
Colonnade

Special Collections

10-28-1971

Colonnade October 28, 1971

Colonnade

Follow this and additional works at: <https://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade>

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the Mass Communication Commons

Recommended Citation

Colonnade, "Colonnade October 28, 1971" (1971). Colonnade. 664.
<https://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade/664>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Special Collections at Knowledge Box. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colonnade by an authorized administrator of Knowledge Box.

THE COLONNADE

OCTOBER 28, 1971

GEORGIA COLLEGE

NO. 1

Senate Elections Final

Senate Election Results were tabulated after the election of October 20. The candidates and winners are listed below.

Ennis-Rick Baxter 49 (Elected), Keith Jones 30 (Elected), Bob Devitt 25, Robert Riddle 29, Tommy Beacham 7.

Sanford-Faye Edwards 9 (Elected).

Terrell B-Lindy Copelan 24 (Elected), Floyd Crouch 9, Lott Hall 10

New Dorm--Gail Ford 64 (Elected), Martha Hancock 64 (Elected), Nancy Shepard 64 (Elected)

Beeson-Jim Kinard 9 (Elected)

Terrell-Carolyn Bennett 48 (Elected), Rita Jones 55 (Elected), Susie Powell 25 (Elected).

Bell-Ellen Hutchinson 85 (Elected), Jan Newsome 95 (Elected), Janelle Reynolds 79 (Elected), Paula Rhodes 99 (Elected), Kim Rucker 62 (Elected).

Wells-Willie Sue Hawks 15, Kathy Hoover 24, Margaret Kepner 15, Debbie Mitchell 30 (Elected), Sherrrie Waldon 34 (Elected), Kathy Withee 28.

Honors Dorm-Mary Carden 7 (Elected).

Day Students--Beverly Barnes 128 (Elected), Kathy Brown 79 (Elected), Neil Dyer 110 (Elected), Tim Fogarty 130 (Elected), Elaine Harrison 93 (Elected), David Jones 85 (Elected), Martha Laird 108 (Elected), Roy Lane 108 (Elected), Debbie Lavender 99

(Elected), Ellen Layfield 92 (Elected), Richard Long 96 (Elected), Charles Middlebrooks 125 (Elected), Valerie Peeler 91 (Elected); Ken Powell 91 (Elected), Juan Ravelo 103 (Elected), John Rawlins 102 (Elected), George Ritchie 84 (Elected), Joy D. Sessums, Jr. 104 (Elected), Mona Simmons 103 (Elected), Tommie Walker 106 (Elected),

Mary Ann Woodall 83 (Elected), Randy Wyatt 117 (Elected), Harvel Boyer 75, Margie Carithers 77, Jim Davis 68, Donna Duke 66, Dean Faulkner

58, Fred Giles 54, Paul Gregory 68, Beverly Jackson 77, Jeff Johnson 48, Mark Johnson 69, Victoria Jordan 49, Jeff Jump 75, Ed Knisley 75, Charles Lane 54, Bill Nobles 40.

Seniors win Annual Hike.

Lyceum Program Scheduled

Interested in anything and everything? Like to learn? For your benefit the Lyceum Committee of our school has organized a wonderful schedule of lectures featuring prominent figures such as Vance Parkard, Heywood Hale Broun, and John Beecher. The first of this series was a lecture entitled "Flying Saucers ARE Real" delivered by Mr. Stanton T. Friedman.

The second of this series will be on November 22 when the Preservation Hall Jazz Band, featuring the blind trumpeteer Dede Pierce, will be here to give a concert of original jazz.

Following the Jazz Band will be a reading of poetry with comments by its author, John Beecher. This "Poet of Protest and Prophecy" will be here December 6.

In addition to focus on the arts is a sports commentary. Those who are sports freaks will enjoy Heywood Hale Broun "Heywood Hale Broun at Large." He will be here with his witty analyses on January 19, 1972.

Another emphasis on the arts will be an entertaining program by classic guitarist and Baroque lutenist, Karl Heneshoff, who will perform on Valentine's Day. Next on the list is the environmental scientist and author of the widely published column "Science Today." Dr. Wendell A. Mordy will be at Georgia College March 2 and 3 to lecture on "Life's Crystal Ball." Following him will be Vance Packard on April 13 lecturing on "The Changing American Character."

The final Lyceum program will be held on May 16, when we will have the privilege of seeing the Carl Ratcliff Dance Theatre of Atlanta perform to taped romantic and electronic music.

Detailed previews will appear in the "Colonnade" prior to each performance.

G.C. Enrollment

Reaches New High

This year our boy-girl ratio is .98:1, making it rather awkward for everyone to be paired off heterogeneously. This is, however, an improvement from ten years ago when the same would have been virtually impossible.

Another increase at Georgia College is that of student enrollment. According to Mr. Linton Cox, Registrar, current enrollment is 2,380, a 24 percent increase from fall quarter a year ago.

However, along with quantity should come quality, and if what is bigger is better, students should be looking for some improvements this year.

G.C. Theatre Hosts World Premiere Of New Play

On October 28, 29, & 30 at 8:00 p.m. in Russell Auditorium The Dictionary, authored by the Director of The Georgia College Theatre, J. Dalton Eddleman will receive its very first performance anywhere before the Georgia College and Milledgeville audience. The Director hopes that this will be only the first of original scripts which can be staged on the campus. One of the unique advantages educational theatres have is in their ability to bring theatrical entertainment of a sort that can not be obtained anywhere else. The day is envisioned when playwriting contests can be held and excellent student written plays can be staged. Hopefully this endeavor can be broadened to include original plays written by state wide authors.

The Dictionary is both as modern as this morning's newspaper in its setting and characters and as ancient as the first Greek classical tragedy in its subject battling with that ineffable entity known by the venerable Greeks in pre-Freudian days by the antique word, "fate." Out of the dancing heat devils of cotton picking time, a man with no name of obscure origins comes with a psychological lock and key and clamps his depraved life onto the life of Early B. Farrago. Believing it to be his "destiny" to befriend this amoral being, Farrago throws away all the customary pursuits of a man's life and takes to the road with his fated companion. Leaving behind in Mississippi the woman he loves--the woman carrying his unborn child--he comforts himself in his misery with a small dime store dictionary. Although before him in the dictionary he finds an endless line of words reinforcing the truth of his destiny, he continues to memorize words, searching always for the word that is stronger than "destiny"--the word that will break the lock and free him from his human nemesis. Eventually a woman in dire circumstance and the word "grace" offer him salvation. When "retribution" proves both to be impotent, the tormented Farrago makes a final, valiant attack on "destiny" with nothing but his own courage and the discovered knowledge that his destiny has been based in his mind on a lie.

The Dictionary, being itself a farrago, or mixture, of ancient and contemporary values, presents both scenes of high drama and continual moments of comic dialogue. This serio-comic medley of forms should make the performance both interesting to the imagination and entertaining to the eyes and ears.

Those students portraying roles in The Dictionary are, in alphabetical order: Hank Dyer, Jimmy Edwards, Vicki Fincher, Bob Goddard, Priscilla GGoddard, Allen Lane, Debbie Mitchell, and Alan Walker. Nancy McCollum serves as Assistant Director. Tory Jordan is the State Manager. Chief Technical Assistant is Wallace Moore. And Joe Vincent handles special effects.

Reserved tickets may be picked up at the booth in the Student Union during the day. Georgia College students need only present their I.D.'s to obtain tickets. Other seats are priced at $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students. Faculty and staff members will be given tickets at half price.

Colonnade

editor-in-chief: VICKI FINCHER
business manager: CHARLES MIDDLEBROOKS

A Bedtime Story

Once upon a time in a far off land called Milledge, there was a quaint old college. Scholars came from all over the world to better themselves at this institution of higher thought. These scholars studied hard to master the fine arts so that one day, they too might rule small kingdoms of their own.

Occasionally, these scholars that came from other lands felt the urge to celebrate. Now these neophytes were special because they were required to live in the college castle under strict rules from the King. In order to celebrate, these foreign squires and maidens had to do so quietly and between certain hours. If these lads and fair ladies did not follow these royal orders, then they were in danger of being called before the feared high court. This was not true, however, of the scholars that lived in the surrounding kingdom. These young knaves could consume all the wine they could hold and entertain pretty maidens in their chambers every night without danger of being called before the high court.

Alas, as fate would have it, some of these foreign scholars would indulge in too much merry-making and not make it back to the castle before the drawbridge was raised. These poor knaves were then thrown in the dungeon and would have to appear before the High Court later in the week.

Now the High Court was made up of very wise scholars, who were supposed to choose between right and wrong. But since the unfortunate victims would not be there unless someone had accused them of some terrible misdeed that had been committed, these wretches were left defenseless. And since the accused were not allowed any conference with the crafty village counsel, they were naturally pronounced guilty. It must have been a terrible sight indeed, to see the executioner grin under his black hood as the guilty party walked in on judgement day. Punishments doled out by the court ranged from doing penance in one's room to banishment from the kingdom. This system was unfair, but the foreign scholars put up with this nonsense. Times have changed through the ages and nothing as cruel as this could ever exist in modern times. Or could it?

Poor Vicki's Almanac

Contrary to what may have been rumored, the newspaper of this college does exist, for the moment anyway. This, our first edition, marks the advent or should we say debut of, a brand new staff. Although we do have some returning faces, most of them are new and bursting with new ideas.

This year should prove to be interesting if anything and much controversy seems to be brewing. Colonnade fully intends to be in the middle of it all to give up to the minute factual accounts of all the happenings and to provide an analysis of the news as we see it. The opinions of others are encouraged and desired.

This year we would like to reinstate a column that appeared a few years ago and lived a very short life. It was called Pipeline and tried to serve as a go-between for the students and administration, students and the local government or as a general answer man. If anyone has anything that he would like ask, we will do our best to find the answer. Send any questions or anything else that you would like brought to the attention of the Colonnade to box 770.

The workforce of the Colonnade welcomes anyone who wishes to join and take advantage of this once in a lifetime opportunity to speak up and be heard.

Letters to the editor

HONOR CODE REVISION

I know this same old gripe has been brought up before, but it needs to be brought up again. This grievous injustice is the Honor Code System, or as I always think of it, "Fink on Your Neighbors."

As things stand now, should any of us commit an offense, we should immediately report ourselves. If we catch another student pulling a no-no we are to go to the person and lovingly inform him or her that we know that he or she has sinned. However, we are all responsible for each other and it is because we love him or her that we must demand that he or she report him-self. If he or she does not, then, because we love that person so much, we shall have to fink on him or her.

Now, I won't even bother with the part about raving on our own selves. I think we all know how many people are going to break a rule and then report it so they can be punished. What I'm griping about is this brother's keeper deal.

I have nothing against my fellow man, but I have no desire to be responsible for other students, and I don't believe that 3999 students care to be responsible for me, either. What is more, it is ridiculous to think about a student's being punished for minding his own business. One of the really sad things is that in many cases, an offender isn't even informed that he has been caught. His brother merely lets him believe he's gotten by, then tells on him behind his back and without meeting him face-to-face.

In some cases, perhaps a person should be reported IF what he does actually HARMS or IMPOSES on a fellow student (i.e., stealing personal belongings from each other). Another editorial, or indeed, a pamphlet, could be written on some of the rules that should be thrown out. But never should a student be reported without his accuser facing him with the charge first. And never should any student be punished for minding his own business. Some people just weren't cut out for the "Gastapo."

This is a democratic school, and students could do away with this ridiculous system in an orderly democratic way, if they would. I believe we should work

Editorial Policy

All letters to the editor or any other forms of correspondence should be directed to: Editor, Colonnade, Box 770, G.C. We reserve the right to edit all letters if they infringe upon good journalistic standards or lack good taste. Letters should be typed. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld upon request if valid reasons are given. Any formal complaints concerning the content of this paper may be directed to the editor and will be reviewed by the Publication Board for the Colonnade.

in those days. Well, it's time to close. Good luck in the coming year.
Helen Alice Goodbody
Class of '79

"Long Hair, Love It Or Leave It"

If you're a male, and have long hair, do you wish to be persecuted for it? I saw people persecuted for it in the movies, such as "Easy Rider", and "Joe," but last Saturday night it happened to me.

Four friends and I were sitting in the "Cup and Saucer" on Route 441 when, stumbling through the door came a drunk, short-haired, 300-pound hulk of a man. He was accompanied by three other short-haired men and their wives. Upon seeing us long-haired freaks, he came to our table and started running his fingers through the hair of one of my friends and started to laugh. He left because we ignored him but soon returned boasting that he would take any one of us on in a fight. It ended up with him punching and swinging and all of us were hauled into the Police station and arrested.

I have long hair and don't like being hassled because of it, but what can I do? One thing I will do is stay out of the "Cup and Saucer" - I'll leave it for the red-necks.

Bill Ainsco

CGA Notes

by Pat Kraumenauer

As we rapidly approach mid-quarter, we should take a little time to evaluate our progress thus far and to set our goals for the remainder of the quarter and this year. So much has happened in these past few weeks throughout Georgia College, and C.G.A. has not been omitted from these affairs.

The orientation program went very well as we welcomed one of the largest freshmen classes ever. The sex education classes, spearheaded by C.G.A. and the Student Advisory Council of the Board of Regents, was a true first here at Georgia College. Although it was not perfect, it was a needed step in the right direction. The various standing committees have begun to meet and the student representatives have shown good participation so far. The Student Senate is preparing for a very busy year with much essential legislation already on the agenda. Honor Council has been evaluating its purposes and methods and is seeking to make the necessary changes which will make it a stronger and a more efficient branch of our Student Government. These are some of the things C.G.A. has been busy with during the first part of the quarter.

Yet there is so much more waiting to be done. The more traditional flares lie in the middle of our planned course. First there is annual hike and Golden Slipper is only a few weeks away. Student activities always add flavor to campus affairs, and we have already planned several concerts, dances, and movies for the remaining weeks of this quarter. Winter quarter holds much in store with the Miss Georgia College Regent and with our second homecoming. It is easy to see that we have a very important year ahead of us. We must all consider the need for voter registration here on campus for the elections next year.

What are you doing to help make Georgia College a better school? Apathy has always been an ugly but prevailing term on our campus and lack of participation is a sign of disease. Let me challenge you to become involved in the activities. Why not attend a soccer game, a dance or the College Theater's production. All of these activities are paid for by your student activities fee. If you are complaining right now about the Colonnade, why not offer your services. They will accept anyone's articles even mine, besides, we are paying for its publication.

As you can readily see, there is much to be done and much to become involved in. Dig deep and pull out some enthusiasm you packed away with last years useless class notes. We need your participation and concern to make your student body one of which we can truly be proud.

Observe

When it rains, take a look at one shining drop.
When it snows, examine one fragile flake.
When you see a tree, observe one individual leaf.
And when you are in a crowd, look at one person,
and try to understand his loneliness.
Stan Fendley

I drink, from a cup of space,
all the rivers and mountains of my land.

In my eyes blossom all the scents
and the sea breeze.

My hands touch the night, the buildings,
with their windows of light.

You sleep in the city that breathes,
I breathe your space.
We kiss in the dream.
Alfredo Escala

I know not who decreed that men should die for their country in time of war
while women lived for their men,
But I have often felt that men held the lesser burden.
L. S. Whitcox

Sex Ed

Pro & Con

Is it possible that Georgia College freshmen considered sex education boring? Yes, possible and true. After talking to about thirty students, this is what we found out. Although most agreed sex education was worthwhile and really needed, they felt that it was much too late. High school or even junior high school was thought to be much more appropriate. They felt it was a waste of time to learn something that they learned a long time ago.

Not too long ago, it would have been unheard of to teach sex and even though it may be too late, sex education classes at schools and colleges show that attitudes and trends are changing. No longer is sex considered a wicked and sinful desire which should be condemned and suppressed. It can be discussed openly and seriously. As one girl said, sex has long been associated with filth and immorality and if this can be changed, it's never too late.

Remembrance Of You

Blowing	melodies	of wind rained
tranquil	murmurs	through these trees while we watched summer's sails		unfurl. Captured in the scattered light that	fell	through dancing branches,
there were the passionate whirlwinds	of quiet	joy Through dizzying currents of flowing,	glowering flowers,
in the warm,	feather-like breeze,	there was you,
the shimmering princess		of silver daylight,
summertime fields and spinning	dreams,
before	your season's ship set sail	for death:
Ken Champion

All Contributions To Literary Section (Writing, Art And Photos) Send To
KEN CHAMPION

THE PUB

Big Happenings
At The PUB
Watch For Them
HALLOWEEN WEEKEND
October 29 & 30

124 W. Hancock
Milledgeville, Georgia

COLONNADE
Editor-in-chief	Vicki Fincher
Business manager	Charles Middlebrooks
Managing Editor	Elaine Gibbs
News Editor	Bill Ferrell
Editorial Editor	Kevin Fosgate
Feature Editor	Jacquelyn Jones
Sports Editors	Sheila Wood Robert Riddle
Layout Editor	Mark Roe
Photography Editor	Mark Roe
Art Editor	Marthalyn Monroe
Literary Editor	Ken Champion
STAFF
Tom Rackley, Tommy Thrasher, Frank Krogh, Alan Walker, Walter Young, Lott Hall, Frank Hill, Tommy Beachum, David Anderson, Bill Ainsco, Buddy Moore.

Oct. 28-30
8 p.m.
Russell
Auditorium
"The Dictionary"

BUTTS DRUG STORE
The Prescription Shop
125 S. Wayne Milledgeville, Georgia
452-5531

HARROLD'S

Bittick Launches Community Chorus

Martin Bittick, director of the G.C. choral organizations, has launched a new organization. His new chorus is called the Baldwin County Community Chorus, and it will work in connection with the Mixed Chorus.

Purpose of the chorus is to bring students, faculty and local citizens together. Everyone is invited to join.

The chorus is to present "The Messiah" by G.F. Handel and they will be accompanied by a chamber orchestra from the Atlanta area. This program will be performed on December 8, at 8 p.m. in Russell Auditorium.

Rehearsals are being held every Tuesday at 8 in the Porter Fine Arts Auditorium.

Such a spectacular production will be expensive and donations of any amount will be appreciated.

Bittick, who joined the G.C. staff in September of 1970 has already earned the respect of the college, community and proven himself an imaginative and able director with several outstanding performances last year.

Dorms

Open House

Open Dorm, a policy allowing either female students to enter the male dorms and go to their rooms or male students to enter female dorms and go to the girl's rooms, is in operation in only two dorms so far. They are listed below. In order for a dorm to have open house, it must have a list of hosts or hostesses made for each day it is observed up until December 3rd. The list must then be approved by the Dean of Students.

Ennis Hall-Wednesday 2:00 to 11:00; Friday-2:00 to 12:00; Saturday-2:00 to 12:00.

Terrell B-Wednesday 6:00 to 12:00; Friday 4:00 to 12:00;

G.C. Band Grows

The Georgia College Concert Band has grown in size and ability since its organization in 1968. Under the direction of Jim Willoughby the band has progressed from performance in light concerts to a three day concert tour around middle Georgia in the Spring of 1971. In size the band has grown to 58 members with the instrumentation covering most areas. This year the band performed at Georgia College's Annual Hike. The Georgia College Band along with the Madrecal Singers is performing a Christmas Concert on December 10, which is open to the public. The Band also plans to perform a winter and spring concert and conclude the year with a Georgia, Florida concert tour.

The Georgia College Band Officers for this year are: David Anderson, President; Doug Moore, 1st Vice President; Jesse Penepacker, 2nd Vice President; Carol Duncan, Librarian; Terry Park, Asst. Librarian; Brenda Youngblood, Secretary; Angela Cook and Barbera Roddy, Fund raising, Awards, Publicity; and Joe McMillan, Freshmen representative.

Frosh

Elections Set

NOTICE! FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS ELECTIONS—for president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, male and female representatives to Honor Council.

Election November 3 from 8:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

Pick up candidacy blanks at the campus post office, fill them out, and place them in the specifically marked box. Be sure to sign roster above box.

Last day for signing up is Wednesday, October 27, at 5:00 p.m.

A meeting of candidates will be on that same day in Parks 210 at 6:30 p.m.

For further information see Olivia Thompson in Adams 320 or contact her through campus box 1624.

New Faculty Members

There are 23 new members of the Georgia College staff and faculty this year. They are:

Mr. Randolph Puckett, Director of Placement and Non-Academic Personnel. He has a wife Sarah, and a married son, Richard.

Mrs. Linda P. Staab, Director of Public and College Relations. She is married to the Reverend J. Thomas Staab, and they have two sons, David 6 and Andy 4. Miss Susan Andrews, an instructor in Nursing Education.

Dr. Earnest R. Archer, assistant professor of Business Administration and Economics. He has a wife, Sally, and three children, Richard 12, Stephen 10, and Stewart 8.

Charles E. Beard, assistant professor of Library Science. He has a wife, Elizabeth.

Miss Virginia C. Bryant, who is an instructor in Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

Ernest L. Burdette, III, assistant professor of Business Education. He has a wife, Martha, and a seven month old son, Frank.

Mr. O. Wayne Bryant, an instructor in Sociology has a wife Barbara.

Mr. William C. Church, assistant professor of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. Mr. Church is married and his wife's name is Judith.

Dr. Doris D. Engerrand, assistant professor of Business Administration and Economics. She has a husband, Gabriel, and three children, Steven, Kenneth, and Mrs. Jeanine E. Ballard, all of whom are students at Georgia College.

Mrs. Wendy C. Glawson, instructor in Nursing Education. She has a husband, George, and two children, Carolyn 11, and George 10.

Mrs. Ellen S. Goodrich, assistant professor of Nursing Education, is married to Dr. Samuel M. Goodrich.

Miss Anne Harman, instructor of Library Science and Technical Services. Mr. David A. Mead, assistant professor of English and Speech, has a wife named Joan and a seven-month old daughter named Jennifer.

Mr. Claude R. Miller, assistant professor of Psychology. He has a wife, Ina, and a ten-month old daughter, Rhonda.

Miss JoAnne Nix, who is an assistant professor of Art.

Mr. Kap Hwan Oh, assistant professor of Sociology. He has a wife, Yung Ja, and three daughters, Miyon 4, Mina 2, and Margaret, an infant.

Mr. Rosewell M. Piper, and assistant professor of Business Administration. He has a wife, Roberta, and two daughters, Rozanne 4, and Roberta 2.

Mr. Robert J. Richardson, head of Public Services and assistant in Library Science. He has a wife, Janice, and a two-year old son, Robert.

Mrs. JoAnne B. Roundtree, an instructor of Library Science and a Technical Services Librarian, is married to Dr. Cecil A. Roundtree.

Mrs. Hester K. Stewart, assistant professor of Home Economics, is married to Doyle Stewart, and has two daughters, Susan and Donna, both of whom are Georgia College students.

Mrs. Joyce H. Brochin, instructor in Education and Supervising Kindergarten Teacher. She has a husband, Charles, and four children, Stephen 20, Robert 17, Herbert 16, and Cecelia 9.

NTE Set

The National Teacher Examinations will be administered on Nov. 13, at Georgia College.

According to Dr. John Lounsbury, chairman, education department, college seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require the NTE are eligible to take the tests. In addition, the designation of GC as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests, Dr. Lounsbury said.

Last year approximately 116,000 candidates took the examinations which are designed to assess cognitive knowledge and understanding in professional education, general education and subject-field specialization. The examinations, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., are limited to assessment of those aspects of teacher education that are validly and reliably measured by well constructed paper-and-pencil tests.

Bulletins of information describing registration procedures and containing registration forms as well as sample test questions may be obtained from Georgia College or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

Environment

quality continues down. As in the past, automobiles, electrical generating plants and coal-burning industries are the main culprits.

The nation's water is still incredibly foul but the bottom may have been reached. The 1971 EQ Index shows no decline from 1970 levels. More and better sewage treatment plants and industrial clean-ups are given credit for holding the line against further water degradation. Industry remains the largest water polluter with 65 percent. Municipal sewage accounts for 20 percent and agriculture 15 percent.

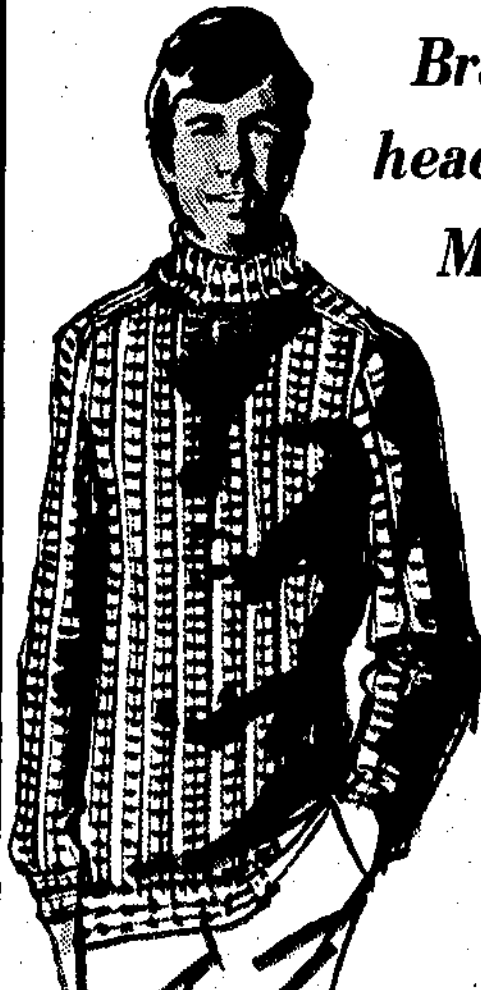

America continues to exploit mineral resources without sufficient regard for the future so the Mineral EQ Index is down from 1970. Users are outrunning explorers and known reserves of many vital metals will not outlast the 20th century. Recycling, though beginning to spread, saves only a small fraction of the nation's minerals.

Man's growing population and its pollution has put additional stress on wildlife and the Wildlife Index continued its downward trend in 1971. Loss of habitat is the major danger for wildlife with chemical pollution of air, water and land a close second. Some 101 species are listed on the endangered species list.

Population concentration near the two coasts in tense, polluted cities has pushed the EQ Living Space Index down during 1971 and trend appears to be headed further down. Until a sound national land use policy and public transportation systems become reality the EQ says living space problems are going to get worse.

Due to 87 percent harvest of allowable cut in the National Forests last year, the Timber EQ Index is up slightly over 1970. But the upward trend is shaky in the face of pressures for increased cutting and losses from burning and disease.

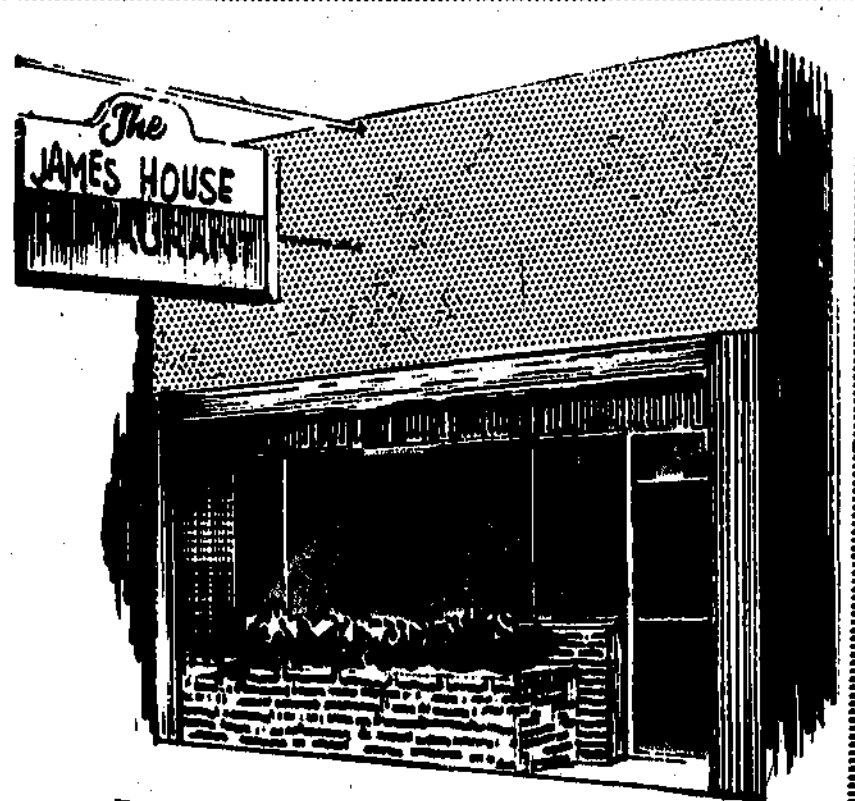

Soil quality, highest on the EQ Index, has slipped from 1970. Bulldozing, over-fertilization and erosion continue to destroy America's valuable soil resources.

Brand name headquarters in Milledgeville

- Jantzen
- Arrow
- Florsheim
- Pendleton
- Sero
- Levi
- Canterbury
- Robert Bruce
- London Fog

NASH'S
AND NASH'S Squire Shop

The
JAMES HOUSE RESTAURANT

Downtown