Art Faculty Attends Meeting in Atlanta

The meeting of the Southeastern Art Association, on Tuesday, May 2, and 3, was dedicated to the annual meeting of the organization, which was organized in 1925 and whose first meeting took place in Spartanburg, South Carolina.

The Association was well attended, as there were representatives from Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Mississippi, and Louisiana. Every member of the administration of G. C. W. attended the meeting.

The association was very much pleased with the exhibition from G. C. W. and the art works from other schools. Several people requested that they be returned and some even considered them the best attended of all exhibitions.

Mrs. J. H. Johnson, who attended the meeting, stated that the programs were very interesting and that a talk given by Miss Louise Tenen was a talk of creative art in foreign schools. She was most interested in Miss "Provision's" shadow notes she had done in Assistant assignments, and she stated which the children would be taught to do so.

The Colonnade editor states that the opportunity to help the faculty and student body to keep abreast of the latest developments in the arts, and to help them to better understand and appreciate the beauty of art, is one of the greatest responsibilities of the student body. The Colonnade aims to be the medium through which the students will be able to gain a greater appreciation of art, and to help them to understand and appreciate the beauty of art, is one of the greatest responsibilities of the student body. To a Junior:
At you look back from the three full feet of your college career, let you past experiences or you understanding of you school. For you, the day you were to understand the basic patterns of you career and the roles you are to play in it. For you, the day you were to understand the basic patterns of living in a college community and the roles you are to play in it.

COLLEGE LOYALTY
Loyalty is defined as "fulfillment in any relationship implying trust, confidence, and solicitude toward the moral, political, and economic welfare of one's school." Applying this definition to college, loyalty means appreciation of the opportunities you are given and the responsibilities you are called to fulfill. Loyalty means use of your mind and your strength in the service of your school. Loyalty means that you are willing to do your part to help your school to be the best it can be.
