A Sunday night showing of the film "Davis and Lane" preceded and has set the atmosphere for The Search -- a three day focus sponsored by the Christian Association. Dr. Robert Rusford of Richmond, Virginia is the guest leader who has been secured for the special days of January 22-24. The Man's Service Organization on campus will be host during his stay at Georgia College. Christian Association

President Judy Cummings reports that the minister "employed as Director of the Department of Campus Christian Life by the Presbyterian Church of the United States." She states that "he has worked many years with college age people." Miss Cummings made note that although Dr. Rusford will be available for discussion throughout the three days, he will not be leading every session. One special guest speaker will be Dr. Clifford Edwards, from Westminster College in Missouri. Dr. Edwards has reportedly gained much reaction to his article, "Grooming the Church of AD 2000," published in the December, 1967, Ministries Magazine.

Dr. Edwards is Chairman of the Philosophy Department at Westminster. Among the topics at Miss Cummings, the various activities planned for The Search are designed to reach and attract many different students. The focus is on the individual and his own situation.

"We are using unique approaches such as 'The Happening,' The Experiment in Darkness Commissions, and the discussion of the church in the year 2000," she states. When asked to further explain the meaning of "unique approaches," Miss C. smiles replied, "No, they (the students) will just have to come see and hear for themselves."

Beeson Tries "Grace Period"

A proposed constitutional change concerning a "period of grace" for men who will be present at the College Government Association meeting tonight.

This proposal, presented by the Beeson Hall House Council, would grant women students a period of grace of thirty minutes extension to dorm closing time. Harriet Levine, Beeson president, explained the change thusly: if a student is late returning to her dorm, she is granted up to thirty minutes grace per quarter. This time is accumulative throughout the quarter, but is taken all at one time. The student will still report herself to house council but no corrective measure will be given until the student has used up her thirty minutes for the quarter. After she has used her thirty minute grace, a suitable correction or measure will be given.

The system will be tried for the rest of this quarter in Beeson. If it proves satisfactory, a vote in GCA spring quarter will be taken for campus-wide use.

Marines Interview

The Marine Officer Selection Team will be on campus 31 January at the Student Union to interview eligible college men for commissions in the Marine Corps.

Freshmen, sophomores, and seniors may qualify for enrollment in the Platoon Leaders Class, while seniors and recent graduates may enroll in the Officer Candidate Course. The candidates attend two two-week sessions each during summer vacations. The sessions eliminate campus crises or problems during the school year.

Time spent in summer training sessions counts toward pay and promotion. Upon completion of the two summer sessions and graduation from college, the candidates receive a commission as Marine corps officers. Cadets, seniors and graduates may receive their commission by successfully completing one 10-week accredited officer training graduation. Under either the PLC or OCS programs, a cadet may elect to apply for Marine flight training.

PAPER IMPORTANT IN OBITUARIES

The newspaper is especially interested in obituaries of the graduate (Campus) Ajayi, whose life and literary work were the subject of a recent article in the Missouri Current. We have not seen any other contribution to the obituary section of the newspaper. A senior, who has been working at the newspaper for several years, has been assigned to this section. He is responsible for ensuring that no obituary is published in the newspaper without first consulting the family of the deceased. He is also responsible for ensuring that the obituary is written accurately and with respect.

Observations Resulting From SUGSA Conference

By Nancy Jay, CDA President

Georgia College was represented by several members at a recent student government workshop held in Boston University. The workshop was organized by the SUGSA (Student Union Government Association) and was attended by students from all over the United States.

The workshop was divided into several sessions, each focusing on a different aspect of student government. The sessions included discussions on the role of student government in decision-making, the importance of student representation, and the responsibilities of student leaders.

The workshop was well-attended, with representatives from all levels of student government attending. The sessions were led by experienced leaders who shared their insights and experiences with the attendees.

The workshop concluded with a final session where attendees had the opportunity to share their thoughts and ideas. The session was led by the SUGSA Board of Directors.

The workshop was a valuable experience for the attendees, who gained a better understanding of the role of student government in decision-making and the importance of student representation.

GETTING READY FOR BS OR MRS?

Are you thinking of pursuing a bachelor's or master's degree? Are you planning to get married or have children? Are you thinking of starting your own business or working for a company?

Before you decide on your future plans, consider the following:

- Bachelor's degree or master's degree?
- Working for a company or starting your own business?
- Getting married or having children?

Make sure you have a clear idea of your goals and aspirations before you make any decisions.

GRAPEs, GOLD POPULAR AT GC

Grapes, Gold Popular At GC

The grape has been a popular choice among students at the University of Georgia College of Business. Many students enjoy the sweet and refreshing taste of grapes, which is perfect for the warm weather.

Gold has also been a popular choice among students, with many students opting to wear gold jewelry or accessories. Many students consider gold to be a timeless and classic choice.

The grape and gold have been popular among students for many years, and it is likely that this trend will continue in the future.
