Dear Parents,

Welcome to RWJU. We’re sure that on the free page we have several new faces. Perhaps some old faces will be back as well. We welcome your return this year, and hope to serve you well.

All parents are interested in their children’s education. The entire campus is open for inspection today. This is an opportunity to meet the teachers, students, and staff. You might even discuss ways to improve your daughter’s school experience. This is a good time to talk with the teachers about your daughter’s progress.

You are invited to tour the campus with us. This tour will begin at 10:00 AM and conclude at 3:00 PM. Please let us know if you cannot make it to the tour, or if you would like to schedule a private tour.

Sincerely,

Second Library, Seldom Used, Offers Unusual Material

By Catherine Fisk

When a student nowadays asks to do the library he usually goes to the college library because he thinks that’s the only place to find the material he needs. But, the student library is usually full of shelves and books and a living community of people.

Freshman Y Club Discusses Religion

Linda Holland, editor of the freshman magazine "The Colophon," says that "religion is a very important part of a college experience." The Y Club meets weekly to discuss religion and other topics.

"We are a club for everyone," said Linda. "We discuss religion, philosophy, and science, and we try to find out what it means to be a college student.

NYA News

By MONIQUE HUANG

Two programs are being planned for the NYA this year. The first is a community service project, and the second is a social event.

The NYA is a community service organization that provides volunteers to help people in need.

"We are very proud of our work," said NYA President John Lee. "We believe that everyone has the right to be treated with dignity and respect.

Campus Sportations

By Margaret Williams

Welcome Partiers: The women of the freshman class may be surprised to learn that the freshman class is not the only one involved with student affairs. The sophomore class has its own activities and organizations as well.

"We are a very active class," said Sophomore Club President Mary Johnson. "We have a variety of events and activities planned for the year, and we encourage everyone to participate.

Rec Holds Annual Recognition Services

The recognition services of the Recreational Association were held Friday morning in chapel to recognize the students with the organization.

The president, Doris Warnock, introduced the officers and the co-officer members who are: Martha Daniel, president-elect of College Government, and Mary Jeanne Sweeney, president of TWC. She also introduced Miss Grace Pettis as the "valuable friend and adviser" of the Recreation Association.

The three presidents of the upper classes and a freshmen representative came to the stage to accept their class flags which are symbols of the spirit of competition and good fun in the school. Each class will display it's flag during the season of each team sport. Competition works like this: The seniors change the junior to a senior, the seniors last and put their signets' flag. Then they change the sophomore and best them, so they get the sophomore flag. But say the freshmen come along and beat the seniors, then they get all the flags, but until the other three classes challenge the freshmen and try to get back their flags.

Three flags will be placed in the Physical Education building in the hall on the other side of the post office.
