College Theater Presents 'John Loves Mary'

Mr. Leonard Hart, director of the College Theater, has announced the production of an annual fall production which will take place on Thursday, November 7, and Friday, November 8, at 8:15 p.m. in Russell Auditorium. The title of the play is "John Loves Mary" and it was originally done by Rodgers and Hammerstein on Broadway.

John (Vincent Bensenbard) goes into all sorts of trouble trying to keep from marrying Mary (Martha Adams) for six weeks because he has to divorce Lily (Cheri Minter), whom he has married to bring to the U.S. for his friend Fred (Dewell Pitts). Fred complies with the plan by already being married, Mrs. Ogden (Doris Parrish) helps Mary lay her plans to get John to marry her. Mary's parents (Dud Vance and Forrest Har- grove) are at a loss because John wants, for some mysterious reason, to wait six weeks to marry Mary. A great plan is laid to save John, but Victor D'ney (Jillian Veal) complicates things even more by getting drunk and nearly tel-

Work On Golden Slipper To Begin Monday Evening

Work on this year's Golden Slipper competition will begin on Monday, November 11, according to the College Government Association. The Freshmen and Juniors will form committees and complete their work. The competition will be held on two nights, Friday and Saturday, with students to choose a theme for the competition and work on their themes. The competition will be judged on various aspects of production. The winning classes are presented the Golden Slipper after the Saturday night performance, and the Slipper will remain in their possession until next year.

The Golden Slipper competition began in 1951 by Miss Ethel Adams, former Dean of Women.

A Matter Of Principal

By Lyne Hunter

A’utilist children now in school will die of lung cancer before they reach the age of seventy. Accordingly, the American Cancer Society is launching a public health campaign to make its anti-smoking message known to young people.

The letter is a part of a letter received last year by Dr. Leo R. Lueke, vice president of the American Cancer Society. The letter was written by a young student, who had been studying the health effects of cigarette smoking and had concluded that smoking was harmful. The student had become concerned about the issue and was writing to the American Cancer Society to express his concern and to ask for help in spreading the message to others.

Dr. Lueke was pleased to receive the letter and appreciated the student's concern. He acknowledged the student's efforts and encouraged him to continue his efforts to educate others about the dangers of smoking.

Dr. Lueke also provided the student with information on how to contact local cancer societies and to find out more about the American Cancer Society's anti-smoking campaign.

Overall, the letter highlights the importance of educating young people about the dangers of smoking and the impact it has on public health. It also shows how individuals can take action to contribute to the fight against cancer.

Miss Shirley Pritchett, instructor of Health and Physical Education at WC, was the heroine in a "This is your Life" program which was the main event of the Health and Physical Education retreat held at Lake Laurel last week-end. Joining the lively, young lady at that big moment were her mother, niece, nephew, and even her stuffed animal from college days. Much of Miss Pritchett's past life was disclosed, including many of her college antics even before she tried to sell her chapel seat to an unsuspecting student. As an aside of fun, Dr. Hines declared the caricature to the tune of "Jingle Bells."

The retreat, which was attended by forty students and faculty members, ended on Saturday afternoon. According to Jean Lesalle, Health and Physical Education major, "It was a good time and was had by all."

Design Competition Announced

A total of $7,655 to cash and savings bond awards plus $20 medals and ten-all expenses trips to Chicago will be awarded to the student winners of the Fifth Annual Collegiate Packaging Design Competition which opened recently.

In making the announcement of the competition, Professor Galves, of the Department of Art, stated, "Any student is eligible to participate in the contest which is aimed at stimulating interest, or the collegiate level, in the field of packaging design. Not only will participating students become eligible for prizes, but more significantly, they will have an opportunity to better acquaint themselves with a profitable outlet for their artistic talent."

This year's competition has been broadened to include every college and university in the United States. Students are eligible to submit entries in four categories: (1) the graphic design for a bag containing either sugar, flour, or dog food; (2) the graphic design for a bread package; (3) the graphic design for a corrugated shipping container; and (4) the graphic design for a 9" white paper plate. The contest closes with entries due in Chicago no later than March 31, 1964. Winners will be announced in May, with the top winner in each division being flown to Chicago for presentation ceremonies. Full details and entry blanks are available from Professor Galves in the Department of Art.

Chemistry Club Holds Retreat

Susanne Huns, President of Chemistry Club, announced that the club will go on a retreat at Lake Laurel Thursday, November 19. The purpose of the retreat is to honor the new members who were invited to join the club last week.
