Faculty & Thunderbirds Clash
In Annual Hike Football Game

Assembled in bright colored outfits, with laces and bows of matching colors, students marched from the campus down the street to the Mathews Crunch to cheer for the Thunderbirds in the annual Hike Day game. The Park was filled with enthusiasm and energy, students gathered at the base of the mountain, cheering for their team. The game was won by the Thunderbirds, 21-14, in a exciting contest.

"I was so happy for our team," said Sarah Johnson, a senior in the senior class. "They played so well and really deserved the win." The students cheered and celebrated, enjoying the excitement of the game.

The game ended with the Thunderbirds winning by a wide margin, and the students celebrated with cheers and high-fives.

Sports: The game was a hard-fought contest, with the Thunderbirds emerging as the victorious team.

By this time most of the student body and faculty have returned from the excursion which they undertook during America Week. Junior Miss Robinson, who in a gesture of good sportsmanship, will be in residence here in spiritual stability. The Thunderbird staff is now beefed up to do the job required because of several decisions made by the professional-looking officials who ruled the game, but they have to be saved at the last moment, but despite the beautifulcss of the season, the faculty and student body. Translation of an Old Bavarian Fairy Tale

by Josephine meal

Once upon a time in the farmlands of Bavaria there lived a girl who was so blind that she could not see anything. She was born blind, and her parents had given up all hope of her ever being able to see again.

She was taken to a wise woman who would be able to help her. The woman cast a spell on the girl, and suddenly she could see again.

She was overjoyed and thanked the woman, but the woman said, "You must promise me one thing. You must never tell anyone how I did it." The girl promised, and she went back to her village.

She was now able to see, and she was so happy that she went to the market and bought all the things she had never seen before. She was so excited that she ran home, but she ran into a wall.

"Excuse me," she said. "I didn't see the wall."

"That's because you're blind," her parents said.

"I am not blind," the girl said. "I just didn't see the wall."
An Interview With Dr. Steele

by Sondra Amann

Do you recognize this man? If not, why I introduce you to one of our new faculty members, Dr. Harold Clyde Steele. Dr. Steele is teaching Elementary Science for Tuachon, General Biology, and junior science. His office is on first floor of Herty Hall.

Dr. Steele was born in Atlanta and he has spent most of his life in Georgia and Alabama. He and his wife live in Parkhurst Apartments. His wife whom he met and married in Columbus, Georgia, teaching the sixth grade at Wathford Elementary School. She holds a Master's Degree from Auburn University.

Dr. Steele attended Emory University and Emory University School of Medicine from which he received a B.S. in Medicine. From the University of Georgia he holds the M.A. He holds a doctor's degree in education with work in the area of science education and administration from Auburn University.

To support his six quarters graduate studies at Emory, Dr. Steele received a Fellowship in Biology. Then he received a grant from the Ford for the advancement of education to support doctoral work at Auburn where he studied for a second quarter. Dr. Steele served as President of the Sigma Xi Sigma on Emory's campus. Phi Sigma is a national biology fraternity. At Emory, he also received the national award for graduate student achievement in biology.

Before coming to The Woman's College, Dr. Steele taught high school in Mccomb and College Park. He has served as an Instructor in biology at the William Division of Emory University, and as Georgia Southern College. At Georgia Southern he was also president of the Horizon Club. He taught science at West Georgia College, and as Assistant Professor of Biology and filled the post of President for one year in addition to his teaching duties. His last experience before coming here was in a statewide project in the public schools of Alabama. Auburn University sponsored the program through the Alabama Educational Television Network. In this program, Dr. Steele taught science for elementary teachers, and students five days a week, reaching 400 classrooms and 24,000 students.

Among the published writings of Dr. Steele are "A Unique Mistletoe Green Alga - Amphibian Relationship" ("Was a Stranger") is study of the social thought and methods of William Buckingham; "Outline and Notes in Human Biology" "General Science Manual for Elementary Teachers," and two articles, "A Positive Technique of Discipline in the High School Classroom," and "The College Board Graduates - A Unique Counseling Challenge.

Favorite entertainments or pastimes of Dr. Steele are playing his trumpet, skiing and sliding or walking down country lanes with his wife. Dr. Steele says he would list his physical and spiritual blessings in this order:

1) "I love my wife first."
2) My classroom and laboratory.
3) My friends.
4) Chinese Food.
5) My trumpet.
6) A mild, cold glass of tea water on a blazing hot summer day.
7) "What about his impression of our campus, Dr. Steele replied. "I think that The Woman's College requires diligence and attention to numerous student responsibilities among both faculty and students. This is no 'play school.' It is a genuine pleasure for the to be able to work with Dr. Jones and Mrs. Johnson in their rapidly growing department of biology.' Dr. Steele expressed a special interest in the instrumental group that Dr. Nash and Mr. Lamb have organized and he is also working on political rights for a science education club.

The Woman's College is indeed fortunate to have Dr. Steele on our campus. As students come to know him better, I am sure we will find great respect for him for the interest in us, in helping us to make our college days count the most and for his interest in improving the teaching field.
