Colonnade February 11, 1929

Follow this and additional works at: http://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the Mass Communication Commons

Recommended Citation
http://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade/18

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by Knowledge Box. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colonnade by an authorized administrator of Knowledge Box.
The Colonnade

Senior Class Edition

Georgia State College for Women

Volume 4  Milledgeville, Ga., Feb. 11, 1929  Number 8
Dedication

To the Seniors who have just gone,
To the Seniors who have just come,
And to those who are still here.

We affectionately dedicate this issue
of
THE COLONNADE

Believing that,
as in the words of our motto,
It is

"Not what we've won but How we've played the game"
That constitutes a successful college life
as embodied in the characters
of
our three presidents
MARY JANE PARKER
Cleo JENKINS
CAROLINE CHENEY

—The Staff.
SENIOR CLASS SONG

(Tune: "You're Just a Flower From an Old Bouquet.")
Our childhood days are over
And we've begun anew,
To travel on the journey farther
To knowledge that is new.
The things of tomorrow
Depend on what we do
We're striving forever
To hold the standard true.

CHORUS
We're just a Senior Class at G. S. C.
We're striving hard to gain a victory,
Here on our campus we will do our best
For dear old G. S. C.
When Senior class of '29 comes to bid
adieu to you,
We hope that all will say with hearts glad and spirits gay,
That class was true.

And now at our college
We're learning every day,
That we can always be happy,
At work or at our play.
We love you our college
With standards so high
To keep them Alma Mater,
We always shall try—

CAROLINE CHENEY
Carrollton, Georgia
President of the Senior Class
Editorials

LIFE IS WORK. WORK HARD AND BE HAPPY.
J. L. BEeson

WONDER

(Apologies to Nancy Bickley)
So shaken with grief was I,
So full of broken dreams,
So suffocated by him, the sky,
The trees, the shadowy streams,
That I was half to overtake
The hurt that I had known
But found in many a quiet heart
Wounds deeper than my own.
—ESSIE BELL RUSSELL

SENIORS

It would be much easier for me to fill several pages of the Colonnade with my appreciation of the Senior class and the joy and inspiration its members have been to me than to attempt to condense it into "a few sentences." It is such a splendid class in every way! Loyalty, graciousness of spirit, a fine sense of responsibility and joyousness are some of the characteristics that I have been most aware of in my association with the Seniors. Both as individuals and as a group, they have had a vital part in creating the fine spirit that is on our campus. Through their earnest, constant work and interpretation of the Y. W. C. A. purpose in their daily living, the Seniors have been a true inspiration and a light unto many of us.

"Stained glass windows make the light
Like songs of beauty from the sun,"
Life has shone through Seniors like that
To Freshmen, me, and everyone.

ANNA MOORE DAUGHTR

WE

In the autumn of nineteen hundred and twenty-five, we, an eager, green, knowledge seeking five hundred, came to this campus. To each of us unexcelled originality we "launched the Freshman ship." Through the leadership of Mary Jane Parker became a harmonious unit, ever rallying to any cause or for the green and white!

During that first year we sponsored, as our class gift, the painting of the portrait of Dr. M. M. Parks. This portrait, hanging now in the auditorium, is one of our class justly places the utmost pride.

It is advised one should not be the first by whom the new is tried, nor the last to lay the old aside. Still it has been our privilege to be among the first to use the Arts building, the new Dormitory and annexe, the auditorium and heating plant. And too, we consider it a distinction that we were the last to lay aside the stately black robes, the Sunday white shirt and skirt and the name Senior Normal.

This last Senior Normal class should be mentioned, presented Hamilton's Mission under the direction of Miss Tucker.

Because of its characteristic spirit of loyalty, steadfastness and fairness, and the capability of its presidents, Mary Jane Parker and Cleo Jenkins, the class of '29 holds the record in inter-class competition. We were "three" victors of the inter-class debate and twice the winner of the major athletic event, field day.

And in the words of our class song:

"When Senior Class of '29 Comes To bid adieu to you,
We hope that all can say, With hearts glad and spirits gay,
That class was true!"

STAFF FOR SENIOR EDITION

Editor-in-Chief: Essie Bell Russell
Managing Editor: Marie Long
Associate Editor: Marjorie Laine
Associate Editor: Dorothy Colpitt
Feature Editor: Louise Stanford
Business Manager: Marie Tucker
Business Manager: Ethel Bell Lewis
Alumni Editor: Frances Christie
Circulation Manager: Florence Williams
Assistant Circulation Manager: Frances Morgan
Assistant Circulation Manager: Annie Laurie Buss
Assistant Circulation Manager: Louise Bevers
Assistant Circulation Manager: Pauline Sigman
Assistant Circulation Manager: Thelma Johnson
Assistant Circulation Manager: Nellie Fisher
Assistant Circulation Manager: Mary Lou Stephens
Out-of-town Circulation Manager: Carrie Pratt Crude
Out-of-town Circulation Manager: Clara Gregory
Reporters: Mary Robinson, Mary Frances Cowan

THE COLONNADE
PUBLISHED TWICE MONTHLY BY STUDENTS OF THE GEORGIA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN CORNER HANCOCK AND CLARE STS. MILLEDGEVILLE, GA.
Subscription Rates: 50c per year.

"Entered as second-class matter October 30, 1928, at the post office at Milledgeville, Ga., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

EDITH IVEY, Editor-in-Chief
MARY ELLIOT, Managing Editor

SISTER CLASS

You do not deserve us nor blame
For things we've done or left undone,
Nor do you seek unifying fame
For battles fought and won.
You've worked with ease and earnestness,
Your courage is undaunted
And when you did achieve success
Your pride you never flaunted.
You only set your goals still higher
And gladly faced the task before you.
For you we play on our heart's lyre
Seniors, we all adore you.

The Sophomores.

THE LAST LAP

What counts most in running a race? Certainly the beforehand is the winning, that last lap, that final effort to gain the goal is the thing that really counts. No matter how important is it, how the race is ended that how spectacular the beginning is, if the runner fails in the final sprint, the race is lost.

There is nothing new in the comparison of a college career to a race run in four laps. This present Senior class made a fine beginning, and it has kept true to its goal so far. Now we are on the last lap. This year's work will determine whether we shall win the goal wholly or only partly. It is now that we must gather all our wind for a final sprint toward the end. We must: not fall behind; we must not fail.

This is the last lap.

CHANGE

A brilliant sunset,
Ethereal, fragile flames!
Shortlived, burning, free,
Breathless, unbearable ecstasy!

Slow shadows,
Ethereal grey ashes.
Soft, blue, twilight; cloud;
Cool peace and rest.

—FRANCES CHRISTIE
Message to the Seniors

Emma Hall February 5, 1929

Dear Colonnade Readers:

It was with genuine pleasure, as well as a few misgivings, that I acquiesced to a request from the group composing the staff of the Senior issue of the Colonnade, to write a few lines for publication. It is understood, of course, that G. S. C. is not in the gem books of my family, consisting of two wonderful girls and their husbands, (whom I call my sons, because the word "in-law" isn't in my vocabulary,) and my little granddaughter. She tells me of having read things before I (the grandmother) was born. And when I press her to give me an out of the exact time, she says she thinks it was "before the Civil War."; or again, she narrates some marvellous happening of which she "read in the Bible." However, this was not to be chronological of the small, immediate family, so I trust you will pardon my arrogance in bringing them before you. I was supposed to write a letter relative to our "big college family."

First comes Cooperation, then Loyalty, Personality and many others—a veritable patchwork of wonderful things, and I spell them with capital letters, because they have been capitalized in our college life, and rightly so. And because we have treasured these things so diligently, it is the very reason for our steady expansion and success. And so it is from the standpoint of success that I shall ask you to think with me.

Now what is success built upon? First, faith in ourselves, and the will to "carry on." Second, we must believe in the thing (or things) we are doing. Third, we must be kind, generous, and friendly; looking for the spark of good which every one possesses, and trying not to magnify the bad, which is "in the best of us." And I for one, believe our campus is composed, for the most part, of those who have the correct outlook, coming steadily down the line, from one official to another, until we reach the most reserved freshman in our midst, and even now, we will find the real spirit of G. S. C. already beginning to flourish. The qualities mentioned above seem to be "spring eternal" in each new group as they come to us, and we know this is brought about because of the foundation which has been prepared before their coming, and which is ever being gone over and repaired when necessary, and certainly growing stronger each year, because of deeper experience and broader knowledge.

We have more than one hundred Seniors in this class of '29. They are an interesting group and their expressions give evidence of successful courses, of time well invested, and of broadened views. I think we have cause to be exceedingly proud of the seniors and the whole student body.

Here's to continued success, Seniors! May you ever "aim high and consider yourselves capable of great things."

Faithfully yours,

ETHEL BEAMAN, (ALIAS "MRS. B."

SLANG

SLANG words may be called "words; that pass in the night"—transient words—that are in the mouths of many today, but are supplanted by another wave crack tomorrow. They issue forth from the speech incubator, are popular for a brief period, then are forgotten.

Probably the most fertile sources of these words are cartoonists, columnists, and gag men of the moving pictures—but most of all, the campus of the carefree student's "So's your old man," "wrecked," "petting," "slim line" are numerous; catchy but they have no meaning. They are only moments of the moment. Why are such words given "standing room" in the palm of our ears? Because the word out of a thousand of these will come forth and become a lasting member of good speech.

These eager colleagues are ready to take up any word which will add to their "language." "Bunk" is derived from a remark made by a member of Congress, from Buncombe County, North Carolina, who said he was talking "only for Buncombe"—or showy utterance for effect.

Yet some of these slang words may enter the dictionary—in time. "Dumb-belt," "high bow," and "teach," in the sense of breaking into a party or game without an invitation, seem sure to be recorded.

Don't worry about this most prevalent type of barbarism. These cartoonists and columnists have to live. Should they be criticized for lack of originality, for using this chatter to liven the witticisms out of their purview?

Although much of the slang of today is likely to be used by the writers of the future generation, very little will ever be printed in the dictionary by their informed erasance.

G. S. C. W. For the Alumnae!

LOOKING FORWARD

It was the month of June. I was weary and not musing alone, thinking of many things. I fell asleep there and dreamed.

In my dream I beheld a campus. From the chapel on that campus issued forth a line of maidens dressed in white, that clowned them in dignity and distinction. The long long line wound across the campus to the wide flaring gate; as each maiden neared the gate, I saw that she bore in her head a book of knowledge. As she came to the gate, I saw her lift her head and lift shining eyes looking forward eagerly to see what lay beyond. As she reached the gate itself and turned thru its arch, she passed out of the pleasant light of sunshine and cool shade of the campus into the dusky gate of the road that led to the World Beyond. And behold, as each maiden walked on this road she came to the walled country of the World Beyond and up to the great gate of entrance into that country.

As I watched, she reached up and knuckle for entrance at the ponderous portal and its gates swung wide and I saw the maiden bend forward with eagerness to see within, anxious to behold the land that lay inside its walls.

The vista that met her eyes was vast and varied in its aspect, a country with roads and highways going onward and onward, far beyond the distance that her forward look could pierce.

As each maiden stood, hesitating there, trying to decide how to choose her way from the many outspread at her feet, I saw two figures approach her. One clad in somber garments with a face lightened from an inner radiance laid a hand on her arm, saying in elocution tones: "Follow me. My name is Destiny. I will show thee a way that leads thru service and self-sacrifice to peace and content to final fulfillment of all that is best. Sometimes the way may lead thru toils and deep valleys of depression, but it will emerge into the sunlight of satisfaction and the broad expanded peace. Sometimes the way will lead thru the mountain passes of struggle and linger along the desert of monotony, but there will end at the glorious peak of perfection. Follow me for I will point thee to the only true way of life."

Before she had ceased speaking, I looked and beheld the second figure which seemed to glide without effort up to the maiden's side. I heard her say in a high joyous voice full of enticing melody, "Follow me. I am Pleasure. I will lead thee into the paths of indulgence and self gratification. I will show thee where all life's treasures are, where happiness may be had without struggle. My ways are pleasant and easy, they lead down hill and easy."

But before she could tell where the way of Pleasure led, the clear voice of Destiny came with sweet cadence to the maiden's ears, saying—"Yes, verify her ways are easy, but the end of her way is death, while the end of way of Destiny is Life Eternal."

The maiden gazed at each and I saw that she took her book of knowledge and opened it and as she read, I looked upon the page and saw within there:

"To every soul there openeth a high way, and a low,
And the high souls choose the high way
And the low souls choose the low,
And in between on the misty flats
The rest grope to and fro.
To every soul there openeth a high way, and a low,
And each must choose for himself
The way his soul must go."

KEEPING THE FAITH

"To you from faltering hands we throw the torch.
Be yours to hold it high."

The torch of truth that we, the members of the Alumnae Association, pass on to you, dear Senior Class, is one that must never be allowed to flicker from the driblets of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference. The fire that kindled this flame was one of love and service to our Alma Mater. Dare we extinguish it in order to seed the flames of indifference.

Into the past inner circle of our Association we invite you, each and all, who, with the honor as a graduate or former student of the Georgia State College for Women, wish to take your place beside those who would keep the faith in maintaining the spirit of loyalty to our Alma Mater. It is our purpose to perpetuate the effective contacts between Alumnae and the college, to strengthen Alumnae friendships, to perpetuate memories of college associations, and to advance her strength and property.

Again, the command of thousands of Alumnae voices—"Be yours to hold it high.

"A Statesman—then the silent reply—

"We keep the faith."
ECHOES

Definition—Echos—
"The repeating of the word or opinion of others."

Application—
1. Lila Louise Mills, president class '24 as Mrs. Carl B. Ponder of New Orleans, was returning this message—"Speaking of marriage, I'm fully convinced that married life is the only life—you should see my fun in trying to cook." I suppose from force of habit formed at G. C. Mrs. Ponder is marvelling her kitchen force to the tune of "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

2. Ellen McKee '26 now of Daytona Beach, Fl., sends this bit of news. "I saw Mary Jo Key at the football game Saturday, but she was gone before I could get to her after the game. This is my third year here and it has been wonderful. I know what G. C. can mean to girls and I hope my Freshmen friends will find that spirit still."

3. Mary Rhal Powers, Greensboro, N. C. says "I long for news of G. C. Please write."

4. Mrs. Gerad Armencroon (Jim Weeks), '26. Hope schedules are all settled for the new semester. How I do remember those puzzling days?"

5. And from Fayetteville, N. C. Rebecca Higgins writes—"I always miss G. C. especially with the beginning of new semesters."

6. Solie Powell now Mrs. Mower Singlety sends an immediate call—"Send Colonnades as soon as possible. I got hungry for G. C. news."

Bees:—

Members of the Alumnae Association and students of G. C. W. wish them every happiness in their respective fields of endeavor.

FLORIDE ALLEN RECENTLY FROM PARIS WILL SPEAK TO THE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Miss Floride Allen, one of our Alumnae, who has just returned from a six months stay in Paris, will speak to the Home Economics Club Tuesday, February 12, at 5:30 o'clock concerning the work in the Foyer International des Eléves, a student hotel.

The cafe was under French management, but Miss Allen's work was the teaching of American Salads and Desserts. She will give us an interesting description of a Paris cafe.

May Miller, 1902, is Mrs. John Knox Franklin, Birmingham, Ala.

Lois Smith is now Mrs. Lawrence Goodrich, Richmond, Indiana.

Clara Lanier, '24, is in Kinston, N. C.

Alice Devos, '24, is teaching in Valdosta, Ga.

Ellen Jones, '26, is teaching in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Margaret Hawkins, '26, is teaching in Summerville, Ga.

Alice Coleman, '27, is teaching in Blackwell, Ga.

Bessie Chapp, '26, is Mrs. George A. Coffee, Lithonia, Ga.

Elizabeth Barr, '28, is Mrs. W. D. Kuhns, Greenville, S. C.

Opa Gashold, '24 is teaching in Birmingham, Ala.

Nan Wicker, '21, is Mrs. Nan Wicker Clements and is Principal of the Juniata High School, Tifton, Ga.

Miss Freddie Pearl Inberg, '24, is Mrs. L. M. Merriman, Vero Beach, Fl.

Marion Willis, '23, is Mrs. Hall, Miami, Fl.

Anna Lee Clayton, '23, is Mrs. Henry M. Newcom, Wrightsville, Ga.

Vera Mingledorf, '17, is teaching in Savannah, Ga.

Perc. Felts is in Osceola, Fl. She graduated in '24.

Mary Cotton is Mrs. H. H. Bartley, LaGrange, Ga.

Have we your permanent address? Please send the following information to Miss Margarette Jackson, Secretary Alumnae Association Terrell Annex B, 607, Millingville, Georgia.

Your Maiden Name
Your Married Name
Year Graduated or Attended
Permanent Address
Occupation

PAGE EIGHT

Feature Section

LOUISE STANFORD, Editor

WITH APOLOGIES TO GELETT BURGESS

I never read a Feature Page
I never hope to read one;
But I can tell you anyhow
I'd rather read than write one.

PAGE NINE

PHILOSOPHY OF EXAMS

Of two things, one is certain: Either you are prepared or you are not prepared. If you are prepared there is no need to worry. If you are not prepared, of two things, one is certain: Either you'll cram all night or you'll refuse to study. If you cram all night there is no need to worry. If you refuse to study, of two things, one is certain: Either you'll have good luck, or you will flunk. If you have good luck there is no need to worry. If you flunk these two things, one is certain: Either you will lose the credit or you will repeat the course. If you lose the credit there is no need to worry. If you repeat the course there'll be plenty of time to worry.

NOTHING DONE

Winter is too cold for work;
Frosty' weather makes me shiver.

Spring comes on and finds me within
I could end my days a fishin'.

Then in summer when it's hot,
I say work hom go to pot.

Autumn days, so calm an' hazy,
Sorter makes me kinda lazy.

That's the way the seasons run,
Seems I can' get nothin' done.

—SAM H. STINSON.
ON PHYSICAL TORTURE AND ELECTROCUTION

"Ye," I reflected as I cringed there, "after this I can appreciate the feelings of men scalped by Indians, and of prisoners about to be electrocuted."

Here another twist caused me almost to scream aloud.

Would they never have me ready for "the chair"?

They had put so many things around my hair already.

First a string, then a piece of wire that looked like a Christmas sparkler, a bit of cotton, and then another wrapping of string.

This on forty-two different strands of hair.

Then they had wrapped something around each wire, something that looked like cloth dipped in wet salt.

Now they were clamping each piece to my head, but it felt as if forty-two people (instead of four) had bold of my hair and each was pulling its part as hard as possible.

"I guess they have four people," I reflected, "so that I can't tell which one is hurting me most."

Three clamps on each strand, next to my head, a rubber one, a cotton one, a steel one. And another clamp pulled my scalp a little tighter.

I looked at myself in the mirror.

My head looked like a bristling pineapple, all the bristles white now and a piece of wire at the end.

And my eyes were pulled upward; it seemed, by the screwing of the scalp.

"Which one of the four girls had put that clamp on?"

There goes another! Will they never be through?

But yes.

Now they are putting a round paper roll over each piece of stalled cleo's projection, now pieces of white cotton cloth, around each round clamp next my head.

"All right," they say, as they lead me to "the chair."

While they are attaching the forty-two paper covered wires to forty-two electric sockets, I reflect that I was foolish to sign that paper agreeing not to sue for damages.

I am at the mercy of these people.

Now they have turned on the current.

"Fifteen minutes," they say, and leave me to torture other girls.

I can't move my head. It seems to be growing crooked.

I don't feel the bat yet. What is that stinging sound? I know it isn't supposed to sound like that. What would I do if a fire broke out? They'd all leave me alone and I couldn't get out.

"Hasn't it been fifteen minutes?" I ask a girl who is beginning to wrap the hair of another victim.

"Only five," she says indifferently, not even looking at her watch.

Now I do feel the heat.

"Is it supposed to feel hot?" I ask the girl.

"Not too hot," she says, glancing at me.

"How hot is "too hot"? I wonder. What if I should faint? I'd fall over and these electric affairs would pull my head off.

Now the heat is becoming more intense. "Isn't it time yet?" I ask another girl.

She pulls an electric switch off and looks at the wrapper.

"Not broken enough," she says, and she does put some more cotton cloth around the clamps next my head.

Horrors! Now the tears are trickling from my eyes.

My head has never been so heavy and so hot. Is it one of the forty-two parts or all of them that are too hot?

They have begun pulling some of the electric sockets off.

A few they have to keep at to loosen. Those are burned, I guess. At last they have cut the current off.

And an hour later I leave the beauty parlor with a beautiful permanent wave.

"DAT'S FINE!"

"Five dollars worth of two's and three of one's," I said to the man at the window. While he was getting my stamps, I quite uncuriously listened to a conversation taking place between two negroes near the window.

"Mrs. Willow, Brudder Skinflint. How you dis mawnin?"

"'E's all right, Sis Jennings."

"You's all right! Dat's fine! How's you laws'nin?"

"'Day's all right, too."

"'Day's all right, too! Dat's fine! How many chillas you got, Brudder Skinflint?"

"'I've got fo' chillas."

"'You's got fo' chillas? Dat's fine! Who's day mine?"

"What's day mine?"

"Oh, 'day's named Bastos, 'n Judge, 'n Lily, 'n Rose."

"'Day's named Bastos, 'n Judge, 'n Lily, 'n Rose? Dat's fine! So you's got fo' chillas?"

"Yes, Sis Jennings! I've got fo' chillas and 'day's soon gwine ter think dat bigger dan 'day's papy."

"Bigger dan 'day's papy?--"

"Here's your stamps, Miss," said the man at the window.

Unconsciously I answered, "Here's my stamps! That's fine!"

SOLOMON UP-TO-DATE

Beauty is often only skin deep.

Give a girl an inch and she will make a dress of it.

Gold digger's version: Nobody loves a flat man.

A drink in time will save sap—if it's wood alcohol.

Blood is thicker than water, but neither can touch post-office job.

An honest confession is good for the soul, so I'll write post-office story.

—Boston Transcript.
THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY

Maddie: Kat, did you go to the play Saturday night?
Kat: No. Tell me about it.
Maddie: Why, Kat! You're terrible. All you had to do all last week was make out your schedule and go to a few classes and stand a few finals and teach a few days in the practice school.
Kat: Yes! And help a few hundred freshmen arrange their sight-singing and science schedules, and help entertain some departing seniors, and send off sixteen letters of application and make a dress, and clean my room for inspection. I might mention chauffeuring a crowded down town, too. Well, anyway, I didn't go to the play for I was too tired.

Maddie: Well, I wish you knew what you missed. Laughs, wholesale and retail. Two hours of fun! Dr. Johnson coached it and, as she said, it was unique among her productions. She has never put on a love story before, she says, but after this we shall vote for love stories, one hundred percent.
Kat: Yes, and Josephine Proctor, Martha Bean, and Lizzie May Gumage were too for I've heard them practicing for the longest.
Maddie: Well, you know part of the story then, don't you? Just wait here a minute. I'm going to bring some of the characters in and ask them to act their parts just for you.

SENIOR CLASS HONORED

The Seniors are "all thrilled" and are eagerly anticipating the reception Monday evening Feb. 11, to be given in the old executive Mansion by Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Beeson, our President and his wife.
The members of the Mercer Glee Club, who will give a performance in the college auditorium following the reception, will share honors with the Seniors.
Members of the faculty will also be present, including Miss Horsham, violin teacher, who has just returned from England, and Dr. Janella Floyd, Professor of Spanish, who has just become a member of the faculty.
The college orchestra and glee clubs will afford added pleasure by the rendition of special numbers throughout the evening.
The Seniors are sure this will be a memorable event for the class of '29.

Y. W. C. A. GIVES TEAS

Three lovely teas sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. were given during final examinations, Friday, Saturday, and Monday. The three divisions, Cabinet, Freshmen Council, and Sophomore Commission entertained in the order named. On Friday the "R" colors, blue and white, were artificially used in the "R" room and halls. Valentine and Washington's birthday ideas and colors were cleverly carried out Saturday and Monday. Each caller received dainty favors in keeping with the idea. Students and faculty called from three to six o'clock and every one agreed that examinations are not as bad when examination time is tea time.

DEPARTING SENIORS ENTERTAINED

On Monday January 24, the Executive Committee of the Clara Wheeler Hancek Home Economics Club entertained with a tea, honoring two of the retiring officers, Sally Ruth Meadows and Ludwina Garrett. It was a lovely hospitable affair and seemed to exactly fit into our new tea room with its sunshine and soft green draperies. About fifty guests came to talk and have tea and say goodbye to the two girls.

NEW WORDS TO OLD TUNES

(Miss 1029 revises the "old, old story")

1. ON PROMISE ME

Oh, promise me a love immemorable,
A mansion with servants to keep it clean,
A trip abroad each year in early spring,
And all the clothes I want, and everything.
You realize that I will stay in bed.
Until each day at noon, and then I'll rise,
But never work, no matter what the price.
Oh promise me, oh promise me.

2. I LOVE YOU TRULY

I love you truly, truly dear,
As long as I have your frist pin to wear,
And you send me specials, and candy, and such,
I love you truly, very much.
I love you truly, truly dear,
Until another comes along,
And then I'll leave you with only a song,
That's how I love you, truly dear.

3. JUST A WEARYIN' FOR YOU

Just a wearyin' for you, for your roadster of bright blue,
For the flowers and food, and all.
That I get from you each call.
Since you've been gone I've been so blue.

THE COLONNADE PAGE TWELVE

Social News

Jokes

YAWN PROVOKER

"I wish," said the club bore, "that one of you chaps would give me a cure for insomnia."  "Have you seen," remarked one of his victims, "told talking to yourself?"

Y. W. C. A. GIVES TEAS

Some people are so dumb that they think Theda Baza is Paul's brother's sister.

-Yellow Jacket.

She was only an actor's daughter but she sure made a face out of me.

-Yellow Jacket.

"I'll call you Almona."

-Yellow Jacket.

"So I can remember you."

-Yellow Jacket.

Chaplain to convict; "It's hard to die—but you'll get used to it."

-Yellow Jacket.

He: "You must take me for a fool."

She: "Well, if I wanted one."

-Yellow Jacket.

"Bring me another boiled egg, please."

-Are you thin?"

-Yellow Jacket.

"Why can't you boil your hair?"

"I can't; decide whether to make it look like a whisk broom or a feather duster."

-College Humor

He: "What would you say if I were to ask you to marry me?"

She: "Nothing. I can't talk and laugh at the same time."

-College Humor

HE AND SHE

"When I am dead, you'll find it hard," said he,
"To ever find another man like me."
"What makes you think, as I suppose you do,
I'll ever want another man like you?"

-By Ironspill.

HERE PROVOKER

"I wish," said the club bore, "that one of you chaps would give me a cure for insomnia."

"Have you seen," remarked one of his victims, "told talking to yourself?"

-Y. W. C. A. GIVES TEAS

Some people are so dumb that they think Theda Baza is Paul's brother's sister.

-Yellow Jacket.

She was only an actor's daughter but she sure made a face out of me.

-Yellow Jacket.

"I'll call you Almona."

-Yellow Jacket.

"So I can remember you."

-Yellow Jacket.

Chaplain to convict; "It's hard to die—but you'll get used to it."

-Yellow Jacket.

He: "You must take me for a fool."

She: "Well, if I wanted one."

-Yellow Jacket.

"Bring me another boiled egg, please."

-Are you thin?"

-Yellow Jacket.

"Why can't you boil your hair?"

"I can't; decide whether to make it look like a whisk broom or a feather duster."

-College Humor

He: "What would you say if I were to ask you to marry me?"

She: "Nothing. I can't talk and laugh at the same time."

-College Humor

HE AND SHE

"When I am dead, you'll find it hard," said he,
"To ever find another man like me."
"What makes you think, as I suppose you do,
I'll ever want another man like you?"

-By Ironspill.

THE COLONNADE PAGE THIRTEEN

POST GRADUATE LITERATURE

College Senior: "What would you advise me to read after graduation?"

-English Professor: "The "Help Wanted Column."

-Lafayette Lyte.

Student (being arrested): "But officer, I'm not a student."

-Office: "Ignorance is no excuse."

-Geroge.

If John Smith played poker with Poroushians, would William Tell?"

-Yellow Jacket.

"I call her my Samoa girl."

-Why so?"

"Because she's always wanting Samoans of this and Samoas of that."

-Yellow Jacket.

YAWN PROVOKER

"I wish," said the club bore, "that one of you chaps would give me a cure for insomnia."

-"Have you seen," remarked one of his victims, "told talking to yourself?"

-Randall (London).

Patrick Henry Jones upon request of the preacher that he had in prayer began, "Our—er—our—Tur, tur, tur, tut. Why can't think of that man's name?"

-"Father," prompted one of the deacons.

"Oh, yes, you," said Patrick Henry, "We was jes' talkin' 'bout dat man dis mornin'."

-Jim Hawkins, the news boy-boost-black-and-driver of the town was easily snoring away in the farthest corner of the church. "And now," yelled the parson from the pulpit, "we will conclude this service in do worship de Lord by calling on our brother to pray which is settin' in de back dere—Mr. Jim Hawkins."

-Jim Hawkins rose up in his seat and shouted, "Macon

News, five cents."
A LIVING INSTITUTION

A Bank is more than the building it occupies—It is more than the capital and surplus—It is a living institution, made so by the men who manage it. Their character is the Bank's character. Their reputation for sagacity, for conservation, for good judgment becomes the Bank's reputation. The officers of this institution fully realize this fact and are determined to guard the fine reputation which the Bank has acquired.

The Milledgeville Banking Co.

HATS, DRESSES, NOVELTIES

GOOD VALUES—SMART STYLES
CARR'S EMPORIUM
127 South Wayne Street

SPECIAL PRICES
To Students on Engraved Visiting Cards—Select yours now for Graduation Invitations from WILLIAMS & RITCHIE Jewelers
Milledgeville, Ga.

GIRLS!
Get your hemstitching and machine needles at
The Singer Sewing Machine Co.

SENIORS!
Let's go to Charleston by way of
THE GEORGIA RAILROAD

Get your Toilet Articles and School Supplies
At
CULVER & KIDD'S DRUG CO.
"Of Course"

CHANDLER'S VARIETY STORE
New line of Sanitary goods........... 4 for 10 cents
Bloomers—Special Sale.................$1.00

SENIORS!
Have your Shoes Repaired
At
BLAIN'S SHOE PLANT

THE ROSE TEA ROOM
Welcomes Seniors
For
Sunday Morning Breakfast

260 Phones 280
G. S. C. W. girls—It is a pleasure to serve you—
Highest quality and lowest prices—We guarantee quick delivery.

CHANDLER BROTHER'S
"Service With A Smile"

SLEEP IN SAFETY
Comfort and safety are found in every home built with Vertical Hollow Tile with its circulating air chambers, a proof against heat and cold and protection from fire. Its low cost of construction, eliminates insurance and upkeep. It will shelter you in old age with the self-same wall long after the ordinary type of construction has decayed.

Ocone Clay Products Co. Mfg.

SPECIAL
Just arrived Japanese Cooie Coats
Girls—They are Color-Full

JAY'S DEPARTMENT STORE
112 West Hancock Street

YOU ARE ALWAYS WELCOME
AT
FRALEY'S PHARMACY

RHODES-JOSEPH'S
FOR CASH—FOR LESS

We Carry Complete Stock of Coal
ATLANTIC ICE AND COAL CO.
Phone 485

Get Your Food
At
The Country Store

F. W. HARGROVE

J. C. GRANT CO.—JEWELERS
Phone 285-L
Engraved Wedding Invitations and Announcements
We have a special price on Engraved Personal
Cards for SENIORS.
Give us your order BEFORE APRIL, 15th. And pay for cards when delivered.

BRICK
The smooth face brick, also common brick used in erecting the Park's Memorial Hospital, our New Dormitory, and many of our other buildings at
G. S. C. W. were made by The Milledgeville Brick
Works Co.
They use the "McMillan" process, and burn brick in a continuous kiln.
This firm has been making brick for 46 years.

LEE'S DEPARTMENT STORE

DRY GOODS, SHOES, HOSIERY READY-TO-WEAR

LEE'S FOR LESS
Our Valentines

Express any thought that you might wish to convey to a friend or relative. They are more beautiful than ever.
A great variety to select from.

WOOTTENS BOOK STQRE
R. H. WOOTEN

THE COLONIAL THEATRE
SPECIALS FOR FEBRUARY
"Sinners In Love."
"The Shop Worn Angel."
"The Street Angel."
"The Canary Murder Case."

BELL'S
LADIES' NEW SPRING SLIPPERS—RETY FOR YOUR INSPECTION

$5.00, $6.00 and $8.00
PATENTS, TANS, VELVETS

IF YOU WANT THE BEST SHOP AT
E. E. Bell's

COMPLIMENTS FROM THE DENTISTS OF MILLEDGEVILLE