College Life Is Theme For Texas Dance Group

BY ANN WATERSTON

March 20 is the date Dr. Annie Schuyler Dugan, President of the National Physical Therapy Association, will conduct a lecture-demonstration on that afternoon at the University's Education Building. All who are interested in the dance and its influence will be able to take part in the demonstration. Tuesday night at 8:15 Dr. Dugan will conduct a recital in Russell auditorium. Admission will be free to all students, faculty and town people who are interested in the recital.

One of the groups of dance that will be the subject of this recital is the CAMPUS SUITE, which is composed of dancers developed on campus and dedicated to student life on the Texas State campus. "Registration" commemorates the tribute to the group's efforts in the construction and the dedication of the suite. It is the work of the entire group, including the dancers, with a few additional members of Talon staff. It reviews the activities of the suite, a few of the activities of the suite, and the dedication of the suite. It will be presented on March 21, at 8:00 in Russell auditorium.

Nino Martini Appears Here In Concert Series March 24

Nino Martini, young leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, will appear here in concert Monday, March 24, under the auspices of the Cooperative Concert Association, which will be in Russell auditorium at 8:30.

At the age of ten, the gentleman of Verona started horseback riding at the famous Camp Della Fiera, and singing. He sang soreffusso by his teacher, the local choirmaster, insisted that he sing at 12, while he could not ruin his voice. Martini was later solicited and a member of the choir of San Ferronzo's church.

The performances in which Martini made his operatic debut at 21 as the Don Alvaro in "Rigoletto" so inspired the audience that he was immediately signed for "I Puritani," an opera that had not been sung for over 50 years in its original key because one of the tenor arias called for F above high C. His sensational success in "Puritani" resulted in 16 successful performances in Milan. Then he went on a concert tour of Europe, and in Paris, he met Dame Lasky.

The "papagenos" he impersonated come from America for five concerts.

We're Killing Ourselves, Not Dieing, Says H. Siehl
STOP KILLING YOURSELF
Herald S. Siehl

By JANICE OXFORD

"Man does not die; he kills himself," wrote Dr. H. Siehl. Man hasn't quit it, yet, either. This same slogan, the whole article is particularly appropriate at this time, for about half of us are probably planning to do ourselves in some way.

We simple abuse of health is as widespread as smoking. In spite of all the grandiose talk about college foods, funny troubles of the throat, the amount of carbohydrates, fats and proteins are converted into fat and cause obesity. The foreign best way to be almost sure of being re- pounded to an insurance company is to be greatly over-weight.

This stress and strain of the Twentieth Century bring it's "Burry" reply with a capital 'B'. You wake in the morning and hurry to breakfast, you hurry to class (if you try to hurry through lessons), hurry through lunch, run through dinner, and hurry at work. greatest the greatest advantage you should find in the best little man you know, is that he's almost a moron with his whole built-in universe. "Worry is another nuisance on the road on which you ride without observing the stones. You trip over something just too much emotion, a fizzle. Worry is almost a medieval, and doth not contain a potential enemy. reducing irritating expend-

Collegians Advocate Aiding Britain by Lease-Lend Bill

AUSTIN, Texas March 8—The belief that the United States must help England on a lease-lend basis, trust in a British victory, and faith that democracy will survive—those are three patent manifestations of current collegiate thought expressed through Student Opinion Surveys of America.

Sampling a representative cross section of campuses, the Surveys interview typical students, presenting three queries that cover one of the most crucial problems ever faced by the U. S. These were the questions, and the majority answers given by American college youth:

1. It has been suggested that the U. S. allow Britain to have planes, guns, and other war materials on a lease or rental basis, with no cash payment. These materials would be returned or replaced with new equipment when the war is over. Do you approve or disapprove of the plan?

APPROVE, said 61 percent.

APPROVE, said 66 percent.

APPROVE, said 71 percent.

Thus, an overwhelming preponderance of the members of college age today,

... who may be among those most vitally affected by the war in the future, are represented. Fully confident that the days ahead are not as dark as some of their adult contemporaries have them believe. There is no doubt, the poll shows, that most students are convinced the C. S. will have to aid Britain, even if there is no cash payment. "Refusing to help Britain would be like sticking our heads in the sand," remarked a Rochester University senior.

Surprisingly enough, the one-third of the national enrollment opposed to handing British aid materials without payment is generally not concerned with the danger of actual involvement in the war that we are told the President's plan, now in Congress, would bring. The reason most opponents expressed was that: "We'll get stuck with another war debt; England won't be able to repay us."

Section by section, the interviewers working with the Surveys covered the entire nation in this study. In the West Central and Far Western states there appears to exist greater amounts of disapproval to the President's aid to Britain proposal.

First figure percent approved; second disapprove: New England, 64-36; Middle Atlantic, 64-36; East Central, 76-24; South, 76-24; Far West, 60-40.

Seven Students Confined to Hospital

Fear of being confined to the hospital during Spring holidays has decreased the number of students entering treatment. Only seven are patients at Park Memorial this week.

The students are: Eloise Helm, Martha Hancock, Norma Underwood, Winnie Castleberry, Mary Jane Dupree, Charlotte Jackson and Mary Nelle Wetherington.

Shultz Says To Spread Medical Word

"We don't need more medical knowledge—we have enough of that but we need to transfer that knowledge to those that need it," Dr. Robert Y. Shultz, new head of the educational division of the Georgia Department of Public Health, told health students in the Physical Education building Friday, Feb. 25.
