Anniversary
At Reception

Sunday afternoon, June 1, Dr. and Mrs. Guy Wells will celebrate their silver anniversary with a reception at the Moore home from 4:00 until 7:00. About 350 guests, including the GWU faculty, class presi- dents, presidents of the main organizations, and our out-of-town friends of Eastman, Aug- gusta, Columbus, Griffin, Dublin, Dalton, Savannah, Macon, Athens, and various other towns will be present.

Members of the orchestra directed by Mr. Lloyd Oct- land and the sextet from the Auscell Guild will furnish a musical program. The sextet, which includes Lena Bowens, Augusta Slupeg, Margaret Bland, Virginia Kykbas, Sa- rah Vaughn, and Ann Gaynor will sing songs that were popular 20 years ago.

A representative from ev- ery town in which Dr. and Mrs. Wells have lived since their marriage will assist in serving and entertaining. These towns are Lumpini, Richmond, Donaldsville, East- man, Statesboro, and Milwaledge. The color scheme to be used is green, white, and silver.

The first of the numerous messages of congratulations was a telegram sent May 17 by Mrs. W. Y. Atkinson.

CGS Selects
Slater Treasurer

Joyce Slate has been ap- pointed treasurer for College Government to take the place of Elizabeth Kite, who recent- ly resigned his position.

Next year the new standing committees of CGS that will be composed of five members each will be hand- ed over to the following: Mary Alice McNair, chairman of the point record- Committee; Anna Stain, chairman of the chapel com- mittee; Virginia Cullar, Chair- man of the student council; and Elizabeth Upshaw, chairman of the social committee.

Alpha Psi Initiates Nine New Members

At the conclusion of the initia- tion Alpha Psi Omga, dramatic society, their annual banquet was given Thursday night in Rome Coffee Shop. Dr. Max Swearingen was the principal speaker.

Officers of Alpha Psi are Marion Calpugger, Beth Wil- liams, and Mildred Clevin. The recently initiated members are Davee Chandler, Jean Russell, Sara Pool, Ncdalmul Hillbreck, Barbara Conn, Blanche Layton, Blanche Mul- drow, Florence Stagleton and Carrie Bailey. One-Day Trips Based On Scholarship:
Seniors Given More Unexcused Absences

The campus regulations which have been changed for the coming year have been passed by the Faculty-Student Relations Board and the Executive Committee. A committee from College Government has been working on the following changes:

Seniors Give Formal Dance
Friday Night

Next Friday night the seniors will swing out for their last class dance to the music of the Asheville Fieldmen. The door will be held in the gymnasium from 9 till 1 o'clock.

Neil Rayburn, president of the senior class, and her escort will head the headway, followed by the other class officers and seniors with their dates.

Since the dance is to be formal, simple and tasteful decorations have been chosen, featuring the senior colors, green and white. Favors in white boxes tied with green ribbon will carry the colors of the gymnastics. A huge white academic cap, inscribed with the figures 1941, will adorn the band stand. The canopy under which couples will form will be white taffeta and silk. For the minstrels, white eared pluming academic caps and diplomas will be used.

CAMPUS REGULATIONS:

B. Unchanged, except for:

1. Junior and senior students planning to take programming examinations, lights may be changed any one hour after an examination, if a special request is made to the Dean of Women. The request must be priv- ileged to visit in other years unless special permission has been granted them.

2. By majority vote of the residents any upperclass de- mocracy may adopt study hall regulations of their own, if satisfactory to residents.

3. Changed except (Town Hall)

A. Students are permitted to substitute without penalty any week-end trip away from the campus, if satisfac- tory to the college, provided no classes are missed and a special permit is presented.

4. One-day Trips:

a. Students having an average of two quality points per course or better may be allowed two one-day trips per quarter away from Milwood- ville on Sundays and/or Sat- urdays of home-going week- ends with parents, legal, gen- eral, or their equivalent, as responsible chaperones.

b. Such students are allowed one additional one-day trip away from Milwoodville each quarter any Sundays or Saturdays of home-going week-ends. Chaperones of extra or able-bodied students are not required in that states Where, with taken- and by what mode of travel students expect to go and return.

c. Freshmen and transfers are allowed no more than two one-day trips during the current academic year.

GADABOUT
By BEATRICE LAYTON

Saturday, April 13, I have heard some of the most sincerest compliments of my work on the campus. Those students who have taken the time to talk to me have been especially appreciative of my efforts. I am grateful for their encouragement and feel it is my duty to continue providing good service to them.

I have been reading a lot lately, which has resulted in a steep decline in my social life. I think it's time I took the initiative and reached out to others to make new friends.

CGA Constitution Adds

Four New Committees

Changes in the CGA constitution have been made and approved for 1941-42 by Student Council. The complete constitution appears in the 1941-42 handbook but only the changes are listed below:

The purpose of the amendment shall be to preserve the highest standards of honor and integrity in all matters of personal conduct and scholarship, to increase the sense of individual responsibility, and to encourage cooperation between the faculty and student in all matters, to create and enforce here concerning the conduct and general community. Students in lower intelligence will learn and be able to regulate their own behavior by sticking to the rules, and to present the case for making the duties of active citizens more familiar in their respective communities.

Article IV, General Organization:

Section 1, Officers (until apotite of Officers)

Section 2, Committees

Section 3, Standing committees of the Student Council shall be:

a. Student Council
b. Extra-curricular Committee

c. Social Committee

d. Executive Committee

e. Eligibility for holding office: Non-membership shall be the first consideration.

f. All changes in the qualifications of officers shall be made at the annual meeting of the Student Council.

2. The annual meeting shall be held in the spring of each year, and a quorum of seven members shall be necessary to transact business.

College Fun Predominates
In Memories of '41

BY GINGER SNAPS

Another year has passed—1941 is now history! As we have gone from day to day, we have added realism that scrapbook memories are in the making. Now that our college days are over for the year, let's glance back at the gay times we've had together.

Indulging in midnight feasts, dressing for concerts and banquets, and gleaming over the Easter course all have become a definite part of this college life. Sometimes, we believe that the thoughts that linger with us from these events will be remembered longer than that history date or the gram-nu. role.

Do you remember way back in September when you were breaking your neck, pushing over frills of last year? Remember, in the rush of things, how you lost your trinket, your registration card, and your ten faithful bobby pins?

Unpacking was one of those tirassome occasions that ushered in the first week. Clothes were strewn everywhere. Old taxi books were brought back just in case. It's a collegiate miracle how you got around to your purpose here, which is, incidentally, attending classes.

The annual hike was scheduled, and on the annual hike you went! Wasn't it fun eating such supper and drinking well water? Wasn't it refreshing to sit in the middle of the lake in a boat and feel the soft breeze?

Parent's Day only, but you thought the family would never get there. They said they enjoyed it so much but not half as much as you did.

Things took on a new meaning as you lead us through Religious Emphasis week. Such fine talks gushed us on to better thinking and better living.

Remember how Blanche Mullrow and Mr. Leo Luns- ler gave us excellent performances in "Oedipus, the King"? Now is the time when we must bid adieu to our '41 college fun. Maybe we haven't studied as hard as we should have done, but wasn't it Robert Louis Stevenson who said: "The better to have traveled happily than to have arrived"?

Graduation Of The Class Of 1941 Held

Mary Patrick, editor of the Pelhamian, was elected by the senior class of Peabody High School to speak at the graduation exercises which were held Thursday evening, May 25, in Russell auditorium.

Miss Ethel Adams presented the D. A. R. citizenship and history medal. Miss Mildred English, superintendent of Peabody, delivered the diplomas and certificates to 46 graduates. On Tuesday, June 3, the seniors will leave for Washington, D.C. on their annual class trip.

privilege, why did the committee see how much more incentive it would be for the whole school to give us four extra cups and another week-end to Dean's List students? No definite reasons were given for refusal and another privilege, needed for that was on the same basis, was granted by the committee. Words can not express the disgust which we, the students, feel when we try to find some way of improving our standards and then receive no cooperation or even minute suggestions.

Day Trips

The other important change that was made refers to one-day trips. A student, passing all her courses, is allowed as one-day trip with her family and a third with anyone approved by her parents—this means we may take such a trip with a date. All such trips are based on scholastic standing and a student who fails the preceding quarter will have no trips from the campus except home-going week-ends.
