Colonnade Presents Series of Articles on Ready-Made

By Professor McCal.

The Colonnade feels sure extremely fortunate in being able in this issue to present a series of articles on reading written by the interesting national known authority, Professor McIlwraith McCal. For some time we have been interested in the question of making the able reader McNally McCal to give to the world a part of the great knowledge which is his in the Field of Writing. This series of seven articles entitled Series of seven articles appears ever appear in the Colonnade.

The series is being technical, dry, yet, words, subjects which you might expect. "Reading-Writing in Seventeen Lessons." It is a stimulating, erudite, lively, and more than practical series of essays, which will add greatly to the appreciation of the important era.

"Cross the Campus"

By Philip Space

Everybody!

Here we are again—for the simple reason that we couldn't go home this week-end. We're in for a treat this week—some new meat.

From Mal Knos and Co. to the Eagle and to Bell Hall, Mabel Lewis and the Whitehall Bar, we've covered a lot of ground. Finally a group found the treasurer in the dresser of "the structure," who turned round to see what was going on. It was a box of steel very pretty to the eye, but the treasurer felt to find any book without having to find whereabouts in the book, as is usual. There are two members in each class, and each class has its own little corner. Everyone is advised to go to the library and get acquainted with their own class. Each has a key to one of the rooms.

"Socks and Buskins"

Olympic Club meets in the coliseum on Thursday mornings. The members of "Socks and Buskins," the drama group, met in the museum room. The meeting was called to order by the president, Ross Slocum. A reporter was elected to contribute to the Colonnade. Continual future meetings were made by Miss Frances Kin. The group's goals are: "to have fun and to spend the time wisely." The group's name is "Olympic Club." The meeting was adjourned.

In Merryville, Oct. 26—The physics professor of Georgia State College gave a lecture on physics Saturday afternoon at Rocky Creek where some physics students gathered to prepare an open fountain. The physics professor is Dr. George Meyer. The physics students were: Elizabeth Corbin, Wilson Davis, Susie Newcomb, Gay Lee Taylor, Lytha Jo, Hazel Denham, Juanita Taylor, Joe Morgan and Sue Smith. The lecture was given by Professor McI. Rogers.

ENNS HALL DRESSES UP:
Many Improvements Have Been Made Recently

Many improvements have been made recently at Enns Hall adding greatly to its appearance and giving it many more amenities.

Fifteen new lighting fixtures, of white flexible glass, have replaced the old "grape" on every hall, thus giving a brighter, more comfortable, more beautiful appearance.

The overstuffed mat of furniture and the mixture of red and white cloth, which were old, have been replaced with these new "eat-out" mats on the new sofa, big chairs, folding chairs, and electric stoves.

At present, the entire front of the residence is being fresher, which will add greatly to the appearance of the imposing exterior.
