'The Lettermen' To Perform In Concert November 10

"The Lettermen" currently on their twentieth cross-country tour, are scheduled to perform Monday night, November 10, at 8:00 in Russell Auditorium, according to Miss Harriet Donahoo, director of student activities.

Admission to the concert is $5.00 plus I.D. for students, and faculty, and $6.00 for guests.

"They can take a song that was a hit twenty years ago and make it a hit all over again, and they can do it without changing the original concept of the song," said TV star Connie Stevens.

"The Lettermen" are known vocally by their tight, close harmony which has become their trademark. The group features this unique close harmony in several a cappella numbers performed during concerts.

Throughout their long career, The Lettermen have stuck to that idea and this is one of the greatest reasons for their remarkable success. One of the best and most successful groups in the country, achievements include recordings of over two dozen hit albums for Capitol.

The great sound they create has not opened only the recording business to the talented trio, but also television and college appearances. Their college appeal was seen clearly when they were elected Number One college attraction in the Billboard Magazine Poll. Among their most recent television appearances are The Red Skelton Hour, Hollywood Palace, and Jack Benny TV show.

The trio made their nightclub debut in early 1962 at Hollywood's Crescendo and were greeted by unanimous praise from all corners. Typical of the remarks that followed their initial nightclub appearance was the review by columnist Belle Greenburg who wrote: "The group, literally and figuratively, won their letters last night with the sophisticated Los Angeles audience." Variety described them as a group who "came on strongly with big sound and good rapport. . ." and the Hollywood Reporter called them "three young men who sing songs as the composers hoped they'd be sung."

Praise, however, seems to be a commodity that came to Jim, Tony, and Gary even before they called themselves the Lettermen. It came to Tony (Butala) in his home town

Q. In the recent arrest of five Georgia College students why was Berntha Paff's bond set at $2500 while all the other students arrested were given $900 bond?

A. According to Chief Deputy Mack Hall of the Baldwin County Sheriff's Department Berntha Paff's charge as stated in the warrant was possession of marijuana, whereas the other warrants read possession of dangerous drugs and narcotics, such as marijuana, LSD, and amphetamine and use and selling of drugs. Deputy Hall stated that the authorities felt that Berntha Paff's charge was not as serious as the others, and therefore her bond was set lower than the other students arrested.

Q. What is the Colonnade policy on letters to the editor?

A. The Colonnade welcomes letters to the editor from Georgia College students and faculty reflecting their opinions on relevant issues pertaining to school life. ALL letters to the editor are printed.

In order to conform to limitations of time and space, all letters submitted should not run over 300 words and should be typed double spaced. The Colonnade reserves the right to edit letters as necessary while retaining their main essence. Letters should be signed although names will be withheld upon written request.

Deadline for submitting letters to the editor is Tuesday at 3 p.m.

Q. What is the administrative feeling toward the Vietnam Moratorium?

A. A "Pipeline" reporter asked Dean Christenberry for a reply to this question; he said, "The purpose behind the planning is well conceived. The results of the October 1st observance left much to be desired. My personal opinion is that not enough interest has been demonstrated on the part of students and faculty at Georgia College to merit another campus wide observance. Perhaps it would be better to stage a discussion limited to Georgia College students and faculty on a much smaller scale."

Frosh Elect Benson as President

In the freshman class elections held Wednesday, Gordon Benson, a math major from Buford, Georgia, was elected as president of the class of '73 in a very close race. The results of the final tally in the president's race were Gordon Benson, 108 votes; Virginia Belson, 103; and Crystal Fountain, 51.

When asked for a statement concerning his plans for the class Gordon said, "I shall attempt to unite the male and female students in our class, thus making the Irish of '73 the best class ever!"

In the other races Carolyn Bennett, a home economics major from Gainesville, Georgia, was elected Vice President. Carolyn wants to enter the field of fashion merchandizing upon graduation.

Secretary-treasurer for the Irish is Linda Strickland, a home economics major from Greensboro, Georgia. The two representatives to Honor Council are Beth Copelan from Greensboro, Georgia and Kay Davis, an English major from Gordon, Georgia.

The sponsor for the class of '73 is Mr. Lewis T. Farmer, Jr., Assistant professor in the mathematics department.

To these officers, their sponsor, and the class of '73, the Colonnade expresses its congratulations.

Day Student Response

The Day Student Organization petition for the refurbishing of the Day Student lounge has been given favorable consideration by the Administration.

President Bunting, at a reception at the Mansion last week for student leaders and faculty, in an informal talk with Day Student Organization members, stated that he had received the petition letter that day and felt that the request had merit.

Dr. Bunting revealed that plans for improving the lounge facilities had been under study by Georgia College authorities for about four weeks and that he was impressed by the recommendations contained in the petition. Noting the time for completion

New Project Is In The Bud

Are you satisfied with the appearance of our campus? Well, some other students weren't either, and so they decided to start planning now for a prettier campus this spring. This group of interested students, along with Miss Donahoe, Dr. Lipscomb, and Mr. Harley, have been meeting for the past few weeks to get a Flower Power project organized on campus. Each of the four classes and the boys' dorms, as well as the day students and faculty, have a representative on the committee. Each group represented has been designated a particular area on campus to beautify. The groups may choose their own design, colors, and plants for their area. Each area will be marked with a sign telling which group is responsible for the work. The different areas will be judged in the spring when the flowers will be in full bloom. It is hoped this project will be continued from year to year. Naturally, to get the bulbs and seeds planted and growing and to care for the flower beds properly, many interested students and faculty members will be needed to help with the work, and NOW is the time to prepare for the spring. No qualification is necessary except the desire to work. If you are interested, please get in touch with your representative-stop him on campus or drop him a note in the mail.

Let's get Flower Power GROWING!

Dr. Cohen Speaks on Drugs

Dr. Sidney Cohen spoke October 30 in Russell Auditorium on the use and effect of psychedelic drugs. He discussed LSD and stated that its effects depend on the dosage taken and the type of person taking it. Also the quality of the drug has an effect on the experience it causes. In relating the visual and perceptual changes, he said it intensifies color and depth, intensifies the meaning of insignificant objects, makes stable objects appear to move, and alters time and thought, making people feel they are omnipotent and have superhuman powers. In therapy, under strict supervision, it can be used to cause an artificial death and rebirth, changing the beliefs and values of sick people, such as alcoholics. It's main problem is the flashbacks which can occur months after a "trip." It is a dangerous drug and should not be taken casually.

Dr. Sidney Cohen, Director of the Narcotics Addiction and Drug Abuse Division, National Institutes of Mental Health, has told the students of Georgia College at Milledgeville that he does not favor legalization of marijuana. He does favor lighter penalties for simple possession and use of the drug. After addressing an assembly in the college's Russell Auditorium, Cohen held an informal question and answer session outside with students and faculty members.

top of the plant. The climate in which marijuana is grown affects its potency. He said marijuana is not a narcotic and not addictive.

He feels the penalty for use of marijuana should be reduced to a misdemeanor. But he also feels a person who must use narcotics, marijuana, or any other stimulant to keep himself in limbo should be unable to face and learn from the problems of life.

He also discussed the attitude of the church of amphetamines or "pop pills." They give a person energy for a short while while then the person collapses and becomes depressed. He said that people who use these drugs are not really happy and healthy. He said that people who use these drugs are not really happy and healthy. ACP Convention Attended

October 30 through November 1 Dave Marcum, Editor-in-chief; Pat Ellington, Associate Editor; Jim Wetherington, Managing editor and Dodi Williams, staff reporter of the Colonnade attended the Associated Collegiate Press National Convention held in Miami Beach, Florida. Georgia College's delegates from the Spectrum were Jane Nix, editor and Louise Sparrow, Business Manager.

There were 1500 college delegates and several hundred advisors who attended seminars on such topics as yearbook layout and design, freedom of expression in college newspapers and films on different effects in photography and advertising. Students were allotted time to meet with representatives of other schools in informal groups. Marcum presented a paper on the editorial process. He said that people who use these drugs are not really happy and healthy. He said that people who use these drugs are not really happy and healthy.

Circle K Club

Steve Estes, President of Circle K, announced yesterday that the club plans to offer voluntary tutorial service to the students attending Baldwin County's Boddie High School. The purpose of the project is to assist those students who are having difficulty in their studies. The project will be carried out by a group of students from Georgia College who will be trained by Steve Estes. The project will be carried out by a group of students from Georgia College who will be trained by Steve Estes.

GC Concert Band Plays At Soccer Game

For the first time in Georgia College's history, a concert band performed at a G.C. Soccer game. On Monday, No. 3, the soccer fans who attended G.C.'s game between G.C. and Berry College had a special surprise treat for them. Previously unannounced, Georgia College Concert Band, under the direction of Jim Willoughby, and only in its second year of existence, performed a half-time concert at the Braves Field.

During their performance, the band gave their renditions of "Till I Wish You Love," "Aquarius," and "Let the Sunshine In," a slow swinging gospel. This weekend, G.C. will host the "winds and percussion" auditions for the

All-State Band which will perform for the G.M.E.A. convention in Atlanta this winter. Willoughby who is State Instrumental Chairman for the Georgia Music Educators' Association said he was expecting several hundred contestants to vie for the honor of performing with this select group.

Willoughby also announced the results of the election of the Band Officers for the 69-70 school year. They are: Captain Carl Hamilton, a senior psychology music major from Milledgeville, who is also vice-president of the Psychology Club, plays lead alto sax with the G.C. Concert Band, tenor with the G.C. stage band, and lead tenor with the Macon Symphony.

Senior Art Majors Display Work At Georgia College

An exhibition of works by senior art majors will begin with a November 9 reception at Georgia College at Milledgeville. The reception will take place in the Gallery of the Porter Fine Arts Building from 3 to 5 p.m. The exhibition will remain on display through November 21. Students contributing works to the exhibition include Gail Draughon, Atlanta; Debbie Eaton, Atlanta; Jimmy Ivey, Milledgeville; Mary Ivey, Tulsa, Oklahoma; and Joey Vinson, Macon. The public is invited to visit the Gallery on weekdays between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

What That Golden Slipper Is

The coming of Slipper puts a gleam in the eyes of those who have lived through this event and clearly remember the work, the fun, the friendships, the frustrations and the pure joy of Slipper. Those who have not participated in Slipper are probably sitting in awe wondering just what this great phenomenon is. Slipper was begun by Miss Ethel Alice Adams in 1934. Miss Ethel was at this time Dean of Students. The freshmen were having a hard time electing their class officers because they simply did not know their classmates well enough to know who would make a good class officer. Miss Adams felt that some type of production in which the whole class would work together would give the students the opportunity to get to know their classmates. The production would not only reveal talent and the ability to get along with people but would also disclose sportsmanship which is an indication of good leadership.

The first Slippers were based on short stories which had been adapted. The name Golden Slipper came from one of these stories which was a fairy tale involving a "golden slipper". Miss Ethel found the shoe which has become the symbol of this exciting event in an antique shop in New York. She purchased it and had it gilded. The very first Slipper was staged in 1935. During these first Slippers, there were no costumes. The students wore white outfits with banners of their class colors. It was also during this first Slipper that the classes named themselves. The Thunderbirds chose their symbol in honor of a bird in India, which is the symbol of rebirth and like the Phoenix keeps on soaring and never weakens. The Royals had chosen the class color of purple. They therefore chose the name Royal to show the dignity of their class. The Elephant class chose their symbol from Kipling's story "The Elephant's Child." This elephant had "insatiable curiosity," which represented the curiosity of the Elephant class. The Irish class had chosen green as their class color and therefore chose the name Irish to go along with this.

Slipper has a personal meaning for everyone who has participated. The more the student puts into Slipper, the more he gets out of it. To the students of GC, Slipper is...unity...loyalty...excitement...spectacularity...chaos...friendships...procrastination in studying...sleepless nights...tired bodies and...a lot of fun.

Slipper - Is It Really Worth It?

For many years a symbol of tradition and unity has lain within that student activity called Slipper. Yet the time has come, as it does in so many areas of tradition, to take a long look at this activity and decide whether or not it is really worth it. When there is a noticeable feeling of dissatisfaction towards this activity, which is creating a general atmosphere of dissatisfaction on campus, then the time is at hand to study the true purpose of this function and evaluate whether or not it is accomplishing its purpose or if it is actually causing a disturbance on campus.

Slipper is a student activity as is Rat Week and Annual Hike, yet when under 50 per cent of the students participate, then how can we say it is for the student body? How can we say that it's a tradition which creates unity between classes? How can we sit back and say it's great when we know it's a dying thing? A CALL FOR ACTION The Colonnade expresses a deep concern over the situation and is calling upon the student leaders and the Student Senate to take action at once. An objective study needs to be made to evaluate Georgia College's student activities and steps must be taken to prevent further confusion.

Campus In The Round

Fiddle Faddle And Filibuster

By Eugene Stevenson

Last Tuesday, November 4th, the Student Senate met for its third session. A number of students were present to observe their Senate in action. Comments by these observers at the end of the session were embarrassing and, in the opinion of this participant, were deserved. At the end of three full sessions of Senate deliberation the sum total of meaningful activity consists of the following: (1) passage of Senate Resolution #1 which provides the Senate with model rules of procedure and establishes committee structures -- this took two sessions to accomplish; (2) approval of appointments of the chairmen of the committees; (3) interim approval of CGA cabinet post appointments; (4) introduction of Senate Bill #1 establishing the official code of laws for CGA -- this last in the third session. The interim Attorney General appeared in both the second and third sessions to explain what codification of laws involved and to explain that SR #1 authorized such codification. After the introduction of this bill, approximately one hour was expended in "discussing" whether the Senate should in fact discuss the bill and act on it; refer it to the Rules Committee (where it doesn't belong anyway); refer it to discussion in general caucus off the Senate floor; or take it home and "study" it, and then discuss and act on it in the next session. Decision: it shall be taken up in general caucus Thursday, November 6th, and then at the next Senate session it shall be discussed, and/or amended, and acted on. The elephant labors and brings forth mice. Unless the Senate decides to hold a session during dead week, there are only two more sessions left in the quarter. There is much that needs to be done. Elections to the CGA will be held next quarter. Bills covering election procedures will have to be introduced, referred to the Senate Elections Committee, reported out, and acted on by the Senate. The CGA Elections Commission has, as of now, only interim approval. Final action on this Commission should be taken before any major election. Several other bills and resolutions stand waiting to be introduced and much legislation still needs to be written just to get CGA off the ground and functioning. Mr. Ralph Hemphill has devoted a great deal of time before the Senate body and has been most generous with advice to Senate groups and individual Senators. The President of the Senate has made a valiant effort to communicate to the Senate the need for intelligent industry. The Student Body has a right to expect that the Senate shall make judicious use of its floor time.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO SLIPPER?

Dave's Comments

The Colonnade days and times for meetings have been changed due to a change in printing dates. The paper is now published every Thursday rather than every Monday. General staff meetings are held on Thursday night at 6:30. At this meeting articles for the next week's issue are discussed and assigned. On Monday night the editorial board meetings are held at 6:30. These meetings are designed to discuss the editorial for the upcoming issue and any problems The Colonnade might have. Though this is an editors meeting, regular staff members are welcome. All copy printed is due by 8:00 a.m. Tuesday to the Colonnade office or to box 939. The only exceptions are (1) late copy, as so designated by the staff editor and (2) letters to the editor which are not due until 3 p.m. Tuesday. Layout meetings are scheduled for Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. and all staff members are urged to attend.

This Saturday, Nov. 8, the Georgia College Colonials host The Citadel in our last soccer game of the season. The Colonnade encourages all students to attend this game Saturday at 2 p.m. at Baldwin Field.

Workshops for Slipper begin Sunday November 9 at 6:45 p.m. All Thunderphants meet in Sanford Rec Hall and all Royal-Irish in Ennis Rec Hall.

Letter To The Editor

'The Humanist' Replied To

Dear Editors and Creators; I have read your creations such as The Humanist, The Probe, The Paper and The Power, The Humanist is by far the most rational of the four. In all four there are many good, solid ideas (which are also universal truths.) However, this paper does not help get its point across by informing its readers that they are either with it or uninformed, unintelligent, and worthless. The authors should be just a bit more diplomatic, or have a little tact if they expect one to want to know more.

If the authors were not gutless then why did they not sign the monumental work? This paper says it expects apathy, condemnation, and persecution I am not apathetic as I have well proven, I do not intend to persecute, or condemn. I only wish to ask some questions and make a few points, which need to be brought to the attention of the readers of the work or works. Whodecided that you creators are the intelligentia? When did you decide that you suddenly became the divinity or some similar divine or omniscient power? Why do those who act like barbarians, by definition, since you gave the definition, as being uncivilized, lacking refinement, crudeness of taste, having fondness for gorgeous display, ruthless and vulgar? This paper is not supported by the faculty or majority of the students or majority of the citizenry. How can you say that the faculty supports you if it really did disorganize the other paper? Who exactly is enlightened? You do not seem to be enlightened. All that you do (I speak from personal experience) is sit about-escapist from reality-talking and not really doing anything. Why do you blame the law enforcement agencies for doing their jobs and others you dislike because they do their jobs? You complain that some don't do their jobs, and others you dislike because they do; which shows that you have little consideration for anyone but yourself. Can't you make your points in a more literate manner and language? This so called religious sanctuarian-why did she come to jail barefoot, in a jacket, and black panties and nothing else? Do normal, mature people face the legal authorities attired that way? Why was her bond set at $2500; others were $5000 or $10-000? Communication-very few of you ever try to communicate with the administration. Why don't you try, you might be able to change it? "Don't you think liquor is a stopyhigh?" I should name a familiar ring to you-You have only accomplished giving yourself a bad name which is true due to all the arrests which prove that you do try to escape from reality. Certainly you do things your way as we do ours but you call yourself humanitarian but your writings prove that you are not. You are not as open minded or humanitarian as you say. Exactly who are you-do you know? Jean L. Cameron

Drugs Are Here- So What?

Dear Editor:

In reply to the editorial of last weeks Colonnade. I would ask of the writer, What is so "Revoltng" about the fact that five Georgia College students were arrested on narcotics charges? Also, how can this incident be, "quite harmful to the reputation and image of the school?" As I see it the "Reputation" of a school is basically focused around the academic standards of that school rather than the social behavior of its students. The writer has also posed the question "Is it worth it?" This is a question that every one must answer for himself. Who are we to answer that question for them. They have let us make our own decision and as long as they do not force us in any way to conform to their ideas, how can we as individuals who expect personal freedom, condemn and force them to conform to ours? You may say because it's the law. Could not the law be wrong? In 1945 and 6 at the Nuremberg trials in Germany we self righteous people sentenced to death and life imprisonment men whose principal defense of their actions was they acted according to the laws of their country. And yet I have heard people on the Georgia College campus condemn those five who were arrested simply because the use of drugs is wrong in our country today as defined by "our" morals, codes and laws. To those of you who would support the supposition that drug use must end now, I would have you ask yourselves, why? You, personally have not been harmed either physically or mentally. Nor have any of your rights as a student or an individual been infringed upon. Don't condemn these five people and the many, many others across the nation simply because some of their ideas, on how life should be lived differ from yours. Scott Hull

Three pretty Georgia College Coeds take advantage of one of the conveniences of the college's new Honors Dormitory—a spacious second-floor balcony. Pam Holton, Jacksonville, Fla.; Judy Johnson, Ringgold; and Linda Lawson, Swainsboro are among 25 junior and senior women living in the unsuperficial dormitory, which was a private residence until its purchase and renovation by the college.

Dr. Specht Tells of Ga Rotary Student Program

Georgia is the only state in America that offers a foreign student program of the sort sponsored by the Georgia Rotary Clubs. The Georgia Rotary Student Program was invented by William A. Watt of Thomasville just after World War II. The first year of its operation, it sponsored three young men and one young woman from Europe to attend colleges in Georgia. In the years since then, over six hundred students from about 65 countries have been awarded scholarships to study in Georgia Colleges and universities. The purpose of the program is to promote world peace through mutual understanding. There is no conscious effort to indoctrinate the foreign student with American ideas or concepts. He is left to judge for himself, on the basis of personal contact, what America is really all about. The scholarship covers the cost of tuition, books, room and board, insurance for normal fitness and hospital fees, and a small cash monthly allowance. It does not provide for transportation within Georgia or travel to and from the student's home country. The scholarship is for one academic year. Scholarships for longer than this time have not been awarded except in rare cases, since this would prevent the Rotarians from bringing the maximum number of students to the United States. There are about 35 to 45 scholarships awarded yearly, mainly to those academically advanced enough to enter the senior year of undergraduate work or there are about 35 to 45 scholarships awarded yearly, mainly to those academically advanced enough to enter the senior year of undergraduate work or graduate.

Why Be A Sucker?

This day and time most people realize how easy it is to be taken in and played for a sucker. A college town is a good place for the professional swindler to locate. This is a fact, but never the less, sad of life. Even the most experienced business man is subject to make mistakes. However, there is one big difference between a business man being swindled and a student. A business man can usually take the loss or hire a lawyer to represent him in court. But a student can usually afford to do neither and this is the very fact these swindlers rely on. I heard an interesting conversation between one such swindled student and a professor. It went something like this: (Professor) "How was it possible for you to get mixed up with the biggest crook in town." (Student) "It was easy sir, believe me!" Let's take this student's experience and look a little deeper into the details. The student just wanted a cheap car to drive around campus; so, he looked in all the used car lots in and around town. In one car lot, he found just the car to meet his needs. The dealer told him the car was a 1962 model, and therefore, he would only need a bill of sale to get a tag registration. Later the student found out the car was a 1963 model and that he would need title certificate to purchase a tag. When the student went back to the dealer to get the title certificate, the dealer informed him that in order to get the title certificate he would have to fork up another $100. The dealer also offered to give the student his money back, but the student had made many expensive repairs on the automobile. The local police informed the student this car dealer had been doing this sort of thing for years, and there was nothing that could be done short of going to court. Needless to say the student lacked the $200 lawyers and court costs; This is exactly what the dealer counted on. Therefore, the student's alternatives were to (1) get his money back and lose the cost of repairs on the automobile. (2) go to court and spend $200 for a title certificate, or (3) give the dealer the extra $100 dollars. This sort of situation can happen to anyone. To keep it from happening to you, I have made a little list for buying a used car. 1. Make sure you know what model car you're buying (some models are very similar and you may need professional help.

2. Make sure the Serial Number on the bill of sale matches the one on the car.

3. If the car is a 1963 or later model, be sure you have a title certificate.

4-Always get a tag registration that is endorsed to you and signed by the dealer.

Colonials Play Berry A 2-2 Tie

The Georgia College Colonials and the Vikings of Berry College played to a 2-2 tie Monday in one of the most hotly contested soccer matches in the Colonials two-year history. Georgia College took the lead early in the match on a goal by Bobby Kelley and dominated the balance of the first half with strong defensive play to hang on to a 1-0 lead at halftime. Early in the third quarter, the terrific pace of the game began to catch up with the Colonials, however, and Berry swung into the lead with two quick goals. Late in the third stanza, GC's Raphael Goldstein, knotted the score with an alert follow-up on a missed penalty kick. The penalty kick situation, which comes about when the team on defense commits a foul in the penalty area around the goal mouth, gives the offensive player a free shot at the goal from ten yards out with only the opposing goalkeeper allowed to defend. Goldstein's kick was battered away on a great effort by the Vikings' goalie, but bounced right back to Goldstein, who put it past the prone defender. The breaks didn't go the Colonials' way in the rest of the game, though, as Goldstein missed on two other penalty kicks. The two teams remained scoreless through the Ann Wall is a sophomore majoring in Health, Physical Education, and Recreation while fulfilling her duties as Secretary - Treasurer. She lettered in varsity women's tennis. Holding up the rear, but by no means least, is the historian, Sandy Lee, from Savannah. Sandy was the number one player on the women's tennis team last year.

The last meeting of the Colonials Club was October 29th at Lake Laurel

But we lack one thing that no college should be without. We lack a Debate Club. Or we did, but we're going to do something about it. We are having a meeting this Monday and every Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Park 201 and we are going to really get Georgia College on the map. With Mr. Ralph Hemphill as our advisor, we are going to form that Debate Club that every college should have.

Now if you like to argue a point, particularly a point which is being widely discussed in our world today, then your place is on the floor of the Debate club. If you are a quiet person, but interested in current events nevertheless, there is still a place for you on the Debate club. In fact there is a very important place for you.

The heart and soul of any good debate club is its research staff, and the staff can never get too large.

So let's show some spirit, let's show some interest and awareness, let's make our college the Greatest! Be at the next meeting and have a part in giving yourself just a little bit more to be proud of.

Praise for Gary (Pike) garnered enough favorable notices from the local press to encourage him to pursue a singing career on a professional basis. Early in 1961 he came to California and joined Tony to form The Lettermen.

Since then, the burgeoning popularity of the group has seen their careers branch out from records to all phases of entertainment. Despite their enormous success, The Lettermen haven't changed. They're still the same Class-A trio who maintain the deepest respect for good songs and the people who write them.

duate school. Several are also awarded to undergraduate at the Junior College level. About 65% of the students are males.

Selection is made in February of each year. Mr. Hugh E. Thomas of Savannah is the chairman of the Board of Trustees who work on this plan. A young person in Sweden or some other country hears of the plan, and submits his or her name to the Rotary Club in his own country. Mr. Thomas receives a list of students from all over the world and screens it down to about seventy. This list is sent to every Rotary Club in the state who wishes to sponsor a student for that year. The club selects five students, in the order of preference, and sends it back to Mr. Thomas, as well as information on the college to be attended by the student. Mr. Thomas reviews this and notifies the students and the clubs about the outcome of the selection.

The factors sought for in these students are: ability to speak English, age, educational interest, character, high intelligence, and adaptability.

There is one student attending Georgia College on this program. Pia Ekenstam, of Norrkoping, Sweden, a junior, is being sponsored for the year by the Milledgeville and Sandersville Rotary Clubs.

Pipe Line

Board of Regents turns all the contracts over to the State Attorney General's office where a board of lawyers checks the legality of every aspect of the project. When all the details of the project have been cleared, the title to the land is handed over to the State Building Authority and the previously assigned contractors begin construction. The Building Authority is deeded the land so that the college can not be held responsible for any accidents that happen during the construction of the building. Upon completion of the building, the land is deeded back to the college and the building is ready for occupancy.

Q. What have been some of the problems that have had to be cleared up before the Student Center can be officially completed?

A. Dr. Jones cited such problems as sewer and water lines belonging to the city having to be removed from our property. This took many months to complete. Then it was discovered that the land did not really belong to Georgia College but to the state of Georgia. In order to acquire a deed for the land it was necessary to wait for the Legislature to convene several months later. Then a bill had to be introduced in the House, voted on and approved and the deed purchased for a dollar.

So maybe we students can be more understanding about the long waiting for the Student Center now that we realize some of the many problems involved in its construction.

Q. When and where is the faculty hearing Dr. LaPointe?

A. Will students be allowed to sit in on the hearing?

Q. It has been rumored that students can testify in this hearing.

Q. Is this true? And if they do testify will they be jeopardized?

A. These three questions were presented to Dean Christensen who referred them to Dr. Bunting. Since Dr. Bunting is all these questions will be said for next week's Pipe Line.

Q. How is the staff of the Colonnade chosen?

A. The Editor-in-chief and business managers are elected in campus-wide elections each winter quarter. The rest of the staff is not chosen but established on a strictly voluntary basis. Any student who has a desire to write and is not afraid of a little work is welcome. There are also openings for typists, proofreaders, ad salesmen and circulation editor.

Q. The faculty and administration have not been receiving their copies of the Colonnade on time. What is the reason for this and what corrective measures are being taken to alleviate this problem?

A. This problem is due to the lack of a circulation editor. The Editor-in-chief is presently acting as circulation editor until a permanent one can be found. Anyone interested can see Dave Marcum or place a note in Box 939.

Q. What is Slipper?

A. See article entitled "What that Golden Slipper is..." page 5.

Q. When will re-make pictures for the Spectrum be made?

A. The date for make-up pictures has not been decided upon yet. As soon as it is set it will appear in Pipe Line.

Q. Can Pipe Line have the traffic light at the exit of Bell parking lot repaired?

A. Pipe Line called the Georgia Power Company and they promised that this traffic light on the corner of Wilkinson and W. McIntosh St. would be fixed within a few days.
