LITERARY GUILD CORNER

Dr. Halsey Webster. "Words in the Solitude of the Heart," by Mark Twain. An interesting story of one of the heroes of the Civil War. The story is told in a simple, clear, and beautiful manner. It is a book that will appeal to all who enjoy reading good literature.

A beautiful morning picture is the setting for this story. The sun is shining, the birds are singing, and the trees are swaying in the breeze. A young woman is walking along the path, enjoying the beauty of the scene. Suddenly, she sees a man lying on the ground. She runs to help him and discovers that he has been shot. She calls for help and the man is eventually taken to the hospital.

She spends many hours with the man, helping him to recover. She learns that he is a soldier who has been away from home for a long time. She is moved by his courage and compassion and decides to help him in any way she can.

In the end, the man makes a full recovery and is able to return home. He thanks the woman for her help and they become close friends. She visits him often and helps him to recover from the trauma of the war.

LITERARY GUILD CORNER

The Colossus Club is a literary club that meets weekly to discuss a variety of topics. At its meeting on March 3, the club discussed the book "The Great Gatsby." The discussion was led by Mr. John Smith, a member of the club and a literature professor.

Mr. Smith began by introducing the book and discussing its setting and characters. He then led the discussion to the themes of the book, such as the pursuit of wealth, the nature of love, and the corruption of society.

The members of the club shared their thoughts and insights on the book, and Mr. Smith provided his own observations and interpretations. The discussion was lively and engaging, and the members of the club enjoyed exploring the book's themes and characters.

The Colossus Club meets every Thursday at 7 PM in the library of the college. The club is open to all students and faculty interested in discussing literature. For more information, please contact Mr. Smith at the library.
