THESE PEOPLE MAKE NEWS

When we went to the Chemistry lab to interview Frances Turner, the whirling science faculty group around. "Have you come to ask another one of those silly questions?" Frances greeted and continued, "What with Happy Day, I've not got the time to shut up about any questions. I've worn out, I can't even think. In fact, I couldn't even give you any philosophy of life, you know. If you're a lousy lousy physics life isn't all necessary and you never know how it's all over but the shouting."

"Why of course, I've got a statement to make for the press." Dr. Bess, who was standing behind her and was told that picture would be in The Colonnade. "You can say for me that there is supposed to be a great scandal among department chairs, trustees and even photographers. It's a dirty deal not to let me know until it is too late to leave town."

It seems that this was a very, very bad week for interviews. When we phoned Mrs. M. E. Bess, she was very sorry: 'I had planned to talk to you myself, but I didn't think much of the interview, I was looking forward to it."

ATTEND FLORIDA STUDENT MEET

Harriet Hudson, president of GCSA, and Virginia Collier, administratives to Student Counsel, left Thursday to attend the Florida Student Government Association convention in Gainesville, Florida. Although the convention has formerly included Florida colleges and universities only, this year colleges in surrounding states have been invited to send delegates also.

Similar to the Charlotte convention held April 10-12, the convention in Gainesville was a joint convention of the Florida Intercollegiate Press Association (student meeting) and the Florida Student Government Association (student council meeting). It began at ten o'clock on Friday morning and closed Saturday afternoon. The main program of the convention was based on four panel discussions, with student speakers or discussion leaders. Entertainment was provided by a student dance show and a student talent show.

300 PLACE PINE WREATH ON HERTY'S GRAVE IN TRIBUTE

Three hundred students participated in the opening activity of the Happy Day program here this afternoon. Joining with the Georgia Academy of Science group, they visited the cemetery and, as a tribute to Dr. Charles H. Herty, placed a Georgia pine wreath on his grave. The Chemistry Club, sponsors of this seventh annual celebration of Happy Day, entertained the orators and GCSA faculty at a four-coursed meal with tea at "Westover," home of Dr. and Mrs. C. Lindsey.

Continuing the activities tonight, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Miles will host a dinner at a campus in the Baptist Hall of the old Executive Mansion. Following this will be the presentation of the Happy Award in the Russell auditorium and an address by Dr. Frank H. Cameron, director of the museum. Mr. Cameron, a member of the faculty of the University of North Carolina, received this award because of his outstanding work in agriculture and in the fields of education.

PANKE KNOX IS NEW MANAGING EDITOR '39-'40

A two vote margin placed Panke Knox in the office of managing editor of the Colonnade at a meeting Thursday afternoon. This election followed the resignation of Catherine Covannah, named managing editor at the regular staff elections last month. Catherine resigned her position on the staff as editor of the Spectrum for the next school year.

Starting against Panke were Alice Pounds and America Smith, who tied--two votes behind the winning candidate. Since Panke already held the photographic editor's position on the paper, she will appoint her assistant to help her do this photographic work. Since all freshmen, there is no one trained to do all of it.

Panke is the daughter of Provost W. Y. Knox, of the education department, and live in Milledgeville. She is Secretary of (Continued on page five)
Voting for Week-Ends
A golden opportunity presents itself to the students, who is a fervently hopeful, will take it by the forelock. As announced elsewhere in the paper, the executive committee is presenting a list of four promising weekends to the student body soon to be viewed on the pads. It has been arranged so that one of the four will fall on the annual coronation and one that will maybe become an annual feature of the Collegeton calendar.

For the four week-ends, one week before Thanksgiving, the students suddenly decide that they want to be near and form, and a general unreasonableness of course. It is a chance to get up the whole education better.

Should we want one pad or the other, it is important that we decide now, to be present not the same, too late. Don't miss up the information for the week before the Pad, for there will be no Pad of the students. It will be written into the Pad of the week before the Pad, and the Pad of the week before. The Pad may be made early and for the week end is destined in the Pad of the students.

The Pad is to be held on or near Thanksgiving, in the Pad of the students, and one Pad of the students to be held on the Pad of the Pad, to Thursday at 3:30 P.M., and a Pad of the students is also scheduled for the Pad of the students.

My Pad is to be held on a Pad of the Pad, and a Pad of the Pad of the students will be held on the Pad of the Pad. The Pad is also to be held on a Pad of the Pad, and a Pad of the Pad of the students will be held on the Pad of the Pad.
