachers interested in subscribing to The Colonnade the Business Department of the paper has arrived at the following figures: Alumnus subscription $2.00 per quarter; Student Teacher's subscription $1.00 per quarter.

Anyone interested in a subscription should send a check made out to The Colonnade for the amount necessary to cover his desired number of quarters.

A receipt will promptly be returned. A note specifying the quarter to begin delivery and the correct mailing address of the person to receive the paper must be included with the check. Delivery on requests made during one quarter will begin on the next full quarter of publication unless otherwise requested.

Applications should be addressed to: Colonnade Subscriptions Box 572, Georgia College, Mill-Edgeville, Ga. 31061.

Augusta Jaguars Nip GC Colonials 8-7

Despite two homers and a triple, the Georgia College Colonials lost an exciting hitting duel to the Augusta Jaguars 7-8 in a Colonial home game at Baldwin High Field Tuesday. Bill Fogarty's three hits; Sammy Jones's two hits; Jerry Seymour's homer; and Dick Erwin's triple led the Colonials in batting. Jimmy Wildman was losing pitcher. With the score 8-7 in favor of the Jaguars, Jones was at bat for Colonials with two outs in the ninth inning. Jones lashed a hit passed the center field and he circled the bases. The Colonials thought they had tied the ball game. The umpire declared that Jones had missed first base on an appeal making GC's third out. The big inning for the Colonials was the sixth during which they scored four runs. After a good sacrifice bunt by Steven Blair, Jones knocked in Fogarty with the first run. Seymour then sent a towering drive over the left field fence for a two-run homer. Dick Erwin's triple to center field scored on a wild pitch, tied the score at 7-7. The Jaguars went one ahead in the seventh inning and held it to the end. The GC Colonial baseball team won three of their season. They did exceptionally well, this being GC's first baseball team; they should be applauded for their efforts.

Rec's Happenings

This week will be a busy one for Rec. This is what we have in store for you: Monday, Student-Faculty Tennis Tournaments on the Tennis Courts at 4 p.m. see Dr. Spect and Marilyn Sykes take on Mr. Luke and Pat Granger, Dean Christenberry and Ann Wall battle, Dr. Lipscomb and Hoylene Head, in B Division we have Mr. Robinson and Mary Jane Acchinson Vs. Miss Taylor and Linda Faye Clifton. Miss Donahoo and Eva Whitaker Vs. Mrs. Darst and Pat Floyd. Dr. Parker and Ann Proctor vs. Mr. Deaton and Nancy Moynihan. Mr. Veal and

Annie Wetherington battle Miss Osborne and Millie Waters. These should be exciting matches for all involved. Last Wednesday, in the only match completed, Mr. Bosserman and Sandy Lee overpowered Dr. Skei and Carol Lord 6-2, 6-3. The semi-finals in both A and B division will be played Tuesday at 4:00, with the finals held on Wednesday, at 4:00. Everyone is invited to come and root for your favorite team. Also on tap this week is another Student-Faculty Softball game. Who will be the victor? Will it be the Stupendous Students or the Fairly-decent Faculty? Come and see. Back your team. Thursday at 4:00, the tennis club has offered a challenge to the tennis team. This should be interesting indeed. Staying here this weekend? Have nothing to do? Then come to the dance Friday night from 8-12 in the gym featuring The Hingemen. The dance is casual dress and admission is fifty cents or an L.D. Everyone is invited to come to REC, Monday night at 6:30 in Mayfair. See you there?!

Wind-Up In Excruciating Tie

May 13, last Tuesday, Georgia College Women's Tennis Team hosted Agnes Scott in their season's final which terminated as 3 - 3 "Knot." Hoylene Head, playing #1 singles, was snubbed by her opponent in a nip-and-tuck split set 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, as Bobbie Woodruff got stuck in the myre of her usual split-set situation. Terror reigned for Agnes Scott as the returns of Nancy Hooper and Ann Wall's smashing victory. Hoylene and Ann cohorted in their triumphant endeavors against their rivals but Agnes Scott hoped - scotched to safety in their last -chance doubles with Bobbie and Nancy.

considered a winning season -- 4 wins, 4 losses, and one tie. Way to go girls!
