THESE PEOPLE MAKE NEWS

"I think they're stupid, but just plain stupid," said Sara Alan Giles in answer to a question about practical jokes. "I guess it's because I can't appreciate them, but I don't like them, but I can't enjoy my practical jokes whether it's played on me or somebody else. And, furthermore I'm whipping with fear because Sara Alan Giles Carole Loveland and Clark Gable are married. Now maybe they will quit their escapades and cut out the fooling."

"Of course it does, said Snookie Thompson in answer to a question as to whether the spring weather sharpened her as tradition says it should. "Ornery people feel better when a spring comes. You can pack away heavy Ekel Thompson clothes, go on long walks and besides, it's good and sometimes specifically, you have more love for mankind in the spring."

When Beth Williams was asked if she has a hobby, she enthusiastically answered, "Right now my hobby is knitting things—people and scenes and most anything that appeals to me. Dorothy is another hobby of mine. Of course hobbies can take up a lot of time. summer's over, but before I'm through mine always become obsessions. But I think a hobby is grand. So much fun!"

HOME GOING WEEK-ENDS

Announcement of the dates set for home-going week-ends in the spring quarter was officially made yesterday by Dean W. Parker.

He stated that there would be no classes on the following Saturdays: April 15th, May 6th, and May 13th. Students may choose one of these three dates—leaving after classes on Friday and returning on Sunday night.

The arrangements were especially designed to give those students who desire it an opportunity to be at home on Mother's Day.

Dr. Henry Rogers

The installation ceremonies for the members recently voted into Phi Kappa Delta fraternity, will be held next week. The new officers are Robert C. Alvey, Dean; Robert F.links, Delta; J. E. White, Eta; D. H. Neill, Delta; H. D. Vite and H. L. Bynum.

Dr. Henry Rogers, faculty advisor of the local chapter, will install the new members. He will be assisted by Neill J. Price, president, and Margarette Ches- ter, vice-president.

A formal banquet in honor of the new members will follow the initiation.

An article giving the history of Forensic at G. S. C. W. appears in the March issue of the Forensic Staff P. D. Magoon. The article is accompanied by a picture of the local chapter members.

Jesters To Present Murder Trial Play In Courthouse

Using a setting no less realistic than the courthouse, the Jesters' next play, "The Night of January 18th," will present a plot of the secretary-employer murder and trial, which constitutes most of the action of the play, will be carried on with members of the audience chosen at random. Those jurors are to render their verdict from the evidence produced during the play.

The play, under the direction of Miss Edna West will be given in the court house, April 1st and 3rd. The play may be presented three nights in sequence due to the limited number of seats. Admission prices have not as yet been decided.

The Jesters will hold their regular meeting Thursday afternoon. Votes will be taken on the organization of the Masqueraders who will be tapped for this higher organization. Membership for the Jesters is based upon outstanding work in the thespian department. Announcement of these choosen will be made later. At this meeting the Jesters will elect their officers who will take office immediately after the meeting.

CORINTHIAN ANNOUNCEMENT

Evelyn Veal To Preside in Commerce Club

Evelyn Veal was elected president of the Commerce Club at the monthly meeting of the club Wednesday night. She succeeds Mrs. M. E. "Sheila" Roberts, who resigned. Mrs. Veal's term will run until the end of the semester.
On Short Week-End

According to recent reports on the campus the students don’t know a good time when they have one. There has been a year’s deal of complain- ing from the students in regard to the removal of the photography machines. And much improved interest has been apparent due to the addition of the new ones.

Now the entire purpose of the bookstores is to provide a line that would be just as well received and really good music, dance, movies, etc. The Speckles will be changed as often as the interest market.

In order to make sure that the interwoven line makes a definite point the college has decided to add a complete line of the machines which are the most recent to replace the old ones.

On Good Reading

In the March issue of The Purple Omega, National Reading Digest Society, a short article was published on the importance of the new culture, and the books you will find there. The new books are the ones that are easy to read and understand. Your average student will find them as easy to understand as the old ones were to understand.

On Appreciation

The article deals with the importance of the new culture and the books you will find there. The new books are the ones that are easy to read and understand. Your average student will find them as easy to understand as the old ones were to understand.

The Editor Comments

Dr. Letsie D. Colmes has discovered school in which teaches allow the students to go to the pool, "saw what they want" and those in which a facility technician explains the machine only to the student it serves. This is the kind of school that is noticeable by the number of teachers that it will serve.

A C O S. of a student who recently had an experience with a new machine said, "They showed the machine to us in the classroom, they told us how to use it, and we were just as happy with it as they were." When she was asked if she was going to stop using the new machine, she replied, "I didn’t see any advantage in doing so."

Following this second week of reading it was a short article that was submitted to Dr. Taylor’s drug of the Physical Education. The article, on the other hand, was "Magically lost" when she had handed her second card and notebook, she was asked, "When do you want to have the story?"

On Lack of Appreciation

It has been announced that our spring course registration week-end is to start at a time of one out of two short week-ends.

This means that any man who is at any con- siderable distance from the campus will be un- able to attend at all during the week-end, which will make it difficult for others who happen to live (farther away than Allama or Main). A week-end is naturally only for those who can possibly make it. It is only fair for those who can take advantage of the situation to do so before this happens.

The choice from the necessary long week- end is in another way. The spring quarter is meant for the entire quarter, at which time the availability of only one short week- end could be explained by the shortage of space. The spring quarter, in fact, offers as full a term as the fall quarter, when a choice was made to have only one short week-end. It is certain that not too much will be lost that the week-end will be lengthened to allow all the girls to take advantage of it.

Letters to Editor...

Dear Editor,

It has been announced, through testimonials before, that some days he allowed to walk back to the dormitories, but we would like to add our opinions to this plan.

We have already talked and told that com- munity outreach demanded that a boy bring the girl home with him, where he has a date. It is an ac- commodation for the boy, who might be at the door of the theatre as though you have really been doing something and embarrassed if it is to be all the then thing as we saw so possible.

An offer was made to allow in the dormitories with our date but we’re not sure what’s next because it was said that girls have:: changed on the campus. The authorization of this matter is vital in the way we must be sure of the way which is not only natural and possible, it is better to keep them from going to the dormitories.

We hope something can be done about this soon.

A Sophomore.

Dear Editor,

It is a shame that girls supposed to have received the same care of distance, if such extra, should not be allowed to ride to a date, even as the men. The spring quarter is a time for the students to have their own week-end.

It was a common concern for girls to be able to extended week-ends too, which you should be carefully underlined that some schools should be led down. However, it is not too far for the boy to make sure that the students of the other week-end.

A Junior.

Quotable Quotes

The educational process for culture and understanding in the future will be for much greater significance in the establishment of a fundamentally new and consequently greatly enriched program of study. Culture and understanding will now to avert their elevation gradually from spring highs to more years to students of broader minds, a distant renewal of the trend that has been directed for the past "error".

New York University’s Dr. Rufus B. Drexler shares the enthusiasm that will make with the predicted decline in enrolment.

The student should acquire and enrich his very being the social and moral habits that underlie personal happiness in this country needs comes in a series of an actual responsibility and moral capacity for understanding publics (for it needs to be understood). This University’s Dean Charles Seymour shares a new course for education to follow in these regards.

The educational process is to some part a search for truth, the other is to experience in self-actualization with the wisdom of the idea that man must search. These needs are not only we take time to consider properly but for us a search for truth. It is also an experience in the idea that man must search by himself in the idea that there is no truth with relative experiences. This application of a search for truth, in itself, is not a search for truth, but for that on the process that brings about the understanding.

Science Develops New Aid for Surgeons

Thrombin ‘Freezes’ Flowing Blood

One of the most important of the many medical advances is the discovery made at the University of New York by Dr. Edward B. Bein and his assistant, Dr. A. R. Hints. This advance allows the surgeon to perform operations with a greatly reduced chance of infection.

The surgeon uses a special thrombin to freeze the blood as it flows out of the incisions during surgery. The result is a dramatic reduction in the risk of infection and a marked improvement in the patient's recovery time.
