FOLK FESTIVAL PLANNED FOR APRIL 22

The folk festival sponsored by the Recreation association will be held on April 22. Play will take place in the afternoon and will be followed by a ballroom supper and Neibolt woods later.

The festival will be featured by a Dance of the Nation. The students Cleveland into two or three groups and each group will do two dances. Miss Basnett, vice-president of the faculty includes Dan on the "Little Man in a Frock," English "What Happened?" German "Lavender Waltz," Hungarian "Cavatina," Portuguese "Vira." Cleansing the dance of these different cultures will be an old-fashioned American square dance.

Plans are being made to have Mr. Moon host the folk songs of the various nations to the music student body, and they sings during the festival by those not part taking in the dancing.

"We want as many students as possible," stated Elizabeth Shick, vice-president of the Recreation association, "to take part in the festival. It will all be in formal, and definite practices will be necessary for the dance. We want all students to have as much fun as can at the first Folk Festival ever to be given here."

136 Easter Parade Will Feature Sheer Woolens, Says Stylist

Sheer will lead in the Easter parades this year according to fashion editors. In view of the winter's widespread style inspired by Chinese and Spanish influence, there is an edible demand for this season's new woolens and underwear. This is due to the demand in winter, but not to the same extent as in the boys, in women, and in girls.

Sheer wool will be important in the dressmaker's line, and every type of wool fabric will be made in sheer fabrics. Wool will be used in the same manner as it is used for sheer dresses. The trend will continue in sheer underwear and sheer garments.

The fashion of sheer woolens is becoming more common. Sheer woolens are being used in all sections of the country, and are being made in a wide variety of colors. Sheer woolens are being made in a wide variety of colors. Sheer woolens are being made in a wide variety of colors.

Interviews

I. B. MASSEY: "This question is very timely discussed. I have been wondering, when some attempt at a contemplated solution would be substantial. The problem is this: how a student, who studies in a college aside from his opportunity to help work his way through college. The COLUMBIA-MASSEY suggestion would very well serve the two purposes, first, make books affordable, second, afford assurance to students."

CATHRINE MALCOLM: "Not only do I think the book-shop should work to solve the problem of desired books, I think it could be one of the most attractive places on the campus. Nothing is as good as a display of books, pencils, pads, and other supplies, which have found it most successful.""}

DR. CLARENCE SHILLING: "In 1940, we have such a system at Purdue, and it is so successful, which could not be managed otherwise with a few or thousand students. Our general system is used at Illinois, also. I think the new books ordered in a school in this way in any other way than I reported book orders and the supervision of the administration, of course."

MISS GREENE: "I think a successful way of handling books could be worked out, but not necessarily through a student book shop. My experience with student book shops has not been very successful."

JANE CASELLA: "In this age when it is so easy to cooperate everything, I think of a student book shop seems quite possible, especially when all the before-mentioned people would desire it.

MARCUS PENROSE: "I sincerely hope that a book shop can be established on the campus. I think very satisfactory arrangements could be made.
