Nitty Gritty Dirt Band Plays At Ga. College

By Bill Ferrell

The world famous recording group, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, performed for the students of Georgia College last Friday, April 14, at the Baldwin High Auditorium. The Band put on a fantastic show, expertly playing and singing some fine country and rock music. Especially done well were a couple of old Hank Williams numbers. The cajun and bluegrass songs were also well done.

The highlight of the show was a 1950's Rock-n-Roll show, which was about the funniest thing ever presented at G.C. All in all it was a great night of fun and music. The only regret one could have had was the shortness of the program.

GC Offers Recreation Major

A Bachelor's degree in recreation at the undergraduate level will be available at Georgia College beginning next fall, according to Dr. J. Whitney Bunting, GC President.

Dr. Bunting said approval for the degree in the new major has been given by the Board of Regents.

Designed to prepare individuals to function as leaders in various recreation settings, the program will be interdisciplinary. Recreation students will take courses in such areas as arts and crafts, psychology, recreation, sociology and speech, according to Dr. Betty Poindexter, professor of Health, Physical Education and Recreation (HPER) at Georgia College.

In addition, Dr. Poindexter pointed out that the Milledgeville area is ideal for recreation majors as the students will be able to intern at Central State Hospital, the Youth Development Center, and the Baldwin County Recreation program. Of course, she added, students will be able to intern in any approved recreation setting in the United States.

In addition to the quarter spent as an intern, the recreation majors will spend one summer in a camp to gain experience.

"In developing this program, Georgia College is extending another service to the people of Georgia by offering students an opportunity to learn to help others," Dr. Poindexter commented.

"In this day of increased leisure time and individual development, leaders are needed to guide and direct members of the communities in the wise use of this time."

Dr. Poindexter continued: "Recreation in its broadest sense means all wholesome avenues which individuals pursue to gain new life; to add freshness to their lives. Consequently, the recreation leader needs the broadest of backgrounds with depth in many areas. The recreation leader needs to know not only a multitude of personal skills but also the ingenuity to provide a diversified program for all concerned in that particular recreation area."

The Lyceum Committee of Georgia College has made arrangements for Mr. Jaroslav Tusek, Jr. to talk to combined history classes at 9:00 a.m. on Wednesday, April 26, 1972 in Parks Hall room 201. Mr. Tusek was reared and educated in Communist Czechoslovakia. Following Law School at Charles University in Prague, he received unusual permission to study abroad, and he has studied at Mercer University Law School, The School of International Affairs at Columbia University, and The International Peace Research Institute in Oslo. He has traveled in Red China and in all European Countries with the exception of Spain and Portugal. He has intensely studied the problems and plans of the iron curtain countries and will talk about his experiences with and his evaluations of the Communist system. Visitors to the History Classes on the day of Mr. Tusek's visit are welcome as space permits.

Tusek To Talk Wednesday

JA Applications Available

Applications for the Junior Advisor Program will be available Monday afternoon in Dean Getty's office. If you are interested in the program and would be willing to devote your time, do not hesitate to apply. Applicants, when chosen, should make plans to attend the College Government Association's Spring Retreat at Lake Laurel on May 6. Return all applications by April 28 to Dean Getty's office or either to Gail Stanford, Box 1507.

Bunting Promotes Five

Georgia College President J. Whitney Bunting has announced promotions of five faculty members. Dr. Bunting said the promotions effective July 1, were approved at a recent meeting of the Board of Regents.

The faculty members and their new ranks are: Dr. Jean M. Guitton, professor of modern foreign languages; Dr. William H. Littleton, associate professor of philosophy and religion; Lucy Underwood, associate professor of music; Mary M. Cook, assistant professor of nursing; and Dean R. Hokanson, assistant professor of art.

Cotter Named BA President

Dr. David J. Cotter, chairman of the biology department at Georgia College, has been named president-elect of the Association of Southeastern Biologists.

The first officer ever elected from a small college during the 35 year history of the organization, Dr. Cotter joined the 1,600 member association in 1957 and has served as treasurer and vice president.

Author of 18 articles, the radiation ecologist received his B.S., A.B. and M.S. from the University of Alabama and his Ph.D. from Emory. Before coming to Georgia College in 1966, he served as a director of National Science Foundation (NSF) Summer Institutes and NSF Undergraduate Research Programs. He also has been a research associate with both Emory University and the Institute of Radiation Ecology, Savannah River Ecology Laboratory.

Others elected at the Association's meeting held on the weekend of the 7th were: Dr. John Withers, American Institute of Biological Sciences, Washington, D.C., vice president; Dr. Edward Clebsch, University of Tennessee, and Dr. John Rawls, University of South Alabama, executive committee.

Concert Band To Tour

Georgia College's 55-member Concert Band will leave Thursday, May 4, for a two-day, three-concert tour. Appearing in the concerts will be the GC Stage Band.

The first concert is set for May 4 at Johnson County High School in Wrightsville. On the 5th, the two groups will give a concert at 10:30 a.m. at Jeff Davis High School, Hazelhurst; and at 8 p.m. at Charlton County School, Folkston.

The concert programs will include "Ode for Trumpet" featuring Joe McMillan, trumpet soloist from Milledgeville; "An Irish Rhapsody"; "The Sounds of The Carpenters"; and selections from "Hair".

Director of the two bands is Jim Willoughby, who is in his third year as director of instrumental music at Georgia College. Willoughby received his Bachelor of Music and Master of Music Education degrees from the University of Georgia and the Advanced Certificate in Music Education from the University of Illinois. He is active throughout the state as clinician, guest conductor, and alto saxophone soloist.

Change Name Poll Flops

By Bill Ferrell

The poll run in the first issue of the COLONNADE this quarter to see if a majority of students wanted to change the name of the campus newspaper was anything but a success. Only a handful of students filled out the ballots and returned them to the COLONNADE. Of this handful, about half wanted change and the other half did not. It appears from the bad (number-wise) showing of the poll that either students do not wish to change the name of their paper, or they just do not care one way or the other. Anyway, the name of the paper must stay the same until a majority of students wish a change and voice it to the paper.

Of those few who did wish a change, and said so by sending in ballots, there were generally poor suggestions sent in. The best in the staff's opinion was THE PAPER. At least it came right to the point.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor,

At the conclusion of this letter-to-the-editor there should be a signed statement of apology to the Young Americans for George Wallace Committee in regards to the "accidental mistake" concerning the spelling of Americans with a "k" (Amerikans) in the advertisement that appeared in the April 13, 1972 issue of the COLONNADE.

Anyone can make a mistake. All humans are subject to error. In checking all other advertisements in the April 13th issue there appears no other mistake. One-hundred and ten letters were necessary to print the entire "Wallace for President" ad. No words in the advertisement should be difficult for any college student to spell correctly. However, there is something rather obvious about the misspelling of "Americans." How did it just "accidentally" happen that instead of "c" a "k" appeared? The only other letter in the entire alphabet that when substituted for "c" in the word "Americans" gives it the same pronunciation is "k". Isn't it rather odd that such an "accident" could occur? Anyone that knows how to type also knows that the chances of accidentally typing a "k" for a "c" are VERY unlikely. "C" and "k" are on opposite ends of the keyboard.

Also unlike the other advertisements, the Young Americans for George Wallace Committee ad is the only one that is not outlined by a darkened line. Why?

Last Saturday I received a statement of apology from this newspaper's editor. He apologized to me for the "Accidental mistake" on a 3" x 4" piece of SCRAP PAPER. The "apology" had been hand-printed and signed B---F---. Also mentioned was the fact that there would be no charge to the Committee for the advertisement because of the "mistake." It is obvious that there is something questionable about the "mistake" and the "apology."

Immediately following this letter there should be an expressed statement of apology addressed to THE YOUNG AMERICANS FOR GEORGE WALLACE COMMITTEE and signed by the editor. THE COMMITTEE would also like to purchase the same advertisement with the correct spelling of "Americans" for this issue of the COLONNADE at the price of $5 as agreed upon by the editor and myself.

Committee Chairman
Lindy Copelan

Editor's Reply:

Let it stand that the COLONNADE staff is indeed subject to error, and although we try to avoid errors, they do crop up. Such is the case in the "Wallace for President" ad. When your ad was finally drawn up there were only a couple of the staff in the office to help me finish three pages. We three were tired, and as most people know, when one is tired, one usually rushes and makes more mistakes. But that is not enough excuse for the mistake. Let me state here that I apologize to the YOUNG AMERICANS FOR GEORGE WALLACE COMMITTEE FOR THE ERROR.

However, I do take exception to some segments of your letter. As for the lack of a darker border around the ad, it is not the COLONNADE's fault. The printers place the borders around the ads. What difference does it make if the border is light or not? Being different, I should think would help it attract attention, anyway.

As for the apology, I wrote out the apology as soon as I saw the mistake. The only paper I had at the moment was scratch paper. I thought a swift apology would be best. I placed the note in the campus mail Friday afternoon. As for addressing it to you, Lindy, you are the only member of the YOUNG AMERICANS FOR GEORGE WALLACE COMMITTEE that I know of. Who else could I address it to? The YOUNG AMERICANS have no box in the campus mail room (except for the individual members' boxes), do they? I offered not to charge you for the ad because I felt it was the best way to atone for the error.

Your error was not the only error in the paper (although I do not like it that there were errors at all), and just because your AD was the ONLY advertisement that contained a mistake does not negate the fact that there was a mistake. But let me (and the entire staff) apologize for the error again. Careful scrutiny will be given to the running of your ad this issue.

crush the Bolshevik menace and end the drug problem, along with a lot of other things. So, remember to get out and support Herr Wallace.

Danke,
Erik Von Niemand

Barefoot Criminals

By Bill Ferrell

Last Friday, April 14, I witnessed one of the most ridiculous scenes that I have ever seen in my entire life. Students were run from the dining room and Student Union by a couple of lunchroom workers as if they were "social outcasts" or criminals. A campus security officer was stationed in the S.U. to help keep such students from entering and to throw out those who had entered. What was the reason for the expulsion of some students? It is simply this: these students were committing the "evil act" of going barefooted.

I can see some merit in the "Shoe Rule." But this outbreak of emotion at a few barefooted students who were merely enjoying a Spring day is, as far as I am concerned, uncalled for. If the lunchroom people expended as much energy in the preparation of the food they serve us, perhaps we students would make a point of wearing shoes to meals. I do not wish to cause an enmity between the lunchroom workers and the students, but scenes such as the one on April 14 about such a minor thing are really just a little too much for students to bear.

Dear Editor,

Our Nation's new strongman in politics: will he lead us to our destiny? He stands on the law and order platform and points out horrible atrocities committed by legions of the black race, along with long-haired hippie radicals with direct orders from the Kremlin. These people are destroying the nation's educational system and turning the nation's youth into uncontrollable hoards of drug addicts. He claims they are dragging our country down into chaos.

While walking on campus yesterday I could not help but notice the terrible chaos going on all around me. Immediately I thought back to what Herr Wallace had said and decided I had better jump on his band

Circle K:

Rebirth Of A Club

Recently, an article appeared in the Circle K State Newspaper, the "Kronicle". Because of the accomplishments at the recent State Convention and outstanding work that this organization is doing on GC campus, it is significant that this be shared with the student body:

With all the news of the decreasing membership in the Kiwanis family, it is indeed good to see clubs like the Georgia College Club rebuilding and serving at the same time. Georgia College should not be spotlighted because it has been reactivated, but because it has been doing something, thus being a challenge to all inactive as well as active clubs in the state.

This school year the Milledgeville Club was reactivated through the efforts of Old Capital Lt. Governor, John Copeland and the then Vice President, John Rawlins. With only eight members the club began to look for projects and within two weeks was sponsoring a clothes drive for the patients at Central State Hospital in their area. Citizens having clothes called in and members of the club picked them up. By the afternoon's end the club members had collected a truck load of clothes.

The Milledgeville club did nothing spectacular, but its real meaning has a certain amount of importance. The Georgia College Club and this project represent a challenge to all clubs to provide campus and community services even though that club may have a small membership. The Georgia College Club has grown to twelve members as a result of this small but fruitful adventure, and so can other clubs throughout the state.

This then is the true spirit of Circle K. and because the Georgia College Circle K Club has shown this spirit despite certain handicaps, special mention and appreciation should go to this club.

Alpha Eta Initiates

Alpha Eta Chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron initiated 16 Georgia College students April 13.

A national honorary professional home economics fraternity, Phi Upsilon Omicron is based on scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Initiated were: Lurline Browning and Nena Word (GC alumna), Milledgeville;

Deborah Griffin, Carol Johnson, and Art Musial, Macon; Elaine Brown, Dacula; Ruby Chessar, Nahunta; Delia Hammock, Dublin; Becky Kilgore, Marietta; Susan Matthews, Thomaston; Alice Moore, Gray; Nancy Ouzts, Elberton; Julia Pead, Waycross; Wanda Strange, Gordon; Kat.y Youngblood, Chamblee; and Vickie Turner, Grover, N.C.

Circle K. Elects Worley As Lt. Gov.

The Georgia District of Circle K Clubs held its annual convention at the Hilton Inn in Atlanta on April 14-16.

Dan Worley was elected as one of four Lieutenant Governors of the Georgia District. Dan, son of Mr. and Mrs. U.S. Worley of Ellijay, Georgia, is a sociology major at Georgia College and has been active in many college organizations. As Lieutenant Governor of the Old Capitol Division of Circle K, he will be required to travel about his division helping to reactivate old clubs and to organize new ones.

Circle K is a college service organization sponsored by Kiwanis International. It is dedicated to serving the college campus and local community. Each year the Georgia College Club participates in such activities as the clothes drive for Central State Hospital, blood bank, Clothes Bank, and the Cancer Drive.

Phoenix Selects Members

Membership in the Phoenix scholastic honor society, the highest academic honor bestowed at Georgia College, has been awarded to 17 seniors.

Phoenix students are selected from among the students in the top seven percent of the senior class on the basis of academic performance and scholarship. The newly-named members are:

Hulane George, Milledgeville; Kathleen Bergin, Marietta; Benjamin F. Couey, Warner Robins; Earlene Hamilton, Gray; Mary K. Neenan, Claxton; Helen King, Blairsville; Laura Kitchens, Fort Valley; Pamela Kitchens, Decatur; Donna Lewis, Villa

Rica; Deborah Lord, Commerce; Teresa Payne, Rome; Dale Roper, Cochran; Susan L. Smallwood, Atapulgus; Sharon Smith, Byron; Norma Jean Thompson, Dalton; and Eleanor Rawlings and Judy Waller, Sandersville.

Also to be honored are eight students who were named to Phoenix membership in 1971 but who will receive their degrees this June. They are: Linda Brandon, Milledgeville; Mary Carden, Cedartown; Hoylene Head and Cherry Linder, Atlanta; Julia Clark, Doraville; Angela Gay, Statesboro; Albert Lines, Haddock; and Mary Virginia Thurston, Tennille.
