GSCW Book Week Features Display

Can you read? Do you read? Have you read a book this year? Last year an average of 30 books per person, excluding required books, were read on this campus. Did you read your 15 or did someone else have to read 30?

November 16-22 is Book Week at GSCW. Recognizing as its theme, "Books for the World of Tomorrow," this year's Book Week will include special celebrations, but only the regular display in the library featuring new books, as well as old ones.

"About 360 books, amounting to several thousand dollars, are bought each year for Russell Library, Miss Vivian S. Bowers, head librarian proudly said, some of the new books placed on the shelves for circulation are:

H. R. Knikkerbocker, Walter Durany Debate
"Can We Keep Peace With Russia?" Dec. 8

As the ANNUAL Golden Slipper contest comes, Gwen Mastey, president of the sophomores class and Gloria Nash, president of the freshman class, view the golden slipper held by Deed Hallo, president of the GSA, who won the contest to the winning class, Nov. 21. The purpose of this contest between freshmen and sophomore classes, held by the junior and senior classes, is to promote class spirit, stimulate good sportsmanship, and to encourage the development of dramatic ability.

Walter Durany and H. R. Knikkerbocker will appear on the lecture series Dec. 8 in Russell Auditorium, debating on the subject, "Can We Keep Peace With Russia?"

Dr. Wynn's Book Receives Praise From All Sections

"Grammar of the English Language," a new translation by Dr. William T. Wynn, for many years a member of the English faculty at Georgia College, for women, has been widely accepted by educators and others, as a part of the country.

Among those who have written in praise of the book are authors in (j) Florida, Michigan, Nebraska; (2) Tennessee, Virginia; (3) North Carolina, Washington, D. C., Texas and Georgia. As one critic expressed it: 'Anyone who wishes to improve his knowledge of the summer as a practical tool of expression would profit by reading and studying President Wynn's latest contribution to English composition.' The book is published by the J. W. Burt Company of Macon.

Senior Dance Under Starry Sky

Seniors and their dates danced under a Navy blue canopy with silver stars in the background.

The entire dance orchestra with several orchestras presented music from a bandstand located in the center of the dance and several other orchestras located around the dance floor.

The senior band was hi from the ceiling in the center of the dance.

The lights were tied by the choral officers, Nezo Daniel, president; Cal Nez, vice-president; Allison Baker, secretary; Vera McKechnie, treasurer.

Jean Watson and Martha Gillis of the Alpha Chi Omega Society headed the dance committee. Joe Mullins and Joe Blount headed the choral committee. Betty Walls and Hilda Washburn headed the dance committee.

The seniors and their dates went to O'Sha's after the dance for an early breakfast or late supper.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The COLONNADE

Dear Editor:

In response to your report in the last issue, I am writing to express my disappointment concerning the program on Thursday of this week.

I agree with you that it is inappropriate for everyone to go shopping with their mothers while the program is still going on, and hosting dance shows that are meant to be enjoyed in order to come in, as I am sure no one will be more disinterested to dance with the girl who may get up right away. Yet, if you are not on time for a show and don’t mind missing what there is, you should not do it, and be enthusiastic.

If only Friday, that could be changed to Thursday, much of the club was eliminated, and the club progressed without much more discussion to all concerned.

Sincerely,
A Member of the Student Body

To The Colonists:

I have one question I’d like to ask. Why, when every student on campus is regularly a member of F.R.C., and can I do so, if new students take an interest in their activities?

At least Monday night, the 17 percent were present—is that 12 or 16 dozen—of whom two—of whom more than 150 of the 400 on campus. Very few do more than 30 “ideate,” for Gummel Affairs. This situation predominates on almost every “society” on campus.

The same thing is true of “Rac” and OLA. Really, do we take part in all of the “Rac” activities. We don’t always do what we are supposed to, but if we are told by representatives chosen by us, and are not even once, that it is acceptable, then we are doing our duty.

Why? Why, when every student on campus so lightly values “Rac’ and OLA and can care, even if you don’t have a spare voice that makes even you do what you do, even if we do not care, that is not necessary to find a satisfactory situation.

The Colonists Speaks

In New Men's Club to Develop

According to a secret ball constituted by members of the journalism 134 class, many of us are uncertain as to where to begin dating after graduation. As the last semester of the four years of college approaches, there are no new sources from which to obtain useful information. We are a group of students who find it difficult to balance our social lives with the demands of our studies.

Our library offers a collection of daily newspapers that represent a good cross-section of America. The New York Times and the Christian Science Monitor, two excellent newspapers, are located on the first floor. Other newspapers such as the Sunday Times, the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Baltimore Sun and the Baltimore Sun are to be found in the library stacks.

Newspapers reflect the opinions and conditions of the various sections of the country. To know how other sections stand on certain issues, we should

Dear Member of the Student Body,

I was very pleased that some of our audience have been taught by you students and faculty members. So that all may benefit, are the least it is necessary, you do not need to write a "Letter to the Editor."

These letters should be signed, and your name will not be printed without your permission.

We appreciate your interest in the paper and any advice you may give, it makes us happy, and make it a paper of which you will be proud.

Sincerely,
Eleni, Co-editor

Do you want to know how badly the light rain sizes properties? The citizens brown point is now on only eat milk, and many students have never seen the little bulbs. The school is continuing being made more beautiful by the taste of the buildings. Why not paint the large sign that is on the outside the morning people see who never see the taste of the building?

Sincerely,

Psychology Club Plans Panel on Dr. Bronner

Psychology Club, in cooperation with the School of Arts and Sciences, is presenting a panel on Dr. Bronner. The panel will meet at 5 p.m. in the auditorium of the Social Science building on October 13.

Dr. Bronner, a well-known psychologist, will discuss his latest research in the field of personality and the role of the environment in shaping individual behavior. His research has been published in several leading psychology journals and has been widely cited in the field.

The panel will be open to all students interested in psychology and will provide an opportunity to engage in meaningful dialogue with Dr. Bronner about his work and its implications for the field.

The panel is sponsored by the Psychology Club and is part of the club's ongoing efforts to bring cutting-edge research and thought leaders to campus.

The event is free and open to all students. Parking and refreshments will be provided. For more information, please contact the Psychology Club at psychologyclub@college.edu.
