On Elections

The wonder, the shock, the worry about elections is ended now. 1961-1942 officials of College Government Association have been chosen and to the students elected we offer congratulations. They have shown a lack, a hard work, their uncommonly satisfying student demands for more privilege and avoiding the unnecessarily large proportions. Few are the student leaders who have succeeded in bridging satisfactorily the gap between students and administration officials. We sincerely hope that the students who recently voted succeed in working harmoniously with the different campus groups and we believe they can.

On Crusades

Mary are the changes we would like to see effected on this campus, but since the desire to crusade has left us, we refrain from offering suggestions to those who might be interested.

Included in our list of changes which we believe would make GOW a better college are: open the library stacks to all students; add on an auditorium; abolish the 10 a.m. classes; adopt a system of absence based on educational averages; abolish Upper Class as it now functions; allow student votes on the Faculty-Student Relations committee, and increase our semi-weekly chapel into one, hourly chapel weekly, the programs of which would be chosen by a committee of students and faculty members.

QUIPS AND QUIBBLES

A PROMISE KEPT

"If I promise to be a good girl, I won't leave my pet Golden Retriever in the car."

I'm not sure why I thought that was a good idea. But then I remembered that my pet Golden Retriever doesn't have a pet Golden Retriever. And that's when I decided I was a good girl and kept my promise. And I also decided that I should probably take my pet Golden Retriever with me everywhere I go.

VERISIMILITUDE

"I always have to be precise. I mean, I always have to be accurate. If I say, 'I'm going to be there in five minutes,' I always am."

I'm not sure if that's really true. I mean, sometimes I say I'm going to be there in five minutes and then I have to reschedule because I forgot something. But I always try to be precise. It's just important to me to be accurate.

DO YOU KNOW THE RULES?

"I'm not really sure what the rules are. I mean, they're all vague and confusing."

I think that's true. I mean, I've never really understood the rules. I mean, I know what I'm supposed to do, but I don't know why I'm supposed to do it. And I'm not sure if I'm doing it right. But I always try to follow the rules. It's just important to me to know what I'm supposed to do.

THE COLUMNIST

"The Columnist is a great column. I mean, I always look forward to reading it."

I think that's true. I mean, I always look forward to reading the Columnist. It's always interesting and informative. And I think it's a great column. I mean, I always look forward to reading it. But I'm not sure if I always look forward to reading it. I mean, I sometimes forget to look forward to reading it. But I still think it's a great column. I mean, I always look forward to reading it.

Begins Study Anew

After 24 Years

AMES, Iowa (ACP) Here’s a story that should make Joe College and Betty Cowd more deeply appreciate their educational opportunities.

Martin Ochrech, 47 year old Hazian, Iowa, junior, recently moved to the Iowa State College campus in his new automobile, accompanied by his wife and two sons, and announced his plan of taking up his college career when he dropped it because of financial difficulties 24 years ago.

In intervening years Ochrech has acquired a large cattle farm.

His determination to complete his college education, Ochrech explained, was given impetus by failing health which made it impossible for him to do the heavy farm work.

Radio then loaned around and pay someone else to do my work. I thought I would do better to get into some line of work that I can do,” he said.

“When I finished my two-year course at Iowa State, I was eager to go on and get my master’s degree and finally teach myself husbandry in some small college. This is work that my health will allow and work that I’ve always wanted to do.”

As soon as he had made up his mind, Ochrech said, he held an auction sale and disposed of 40 head of livestock, his farm equipment and supplies. Then he leased his farm for the duration of his college course, bought a new car and drove it to Ames.
