National Y. W. C. A. To Hold Convention in Detroit

The National Convention of the Y. W. C. A. will be held in Detroit in April of this year. The call comes to each and every association to share in the deeper realization of life toward which the conventions tend. When delegates from many of the associated organizations throughout the country meet together, it is a time for talking stock, for re-examining the effects that have been observed since the last similar meeting. It is also a time for adding certain new and constructive to the carrying out of the great purpose which the Y. W. C. A. has set for itself.

As the date draws near, certain groups have been formed to do the work of the front and demand situation. Among them, legislation relating to women in industry, legislation affecting children, the status of educational systems, marriage and divorce, immigration and legislation concerning crime, public debt retirement, unemployment, international relations with special emphasis on world peace, the southern textile situation, and social questions confronting women in rural communities are most important.

The last is a new topic, one which has never before found a place on a convention program, but one which holds to every vital as Detroit. The general sessions will be held in the new Masonic Temple and group discussions will be held in Detroit's five ten story Y. W. C. A. buildings.

The purpose of the convention as Miss Emma Baily says in its direction is "to bring to light the truth about women's problems." It may be done by every hand and every life everywhere through the working of the group and the study. The dynamic of our faith and obedience have worked all the mighty changes.

National Y. W. C. A. Pres. Visits Macon Association

Miss Daughtry and five students presented Mrs. John Hannah on recent visit to Macon.

Mrs. John Hannah, national president of the Y. W. C. A., was the guest of the Macon Association at a dinner given in her honor January 28. She spoke at this dinner on several phases of the organization of which she is head.

"Back in 1916," Mrs. Hannah said, "when women's suffrage first came into existence and we were not even sure whether we needed it or not. I wanted to operate the possibility of there being any platform available upon which all women of the world might stand united politically. I decided that there was but one race, the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. makes a fuller place possible for all people toward a growing knowledge of God."

Mrs. Hannah said that this time was a time of great local congress in Dallas, Texas, but she had seen a vision of the Y. W. C. A. as an international political power. Now it seems much more to her hearing and being concerned in its organization, came its headquarters to New Orleans.

"In the days past," the woman for the past two years the Y. W. C. A. was still young, the purpose was to save: today it begins to shape not only the form, but the purpose itself, to bring an end to itself in a reason toward accomplishing a world order toward which it leads to "the better way of life," which Christ knows and used. Mrs. Hannah explained this development as evidence of ideas in a very interesting manner.

It is evident that women often find their effectiveness in numbers and strength and success.
