Dr. Little Gives Talk in Chapel

Education Professor Shows High Cost of Ill-Spent Time

Dr. Harry A. Little spoke at the chapel exercises on Friday morning when the formal opening of the semester quarter was held.

Dr. Little chose as his subject a very appropriate one for the new year, "Are You Paying Too Much For Your Welfare?"

He showed how students and faculty members alike are spending too much time and too much money on their hobbies, the inferior classes of which are considered as the necessary and normal things that should not have been neglected.

Dr. Little pointed out that while some students spend too much time and too much money on their hobbies, the inferior classes of which are considered as the necessary and normal things that should not have been neglected. He showed how students and faculty members alike are spending too much time and too much money on their hobbies, the inferior classes of which are considered as the necessary and normal things that should not have been neglected.

He then proceeded to show that these habits are not only harmful to their health but to their social and academic lives as well. He emphasized the importance of balancing leisure activities with study and work to maintain a healthy and productive lifestyle.

French Club Gives Dinner at Baldwin

The walter's eye showed white when he stared at your face. Men, he said, do not laugh at the French conversation of "pour renard" and "roi civil" that filled the colored sheets of fifteen colors in the French excursion on the Noel Night at the Baldwin hotel.

The French club, directed by "man's man," was formed to improve their conversation and to make them more conversant with the French language.

French students were present, and the conversation was held in a French atmosphere. As the conversation proceeded, the French students were more and more attracted by the French students of the French club.

The French students were invited to the French club, and they accepted the invitation with enthusiasm. The conversation was held in a French atmosphere, and the French students were more and more attracted by the conversation.

New Fountain Cup Causes Consternation

Capitol lost its embroidery and a few lines and a few students from one of the departments.

Two girls upon leaving Vepur's were discovered by the fountain and gazed dreamily into the depth of the water. One of them, a student of the Capitol, was lost in thought, not by any means a good one.

One day before the students left the school, the girl discovered by the fountain was found to be a good one. She was not lost by any means, but she was found to be a good one.

The Pope's Band Seeks a Smiling Queen To Rule Campus

The "Pope's Band," organized in the fall by the secretary of the band, and approved by the assistant professor of music, is now seeking a "smiling queen" to rule over the band's activities for the coming year.

Little women have been asked to apply for the position, and the band is looking for a girl who will be a credit to the band and a source of inspiration for its members. The position will be filled at the band's annual banquet.

Lymecon Series Announced For Winter Quarter

The members of the Lymecon committee announce that the third of interesting programs to be given during the winter quarter.

In addition to these programs several clubs from other states will present entertainment. As yet no dates have been set for all the club performances.

The Curtis String quartet will present a program on January 13. The performance promises to be something unusual, and for the second consecutive year they have paid a high admission fee to hear the programs given by the four young men from Philadelphia.

On February 4, Sue Hastings will present her own concert in a delightful environment. Miss Hastings' concerts have re tained a number of critics in this city.

On February 18, Dr. A. A. Allen, professor of ornithology at Cornell University, will address the ornithological society. During his talk he will speak of the breeding habits and the untold stories of our feathered friends.

Increase in Rolls Seen For Term

New and Former Students Cause Large Enrollment

The Georgia State College for women opened for the winter quarter on January 3 with an increased enrollment. More than 1,000 students, both new and returning, were present at the opening exercises.

Mrs. Blakeney, a native of the area, formerly supervisor of elementary grades on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, has been engaged as an assistant professor of English.

Mrs. B. L. Smith received a B.A. degree in Education from the University of Chicago, Columbia University, and George Washington College for Women, George Washington University, and Enmore University.

The new students include: Frances Adams, Cotterville; Margaret Allen, Columbia; Dinah Blandingfield, and Irene Grace Maddox, among others.

Lyman Lecture: The Future of the South Windom and Endowment

The Georgia State College for women opened for the winter quarter on January 3 with an increased enrollment. More than 1,000 students, both new and returning, were present at the opening exercises.

Mrs. Blakeney, a native of the area, formerly supervisor of elementary grades on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, has been engaged as an assistant professor of English.

Mrs. B. L. Smith received a B.A. degree in Education from the University of Chicago, Columbia University, and George Washington College for Women, George Washington University, and Enmore University.

The new students include: Frances Adams, Cotterville; Margaret Allen, Columbia; Dinah Blandingfield, and Irene Grace Maddox, among others.

Lyman Lecture: The Future of the South Windom and Endowment

The Georgia State College for women opened for the winter quarter on January 3 with an increased enrollment. More than 1,000 students, both new and returning, were present at the opening exercises.

Mrs. Blakeney, a native of the area, formerly supervisor of elementary grades on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, has been engaged as an assistant professor of English.

Mrs. B. L. Smith received a B.A. degree in Education from the University of Chicago, Columbia University, and George Washington College for Women, George Washington University, and Enmore University.

The new students include: Frances Adams, Cotterville; Margaret Allen, Columbia; Dinah Blandingfield, and Irene Grace Maddox, among others.

Lyman Lecture: The Future of the South Windom and Endowment

The Georgia State College for women opened for the winter quarter on January 3 with an increased enrollment. More than 1,000 students, both new and returning, were present at the opening exercises.

Mrs. Blakeney, a native of the area, formerly supervisor of elementary grades on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, has been engaged as an assistant professor of English.

Mrs. B. L. Smith received a B.A. degree in Education from the University of Chicago, Columbia University, and George Washington College for Women, George Washington University, and Enmore University.

The new students include: Frances Adams, Cotterville; Margaret Allen, Columbia; Dinah Blandingfield, and Irene Grace Maddox, among others.

Lyman Lecture: The Future of the South Windom and Endowment

The Georgia State College for women opened for the winter quarter on January 3 with an increased enrollment. More than 1,000 students, both new and returning, were present at the opening exercises.

Mrs. Blakeney, a native of the area, formerly supervisor of elementary grades on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, has been engaged as an assistant professor of English.

Mrs. B. L. Smith received a B.A. degree in Education from the University of Chicago, Columbia University, and George Washington College for Women, George Washington University, and Enmore University.

The new students include: Frances Adams, Cotterville; Margaret Allen, Columbia; Dinah Blandingfield, and Irene Grace Maddox, among others.

Lyman Lecture: The Future of the South Windom and Endowment

The Georgia State College for women opened for the winter quarter on January 3 with an increased enrollment. More than 1,000 students, both new and returning, were present at the opening exercises.

Mrs. Blakeney, a native of the area, formerly supervisor of elementary grades on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, has been engaged as an assistant professor of English.

Mrs. B. L. Smith received a B.A. degree in Education from the University of Chicago, Columbia University, and George Washington College for Women, George Washington University, and Enmore University.

The new students include: Frances Adams, Cotterville; Margaret Allen, Columbia; Dinah Blandingfield, and Irene Grace Maddox, among others.
The Colonade

Published Weekly by Students of The GEORGE WASHINGTO UNIVERSITY FOR WOMEN

Cover: Harry P. Harris, S. W. C. B.

Editor—John Smith

Article Editors—Jane Brown, Linda Martin

Staff Artists—Betty L. Green, Janice Biddle

Sports Editor—Ann Parry

Business Manager—Jane Adams

Advertising Director—Martin White

Exchange Editors—Susan Smith, Lanie Skinner

Managing Editor—Samantha Lynne

Newspaper

In this issue:

- "The Colonnade" by John Smith
- "G.S.W. questionnaire" by G.S.W. staff
- "With our Alumnae" by G.S.W. staff
- "New Critic Teacher Added To Faculty" by G.S.W. staff

Newspaper Staff

- John Smith, Editor
- Jane Adams, Business Manager
- Ann Parry, Sports Editor
- Martin White, Advertising Director

The Colonade is published weekly for students of George Washington University for Women. The Colonade is intended to provide a platform for students to express their thoughts, opinions, and ideas. The newspaper covers a wide range of topics, including campus news, local events, and national issues.

In this issue, the newspaper features articles on the expansion of the Colonade, a new Critic Teacher added to the faculty, and various other topics. The Colonade is known for its commitment to providing a diverse range of perspectives and voices within its pages.
UASME

Are your Facial Features or the words that come out of your mouth sometimes confusing? Was Christmas for you just another story without any meaning or substance? The world and your understanding of the outside world itself.

Before Christmas holidays my mother and I would always go to our family's home, which was at Eichmann's studio. What happened to me as a child was that I was not allowed to ask any questions or make any statements about the events that happened during Christmas. Although I was allowed to participate in the festivities, I always felt as if I was not part of the family. I often wondered why I couldn't participate in the activities and asked my mother why I couldn't be a part of the fun.

---

Emory Named One of South's Best Colleges

President Edwin Rogers Emory of the Julian Rooswood Found drive to the Emory University at the very spacious.

“The nation’s top 100 colleges” is the ranking that Emory is included in. According to the U.S. News & World Report, Emory University is ranked 8th among the top 100 colleges.

---

Notice Issued To Freshman Class

There is no opportunity that comes more often to anybody’s lifetime.

The freshmen are coming to ask at last. What is it? Charles Week. What is it? January 28.

For whom? Freshmen only.

How? That’s a secret.

“Do you think I can do this one? And every freshman is assured of seeing the most charming person in six centuries—excluding all the other first-year students. They will hear things about themselves that even the best friends would never tell them. They will learn things that they’ve always wanted to know but didn’t dare ask anyone about.

And great will be the thrill there!”

Problems, do not fail to come. This Charm Week is exclusively for you. You will never regret the time spent in earning a smile to become charming.

The time and place will be announced later.

Advice to Letter Writers Concerning Stamps

Stamps upside down on the left corner, “I love you.”

Conversely, “I love you,” must be straight up and down—“Godspeed to you.”

Up right on the lower corner...

“In the middle at sight-hand edge write “I love you.”

In the center at top...”

“Be sure to have stamps on right side...”

“Do you love me?”

In the center corner... “I hate you”

Top corner right... “I wish you friendship.”

Bottom corner at left... “I seek your acquaintance.”

On the line with name and address... “Accept my love.”

Accept upside down... “I am engaged.”

Same at right angle... “I long to see you.”

---

HARRIS URGES

(Continued from page 3)

If a person would take just his opportunity when they are off ered to him, he would live a very happy and full life.

There are no secrets on this side of the fence; there is no information about highest positions, so there is nothing to be said; and the rest is a willingness in service.

A saddle made of a windmill propeller is a twin tailored suit created by a Virginia man.

The release of a new French airplane parts are supplied by a whale out of the fuselage.

---

INCREASE IN

(Continued from page 8)

Girls

Come up and see us sometime. All kinds of Sandwiches. Service with a Hope.

Green Frog

SODA WATER WITH A TWANG IN CLEAN SPARKLING GLASSES

BINFORD'S DRUG STORE

NEW PRICES

Stationery at Reduced Prices

WODTEN'S BOOK STORE

WE APPRECIATE YOUR TRADE

One 8x10

FRONT PAGE NEGATIVES UNTIL FEB. 15TH

$1.00

Eberhardt's Studio

---

The Colonade, January 12, 1935.

TRAVELERS:

Mrs. Wiggins of the Cabbage Patch

Dear Miss D'Amore,

What does me do in the case where the man I find suddenly becomes my eyesight with a five percent discount? Honestly, I have been very quite as a meal of my life. We really had “up” and “down” but you know what I mean. I had expected so much and when he walked in and with such a smile and a smile, handed me the “six favorite foodstuffs” all of my life we went back. Do you think that he is a real man or a man who has no more imagination than that? Am I justified in saying of a future with such a “perfect past” as that? Please answer soon.

Little Audrey

---

Advice to Little Writers

Take care of the present and you have the future to care of it. Maybe, the poor fellow wasn’t such a bad fellow after all. Maybe, he meant it as a sudden complement. Don’t