Biographical/Historical note

Georgia Music Educators association (GMEA) was founded in 1938 by Max Noah on the campus of Georgia State College for Women, currently Georgia College. This organization was originally a part of the Georgia's Educators Association. This organisation's mission is to promote the advancement of music education in Georgia. To do this the GMEA, advocates for music programs across the state and sponsors regional and state level music competitions. GMEA also sponsors six all state bands, three all state orchestras, and six all state choruses. GMEA also has an college level program that contains a band, chorus and orchestra.

Scope and Contents note

This collection contains the records of the Georgia Music Educators associations. The collection has materials dating from the early 1950's to the present, with bulk of the materials dating from 1970-1990. The collection also contains copies of Georgia Music News, the associations main publication, and records of the Georgia All State performances from the 1960's to the present. Recordings are in a variety of formats including, LP's, reel-to-reel tape, cassette tape, and cd's

Arrangement note

The Georgia Music Educators Association Records are arranged in three series. Series I - Records comprises the bulk of the collection and contains much of the paper records of the association. For the most part, these materials arranged as they were received. Some of the records are in chronological order. Series II - Audio and Video contains the audio and visual materials from GMEA. Materials in this series have been separated by recording media. Series III - Georgia Music News contains issues of Georgia Music News arranged chronologically.
