Faculty Reveals Summer Plans

Students are not the only people on the GSCW campus who are looking forward to summer. Many of the faculty members have made tentative plans for the approaching vacation.

Miss Dorothy A. Arley, Spanish instructor, is going to teach in and to visit Mr. John A. Thompson, director of Latin American Relations, at Louisiana State University during the summer. The program in which Miss Arley will take part is for the benefit of Latin American students who wish to study at L.E.O., or other universities.

The course will include English composition, grammar, conversation, and sociology to orientate the Latin American to North American civilization and speech.

Miss Chipp, teacher of physical education, will spend eight weeks in Beverly, North Carolina at Camp Catawba as director of this camp. This is the camp which Miss Nessa, housemother of Sanford Hall, has been mother of Sanford for the last three years. Maxine housemother, will serve as director for the camp. Miss Chipp has had fourteen summers of camp experience, and several GSCW girls will assist her as counselors.

Mrs. Kenneth Towne, head of the Health Department, has decided to spend the summer in North Carolina in leisure and play, such as her health will allow. She also does some writing and painting.

Another health teacher, Miss Louise Smith will assist in the Health Education Workshop at Florida State College for Women in Talahassee.

Mr. Leo Loncher, of "Angel Street" college production fame, will produce and direct the period piece, Pink Fish, Wiscassett. With these teachers as typical examples, the summer vacation period for the GSCW will be a varied and interesting one for the faculty.

Offers Activity For Students

Rev. Charles Jones of Chapel Hill, N. C., was the speaker at the "Y" Vespers Monday evening, May 20. Many students may recall that Rev. Jones visited this campus in 1944 during Religious Emphasis Week.

During his short stay here he made many friends among the students, faculty and staff.

A Presbyterian minister, Rev. Jones is very interested in students and student work. While he was here he spoke in chapel Tuesday morning.

On Monday, May 20, the "Y" members and nearby college voyager members will be Dr. Hugh Bronn of Athens. Dr. Bronn is a faculty member of Oglethorpe University. Students all over the state know and love Dr. Bronn for his friendly manner, witty remarks and pleasing personality. The session on religion for youth and respect for Christian ideals fitting youth have made him a leader in the religious educational centers of communities.

Books Donated to Library

Members of the Literary Guild attended the Book Fair in Atlanta recently. There they selected two books as a gift from the Guild for the library. One, George F. Williams' Banks and Barons, describes the other The Great Depression, by Noel Hamill. Both of these have been inscribed and may be checked out for reading.

Dramatic Club Admits Seventeen

Many new freshmen, some who have never been in a play before, were accepted into the GSCW college. This adds fourteen new students for the Dramatic Club. The new members include girls with various majors and numerous interests. A member of the organization, Miss Patricia Thompson, is a member of the Vaisia and is a member of the Dramatic Club.

A Letter From Manhattan

Mrs. Charles W. Hamill, assistant vice president of the New York University, has written a letter to the GSCW students. She says, "I was in New York last night and saw the GSCW play. The GSCW students have a fine organization and a fine group of students. We are proud of the GSCW students and the way they conduct their activities."

---35 College Papers Invited To Meet Held Here---

For the first time in four years the Collegiate Press of the University of Georgia will meet their annual meetings when they convene in Milledgeville May 24 and 25. The organization is sponsored by the Sigma Delta Chi Faculty of the University of Georgia.

Each year it has been customary for this group of college newspapers and as many of the members as possible to attend the state press meet in February; this is followed in May by their own convention. This year it was made necessary to eliminate the latter convention for the past several years.

Delegates will arrive Friday afternoon and will hold an informal banquet in the evening, followed by a dance.

Saturday morning will meet for two forums and general discussion of problems faced by collegiate papers. Editors of the papers of the University of Georgia, Tech, Abraham Baldwin, Emory and GSCW, will discuss "How Active Should College Papers Be in the Present Governmental Campaigns?"

The editors from Western State, Shorter, OAC, Emory at Oxford, and Emory at Atlanta will discuss "What Should Be Done About\n

Better Students, Better Rules

We are not even one year into the new academic year, but it is already clear that many of the rules that were in place during the last academic year have been changed or eliminated. This is a welcome development, especially given the challenges posed by the pandemic. Here are some of the changes that have been implemented:

1. Student-Teacher Relationships: Teachers can now interact more casually with students, allowing for a more relaxed and informal atmosphere in the classroom.
2. Classroom Behavior: Punishments for misbehavior, such as detentions and suspensions, have been reduced or eliminated, with an emphasis on restorative justice and counseling instead.
3. Homework Assignments: The amount of homework has been significantly reduced, allowing students more time for extracurricular activities and self-study.
4. Grading Policies: Grades are now more aligned with performance, with a greater emphasis on growth and improvement rather than just achieving a certain score.
5. School Environment: The physical environment of the school has been improved, with more emphasis on creating a safe and welcoming atmosphere.

These changes reflect a shift towards a more student-centered approach, with an emphasis on creating a supportive and inclusive learning environment. It remains to be seen how these changes will affect student outcomes, but the overall sentiment is positive.

Student Council

The Student Council is announcing the following changes to the current student body:

1. Membership Changes: The Student Council has appointed new members to fill the positions of President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer.
2. Budget Allocation: The budget for the upcoming academic year has been approved, with a focus on funding student activities and scholarships.
3. Policy Changes: New policies have been implemented to address issues such as harassment, discrimination, and academic integrity.

These changes reflect the ongoing efforts of the Student Council to ensure a vibrant and inclusive student community.

BETA ALPHA PLANS
NAMED ACADEMIC
DEAN AT G.S.C.W.

Dr. Donald H. McMahon of Pullman, Washington, will become the next dean at the Georgia State College for Women. President Guy R. Wells announced Wednesday. Dr. McMahon now at the State College in Washington. He was formerly chairman of the combined departments of English, Spanish, and Dramatic at Carleton College in Northfield, Minn.

Dr. McMahon's teaching experience has been at the University of Michigan, Temple University, Carleton College, the University of Wisconsin, and Washington State College. He has traveled extensively in Europe, and is the author of several publications, including Charles Brandon as a Dramatic Venture in Early American History and other works. He entered the Millie Fargo institution with the highest recommendations from his colleagues, and the president of colleges where he has taught.

Dr. McMahon will succeed Dr. Ray Taylor, who came to the college with President Guy R. Wells 12 years ago from St. Louis. Dr. Taylor is retiring as dean, and will devote his time to the duties of registrar, and to the lecturing of a course in social science. He has been both dean and registrar for several years. Dr. Taylor is one of the most beloved members of the CSCW family. President Wells, in announcing the coming of the new dean, paid high tribute to the work of Dean Taylor.

"He has been a very fine administrative officer, and is..."
