1-28-1939

Colonnade January 28, 1939

Colonnade

Follow this and additional works at: http://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the Mass Communication Commons

Recommended Citation
http://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade/285

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by Knowledge Box. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colonnade by an authorized administrator of Knowledge Box.
THESE PEOPLE MAKE NEWS

Vol. XIII 2122
Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Ga., Saturday, January 28, 1939
Number 14

The Colonnade

The space between Arts and Pi Beta Phi gave a perfect spot for the display of the Epsilon Pi Sigma picture. The display of the Epsilon Pi Sigma picture was an ideal place to "mix and mingle with a mob" and one of those who enjoyed the display was a student who was wearing a new coat. The coat was made of a material that was very popular in the fall season.

Williams And Earnest Join Debaters

Both Williams and Earnest were admitted to the Intercollegiate Debate Society last Tuesday evening on account of their scholarship and their interest in the subject. The two debaters will be on hand to present their cases at the upcoming debate.

Rev. A. W. Beasley Speaks Here On Youth Crusade

Rev. A. W. Beasley, who is connected with the Youth Crusade, sponsored by the Southern Methodist Church Association, will be the guest speaker at chapel on February 2 and 3.

Rev. Beasley, who graduated from Truett Seminary in Athens, Ga., is the pastor of Hobbs Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn. He has been writing literature for the Methodist Church, and appealing to young people as a continuation of the Youth Crusade Movement, which was started last year.

He will be the guest of the college from Thursday morning until Saturday morning, and plans have been made for him to speak to the Y groups, perhaps on Thursday night.

1000 Student Tickets Sold In Roosevelt Ball Drive

1000 tickets have been sold to G. C. S. W. and G. M. C. according to announcement. Friday night is the day the paper went to press.

The final number may be slightly in excess of the above number in the ticket contest did not close until early this morning.

Maxine Cameron's Professor of South Georgia College, Milton, State College is known as the woman with the dance of a great brain in the new gymnasium from eight to ten tonight.

The officers of the winning formers in the ticket contest will be featured in the lead-out.

Presbyterian Group Presents Play

The religious drama, "She Passed Through Braves," directed by J. W. Smith, will be presented Sunday evening at free of charge by members of the Presbyterian Student Group. Students of GCSU and their friends are invited to attend this service at the Presbyterian Church.

The underlying theme of this vivid and unusual play is the power of the Maker to reveal to those about him that hidden glory of good which is essential. The purpose of the drama is to depict the persecution from the very scum and sludge of the ancient world, and how even those in their debased and evil hearts the power of His personality could work a miracle of cleansing and purifying.

Three students in the play include Janie Hall, Mary E. Smith, and Robert C. Gibbs. The play will be presented in the Presbyterian Church with the performance beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Masqueraders Make Plans for "Stage Door"

"Stage Door" was selected by the Masqueraders Thursday night at the regular meeting of the club, and it will be produced at the exhibition of their presentation of the quarter. The play is about a group of girls members of the Footlight Club, who are struggling to live a great success. Neither the cast or the date of the play has been set yet.

Dr. Dawson was the guest speaker for the meeting. He gave an illuminating discussion of "A woman's Body in Business.""Radicalism" Cry Hinders South

IHR Speakers Analyze South's Dilemma

"The South is faced with a number of paradoxes which retard our progress toward the solution of our problems. Chief among these are that we are faced with a major problem of adjusting our economy and governmental policies to a new world, and are handicapped by an unusual proportion of citizens who express any departure in thought or deed from traditional ways," stated Dr. C. M. Destler, of the South Georgia State Teacher's College, opening the third Institute of Human Relations in chapel Thursday morning.

Dr. Destler took his topic "Perspective for Southern Problem" and outlined the principal paradoxes confronting the South, weighing the "advantages and disadvantages for Southern reorientation balancing liability against need.

As introductory speaker, he outlined the course of study to be followed for the remainder of the Institute.

Characterizing the recent in retrospect with the problems of the present Mr. Destler said, "The dead hand of the past opposes new (Continued on Page Four)

Students Do Red Cross Case Work

Margarette Jenkins, Milton McRae, Miss husband, Merle Clau, Margaret Weaver, Margaret Pena, Billy Moore, Yvonne Neely, Elizabeth Tennis, and Frances Cox, are doing volunteer Red Cross work in the Red Cross county under the supervision of Mrs. Reynolds, county head of public health work.

The girls are working in pairs, two girls to each case. The case is a family, underprivileged, under-educated, and often a serious health problem, which will be studied from every angle and an effort made to improve the conditions so far as facilities allow.

The purpose is to give the girls personal experiences in this type of work and with these conditions.

Maxwell Chosen

Treasurer Of Math Club

The Math Club held its regular monthly meeting Friday night, January 19. Dorothy Maxwell was elected treasurer by acclamation. Ann Hendrick, who resigned.

Miss McDaniel, math teacher and critic at the practice school spoke to the club on math in the high school. She particularly emphasized the importance of geometry in high school.

Y Secretary Gives Tea For 1 H R Officials

Miss Cynthia Mallory entertained with tea Friday afternoon in honor of the members of the Kappa Delta Rho Delta of the Institute of Human Relations. The tea is at 5:30 in the Kappa Delta Rho dorm.

Dr. H. C. Nixon, Dr. E. M. Hamil, and Mary Tipton give talks during the afternoon.

Other guests included Dr. Tull, Dr. Weis, Dr. Bolen, Dr. Shepherd, and members of the Y's train.

"Students Do Red Cross Case Work"}

Margarette Jenkins, Milton McRae, husband, Merle Clau, Margaret Weaver, Margaret Pena, Billy Moore, Yvonne Neely, Elizabeth Tennis, and Frances Cox, are doing volunteer Red Cross work in the Red Cross county under the supervision of Mrs. Reynolds, county head of public health work.

The girls are working in pairs, two girls to each case. The case is a family, underprivileged, under-educated, and often a serious health problem, which will be studied from every angle and an effort made to improve the conditions so far as facilities allow.

The purpose is to give the girls personal experiences in this type of work and with these conditions.
Why Don't We Think?

That thinking is becoming a serious health problem is evidenced by the following.

The fact that we think is not in itself necessarily bad. But the fact that we think without discrimination about what we think, that we think without any understanding of the results of our own thinking, is bad. It is a serious health problem because it leads to harmful actions and beliefs.

In the past, people thought about things in a disciplined and systematic way. They thought about what they were doing and what the results of that would be. They thought about the consequences of their actions and how those actions would affect others. They thought about how their actions would affect the world in general.

But today, people think about things in a much more haphazard and uncontrolled way. They think about things without any understanding of the results of their thinking. They think about things without any understanding of the consequences of their actions.

This lack of thinking is harmful because it leads to harmful actions and beliefs. It leads to actions and beliefs that are not in the best interests of the individual and society. It leads to actions and beliefs that are not in the best interests of the world as a whole.

So, why don't we think?

It is because we do think. We think about things too much. We think about things too haphazardly. We think about things without any understanding of the results of our own thinking. We think about things without any understanding of the consequences of our actions.

The result is that we end up thinking about things in a way that is harmful to ourselves and to others. We end up thinking about things in a way that is harmful to the world as a whole.

And this is why we don't think.
Alumnae Corner

Last week MAGGIE JENNINGS, SARA JORDAN FERRY, and MARGARET MEADERS were last in the process of leaving the campus to attend as guests the meeting of the Cobb County GSCW Club when a package was delivered to their door. Of course, they stopped to open it and found that it was a book entitled, "The First One Hundred Years" given to the College by the Cobb County Club. It is a history of Cobb County and Marietta, and has been placed in the library where it may be checked out for reading. The students here from Cobb County and Marietta might especially enjoy reading this book which contains many of things never before published about their locality.

When the campus representative reached Marietta, they went to the home of IRENA DORES FOWLER, '31, where the club meeting was held in the form of a luncheon. EIGHTY MEMBERS, president, presided over the program given before thirty-eight people. JOSIE BOWIE (Mrs. W. F.) Fowle, '25, member of the first graduating class, welcomed the out-of-town guests who listened to the brief talks.

The GSC representatives learned that the club has an average membership of twenty active members. Edith Manning says she has never asked any one member to do anything for them and had her say "no." Definitely a record of some sort!

The luncheon was a delightful affair, with the color scheme of green and gold being followed in the table decorations, place cards, and flowers.

Several visitors were present, some of whom had met with the Club before, one of whom was EVANGELINE CLEMENTS (Mrs. Claude) McCray, '18, who has recently been established in Marietta where she runs Government work. Many alumnae will remember Mrs. McCray because since her graduation she has made several talks on commencement programs and has always remained exceedingly interested in the College.

A letter which came to the alumnae office a few days ago announced the birth of ELISE MURPHY (Mrs. P. D.) Nielson's new baby girl, Frances Virginia, who was born at the Georgia Baptist Hospital in Atlanta. These alumnae who knew Elise will remember that she was elected "Most Beautiful" girl on the commencement white; we are sure her baby will continue the family tradition. If you would like to write her a card, her address is Box 196, Cameron, South Carolina.

On January 1, MARY WILSON JOLLEY was married to R. W. Harper at Christ Church, St. Simon's Island, Ga. They are at home to their friends at 264 North Lynx St., Wadsworth, Ohio.

THE NOT SO MERRY MAIDENS
(Continued from Page Five)

expression of a good plowshare's death agony.

When we had circumnavigated a couple of blocks, we suggested that we map out our return route.

The last time we got back to where we had started, we were all joking and had decided that a life of sin was going to be amusing.

As the last of us were enthralling the pigeons overgirded because the night watchman was bearing down on us with a look in his eye that ignited, "Aha, customers!"

The next thing we knew he was requesting in the politest possible that the young lasses please give him their names.

To be continued next week.

"(Tell how or if Ross, Evelyn and Peggy got off that dilemma in installment Ill of the not so merry incidents appearing in next week's Colonnade. Will they continue their program of licentiousness or lose a month's allowance?)

HOLD EVERYTHING
Roller: You can't get stuck are you, buddy?
Recruit: Not exactly, but I'd have hate to own.

Chesterfield

Copyright 1935, Lottaud & Moss Tracing Co.

Declination of a double chin—two old maids talking to each other.

New Shipments In All New Spring Shades

Dove Down HOSE.

Price

79C-$1.00-$1.15

As

G & L

DRESS SHOP

And Beauty Parlet