Christmas Entertainments on Campus

Inclusive Frosh Dinner, Dorm Parties

One of the most interesting developments to be seen on the campus this Christmas season is the beautiful Christmas tree that stands in the center of the Memorial Hall.

The Christmas tree is of the usual size and shape, but is trimmed with holly, ivy, and a Christmas candle. The tree is lit with electric lights and is surrounded by a wreath of holly and ivy. The lights are turned on and off several times daily.

The first Freshman banquet was held on Wednesday evening in Memorial Hall. The menu consisted of hors d'oeuvres, soup, salad, and dessert followed by the Christmas dinner. Festively Done-Up Seniors Dance In Holiday Season

The Debbie Grant music of a senior scholarship dance that featured the Winter homecoming dance as the center of attention. The main event of the evening was the annual Holiday Dance, which was sponsored by the senior class of the school. The dance was held in the school gymnasium and was decorated with Christmas-themed decorations.

Students of all ages were present, and there was a lively atmosphere throughout the night. The music was provided by the school's orchestra, which played a variety of holiday songs. Many students danced the night away, enjoying the festive atmosphere and the company of friends.

We're Singing!

Last week, the students of the Colonnade were featured in a special performance dedicated to the senior class. The performance was held in the school auditorium and was presented by the school choir and orchestra.

Talent was showcased in a variety of ways, including singing, dancing, and instrumental performances. The audience was treated to a range of musical styles, from classical to contemporary, and the performances were a testament to the musical talent of the students.

The event was a great success, and the students and faculty were all smiles as they enjoyed the shows and performances. It was a night to remember for everyone involved.

It's simple arithmetic that the more cars General Motors sells the greater this organization grows. And the solid fact back of that growth is this General Motors cars must continuously offer more in terms of extra values to win those sales. It is only because General Motors is great that it can maintain the research and improvement program responsible for such modern betterments as the Turret Top, the Unicel Body, No Draft Ventilation, Knee-Action and advanced Hydraulic Brakes.

CHRISTMAS

The students in that dormitory gathered around a Christmas tree for the annual songfest, and warbled carols through the hallways. Bell Hall will entertain the faculty at its usual Christmas dinner. Students will enjoy the usual refreshments and a special feature this year will be an exhibit of Christmas cards made by the students.

AND, SC-VICTORY

The arguments quoted thus far are now quoted in the seventeenth century. Alexander Hamilton was writing to the editors of New York, in an earnest letter, that without the insulation into the government of the theory of judicial review, the nation would be irrevocably bound toward the well-known evils of governmental despotism. He said that the courts ought to be considered the bulwark of limited, constitutional, and legislative encroachment. He continued that it was only natural to suppose that the courts designed as an intermediate body between the people and the legislature. In order, among other things to keep the latter within the limits assigned by their authority. The interpretation of law is then, he said, 'as the proper government of the judicial power, and the judges to ascertain the meaning of the constitution, as well as the meaning of any particular act proceeding from the legislature. The complete independence of the courts is sustained in limited constitutions.'

This argument, presented by Hamilton, a hundred and fifty years ago, is the same case presented by the modern conservatives today. The arguments against the Supreme Court have never been more complete than at present. There is no better chance to hear what the Supreme Court judges have to say.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The G. S. C. W. Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. David D'Andrea, gave its first concert of the season in church, Thursday evening.

The orchestra, in the following the plan of last year, is giving light orchestral concerts throughout the year, and it plans to concentrate on the heavier classics in a formal concert to be given later in the season.

Mr. D'Andrea stressed the idea of the orchestra being non-commercial at all times, so that people of all classes could afford to hear the music without being burdened with the cost of tickets.
