Instructors to Do Critical Work at G. C. S. W.

Miss R. D. Quick, a former student at G. C. S. W., will begin work the first of next quarter as a critic and supervisor of student teachers. Her work as first at will be in the Peabody practice school. She will be one of several critics in the school who will supervise directly the student teachers.

Among those, there have been over twenty requests for practice teachers from G. C. S. W., in the Atlanta public schools during the spring term. Miss Quick will go to Atlanta to advise those student teachers and direct their work.

Miss Quick has attended writer and summer session at Johns Hopkins, University of Chicago, George Peabody, Denison University, and several universities and colleges in New York State. She has taught in Baldwin county (Continued on page three)

Canine Oddity On Exhibit Here in Ennis Hall

America's hairless dog has a permanent domicile in Emile Weems' ennis Hall.

Recently one of the Einem Weems' residents came running through the hall a small, bony, sometimes very patient creature of the top kind. She was written up in the fashionable letters: "America's Hairless Dog," and on the bottom and the sides near small air perforations were written: "Will you please not step on us, and finally 'I reallyitting.'" After ten months of trial and error, America made her debut as the new pet and will probably be making an appearance in the forthcoming issue of the "Einem Weems' chow "paper." This "puppy" was certainly a "howling success.

Textile Class Tours Factory in Macon

STUDENTS SEE VILLAGE, AUDITORIUM, COMMUNITY CENTER, AND MILL

By bus the textile class had completed their trip through one of the Macon plants of Better Manufacturing Company, from villages to a community house, a clinic, and an auditorium, Wednesday morning, they could easily understand the following statement made by Mr. W. E. Pittman, factory manager:

"We make money, of course, but our real aim is to build homes and women. We hope to have a group of people happier than the people who are working in a cotton mill."

Mr. Gardner, superintendent of the Pampco plant, explained the various manufacturing processes to the class, after which Miss Maxine Andrews, Macon social worker, served a delicious lunch in the community house to the entire group.

Mr. Pittman and Mr. C. H. Robinson, members of the Clash W. Richaux home economics club, carried the party through the attractive mill village. The trip terminated at the general office of the company, where Mr. J. R. Anderson, president, gave an interesting talk.

Mr. A. C. Weeks, rector of the class, Miss Mary Ray Lile, chairman of the class, and Miss Kay Hurlock, secretary of the class, Miss Kay Hurlock, secretary of the class (Continued on page three)

Series of Events Held By Alumnae

Annual Pilgrimage to Tomb Opens Alumni Homecoming

The series of programs given by the alumnae was supervised by the alumnae association under the direction of Mrs. I. A. McLean Anderson, Mrs. L. E. Martin, Miss Lewis Smith, Miss L. B. Morris, and Miss Katherine Wamee.

The annual pilgrimage to the tomb of Alumnae was held at 12:00 o'clock, Thursday morning. Several of the students, faculty, and alumnae participated.

The second annual council session of the alumnae of G. C. W. was held on November 17, 1935, in the Registrar's office, in charge of the members of the Graduate society, who held the alumnae office from nine until ten o'clock. Immediately following the registration hour were the various meetings of the state communities. The climax of all the programs was the Alumnae chapel program in the Richard B. Russell auditorium at eleven o'clock. The program was as follows: Devotional led by Dean Lee Cone,肃uw,n of homes and reunions in the United States.

Students Visit Kress Exhibit At Wesleyan

The members of the Art Appreciation class visited the R. H. Kress Art Exhibit at Wesleyan College in Macon on Tuesday afternoon. The group consisted of Gayle and students interested in art and appreciation of the Art Museum at Princeton university.

The exhibit was an open view in the Student Arts building and consisted of sixty striking Italian paintings between the fourteenth and sixteenth centuries. The collection is being loaned to the museum by Samuel E. Kress of New York and will be in view until December eleventh.

Mr. MacKaye, curator of "Art in the High Renaissance" on Tuesday evening in the chapel of Wesleyan College. He lectured on a discussion of the works of this great Italian painter, Botticelli, daVinci, Raphael, Titian, and Giorgiones. Illegible was used in the last.

Members of the class attending the exhibit and other appreciation were: Mary Barabash, Mary Hill, Margaret Colburn, and others.

Five-Day Schedule

The students at G. C. W. would like to go back to the five-day schedule. The plan has been tried and has proved successful.

These "schedules" that are in circulation is a reflection of the students and the planning. Teachers change day for day instead of using one of the five-day schedules that are already established. And there seems to be an agreement about the schedule.

And some classes are to meet only five days a week, why not have a whole day of the week where students can "unwind" and go shopping and catch up on their assignments. As long as we are trying to have a good time in school, there should be a day off.

Beppe Gossip

We have a beautiful staff with many new stage arrangements. It seems that the plays will not be as dull as at in previous years. The students are having more fun and are more involved in the school activities.

Lyceum Numbers

We are not to be judged on the Lyceum numbers alone. There are many other factors that should be considered. The students are not just numbers, but people.

Vocal of the People

There are many aspects of our campus life that need to be taken into consideration when discussing the "people of the campus." As a member of the student body, I feel that we should be more involved in the decisions that affect us. It is important that we voice our opinions and express our concerns.

Newspaper Gossip

The "Staff" newspaper is not just a collection of articles written by students. It is a reflection of the students and their opinions. We should encourage students to contribute to the newspaper and express their views.

Ten Outstanding Articles Named For the Month

Well, from all we have in school, we can see that the students have many ideas and possibilities. It seems that the newspapers are doing a good job of covering the events.

Careless Collitch

Outcomes Continue to Lose Property

This semester they have been very careful about finding things. They have been looking for things all over the place. It seems that they have lost a lot of money.

Emperor Gof of Chemical Speaks To Students Here

"Now, to be sure, we have a new emperor, but he is not very different from the last one. He still wants us to keep working hard." The students seem to be very pleased with the new emperor.

College Gossip

We have a new governor and a new minister. It seems that the government is doing a good job of taking care of the country.

From reading the papers from other schools it seems to us that college students and student problems the world over are much the same. We are entertained; we are tempted; we are strengthened; and we are enlightened.

At the University of Minnesota, in ten dollars or a part of six days is imposed on any found wearing a fraternity pin.
