11-22-1930

Colonnade November 22, 1930

Colonnade

Follow this and additional works at: http://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the Mass Communication Commons

Recommended Citation

http://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade/64

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by Knowledge Box. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colonnade by an authorized administrator of Knowledge Box.
HEALTH CONFERENCE

Members of the Health Conference last night discussed the relationship between health and education. The meeting was attended by Dr. E. W. S. Smith, director of the Health Conference, and Dr. M. E. H. Davies, a medical officer.

The discussion centered around the importance of health education in schools. It was agreed that health education should be integrated into the curriculum to ensure that students develop a lifelong commitment to maintaining a healthy lifestyle.

The speakers emphasized the role of teachers in promoting health education, and the need for continued professional development for educators in this area. The importance of parental engagement in supporting healthy habits was also highlighted.

Participants agreed on the need for collaboration between schools, communities, and healthcare providers to develop effective health education programs. The group also discussed the challenges of implementing these programs and strategies for overcoming them.
"Appreciation Week" Will Be Observed in City Next Week

Wednesday, November 23rd.—Your Ex-President will be in the Town.

Thursday, November 24th.—Your Health and Speed.

Friday, November 25th.—Your Town and Country.

Saturday, November 26th.—Your State and Nation.

"Appreciation Week," originated three years ago by the Citizens' Com- mittee, will be observed in Middletown and in many other Georgi- an communities next week. Surviving to bring about a greater community and county spirit. Mrs. A. FRESHMAN WRITES HOME

G. S. W., Middletown, Ga., November 15, 1909

Dear Little Sister,

I may, or may not, remember, I wrote to you in my last letter that I have been doing some serious thinking. No, ma, that is not why I write to you. As I was saying, I have been considering a problem of vast importance to me, and one which may be of worldwide importance in the future. Little sister, you are of serious thinking.

You must know that such a problem presents itself in my sleepless nights and days. Just think, sister mine, my whole life may depend on the course I take. Of course, I am young, but, still, I am a man, and I should take into consideration the possibilities of my actions. I have a mission to fulfill, but I must try to understand the situation before I do.

I have been thinking about this problem for a long time—since two weeks. At first I thought that I should like to be a lady's detective, but I would never entertain the idea of being called a "mammy detective." Then I thought that I should like to be a writer of lectures, like Shakespeare, but, oh, little sister, to hear one of his plays like Shakespeare's—would be unutterable, thrilling. Then I decided that I should have to be an inventor! But I fear my talents do not lie in that direction. You wish to know why? I believe long on an invention which would have revolutionized chemistry. I became so impressed by my work on it that I forgot all else. Still I knew how to inventing a prattle that would rival, when the borrower wouldn't return it! All this heart-shaking failure I turned my attention to mechanics. But what was my grief to learn that I am not fit for this profession? I found it out by bitter experience, and then I discovered that I could not even find the balance of the clock that tinkled so hopefully at five in the morning. Also I was becoming discouraged.

Muss with the co-operation of the Methodist Church, launched upon the celebration of the first Appreciation Week in 1927. Middletown was the big city that offhand the week, but since then many towns have joined in and the State Federation has given its approval and endorsement to the movement in the hope that the practice will become universal.

The ministers of the city will call attention to their congregations of the observance on next Sunday and civic organizations will make the idea known to their patrons at their meetings during the week.

Thanksgiving Day will climax the week's celebration. A general holiday has been declared and special church services will be held to return thanks for the year's blessings. All business houses will be closed.

People of the country are urged to give their thoughts to the week, reviewing the program and keeping this rule for which they should be appreciated each day and to strive to carry it out in their thought and actions throughout the day.

Finally, however, I have found my talent. I have discovered the things of all things that I am fitted and in- duced to do. I shall, 'e a great in the my next week. I can never adequately describe the circumstances of the creation. Better bless than to say, as Athens, spring fullgrown from the brow of Zeus. All who have read it agree that it is heart, writing in its path. Many have told me that although it is short, it has a compassion seen in so few words of your known authors. I would not soon to boost, but it embodies everything of me as has a touch of greatness. Here it is, consider closely, for I want no unsympathetic eyes to glance on my pride. The "evening shades are falling. The supper bell is calling. The little star is twinkling. And I sit, and—nothing." Your sister, SARA.

WITH APOLOGIES TO O. G. MckITRICK

I like at G. S. C. W.—
Songs on rainy days.
Head over my mail box.
A tan minutes chapel.
Bed my window by the rain.
Saturday night picture.
Chapel announcements.
Fall holidays.
Sun dress clothes.
Thanksgiving day.
Saturday afternoon and the country store.
May the gold, the freedom, the green.
The entrance to the tea room.
To sleep on rainy nights.
Curios photograph in other people's rooms.
No. 11 Peaceful court.
Come on Sunday.
The lights go on.
To take a cold bath.
A hot dog at 12:30.
The room is cleaned up before breakfast.

FATHER OF MRS. W. T. WYNN
DIED IN NORTH CAROLINA

Dr. W. E. Floyd, Father of Mrs. W. T. Wynn, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ed Smith, in Dun, N. C., Tuesday morning, after a protracted illness.

The remains of Dr. Floyd were carried to Clayton, Ala., his home for interment. The funeral services will be held at the Methodist church there today (Thursday.)

Dr. Floyd was eighty-three years of age, and was a Confederate soldier. He practiced dentistry in Clay- ton for more than fifty years. He was a member of the Methodist church there, and served as superintendent of the Sunday School for more than forty years. He was a conscientious Christian, and his long life was one of integrity and uprightness.

During the past several years Dr. Wynn has spent much of his time at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wynn, in this city, and those of us citizens who came to know him held him in the highest esteem.

Mrs. Wynn left Wednesday morn- ing for Clayton to attend the fun- eral and burial services.

Patronize Our Advertisers

Second Oldest Newspaper in the South
UNION-RECODER
"Over 100 Years' Devotion to Public Interest"

B. B. MOORE, Editor
JESS N. MOORE, Business Man

FRALEY'S
Toasted Sandwiches, Hot Choco- late and Coffee—Come inter- tain your week-end guest at—
FRALEY'S.

Welcome Home Coming Visitors and Glee Club
ROSE TEA ROOM
Thanksgiving Turkey Dinner

R. H. WOOTEN

Have your Dresses Cleaned for the Junior Banquet at the—
ODDOLESS CLEANERS

While entertaining your guests take time to the ELECTRIFIED BAKE SHOP for Delicious Cakes.

Compliments of JOHN COIN CO.

SPECIAL This Week
Ladies Pure Silk Hose, Silk from top to toe, Full Fashioned, $1.50 value, all the New Shades Black and White, Special $1.00.

If you want the best, shop at E. E. BELL.