I Thought

I thought that I must reach up and nud the gate of Heaven with my fingertips to find God.

I thought that I must look beyond the cloud and nud the gate of Heaven with my vision to see God.

I thought that I must wait and strive and yearn and grasp up to the gate of Heaven to feel God.

But while I reached and strained my eyes and grasped and felt a tenderness—I saw it and knew it all around me.

It was God.
