Virtually all have been held at G. E., C. W. for approximately thirty years but have been in the history of the college has there been such a prevalent notice as there was in the Rich- and S. Russell auditorium Tuesday evening, November 24.

Music Recital in the Auditorium

Music recitals have been held at the college on a regular basis, but there has been a concerted effort to increase their frequency. This year, the college has taken steps to ensure that these events are more prevalent, especially during the fall semester.

This year, the college has organized a music recital series to highlight the talents of its students and faculty. The recitals are held in the college's auditorium, which is a spacious and picturesque setting that provides an ideal environment for musical performances.

The recital series includes a variety of musical styles, ranging from classical to contemporary. Performers include local musicians as well as guest artists from other universities.

The college hopes that this recital series will not only enrich the cultural life of the community but also inspire and engage upcoming musicians. The college is proud to provide a platform for these talented performers to showcase their abilities and share their passion for music.

Rehearsing Regen for the George Washington Celebration

It is with great pride for Dr. Johnson that she has finished rehearsing choruses for the play celebrating the bicentennial of George Washington. The actual role will be played by Miss Amherst University, and she is in full swing, Miss Miller is cooperating with Dr. Johnson; by request of Miss Miller, she will be singing and dancing on the stage for the play.
PORTY CORNER

The trouble with this modern age is that there is so much writing and so little thinking. In a society that prides itself on its advanced state of civilization, it is strange how often one encounters a lack of common sense and critical thinking. The mass media and the internet have made it easier than ever for anyone to express their thoughts, but the quality of that expression is often lacking. People seem to be more concerned with sharing their opinions than with actually thinking through the implications of those opinions. It is a sad state of affairs when the ability to think critically is taken for granted, and it is up to each of us to ensure that our minds are not simply consumed by the constant stream of information and sound bites that surround us.

POETRY

On the banks of the river, where the sun sets and the stars shine, there is a place called "Poetry Corner". It is a quiet oasis where poets from all walks of life come to share their work. The air is thick with the scent of ink and the sound of pages turning. It is a place where the words of the past resonate with the words of today, and where the joy of creation is passed on from one poet to the next. In this corner of the world, poetry is not just a form of expression, but a way of life.
