This Week's Poll

If someone gave you an astronomer-juxtaposition (because of your profession), what would you do? This question was asked of several of our contributors who were asked to answer it on a sheet of paper and return it to the editor of the Colonnade.

Terry Arnold, freshman, responded enthusiastically: "Oh, I'd love it!" She would be.

"I guess I'd probably jump an' answer Dell Peron,

(What's the matter, you crazy or something?)"

Ethel Clark, freshman, replied with an intellectual air: "I recognize a biologist term, but I'm not sure what they're doing with it."

Bonnie Bailey and Sharon Wexler, freshmen, announced that they just didn't know what they'd do with it. They are.

Patsy Land, junior, promptly replied that she'd give it to Guten (over one and under) and let them use it. They are.

Poor disinterested Cookie Terry and I (if I am any good) would do the other matter problems already. (One in West Point) "Oh, I have a heart attack right here!" explained Carolyn B. Littrell, (knowing, she probably would).

Gayle Martin, Curric. sophomore, replied nonchalantly, "Why, I'd like it."

Every party has a host.

This week's poll was not particularly geared by vote, that mysteriously in a zone in which there is no longer a zone in which there is no longer a zone with a zone (in which there is no longer a zone) was lovely, suitable, enjoyable and useful; very suitably.

Charter Day Is Observed with Special Chapel

On Wednesday, November 4, 1961, of the Women's College of Georgia celebrated the 70th anniversary of the founding of this institution. The school was chartered as a two-year school under the name of the Georgia Normal and Industrial College. The bill establishing it was signed by John F. Kennedy in 1891.

Many changes have taken place since then. In 1891, the school changed from a two-year program to a four-year program enabling it to obtain a title of Arts degree. The name was also changed — from the original Georgia State College for Women, and went to the name of the Women's College of Georgia.

A change in format has also taken place in the celebration of Charter Day. Originally it was hand-printed by the Georgia College and involved a large pageant. This year's Charter Day pageant was organized by Dr. Lee, who arranged the event.

This year's Charter Day has included a special ceremony, and a special luncheon, and a special parade. The students received a special certificate to be handed out at Charter Day.

Modern Dancers To Give Performance

At Agnes Scott

The Dance Club of the Women's College has been invited to present a program of contemporary dance on the campus of Agnes Scott College on Friday evening, October 27. A representative from the Dance Club will be present at this event.

The program will consist of several dances, and will be performed by the members of the Dance Club. The program will be a tribute to the College's women's dance group, and is expected to be a highlight of the evening.

The students are encouraged to attend this event, as it is an opportunity to see the beautiful and talented dancers of the Dance Club in action.
Is Skipworthly? Is Golden Bigger of any real value on our campus? Does it merit the jubilation over two weeks ago? Positive, no. The problem is how to conduct an appropriate press conference.

For some on our campus we would want to see a version of the Weeks of Skipworthly, or maybe a better word. Are there are any of the things that are not used in the Skipworthly activities? On the other hand, the majority of students will feel a lot of time and energy in this respect.

To the students, who are students, we can say that the Skipworthly was a resounding success. I can not see any other version of it. I have also been asked to see if the Skipworthly can be saved in some way.

Recognize the Skipworthly as a few weeks after Skipworthly and theSkipworthly as a way to do some things in the Skipworthly.

The Skipworthly is not just a way to do something. It is also a way to celebrate. It is also a way to express our pride in our class. I have also been told that the Skipworthly was more successful than the Skipworthly.

From THE COLONNADE

Two To Twenty Years Ago

Two years ago Colonial began new features, among "Colonial-Made." Girls will be selected on the basis of character, scholarship, sportsmanship, and participation in extra-curricular activities in addition to beauty. Each class will be represented once in four weeks.

A decision of some eighteen years will come this year for Wesley Foundation at O.C.W. and O.M.C. A house will be open for the use of the students in the program of extra-curricular religious activities.

THREE YEARS AGO

Miss Gordon says that as a newcomer to the college she is impressed with the pride of the student body as a whole. She also enjoys being in an atmosphere in which students and faculty are engaged in learning and asking questions. In her belief that the prerequisite to learning is an inquiring mind, whether the subject be art, music, literature or science.

Two of her chief interests, besides religious work, are art and music. She enjoys all types of music, especially folk and classical. She says that she is also strongly attached to the arts.

A person who has not had the pleasure of becoming acquainted with Miss Gordon should find an excellent opportunity to do so by attending the next "SY" sponsored activity.
