Barbecue To Be Served on Campus At Six P. M.

Play To Be Given At Seven Followed By Movie

The grand and glorious Fourth is to be celebrated in a grand and glorious way at the Georgia State College for Women.

Mr. R. R. Porter, Business of the college, is in charge of the celebration.

Clams will be held on a daily basis from the morning of July 4. A hotel day will be given on the afternoon of the Fourth.

No particular entertainment has been planned for the afternoon but will be given over to what ever the students may desire to do.

At 5:00 P. M. a barbeque dinner is to be given. The tables will be spread on the front campus. A George Washington play will be given in the Auditorium from seven to eight o'clock.

Immediately after the George Washington play the picture "Around the World in Eighty Minutes" will be shown. Douglas Fairbanks is the star of the picture. All the饮食 and ad-libbers needed for one evening will be found in this picture.

At nine o'clock a Colonial party will be given on the front porch of Atkins Hall.

The summer school students of G. S. C. W. are to be the guests of the college at all the entertainments.

Here's to a Grand and Glorious Fourth.

Students are not allowed to sit on the lawn near the pool or in the vicinity of the swimming pool. No swimming is allowed in the river near the campus.

The "G. S. C. W. students are looking forward to the completion of the building and for the first time in the history of the college the library is to be opened.

There are no neat solutions to the face lift's problem, and no major social changes. We have to face the fact that nothing can be done without action. The man of strength, the man of vision, must make the first move. And he cannot do it without our help. The man who is called to action, the man who is called to leadership, must be able to think, to plan, to act. He must be able to understand the problems of the world, to see the possibilities of change, to create the future. He must be able to lead us out of the darkness of the past, to a brighter tomorrow. He must be able to lead us to a better world.

work continued on library shelves, and there is a keen interest among students and faculty to see this year's class graduate. The number of graduates this year is approximately the same as last year, but the total number of graduates for the regular fall and spring classes together with the summer graduates far surpasses the number of corresponding graduates of 1930-31. Dr. Brees said, "I am gratified at the increased number of degree graduates."
