Herty Gettin' Purty

The new Herty building is being constructed by A.J. Kellos Construction Company of Augusta, Ga., with Mr. Bob Spivey in charge. The construction was started on July 18, 1970 and should be finished by July of 1971. When asked how much has been accomplished, Mr. Spivey said, "Not much, but we have completed the grating and half of the foundation. Fortunately there have been no accidents and the students have not been in the way." Mr. Spivey mentioned that the building will be as big as the property and therefore there will be no storing place for the materials used. Mr. Spivey was asked if he had found any interesting articles such as gold or oil and he replied, "If I had, I wouldn't be here now!"

Elections Set for October 12

Senate elections will be held on October 12 in each dorm between five and seven p.m. Day student senators will be elected on the same day with elections being held on the front porch of Lanier between the hours of eleven and one o'clock. All senators must live in the district from which he wishes to represent. Petitions may be obtained in the Post Office beginning Thursday, October 1 through Wednesday, Oct. 7. All candidacy forms must be in by noon on Wednesday, Oct. 7. The forms should be placed in the marked ballot box in the Post Office.

The Day Students must elect two representatives to Honor Council on the same day. These representatives must have a 2.0

average. The election will be held according to the deadlines set up for the Senate elections.

The distribution of Senators is as follows:

New Dorm-3; Sanford-2; Bell-3; Bell Annex and Terrell C-2; Beeson-1; Terrell-2; Honors Dorm-1; Wells-2; Ennis-2; and Day Students-18.

Each district must have the number of senators listed above.

THE PUB

Milledgeville has been noted in the past for being somewhat slack in providing off-campus activities for college students. Thanks to Elanie Fowler, owner and operator of The Pub this situation has been improved. The Pub now features College Night every Friday and Saturday evening; a night of entertainment with bands such as "Them Chances" and "Wanted Lyte and Heavy" and all the beer students twenty-one or over can consume. At the door college ID's are accepted as proof of age and hands stamped paid, black for those of Everybody gripes to their next door neighbor that the washing machine does not work, that the food in the dining hall leaves a lot to be desired, and that the broken window has not been fixed for a month. Does this ring a familiar note?

Air Your Gripes

Now here is your chance to become active and do something constructive about it. There is, as of summer quarter, a campus asset, known as the Sounding Board. It is composed of dorm representatives with Deans Littleton, Gettys and Donahoo attending, and acting upon reasonable requests made. The first meeting of this quarter will be Wednesday, October 7 at 4 p.m. in Chappell Auditorium. It is open to all students with legitimate complaints.

Where's Your '70 Spectrum?

I thought I didn't want it, but now I do. No, I guess there's nothing I can do about it. May I borrow yours?

It's not to late. They kept me over the summer for you, hoping you'd change your mind and come by and pick me up. I'm homeless so if you want me I'll be sitting in a corner of Miss Donahoo's office waiting for you.

Students who attended the 69-70 year pick your annuals up in Miss Donahoo's office. If you were not in classes all three quarters there is a charge of $3.00 per quarter, payable at the Comptroller's office. Spectrums will be available at any time, as long as they last.

Rats Speak Their Piece

Tuesday, the 29th of September, was THE day. Freshmen were given the chance to speak their true opinion without fear from the Juniors on rat week.

Several of the students from all three freshmen dorms were given a questionnaire to read and fill out.

There were many different first impressions of rat week. Many of the students were scared to death. Many had been told so many things by the upper classmen, they didn't know whether to come out of their rooms or not.

As to the study hours, the vote was just about split as to whether rat week interrupted study hours. Many students said that if you budget your time you wouldn't have to worry about interferences.

Regular classes were another major discussion. Although many felt the hours of regular classes weren't interfered with, many felt Rat week should be the week of Orientation before classes. It was also brought up that the study hours were to be kept the same and ratting wouldn't be allowed during these hours.

Many ideas of the Juniors were thought to have been ridiculous. The picking of paper on the campus was kinda dumb, seeing there was enough paper on the ground before they dumped more on there, but the rest of the ideas were cute and fun to do.

Rat Week can be held responsible for all the meeting of new friends of their own class and many upperclassmen. All the Freshmen got to know their J.A.'s real well!

There were several impressions of the hats. The boys dorm was very unhappy because, "It makes my hair curl." Girls mostly went along with the hat and thought it was cute.

The ones who filled out the questionnaires believe that when they are Juniors they will either do the same thing or think up better things to do.

There will be another survey next week on Rat week so be sure and watch for the article.

Attention: Attendance

The Recreation Association has come up with a new idea for greater dormitory and Day Student attendance at college sponsored functions. A revolving trophy will be presented at the end of every quarter to the group (dormitory or DSO) with the largest attendance at the activities-these including games, concerts, lectures, and even movies.

Small pieces of colored paper or coupons will be available at every dormitory and in the Day Student Lounge. Everyone will get one; and as he enters each event, turn the coupon in to the designated person. The attendance will be figured on a percentage basis.

The first use of the coupons will be Friday, October 2, for the soccer game. Each group is assigned the following color: Sanford, Green; Terrell, White; Bell, Red; Bell Annex and Terrell C, Purple; Honors dorm, Dark Blue; Day Students, Tan; New Dorm, Yellow; Wells, Pink; Ennis, Light Blue; and Beeson, Gray.

Frogdude's

If you have walked down South Wayne Street towards GMC in the past week or so you may have noticed that a group of people have been cleaning up what used to be the old Sporting Goods Store.

The store will be called Frogdude's, and the management hopes to open it some time next week or as soon as their merchandise arrives. What kind of merchandise will they be selling? They will sell such things as would be found in today's modern boutiques. But besides selling clothes and accessories, they will also have a place in the back of the store where you can go to relax, meet people, and have a good time. The management hopes that people will come in whether they plan on buying anything or not.

Turning "It" Over To You

Being editor of a college newspaper has many pros and cons, but one interesting aspect in the tons of mail one receives. I feel that you as students have a right to read some of it too, so without further ado...

The Women's Pavilion is a service that should be of interest to you.

What Is The Women's Pavilion?

The Women's Pavilion aids patients in obtaining complete and superior abortion care in some of New York's finest private hospitals at a low price.

Why Was Women's Pavilion Started?

With the passage of the bill to legalize abortion in New York many hospitals and doctors feared that administrative problems involving both local and out-of-state patients would provide an unbearable strain on their limited facilities. The Women's Pavilion was established to provide centralized administration and coordination to these hospitals and doctors.

How Does Women's Pavilion Work?

By doing all of the administrative work for the hospitals and by taking all patients immediately,

Women's Pavilion is able to relieve the burden on the hospital as well as accommodate patients with a minimum of cost and inconvenience.

Where hardships exist, "service cases" are provided by Women's Pavilion for organizations that regularly refer cases.

What Is The Procedure?

Acaller to Women's Pavilion will be asked the length of pregnancy, her age, and the soonest convenient date for the operation. She may select a doctor or be assigned one. These physician's are all board qualified or board certified specialists in gynecology and obstetrics. She will also be told which type of operation (D & C or Saline) would be suitable for her and the procedure for payment of services. A date, time, and hospital will then be scheduled. Women's Pavilion is also preparing medical instructions to aid patients in pre-post-operative care.

The service provided by Women's Pavilion aids the hospitals and the patients, and we think it is important that the availability of this service be known to you. If you are interested in receiving additional information, please contact: Sheila Whyte, Women's Pavilion, 515 Madison Ave., Suite 1010, New York, New York 10022.

Campus In The Round

There's A Light At The End Of The Tunnel

By Gene Stevenson

When this column was inaugurated last year, a statement of policy was made which included a position wherein we would offer constructive criticism and also to give credit when it was deserved. Not all of a columnist's job involves sitting in front of a typewriter hoping he has something to say that people will read. He needs to get around and talk to people, to take the campus pulse once in a while, and most of all to listen. Sometimes the action he takes on his observations does not appear in the column. Maybe he feels there is a need for more informal dialogue between students and faculty, so instead of writing something about what "THEY" ought to do he initiates a series of informal forums to promote this sort of communication. Some things of a positive nature resulted from these gatherings such as the revision of the curfew regulations.

So we want to take the space here to salute the Dean of Students, Dr. Littleton, for continuing a similar series of informal talks at his home this past summer and we hope he will continue to make this valuable contribution to the college scene.

Mr. Shadwell, that worthy impresario of the student cafeteria, has announced a food book plan for day students which is a good deal for those who have to "eat out". You can save some money and feel reassured that the food quality beats the "greasy spoon" downtown.

Those fledgling psychology majors who haven't yet done so, get yourself over to see Dr. Nish and get your copy of the bulletin entitled "INFORMATION FOR PSYCHOLOGY MAJORS". It will answer most of your questions, refer you to the sources for other answers, and may very well save you much heartache and distress a year from now.

Those who are considering careers in social welfare would be well advised to look into the new three course sequence numbered 360, 460, and 464 in the Sociology Department offerings. The trend is now to offer a more professional approach to the undergraduate who plans to pursue a social work career, and the final course in the sequence offers a practicum involving two four hour periods a week in a social service agency. Information can be obtained from Dr. Dorothy Pitman and Mr. Ken Jasnau.

From time to time this column will feature a sub-category entitled the BORE'S NEST in which we will either raise questions or introduce a thought in the hope that other voices will take up the cry. We humbly offer in the issue:

THE BORE'S NEST

Students in the Education Department introduced a survey during the summer quarter to determine whether there was a need for a greater emphasis in library orientation. We would like to know the results of that survey; and if it points to a need for increasing such orientation, what is being or can be done about it?

Speaking of surveys, is the Sociology Department going to repeat the one done last year, and are the results of last year's survey ever going to see the light of day?

News Room Needs New People

In case you haven't been in Room 8 of Mayfair recently, you have missed a very interesting sight. The antiquated old room in the old building has been reassembled in the past a dirty, spiderwebbed cubicle not fit for man nor beast. But this past weekend the situation was amended and the room has taken on two coats of paint, (each wall a different color) and a thorough cleaning in hopes that the new staff members would find a better working area and would perhaps feel inclined to spend time in the room, working on the college newspaper.

This effort seemed rather wasted and the hope futile at last Monday night's meeting when only ten people, including the editor and business manager, attended. At this rate if each of these ten people wrote one story this would be a one page newspaper. In an ideal situation each writer should write, at the most, two stories a piece; therefore we need at least ten more staff members.

The editorial cartoon depicts a spirited college student drowning in the pool of apathy. Hopefully this is not the state of affairs of this student body. Therefore The Colonnade is asking for your support in making this a student supported publication with ample participation from interest groups as well as individual students, so that The Colonnade will be, not the ideas of a few, but the voice of all.

Give Credit Where It's Due

By Clyde Moore

Georgia College is stuck in a mire of mediocrity. It seems the only adjustment from a woman's college to a co-ed college was importing men. It's going to take a long time to set the school on its status quo feet—especially at the rate we're going. I make a motion each of you stand and make your own constructive waves. My beef, being sports editor, is for the varsity teams. They get out on the field and really sweat. If you don't believe me go watch them but be advised to work out with them. They try hard and they do win. The problem is the credit they receive. An occasional pat on the back from the all but non-existent fans is not enough. It is my feeling they should be given one hour P.E. credit for their efforts. Most other schools in the university system do this but again they were founded as co-ed schools.

This seems logical, doesn't it? Simple enough—give them the credit. But you would be surprised at the opposition that this may stir up, mostly from the HPER department. I anticipate. They gave valid but illegitimate reasons against this idea. However, our new dean of Academic affairs gave a more favorable response in promising to take this to the academic council to be held later this month. Hopefully, it will pass through. I'm afraid it won't. It seems that if the students and faculty (very few of which were at the soccer game last Sunday night) cannot support the teams with spirit, enthusiasm, and pride at least give them one lousy hour of academic credit for their many hours of hard work.

The Colonnade

The Colonnade, the student newspaper of Georgia College at Milledgeville, is published weekly except during examinations and holidays. It serves as a clearing house for student opinion and as a medium of communication between students and activities on campus.

Soccer Team Out Balled

Georgia College went down to the University of Georgia 5 to 0 last Sunday night, but remember it's not whether you win or lose but what the score spread is. And judging from last years 11 to 1 disaster the team has come a long way. They all played a great game. Some of the returning lettermen, Ralph Piro, Jerry Whitmire, and Steve Blair, had particularly good nights. Bobby Kelly, goalie, made some great saves that cost Georgia points. Tim Fogarty, a newcomer, showed himself to be a real asset also. Rich Hight was taken out in the third quarter for a bad foot he got in practice, and Ralph Piro got a knee injury that may put him out for a while.

The team is really shaping up for a good season. This scrimmage against one of the toughest teams on the schedule showed they know their stuff. This Friday, they play again against Covenant College who beat us badly last year. Odds are this year they won't get away with that distinction at least not without a run for their money.

Also don't forget the game Saturday game against Toccoa at Toccoa. This provides a great opportunity to get your chick and ride to the mountains for a picnic and to watch the team win.

Georgia dominated the ball throughout the game but had a hard time working into range for a goal. The third quarter gave them most of their points when the GC boys started to tire. But in the fourth they held them back to the five points they had already given them. The foot work and speed of the team was a little more than our team could handle, but we showed them that we can keep up with the best of them.

Meet & Greet New Friends And Old

Getting Out

You probably couldn't stand the suspense waiting for this column again to learn all about where to ride horses. Well, here it is, your dreams come true.

Mr. Paul J. Farr operator of The Corral has offered a special rate to all GC students. (In doing this he hopes to get volume business and we shouldn't let him down.) The new rate of two dollars an hour is only for students from GC (I.D.'s will be checked.) This does not include faculty. It is a great opportunity to pick up on one of America's fastest dying pastimes and pick up odds to charm your friends.

The Corral is located about a mile off Allen Memorial, turn right, follow to the first dirt road past Mayor William's stables (big red barn looking place), turn left and follow the signs. There are miles of trails and roads out there to follow and the horses know them all so that when you get lost you just turn loose and sit until the horse gets hungry and goes back for food. And the horses themselves vary from Polly, who is like greased lightning, the Misty, who is gentle as a lamb.. Mr. Farr will put you on a horse to meet your equestrian talents. You must ride at your own risk, however.

You never know if you can ride until you try, and just because a horse is bigger than you it won't bite or stomp on you. This affords a good day to spend an afternoon or morning. The corral is open seven days a week from about 9:30 to dark, and we want you all to come out and try riding once.

Be watching next week when we hunt down another "hidden hot spot" for you right here in Milledgeville, Ga.

How To Do It

Because socce is such a new game there are probably very few of you who know much about the game. In order to create more interest and understanding, the game and some of the rules will be explained.

The team consists of twelve members: a goalie, and eleven forwards, halfbacks, and fullbacks, arranged in any order. They may use any means of hitting the ball into the opposing teams net; however, only the goalie can use his arms and hands to touch the ball. If the ball is touched the other team gets a free kick.

To begin, the goal and kick-off team is decided with a coin as in football. The ball is put in the middle of the field and the chosen team begins play. From then on any player can take the ball from another. The object is to maneuver the ball to the opposing teams' goal and kick it past the goalie who can catch it with his hands.

Often in play you will see someone intentionally kick the ball out of bounds. This play is done to stall the team from getting to you goal and letting your team get down to defend. When a man kicks the ball out, it becomes the other teams property. They receive a free throw in which must be executed over the head with both hands. Other free kicks are given when a team member kicks the ball out of the end near his own goal, or the opposing goal. In the former case the defending team loses the ball; in the latter the defending goalie is allowed to kick the ball to the other end of the field for his team to score.

There are two types of penalty kicks. The first, for all

The goalie has an important job. he must prevent the ball from getting anywhere inside his team's net and scoring a point for the other team. But major offenses including personal foul, is a direct kick. The ball is placed in front of the opposing team's goal and with only the goalie to block is kicked. The second type for minor offenses is an indirect kick. The ball is placed at the point of infraction and the player may kick the ball to whom he chooses but not directly into the goal. Another member of his team must touch the ball.

this does not limit him to the goal. He is free to run out and pick up the ball if he chooses to leave the goal unattended. If he does this he carries the ball back into the area marked off in front of the goal.

Soccer is an exciting game. There's more action than any other varsity sport we have here. If you haven't seen one of the games yet, go to the next one Friday at Boddie Jr. High at 3 p.m. when GC plays Covenant College. You're bound to enjoy it and hopefully understand what is happening from this brief description of the game.

Pseudowoman

By Chipper Messer

On September 20 the Georgia College Freshmen arrived at good old G.C. I would like to take this time to welcome you and wish that you have a good year.

Dear Freshman - Pseudowoman spent a few days before your arrival to plan some goodies for your fall quarter. Rats, you will listen to Your Junior Advisors and Philios; you will do as they ask and perform tasks that could try man's patience, but smile and do it. On Saturday, September 26, you became official Georgia College Rats; yes Pseudowoman placed a red and white cap upon your head and you became "Rats."

For those of you who weren't here in the spring to see my last article, Pseudowoman promised to get the Salvation Army Band for Orientation dance. Well, the President of the U.S. needed them, so Pseudoman replaced them with The Huckleberry Mudflaps and Big Brother. Well, there was a big turnout for the orientation dance since such well known personalities appeared. But notice that Pseudowoman and friends were the first to never arrive, noting the blunder they had made. For those of us who could really take in the show we saw a fellow capable of playing a guitar without wearing his shirt. One other fellow could play with hair in his face and mouth. All kidding aside, I would like to thank Pseudowoman for going from

Rec Revolves

Rec is sponsoring a bus to the soccer game at Boddie Jr. High on Friday, October 2. All students wanting a ride to the game should meet the bus in the vicinity of the H.P.E.R. Building on Wilkinson Street. Departure times are as follows: 2:45 p.m., 3:15 p.m. and 4:15 one extreme to another.

One final word for freshman. You do have a choice to participate in Slipper (Golden Bootie); it can be fun!!! Just don't let some JA or Philio decide for you.

Something new for Georgia College, a cheerleading squad, will be started this fall. Those interested in cheerleading met in Russell Auditorium on Wednesday at 5:00.

The Cheerleaders will cheer at all the games, and will also work on publicity for these games.

Tryouts will be held in about two weeks. The candidates will be judged in both individual and group cheers. Practices will be on Mondays at 4:00, starting October 5.

Georgia College is interested in starting a drill team, which would march and twirl at all the games. The first preliminary meeting for this was held on Tuesday. We had a good turnout, but we could still use some more volunteers. So if you have ever had any experience in being on a drill team, or in twirling; or if you are interested in trying out, please come to Russell Auditorium on Tuesday, October 6 at 5:00. This would be a great addition to our athletic program.
