Enriched Living
As Chapel Theme

The general objective of the series is that in the chapel programs the student should work to enrich his living through experience, thought and knowledge. The theme of the "Enriched Living" is "You and a Cultural Heritage" which fits the idea of what the student is then thinking about. The concept of his own heritage is to give the student a broader picture of culture. Dr. Stanford closed the first lecture with a statement regarding the other topics for discussion and speakers. The topic of the second lecture, "The State of Higher Education," was introduced by Dr. Edward Taborski, President of the College of Education at Georgia State College. He has been secretary and legal advisor to the President of the University of Colorado since 1942. He is also a student of modern language.

Dr. Taborski's presentation, and speakers are Rev. Charles Boles, former president of Mountain College, who will speak on his work among the mountain people, and Dr. Robert E. McCall, who will speak on "Religious Life in the South." Dr. Edward Taborski presented his own college. He has been secretary and legal advisor to the President of the University of Colorado since 1942. He is also a student of modern language.

Get More Than Facts
When we leave high school and enter the world of adult choices, there is a lack of help and direction. Many students do not know what to do. They should be told that the advice of others is not always best. They should be told that they should choose their own path and that they should not rely on others to make decisions for them.

Bell Clubs

Next week we will be doing a special feature. There are many clubs that women can join, but what about men? There are many clubs for men as well. We will be doing a feature on the different clubs that men can join and the benefits of each club. This will be a great opportunity for both men and women to find a club that suits their interests.

Officers are elected by the students and are responsible for running the club. They are chosen based on their ability to work with others and their understanding of the club's goals. The elected officers must be able to work well with the faculty and staff, as well as with the students.

The most accurate measure of a club's success is its membership. The more members a club has, the more successful it is. This is because the more people who join a club, the more people who will support it.
