SCSW Students Invited To Attend Civil War Ball

On January 21, the third and last day of the big Civil War Centennial celebration, an Old Fashioned Ball will be held at the Milpitas State Hospital Auditorium. The costumes worn by some of the participants were those of Miss Miller,妹子 Miss Miller, who, and others personalized.

The GSCW Campus In 1861

by James C. Dorner

At the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861, the square on which the principal buildings of GSCW now stand was known as the Centennial Square. For fifty years, since 1861, about one-fourth of the area of the square was walled off into a prison compound. This compound included roughly the area now occupied by Russell Auditorium, Post, Atkinson, and Lambert halls.

Cost Of 60 In"Their Massive Pride" Last Performance Set For Tonight

The title of the play, THEIR MASSIVE PRIDE, is suggestive of its significance. The play is concerned with the story of Georgia's Civil War. The cast consists of over sixty students, and the play will go to the Milpitas College Auditorium. Students may get their tickets for $1.

Proud GSCW Retires As Woman's College Advances

Georgia State College for Women will no longer exist, except in the hearts and memories of its alumni, as of September 1, 1961. Upon that date the name of this school will officially be changed to The Woman's College of Georgia.

This announcement was made by Dr. Robert E. Lee to a special called meeting of the entire student body and faculty.

These events were followed by an address by Dr. Lee, who said that the name change would be effective immediately.

There were varied opinions concerning the change: some of the students were very much in favor of it, while others directed to changing a forty-year-old name, while others don't care what the name of the institution is as long as they are satisfied with the education they receive.

In the interest of the movement, this college will soon be renamed the Woman's College of Georgia.
