GEORGIA COLLEGE, MILLEDGEVILLE, GEORGIA

NOVEMBER 1, 1974

McKale Distinguished

Dr. Donald M. McKale, associate professor of history at Georgia College, was honored Wednesday night October 23 as the Georgia College Foundation's Distinguished Professor for 1974-75.

Dr. McKale was presented an award signifying this honor at the annual Foundation dinner for Milledgeville patrons held at the Maxwell College Union. Approximately 150 attended the affair.

Commenting on the selection of the Clay Center, Kan. native as the Foundation's Distinguished Professor, Dr. J. Whitney Bunting, GC president, said, "Dr. McKale has served Georgia College well as a professor, as a research scholar, and as a person with a keen interest in all types of academic service. He has been actively engaged in major faculty committee assignments and is grand marshal of the faculty for all convocations held by the college."

Dr. McKale has had one book, five articles, and two book reviews published since coming to GC in 1970, and his research into the activities of the Nazi Party in Germany has made him an accepted authority in that particular phase of history.

His current research is a study of the Nazi Party's Auslands Organization in foreign nations from 1931 to 1945, focusing on that group's institutional development inside and outside Germany, its political and propaganda activities, and its influence on the German foreign ministry and foreign relations.

The GC associate professor has been a popular speaker on Nazi Germany, both locally and in other regions on the country. Last week, he presented a paper entitled "Hitlerism for Export: The Nazi Attempt to Control School and Youth Groups Outside Germany" at Mankato State College in Minnesota. On Nov. 7, he will deliver a paper entitled "Hitler's International: The Activities of Nazi Party Groups Outside Germany from 1933 to 1945" at a meeting of the Southern Historical Association to be held in Dallas.

Dr. McKale, holds the B.S. degree from Iowa State University, the M.A. degree from the University of Missouri, and the Ph.D. degree from Kent State University.

He is married to the former Janna Lee Fredregill of Des Moines, Iowa and is the father of a three-year-old daughter, Emily. The McKales live in the Allenwood section of Milledgeville.

Geo-Politics Offered

The department of History-Geography offers a course Numbered 39R, special topics in geography. 39R is a 300 level repeatable course of 5 quarter hours. It is acceptable as an elective with any degree and particularly of value to all social science degrees.

Geo-politics is the study of relationships on macro and micro (world and national) scales. As the course is being organized it will be an examination of some contrasting viewpoints on the extensiveness of such relationships from the political scientists as well as geographer's viewpoint.

Art On The Road

A traveling art exhibit sponsored by the Liberal Arts Consortium of the University System of Georgia will open a four-month state-wide tour with a two-week stand at Georgia College on Nov. 10.

The exhibit, open to the public without charge, will be on the Milledgeville college campus in the Ina Dillard Russell Library through Nov. 24.

The exhibit will later move to West Georgia College, Dalton Junior College, Floyd Junior College, Clayton Junior College, and Columbus College, closing in Columbus on March 23. Two weeks will be spent on each campus.

Various media will be featured including watercolors, woodprints, oils, photography, sculpture, and intaglio.

The works, worth as much as $4,000 are by a variety of artists.

Who's Who '74-'75 Chosen

The long awaited disclosure of the 1974-75 Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges arrived recently with 22 students taking bows. The students were chosen on bases of academic excellence and student involvement.

Last spring nominations were made for candidates of Who's Who by the faculty body. Later these graduating seniors were voted on by their class. These were then taken back to the faculty for a final selection of candidates.

In addition to the local and national publicity that each student chosen for Who's Who program receives, his complete biography will be presented in the 1974-75 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

After 40 years of serving higher education, Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges exists as one of the most highly regarded and long standing honors programs in the nation, having earned the overwhelming respect of college faculties and administrations. And for the students, the outstanding campus leaders of the year, national recognition by the Who's Who program marks a pinnacle of scholastic achievement.

Congratulations are in order for each of these special students. They include: Linda Bailey, Angie Berry, Robin Faulk, Jan Fosky, Liza Garland, Ruth Hambrick, Martha Hancock, Kenneth Harper, Frank Hill, Frank Howell, Bonieta James, Susan Jones, Marge Kepner, Roy Lane, Sara Mann, Elaine Matthews, Ann McCaskill, Valerie Peeler, Raleigh Shell, Lynn Wilcox, Susan Willard, and Diane Williamson.

Fall Honors Program

More than 30 entering freshmen and transfer students have accepted the invitation to join the honors program at Georgia College this fall.

To be eligible, a student must have a high school average of 3.2 and an aggregate SAT score of at least 1000.

The honors program has been expanded this year to include special sections of freshman political science and sociology as well as English, history and biology.

A new interdepartmental seminar in the humanities for sophomores and above is now being led by Dr. Betty Poindexter, professor of health, physical education and recreation. This year-long seminar carries two hours of credit each quarter and will feature faculty members from the departments of modern languages, library science, philosophy and religion, art, music, speech and English. Two former GC faculty members, Dr. Rosa Lee Walston and Dr. George Beiswanger, and three outside speakers are also participating.

Dr. Donald McKale, associate professor of history, is leading another honors social sciences seminar. Those participating include faculty from the departments of history and geography, political science and public administration, psychology and sociology.

All students in the program are members of the Honors Student Association, which annually invites faculty members to speak on their special interests at meetings of the group.

Officers this year are Joey Noggle of Sharon, president; Brandyn Briley of Gray, vice-president; and Beth Brown of Athens, Secretary. These students also serve as representatives on the Academic Honors Committee.

New faculty members on the committee this year are Jo Anne Nix representing the humanities, Dr. David Staszak of natural sciences, and Dr. Alda Harper of the education field.

New students in the program from Milledgeville are Stanley E. Braxley, John Crittenden, Lary E. Hawkins, Thomas A. Hutchins, and Ken Rouch.

Macon students are Sandra Fountain, James M. Gibbs, Doreen Paulish, Debra S. Robinson, Ronal E. Stewart, and Chuck Warchak.

Sandersville students are Chris Hutchings, Joy F. Lastinger, and Marla Lastinger.

Students from other communities are Barbara Baker of Perry, Randy Boyd of Fairburn, Brenda L. Bragg of Columbus, Patricia Cecchini of Elberton, Melanie Collette of Rossville, Doreen Cox of Rentz, George W. Eisel, IV of Sparta, Denise Fields of Griffin, Becky Houston of St. Simons Island, Susan Kent of Millen, Vickie Mixon of Smyrna, Deborah A. Pittman of Waycross, Barbara W. Robinson of Decatur, Elizabeth Smallwood of Bainbridge, Sheila Sullivan of Wrens, and Richard G. Woods of Cedartown.

Out-of-state students who are in the program are Corlis Holley of Omaha, Neb., Judy Stephenson of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Karl Vorwerk of Summerville, S.C.

Dirty ½ Dozen Captures Football Title

The Dirty ½ dozen clinched the intramural football title on Monday, Oct. 8th as they defeated Pi Kappa Alpha by a count of 12-0. This victory left the Dirty ½ dozen with a record of 5-1 beating by half a game the 2nd place Chargers with a 4-1-1 record. The Jays captured the third place points with a record of 4-2. The Pikes, Kappa Sigma, the Wild Bunch, and Phi-Delta Theta rounded out the lower division of the standings with even losing records.

This past Monday, Oct. 21, it appeared that the Chargers might have the championship well within their grasp as they pinned a 20-7 loss on Kappa Sigma giving them a 4-0-1 record. That same afternoon the dirty ½ dozen defeated the wild bunch handily. The only way for the Chargers to be derailed from their first place position was for them to fall to Pi Kappa Alpha and for the dirty ½ dozen to defeat the Kappa Sigma and Pi Kappa Alpha teams. Fate dictated this series of events to come into being, thus having the dirty ½ dozen emerge as the champs.

On Tuesday, Oct. 22, the Chargers and Pi Kappa Alpha played a very exciting game which saw the pikes edge the Chargers out 8-7. With only 2 minutes left to play quarterback Artie Traylor zipped a third down pass to Gary Heidel just inches within the endzone. The extra point attempt was not good. The Chargers came right back as they marched to the 2 yard line. However as the clock ran out, Charles Grimes battled down a fourth down pass from quarterback Roger Flemming to Gary Goggins. The Pikes netted two quick points early in the game and held on to a 2-0 lead. After half-time, the Charges marched the length of the field and scored as Flemming hit Mel Harris over the middle for a touchdown. The extra point was good and the Pikes now trailing 7-2 played some clutch defense around their goal line, as the Chargers had first and goal 3 times, yet failed to score. Finally, the Pikes shifted the movement, took the lead, and hung on to stave off the Chargers attempt to win the game as the clock ran out.

That same day the Dirty Dozen who defeated the Wild Bunch 44-19 on Monday pulled their game with Kappa Sigma out of the fire. This tension-filled contest found Kappa Sigma leading 25-19 with four seconds left to play. However a sure victory turned into a nightmare as Denise Purvis found a receiver in the endzone to the Kappa Sigma and eventually went on to defeat them. After this game the Dirty ½ Dozen sewed up the title by defeating the Pikes 12-0 and dropping the Charges back to second place.

A first and second place trophy was donated to the intramural football program for the top two teams by the local agent for Coastal States Life Insurance, Don Hall. All the participants really appreciate Don's generosity and support.

Some of the standouts this season include: Jays: Kyle Byrd and Jeff McGill; Chargers: Gary Goggins, Roger Fleming, and Mel Harris; Dirty ½ Dozen: Alan Faircloth, Dan Coots, Dennis Purvis and Neil Leonard; Pikes: Artie Traylor, Gary Heidel, and Martin Truett; Kappa Sigma: Gene Jones, Randy Traylor, and Tommy Roswell; Phi Delta Theta: Darrell Richardson, and Yancey Walker; and the Wild Bunch: Vernon Smith, and Mike Leggett.

In the points department, each team receives one point for entering a team, while the first place team (Dirty ½ Dozen) is awarded five points; the second place team (Chargers) is awarded 3 points; and the third place team (Jays) is awarded one point. These points will be totaled up and recorded as the first intramural sport has concluded in the year long title chase for the 1974-75 all-sports intramural trophy.

Thanks to everyone for a fantastic intramural football season from Dr. Scott Staples.

Pikes Play Vital Role

By Ricky Manville

The Theta Gamma Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha chose as their work project this year to assist in the altering of the old Milledgeville Packing House into a Day Care Center (Kindergarten) for betterment of pre-school education in the community and the surrounding area. The Day Care Center is to be headed by Karen Gray.

Early Saturday morning, October 26, 1974 the Pikes, with a limited amount of sledgehammers, shovels, hammers, and a few other home-made tools attacked the building. Even though it appeared an impossibility to remove meat racks, knock down walls and rafters, remove the old meat locker, and remove the tons of equipment left in the building, the Pikes worked with full stamina. They knocked and tugged, pushed and pulled. At times long lines of Pikes would, by throwing their weight against the walls with many hard harmonized charges, knock down a whole wall at one time. Afterwards the cracking and crumbling sounds of the wall, as it disintegrated, gave the Pikes inspiration to continue.

Slow (but continual) progression was in sight. By forming assembly lines the last remains traces of the old meat packing company were cleared. And the floor plans for a new and better preschool education was laid.

A Natural Veteran Coordinator

Larry Worsham is a "natural" as the new coordinator of veterans' affairs at Georgia College.

He graduated in June from GC with a double major -- in sociology and psychology -- and is now a graduate student working towards a masters degree in business on a part time basis.

He, himself, is a veteran of Vietnam, where he served for a year as a chaplain's assistant.

He has worked his way through college, largely as an attendant at Central State Hospital. Before his appointment at GC as the full-time coordinator of veterans' affairs, he served as a volunteer in the Veterans Outreach program at the college, a program designed to inform veterans of their rights to a college education.

Until he went into the Army in 1969, Worsham, a Milledgeville native, had rarely been out of the state. Two years halfway around the world has given him an appreciation for his homeland and he hasn't had the inclination to travel much since his discharge.

In short, he's Georgia born and bred and plans to be a Georgian all his life.

Worsham, who believes in the personal touch in working with the veterans who come into his office, spends long hours at his desk in Parks Hall, aided in the daytime by two student secretaries and in the evening by his wife who volunteers her services to help him through a mass of paperwork.

The new veterans' coordinator plans to implement the outreach programs originated last year by Karl Wilson, who left GCX to assume a similar position at Georgia Southwestern in August.

"Karl began quite a few good programs to reach the veteran," admits Worsham, "and I plan to carry them through to the fullest extent possible."

The GC veterans' affairs office services primarily a nine-county area around Milledgeville, sending letters to veterans who have recently been discharged and inviting them to pursue educational opportunities open to them, providing slide presentations in Milledgeville and beyond, and working closely with such groups as the American Legion, the VFW and Army, Navy, and Air Force recruiting offices.

Free tutorial assistance is offered veterans who need it at the college and financial aid is often available. High school equivalency testing and counseling is also available at the college, says Worsham.

N.O.W. Delta Zeta News

The Milledgeville Chapter of the National Organization for Women will meet Monday, November 4, at the Tomlinson Fort House on the corner of Green and Liberty streets at 7:30 p.m. Topics of discussion will include ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and Credit Discrimination.

During the week of September 8-14, Delta Zeta held their formal rush entitled the Delta Zeta Hoedown. At the end of the busy week six new girls were pledged into Delta Zeta sister hood. The six new pledges are: Jean Johnston-Macon, Carol Johnson-Tennille, Brenda Edmundson-Monroe, Kim Schroeder-Jackson, Sherrie Perkins-Macon, Nancy White-Firmandina Beach, Florida. The pledge ceremony was held at Mrs. Marsha Robinson's home.

Open rush began directly after formal rush. Seven girls pledged Delta Zeta at this time: Janie Swanson-Sharpsburg, Jana Jackson-Covington, Ann Santa Lucia-Connecticut, Carolyn J. Mahony-Tucker, Darlene Williams-Hephizibah, Lynn Rarnadoe-Roberya, Cheryl McNair-Eaton. These girls were pledged at a ceremony held in the Alumni House. The sisters of Delta Zeta sorority welcome all new pledges and are looking forward to an enjoyable as well as a productive year.

DZ Probe

On October 15, eight sisters of Delta Zeta sorority served as information hostesses for the Probe Fair, held at Hatcher Square. Probe is a college recruitment fair to encourage high school seniors to further their academic endeavors. Fifty-four colleges were represented at the fair including Georgia College. The information hostesses were Janice McIntosh, Janis Dixon, Debra Lynch, Janet Chambliss, Jean Johnston, Susan Chancellor, Brenda Edmundson and Carol Johnson.

Vets Fail Test

More than 3,000 Georgia veterans attending college this year with the financial aid of the GI Bill failed to take advantage of an early payment system, a Veterans Administration official said today.

Bill Tate, Regional VA Director for Georgia, said the veterans could have received their first monthly payment the first day of school had they applied for the funds earlier.

"I'm disappointed that more veterans did not apply for advance payment," Tate said. "We are encountering several thousand veterans who waited until the last minute and, as a result, some of their papers are just now reaching our offices."

Those veterans who began classes at the start of fall quarter should be receiving their checks in about 10 days after VA receives their enrollment, Tate said.

Had the former servicemen applied for the assistance prior to the opening of school, their checks would have been waiting for them the first day of classes, according to Tate.

"I urge all of the veterans in Georgia who intend to go to school beginning with the January winter quarter to apply to their respective schools now for their GI Bill benefits," Tate said. "Bo doing so, their checks will be waiting for them at the school on the day of their registration in January," Tate concluded.

Approximately 10,000 to 12,000 Georgia veterans are attending school under the GI Bill for the first time this year. Statewide, around 45,000 veterans are enrolled.

Pikes Send Out Bids

By Ricky Manville

The Theta Gamma Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha had a successful rush week when nine men accepted bids for the fall quarter rush. These men are: Steve Scaggs, David Prim, Keith Solomon, Bob Watkins, Fred Mobley, Bill Isle, Neil Leonard, Allen Faircloth, and Keith Keene. These are some very fine guys with multiple quality and should be congratulated on their acceptance by the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. We should hope they will do as well in the final steps to become a Pike brother.

Pop's The Word

By Kathy Thomas

Tuesday, October 29th, the CUP (College Union Programming) Committee met to discuss plans for the Student Union Christmas tree. This year's plan may be a first at GC. Cup is planning to make a Christmas tree out of pop cans (coke, sprite, Dr. Pepper, Grape) you name it they want it.

The project is to collect pop cans and cut the cans in half, weld them together with all the different colors and hang the can Christmas tree from the ceiling to the floor in the Student Union.

CUP wants this to be a student project so they've set up a contest. In each dorm the entrances and by the coke machines, downstairs in Mayfair by the Hall, Exhibition Case there will be a big box to put your empty pop cans in. The dorm, club and organization which collects the most cans will receive a prize (to be announced later).

The pop can drive starts Monday, November 4th. Any volunteers are urged to help with this project. Anyone interested in helping, contact Miss Donahue in the Student Union next to the bookstore.

Let's all pitch in and gather those pop cans. Just think it's a great way to stop or at least help trash pollution.

The Dead Perform

An empty open casket found in the cemetery behind the Liberty Baptist Church near Milledgeville on Sunday morning may be the explanation behind an item in Sunday's Macon Telegraph and News announcing a concert at Georgia College by an artist who has been dead for two years.

The casket was discovered by those arriving for Sunday School, who reported the find to the Wilkinson County sheriff's office.

The announcement in the Macon newspaper reported that Marcel DuPre, a French organist and composer who died in his eighties, would play a concert at Georgia College on Monday night. (Oct. 28).

The newspaper story should have reported that the works of DuPre would be played in concert by Dr. Robert Wolfersteig, chairman of the GC music department.

Another feature of the program was a hymn setting of "Father, We Thank Thee" by Albright, a composer at the University of Michigan. The composition was written to be performed by a choral ensemble, percussion instruments, organs, and interpretive dancers.

St. Louis For Drugs

A Georgia College group has been chosen as one of 60 college and university teams to participate in a national conference on drug education in St. Louis on Nov. 13-16.

The conference will be under the sponsorship of the national action committee for drug education of the U.S. Department of Education.

An intensive working conference, the sessions will focus on the pre-service training of teachers so that they might be able to better relate and deal with drugs and other social problems in the school and community.

Those on the GC team will include Dr. Sam James, assistant professor of health, physical education, and recreation at the college and coordinator of the undergraduate health major at GC; Dr. John Lounsbury, chairman of the education department at GC; Jerome Franson, assistant professor of education; and two students -- Alan Messer of Randallstown, Md. and Judy Brown of McDonough.

The teams from other institutions of higher learning -- large and small, public and private -- also are comprised of five members.

GC and Fort Valley State College will be the only academic institutions from Georgia to participate at the conference.

Thirty workshops will be offered during the St. Louis meeting. Most will be on humanistic approaches to dealing with community problems that lead to drug usage. Others will be devoted to planning sessions that will aid team members to implement knowledge gained at the conference in their own communities.

The U.S. Office of Education will bear all costs of the conference except travel costs for the various teams to and from St. Louis.

Spot For Beauty

The Georgia College Pageant will be held January 18th at Russell Auditorium. The GC Stage Band and Aoliens will provide the music for the pageant. The MC for this year is Dr. Staszak.

Ballet

Principal dancers with the American Ballet Theatre will teach master classes in Atlanta on November 10 and 11 in conjunction with the company's performances here at the Civic Center on November 11 and 12.

Classes in modern dance and ballet are scheduled for Georgia State University, Agnes Scott College and for local dance studios. Dance Atlanta is coordinating the schedule for the classes. Additional classes will be given on Monday, October 28 at Washington High School and at Spelman College. For information on the classes, which are free and open to the public, call the Dance Atlanta office at 658-2549.

The American Ballet Theatre will appear with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra in two performances at the Civic Center on November 11 and 12, 8:30 p.m. Among the company's international troupe of dancers scheduled to dance in Atlanta will be recent Soviet defector, Mikhail Baryshnikov, formerly with Leningrad's Kirov Ballet, and Kelsey Kirkland, former New York City Ballet star. The company will dance a repertory program on Monday evening and the complete ballet "Coppelia" on Tuesday evening. This will be the American Ballet Theatre's first Atlanta performance in recent years.

Additional master classes are on the Dance Atlanta calendar for November when the North Carolina Dance Theatre will perform in the Alliance Theatre on November 23 and 24. Master classes are scheduled for November 22 and 23.

Pension Reform

The Pension Reform Act of 1974 and its effects on businesses and personal interests will be the subject of a one-day seminar to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at Georgia College.

The conference, to be held in the Maxwell College Union beginning at 9 a.m., is designed for pension plan managers, bank trust officers, personnel managers in industry, and those who are self-employed.

The seminar will cover the four parts of the act and all subtitles and will be taught by members of the college faculty.

Fee for the seminar is $45, which will include a luncheon.

The Pension Reform Act is also known as the Employment Retirement Income Security Act of 1974.

Registration information can be obtained from Dr. B.J. Dooley in the business administration and economics department at GC.

AAU

Dr. Arthur Waterman of Atlanta, executive secretary of the Georgia Conference of the American Association of University Professors, was the principal speaker at the first regular meeting of the newly-reorganized Georgia College chapter of AAUP, held in Room 113 Chappel Hall at 4:00 p.m. on October 31. Dr. Waterman, who is also a professor of English at Georgia State University, discussed current activities of AAUP in Georgia on behalf of college and university faculty members in such areas as salary improvement, employment security, and equitable treatment of women and minority group faculty members.

Art Showing

Drawings and color sketches completed during a recent sabbatical in the south of France will be on exhibition at the Porter Fine Arts Gallery on the Georgia College campus from Sunday, Nov. 3, through Monday, Nov. 25.

The artist is Jo Anne Nix, assistant professor of fine arts at the college, who taught in Aix-En-Provence this past summer.

A native of Commerce, she earned her A.B. degree at Agnes Scott College and her M.F.A. at the University of Georgia. Before coming to GC in 1971, she taught at West Virginia Wesleyan College and Meredith College in North Carolina.

Miss Nix first studied drawing and painting in Aix-En-Provence in the summer of 1973. In January, 1974, she returned to France to continue her studies and to spend the summer teaching drawing and painting at the Institute for American Universities in Avignon.

The drawings and paintings to be on exhibit will include landscapes, still life studies, architectural studies, and portraits of people in all walks of life and in many situations.

The show, free and open to the public, will feature an informal reception from 4 to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Gallery hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week and on weekends by appointment.

Sharing His Love

Rock Eagle Center near Eatonton, Georgia was the site of such activity last weekend (Oct. 25-27) as representatives from Baptist Student Unions throughout the state met for the 50th annual Georgia Baptist Student Convention which, in view of a report from one of the participants was apparently carried out with success. The range of activities varied from the enjoyment of a Friday night comedy routine to the discussion of more serious matters such as the history of women's rights in relation to the Baptist Church. As a whole, therefore, the convention was informative and presented suggestions applicable to contemporary problems, as well as being an enjoyable and entertaining weekend for those who participated.

Much of the weekend's activities were comprised of the widely-diversified talent provided by a number of the convention's representatives. Of particular note were Don Blaylock's hilarious comedy performance which took place Friday evening, Valdosta States impressive chorale rendition the following morning, and the Georgia State BSU's bluegrass concert which was enjoyed by many that Saturday night group singing also highlighted the weekend.

Even though a substantial portion of the schedule was consumed by musically-oriented activities and just plain fun, much serious business was conducted as well. During the Friday night assembly, for example, an extensive analysis of the Baptist church entitled "Our Baptist Legacy, Pride or Prejudice" was conducted by Jack U. Harwell, a layman who had engaged himself in extensive research on the subject. During his lecture, Mr. Harwell surveyed various activities of the church since 1901 and pointed out both strengths and weaknesses of the church's handling of problems of that period. Among the issues dealt with specifically were separation of church and state women's rights as pertaining to the church, and the ever present danger of allowing one's own wishes to come before those of God and the good of as especially in handling church matters. A little farther from home but of equal importance were the stories of Carolene Cole and Jerre Kannon who related their experiences as summer missionaries in Zambia and India. The difficulty - and need of sharing Christ with such poverty-stricken people could readily be perceived through this program. Other speakers who worked in such places as Israel, Malaysia, Trinidad and Jamaica were also featured, and undoubtedly encouraged any listeners with such a conviction to go ahead and do something about it. The convention, therefore, served as a means of taking a good, hard look at the BSU itself, at the world around it, and at any changes that can be made here and now.

We congratulate the Georgia BSU's on their success this year, and wish them more success in the future.

BY CATHY SCHMIDT

James Hopson Turner (Bud) of Shady Dale, Ga. shot a deer with a bow and arrow. This takes skill, practice, and patience. This wouldn't be a newsworthy event except that Bud has only one good arm, with the help of a bow modified to fit his foot. James Westbrook, the owner of Westbrook Cabinet Shop, helped invent and construct the special bow by a trial and error method. He'd work on the bow, Bud would shoot it, it wouldn't work quite right, and he'd try again. All their efforts paid off when Bud shot and killed a 120 lb. field-dressed doe at 25 yards.

Actually, no one should have been too surprised. Bud Turner is a rare kind of man. He has determination and courage where others would simply give up and consider themselves abused by life. Bud's arm was shot off one evening while he was hunting rabbits. His gun was propped up in the back of the truck and was jarred by a bump in the road. It went off and Bud lost two of his most precious possessions - an arm and an eye - and he was only 13. But, as the saying goes, you can't hold a good man down. Bud didn't sit around and feel sorry for himself. He got up and taught himself to do the things that needed done. There's not much he can't do now at the age of 28. Only two things: he can't cut his steak or wash his own hands. But he has a pretty wife and two young daughters to do that for him, and you don't even notice the missing arm.

Lady Colonials Volleyball

By Keith Batchelor

On Tuesday night, October 15, 1974, the Georgia College Women's Volleyball team played host to the University of Georgia and Berry College.

The first game was a rematch with Berry College. Berry won the first match, but this only inspired the Colonials to take revenge. Revenge is what they got as GC defeated Berry by the score of 2-1. Berry won the first game of the match by the score of 15-1, but GC rebounded to take the final two games, 15-7 and 15-3. Commenting on the game, Coach Golden stated, "Berry was a lot taller than we were. They won on their home earlier." The match was a long one as it lasted one hour and fifteen minutes.

After the marathon match with Berry, GC had to play the University of Georgia. A fine effort on the part of the GC team produced a 2-1 victory. GC won the first and the third game by scores of 15-2 and 16-14. The University of Ga. won the second game by the score of 15-2. "I thought we played very poorly against Ga. We were up for Berry because they had defeated us on their home court. This caused a let down."

On October 17, the team went to Columbus and played Columbus. GC won the first two games by the scores of 16-14 and 15-12. Columbus won the third game 15-4 and GC won the final game 15-12. Coach Golden stated that she was able to play every member of the team. The next game will be played against Columbus on October 22 at 6:30. All games are played inside of the HPER Building.

Lady Colonials Basketball Schedule

A game with Tift College at Forsyth will open the Georgia College women's basketball cage slate on Nov. 19 and inaugurate a new era in sports at GC.

The game, the first ever to be played by a woman's intercollegiate basketball team at the college will begin a 19 game schedule for the Lady Colonials.

Ironically, the college was an all-girls school from 1889 until 1967 when coeducation came into the collegiate picture at GC.

In addition to Tift, games are also scheduled with North Georgia College, Georgia Southern College, Augusta College, Berry College, Savannah State College, Shorter College, West Georgia College, Valdosta State College, DeKalb College, and Mercer University.

GC will also participate in the Georgia Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women state tourney at Statesboro on Feb. 21-22.

Coach of the Milledgeville is Laura Golden, an assistant professor in the health, physical education, and recreation department.

All home games will be played at Georgia Military College, like GC located in downtown Milledgeville.

The complete schedule follows:

Nov. 19	Tift College	Forsyth
Nov. 25	DeKalb College	Atlanta
Nov. 30	Mercer University	Macon
Dec. 2	Valdosta State College	Valdosta
Dec. 7	Shorter College	home
Jan. 8	Augusta College	Augusta
Jan. 11	Tift College	home
Jan. 15	West Georgia College	home
Jan. 17	Berry College	Rome
Jan. 18	Shorter College	Rome
Jan. 20	Georgia Southern College	home
Jan. 22	North Georgia College	Dahlonega
Jan. 25	Augusta College	home
Jan. 27	Berry College	home
Feb. 5	Savannah State College	home
Feb. 8	DeKalb College	home
Feb. 11	Georgia Southern College	Statesboro

Men's Basketball '74-'75

An away fray with Birmingham-Southern College on Nov. 19 will open a 22-game basketball schedule for the Georgia College Colonials whose record this year has got to improve after a 1-22 season in 1973-74.

For the third year, Coach Roy Robinson will be at the helm of the team which will also participate in the Augusta College Tournament in December and the Georgia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference tournament in February.

The GC cagers will meet three new foes this season -- Mercer University on Nov. 30 at Macon and Florida Southern College in Lakeland, Fla. and Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, Fla. in a swing south on Feb. 14-15.

Among GC's returnees this year is forward Robert Williams of St. Petersburg, who tallied approximately a third of the total points scored last year by GC. Williams, now a sophomore, compiled a 21.2 points-per-game average as he dropped in 479 of the 1,538 shots he attempted in 23 opponents.

This is to include the Colonials last season. Security office is a military College instead of a Grade-4 employee. Qualifica. have 2 years of work or equiv. perience. Funds for 12 mo. perio. interviewing type job. THIS IS FL. TIME WORK.

In uniting charges the offense and the defense of Pi Kappa Alpha overpowered Kappa Sigma in a 18-9 victory.

The defense of the Pike in the first half forced the Kappa Sigmas to faulty plays. The harassing Pike line caught the Kappa Sigma quarterback off guard several times tiding the game to their offense. The defense was led by Stan Childers, Ricky Vickers, and Martin Truett.

The offense as well led by Artie Traylor's lightning-speed stops proved to be unmistakably team effort. The score came from connecting passes from Artie Traylor to Garry Heidel and a smoldering run by Artie Traylor.

A key interception by Cliff West brought the game to an end with the Pikes victory 18-9.

Soccer Team Now 3-4

By Mel Harris

Coach Jim Peterson's soccer team's record now stands at 3-4 as they travel to Berry College this Friday in a key soccer match. The Colonials are 2-1 in (G.I.A.C.) conference action.

In this past weeks action, Georgia College dropped two games and defeated Georgia Southwestern for their third victory in the Toccoa Falls game, the Colonials were defeated 4-1 by a strong opponent. Sidney Gerhardt scored the only goal for GC, as they were just mused in midfield play. The next game saw Oglethorpe hand the Colonials a 3-1 loss in Ocala as Chi-Tong Chan scored the one goal for GC. This past Saturday, Georgia College demolished Georgia Southwestern 6-1 for their second victory at home this season. Mohammad Kamara and Sidney Gerhardt led the offense who two goals each, while Chuck nith and Chi-Tong Chan one apiece. Solid midfields play and good defense around the goal re definite factors as the strong individual performances carried GC to victory.

An interesting fact to note is that GC's goalkeeper, Bill Dobbs is leading the G.I.A.C. with average of 1.83 goals against per game. The leading Colonial scores: Mohammed mara, Sidney Gerhardt, and Chi-Tang Chan are all well up in the standing for goals scored in the conference, too.

Keep up the good work fellows and let's all get out to the last home game this season against Mercer at 3:00 p.m. this coming Tuesday.

Colonial Gymnasts

Katsu Kanzaki of Japan, considered to be one of the world's outstanding gymnasts, will be on the faculty for a women's gymnastics clinic to be held at Georgia College on Saturday, Nov. 2.

The clinic, open to women and girls over ten years of age, will feature sessions for gymnasts at all levels, judges, and coaches.

The clinic will be held in the health, physical education, and recreation building at the college from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Others on the clinic staff, in addition to Kanzaki, are Dr. Fred Martinez of the Nissen Center in Atlanta; Ed Zimmer, a former NCAA gymnast; Tom Chirko, assistant gymnastics coach at the University of Illinois; Charles Doggett, gymnastics coach at the Albany YMCA; June Dussia of Tallahassee, Fla., a nationally recognized authority in age group gymnastics; Susan Whipp, a modern dance instructor at the University of Wisconsin; Marc Rabinoff, gymnastics coach at St. Leo College in Florida; Pat Floyd, head gymnastics coach at Tucker High School; Sheila Wood, head coach at Roswell High School; Mrs. Dede Feldman, head coach at the Westminster School in Atlanta; and Geza Martiny and Floyd V. Anderson of the GC faculty.

All phases of gymnastics will be covered during the clinic including psychological and physiological preparation for gymnasts, first aid, modern dance, and performance in the various events common to all gymnastics meets.

A registration fee of $5 will be charged for the clinic.

Complete information about the clinic can be obtained from Geza Martiny, gymnastics coach at the college.

Get The Message?

How about a new message on cigarette packs? "Warning: Stopping Smoking Can Be Beneficial to Your Health."

Using precise tests to measure lung capacity, Dr. Frederick Bode at McGill University in Montreal studied smokers before and after they stopped smoking. The results were astonishing. As soon as six weeks after stopping, there were measurable improvements in lung function.

The subjects' ages ranged from 29 to 69 years. They were long-time smokers. The shortest time any had smoked was 13 years. The longest was 46, almost a half-century.

Before they stopped smoking, seven of the ten subjects had coughed on arising in the morning. Furthermore, the cough lasted for months every year. Six coughed up sputum. Four of the subjects admitted to wheezing, although none had asthma.

After they stopped smoking, the picture changed almost overnight. Only one person had any trace of a persistent morning cough. None coughed up sputum. And wheezing disappeared for everyone.

The sensitive tests used by Dr. Bode also confirmed that there had been reversal of the lung damage — blockage of the small breathing passages — done by smoking.

The benefits of quitting can come quickly. And they are usually permanent. Other experiments, in fact, indicate that staying off cigarettes for ten years forces the premature death rates for smokers down to the level for nonsmokers.

Smokers can start planning their Christmas gifts early. The best present they can give themselves and their families is to stop smoking. And smokers and nonsmokers can help spread the good word by answering their Christmas Seal letter. Christmas Seals support the struggle against cigarette smoking and the lung diseases it causes. It's a matter of life and breath.

The Old Soft Soap

by Mark Smith

In the picture you see Snapper Foster busily: 1) telling his wife he loves another, 2) Hearing his wife tell him she lost her baby, 3) scratching the back of his neck, 4) pronouncing a terminal illness upon his best friend 5) plotting to kill someone. Around the set are his ardent followers straining to catch his next words of truth and light.

Is there any future in this? Obviously so, because as you can see, there is somewhat of a following during the viewing hours.

A sampling of some of the most popular plots: The Young and Restless By and large the popular choice. Jill in love with an older man. Said older man's wife drunk under the tap with the stable boy. Snapper's wife losing her baby. Snapper losing his mind. People watching losing their lunch. Such wonderful fun! Snapper's brother trying to reform a prostitute. Prostitute too busy doing her thing to notice, etc. etc.

Search for Tomorrow More good clear humor. Doug suspected to be alive and living in Columbia, South America. Tony catches terminal mononucleosis. Eunice wandering the streets looking for comfort and consolation. JoAnn dies of move. (And you were wondering where Tony caught it, weren't you, you dirty minded people?)

So there you have it. How you are informed enough to know that when you go down to a bottom floor of the SU and see people lying all over every where, they've just killed another character.

Fire Alarms Just A Drill?

You're working in your office on the fifteenth floor of a downtown office building. Suddenly the silence is split by the sound of a fire alarm.

What do you do? Head for the nearest elevator? Grab a fire extinguisher and try to find the blaze? Assume it's just a drill and keep working?

If you would have made any of these choices, firefighting authorities say you're wrong. But you're not alone. Most people do not have any clear plan of action in case of a fire, and are ignorant of some basic rules that could save their lives in an emergency.

In an effort to prevent loss of lives and property by fire, Comptroller General and Safety Fire Commissioner Johnnie L. Caldwell and Governor Jimmy Carter have proclaimed October as Georgia Fire Prevention Month. During this month, Caldwell's office, with the cooperation of the Insurance Information Institute and fire service personnel throughout the state, is conducting an intensive state-wide informational campaign to bring the message of fire safety to all Georgians.

As part of this informational effort, the State Fire Marshal's Office offers these suggestions based on guidelines of the National Fire Protection Association, regarding what to do if fire breaks out in your office building.

Most important, before a fire ever starts, make sure you have a plan of action. You need to know the locations of at least two exits, and where they lead. This will save time and help you avoid panic if a fire should occur, and you will have an alternate escape route if one exit proves inaccessible.

Do not try to use the elevator to escape from a burning building. An elevator may stall if power fails, leaving you trapped inside. Another danger of elevators is that those operated by a heat-sensitive device are liable to stop and open on the floor where the fire is located.

If the fire alarm should sound in your building, leave at once, closing doors behind you to retard the spread of fire. Assume that there is an immediate danger to your safety; people have put their lives in jeopardy by ignoring fire alarms.

Feel any closed door before opening it. If the door is hot, fire awaits you on the other side. And when opening the door, keep your face averted and be ready to close the door quickly if heat or fumes rush in.

It may happen in a fire that every way of escape is cut off. To prepare for this condition, know in advance where the areas of refuge are located in your building. Some high-rise buildings have floors or rooms which are especially protected from fire to serve as refuge areas until rescue comes or the fire is extinguished. Exit stairways are also good refuge areas when they are closed off from the rest of the building.

When you must go to a refuge area, put as many doors as possible between you and the fire. Open a window to let fresh air in and smoke and fumes out. Don't panic and don't jump. Help may be only a few minutes away.

The best way to escape the dangers of fire in your building is by practicing fire prevention. But if fire should occur, preplanning as outlined above could save your life.

Girls Volleyball

GC's women's volleyball team has compiled a 4-1 record so far. It looks as if it will get even better. The team has improved with each match, but have not reached their peak.

The coach is Mrs. Laura Golden, Assistant Professor of Health Education and Recreation. Her comment on the team's play so far this season, she said, "We play a 5-1 offense and we need to work on improvement in this area. We rely 75 percent on our defense. Our stiffest competition will probably be West Ga. and Berry."

The coach is relying on the returning players to provide the leadership which is needed for a winning season. Returning players are Lynn Bates, Marty Banks, Tony Harmony, Donna Harrington, and Sherry Henderson. Raynette Evans holds the returning members to round out the starting lineup. Also counted on to help are Alicia Morris, Bobbie Key, Lavane Paramore, Vickie Miller, Sitara Marlow, and Sheryl Hood.

Donna Harrington, who is the team's setter was recently awarded a scholarship. She is considered by many to be the best setter in the state. Donna is a senior and beginning her fourth year as a starter at GC.

The team is optimistic and looking for a winning season. So, let's all get behind our team and give them our enthusiastic support. Hope to see you at the games.

GCCSCEC?

On October 21st in room 213 of the Education Building several interested Special Education students met and organized the Georgia College Chapter of the Student Council of Exceptional Children. The officers elected are as follows:

President: Patricia Long
Vice President: Claudia Sheppard
President Elect: Cecil Simpkins
Secretary-Treasurer: Charlie Tanner

Kappa Sig News

On Saturday, October 5, the Lambda Xi Chapter of Kappa Sigma hosted the first Annual Alumni Game, in which Kappa Sig played some of the local alumni of Kappa Sig in a flag football game. A big crowd was on hand to watch a thrilling game, which the alumni won 34-28.

On the following Monday, members of

The Council for Exceptional Children is an associated organization of the National Education Association and has as its primary purpose the advancement of education of exceptional children and youth—both gifted and handicapped.

If you are interested in joining the chapter here on campus you can get in touch with Patricia Long or Mrs. Martin. Come on and join a worthy cause, show some concern.

Kappa Sigma helped in a Community Concert by serving as ushers, and also helped out the blood bank when over half of the brothers gave blood. Kappa Sigma has also supported the Ga. College Soccer team by appearing at every home game and supplying the time keepers and ball-boys. Our athletic teams need everyone's help, not just the help of fraternities.

Sigma Alpha Iota

The Beta Rho Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota has been involved with several projects this year. Sigma Alpha Iota started the year off with a Rush part, given in Honors Dorm. Deanne Cheek explained to the girls what Sigma Alpha Iota is and the purposes of the organization. Her presentation was followed by some Sigma Alpha Iota songs sung by the members of Beta Phi. Ellen Kinard and Lynne D. Owens have been pledged to the Beta Rho chapter. Both girls are piano majors.

On October 23, Sigma Alpha Iota sponsored a group to to to Atlanta to hear the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra perform. It was a wonderful performance and those who went thoroughly enjoyed it.

A moneymaking project, Sigma Alpha Iota is working on the selling of the Jan Winters collection. This kit is composed of such things as stationery, note pads, Christmas cards, memo boards, and other useful items. Many of the items in the kit would make good Christmas presents, so if you see a member of Sigma Alpha Iota around campus, don't hesitate to just stop and look through the kit. You just might find something worth looking into.

Phi Mu Pledges

Four Georgia College coeds have recently pledged Phi Mu sorority at the college — Melody Dilworth, Donna Odom, Ellen Simpson, and Jan Foskey.

Melody, a freshman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Dilworth of Royston.

Donna, a freshman majoring in nursing, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Odom of Campton.

Ellen, a freshman majoring in special education, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William C. Simpson of Milledgeville. She is a member of the college annual staff and the Baptist Student Union.

Jan, a senior majoring in special education, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Foskey of Swainsboro. She is a member of the Mixed Chorus, the Women's Chorus, the Honor Society, and was Miss Georgia College last spring.

Love

Do you know how much I love you?
Sometimes I think that I don't express it to you.
So often I forget to be loving and sweet—
It's almost like I take for granted that because
You have been there so long, you will always be there.
I guess it seems many times like I don't even care anymore.

I just want to take this time to let you know
That I love you more every day.

Being gentle is loving,
Loving is knowing,
Knowing is wanting,
And wanting is living . . .
Therefore Loving is Living.

Rememberances

Do you remember, my love, how, when we were
young and carefree,
We'd sit up all night
laughing, singing, talking enjoying the merriment of the moment and the spontaneity of mirth?
We'd arise at dawn to watch the golden sun peak slowly over the horizon gently ushering Night on her way as dew-jeweled, Day swept in;
We'd walk for hours
hand-in-hand in the rain
somerly ignoring the wet, safely ensconced in our world of each other, never wanting the moment to end.
But those were days when we were young, and all the world was ours for the asking; now Time has passed on by, we have met him and enjoyed his company. When we were young . . .

Walk Your Own

Walk your own road
And society makes you outcast,
Try to live your own life
And parents condemn you.
Try to please your parents and society,
And you blow your mind.
How can a person be happy with people running your life;
Especially when they're so crazy,
They can't run their own.

Roses

Yellow roses.
Cowardly love?
No:
Only different.
Special.
I guess reds are better;
Love so very often
Reeks of blood.
I'll stick to yellow.
Like real love,
They're harder to find.

To JRA

It was a happy night
And when I lay down to sleep
I asked the Lord my soul to keep
Then I thanked him for you
And all the lovely things you'd said.
I was happy and all love warmed inside,
I said, "Amen," and closed my eyes to dream, peacefully, of a good feeling,
A
glad-I'm-alive 'because-of-you feeling.
It's funny how you awaken
To fin dreams a reality!
O.K., so the sun is shining, now
