JUNIOR CLASS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Junior class has had very handsomely the last of its regular members. Fifty-two girls have taken extra work and, as Dr. Benson turns it, have been "promoted" to the Senior class. The Junior feel that the Senior class is to be congratulated on retaining its new members because, having been closely associated with them for almost three years, they know what faithful workers they are. But we are not the only lucky class, for the Juniors have some newcomers too. The thirty

The old officers are all official leaders, and without doubt, the new ones will prove equally as capable.

With such the standards that the old office set are a standard which will be upheld by the new, the Juniors will continue to "hurry on."

SERVICE

At the base of every hill and on the side of Athens, a huge glove had been erected. In the daylight, while interacting with the student body, it served as a landmark. But at night, the glove was illuminated by a series of lights, creating a unique sight. The glove was made from a canvas covered with a silver lining and a gold rim.

JUNIORS

The most ideal state of being in all the world is that of Juniors. It is a time of freedom, a time of adventure, a time of exploration. Juniors are the bridge between the innocence of childhood and the responsibilities of adulthood. They are the epitome of the saying, "Youth is wasted on the young."

NEW JUNIORS ATTEND THE PICTURES

"Ellen, but it's dark! You can't see the pictures when it's all dark," said one of the Juniors. "We have to go outside to see the pictures," replied Ellen.

THE MYSTERY GROWN

"You'll be surprised you know," said the Headmaster. "There's a mystery growing in the garden."

F RU I T O F U M A N N I S M

"We have a new student today," said the Headmaster. "He's from New York City and he's going to be a Freshman."
ONE TRUE LITTLE THING

Before we, if all these nothing
were going to rest on the shoulders of our friends who are to be with us in the near future.
That was the ＃ of the triumph of Freshmen.

THE JUNIOR CLASS is a great center of interest among the students in this college,
and it will always stay alive
till another generation of students come along. The same spirit that makes the freshman class live will drive the junior class to an even higher standard.
