The Rev Lanier
To Speak On Values and Faith

Religious Focus Week will be observed on the GSCW campus during the week of Oct. 20-25. The general theme of this week will be “Rethinking Values and a Converging Faith.” The Reverend W. Portrait, the first Baptist Church in Rome, Georgia, has been invited as the speaker. One of Mr. Lanier’s main emphases is that young people are weaned from spirituals and are going about their business competently in this world during preparatory church. He is looking forward to the faith this work with young people.

Mr. Lanier is a graduate of Mercer University with a double major in history and political science. He is a graduate of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky. During his student days in the seminary he served as pastor of the Campbellsburg Baptist Church in Campbellsburg, Kentucky. The First Baptist Church in Rome will be a co-host of Mr. Lanier during Religious Focus Week.

Piano Duo Offers
Varied Program

Hugh Hodgson and Tom Brown will give a special recital for GSCW’s Appreciation Week Friday, Oct. 21, at 8:30 p.m. in the main campus classroom building. Both artists have played very important parts in the administration of concert and educational programs of music at Georgia State College for Women.

"Our Town" Is
Fall Production

November 5th and 6th, 1964 is a decides for fall. On the right, above the church, the fall show “Our Town” on campus, which is the story of a small town near Chatham, New England.

The show will combine the story of the entire town with the marriage, death, and birth of Emily Post. The play involves many interesting characters such as the postmaster, the mayor, the minister, the doctor, the postmaster’s wife, the mayor’s wife, the minister’s wife, and the doctor’s wife.

Remembering the dialogue she has been told to think that they would be hit. After talking with her for a few minutes, he takes the telephone, dialing this number. He turns the phone to his ear, and then asks the question, “Mrs. Thompson, are you at home?”

The play is told by a woman named Emily Post, who is the postmaster’s wife. She is a typical New England woman, who is very interested in the town life and is a very good storyteller.

The end of the play is as follows:

"Our Town” is the story of Emily Post and the people who live in the town. The show will be presented on November 5th and 6th, 1964, at 8:30 p.m. in the main campus classroom building.

Many Colleges To March in Procession

The inauguration of Henry King Sanford as the first president of the Georgia Southern College for Women has been set for Friday, Oct. 27.

More than two hundred colleges and universities and several hundred other institutions have designated representatives to attend the ceremonies and deliver greetings to Dr. Sanford. In addition to the official dignitaries, several hundred other guests, including educators and civic leaders throughout Georgia, have been invited to the campus for the inaugural exercises.

The inaugural address of Dr. D. H. MacEachron, dean of instruction, announced this week that Dorothy Thompson, world-famous journalist, will appear to deliver the main address of the evening.

An author, columnist, and radio commentator, Miss Thompson is also an authority on history and is known for her lectures and talks.

The conference will be held annual by the AIC to give student editors and business managers a chance to discuss ideas, to learn about new developments in the field, to network with other student editors, and to improve their own publications, magazines, and newspapers.

The conference will be held in Chicago, and the schedule for the event will be published in the next issue of the Colonnade.

HI JESSIE

One characteristic of GSCW that is very noticeable is the spirit of involvement. Many visitors to our campus have commented on the friendly way everyone greets them. One visitor commented on the fact that all of the students were very eager to assist guests on the campus who needed help or directions. He commented that many of the students he met were friendly and helpful.

The spirit of involvement is not limited to the students. Faculty members, staff members, and others associated with the campus are all very involved. They are willing to help in any way they can.

GSCW can be proud of the spirit they bring to campus. The campus is one of the best in the country and it is quite visible.

"MY OWL"

My dear perch in the olive has seen little of me during the last two weeks, for I, like everyone else, have been just as busy as a woodpecker at this time of year. It seems that every time I attempt to enjoy a few moments of free time, a host of outside matters spring up for a limited period of time. This week I was able to work on the devotional program to my student body, and afterwards to visit with my "P" Cabinet. It seems as if this is "National Travel Week," for a large group of girls is going to the "Sing and St. Mark's" Conference in Atlanta this weekend. Our club has the privilege of planning the worship program for this conference.

In one area you have a few minutes to spare and wish to sit down on some really "boasting" good discussions, don't miss those sponsored by the Foreign Student group that meets in the Language Lab Annex. Party Tippers will love to give you the details. Don't forget to write Study break, New Century High School, to remind you about the weekly meeting.

Another date to point out is Oct. 30. It is rather late to paint it orange and black for that is "Halloween" night and you are going all out for it by having a good ol' square dance with all the trimmings, so be sure to write your Friend Bob, I, right away and invite him. Also be putting some cents in the bank to give us your "WVCA Foreign Student Salon" tickets in November.

And now, with a big, hi, and a host, I'll be signing out — WIZF

Various and Sundry Doings of The Clubs

The International Relations Club held its first meeting of the year last Thursday evening in Gibson's apartment. A short business meeting was held and the new officers of the club were installed. The club was formed in 1952 to bring together students interested in international relations and the right issues of the day. In the past the club has had its meetings in the United Nations and the International Court, but this year we will be in New York. Elizabeth Johnson who also attended the International was unable to participate in the program because of illness.
