The Tams For Fall Dance

The Tams perhaps the most talented vocal group in the music business to- day. Their rare combination of rhythm and harmony has made them one of the most sought after groups in America. Music is the biggest thing in the Tams and their happiest moments are spent in song.

Joseph Pope, Charles Pope, Bobbi Smith, and Haskell Kay are natives of Atlanta and attended Atlanta High School together. School days over, they formed a vocal group that soon became a sensation in the Southeast. Bill Lo- wey, a part-time Atlanta- music publisher, be- came aware of them, ar- ranged a recording ses- sion and the result was the hit "Un'til Me."

ABC Records heard the Tams and signed them to a contract. Their first session produced "That Kind of Fool (Do You Think I Am?)" which became one of America's number one songs that year.

The Tams have toured with such international groups as the Browns, the O'Jays, Redding, Ray Charles, The Coasters, and many others.

A Castle of Washington, D.C. native and member of this group. Also, the Tams now carry their own orchestra, an encom, and at least one other act, making it a complete review of some seventeen people. The demand for this show is so great that promoters are now asking for dates as far ahead as 1970.

The Tams will perform at the Georgia College Fall Dance this year. Students of Georgia College will be admitted by showing their ID cards. Tickets for all guests will go on sale on October 14th. All tickets must be purchased by 11:00 a.m. on October 26th. The schedule for sale of tickets will run:

Georgia College's Future

It is apparent that Georgia College is changing, but with this transition comes the concern of the student body, but also the physical change on GCG's campus. When we return to our alma mater in the years to come we shall know our school as it is known in remarkable state.

In an interview with Dr. W. Alar Jones, Director of Institutional Research and Planning at Emory, it was ascertain- ed that GCG's future is tremendous and already have many projects been approved for the expansion of Georgia Col- lege.

Although there is no ap- proved masterplan at GC, there is a masterplan study in progress. This study, under the leadership of Dr. Jones, will determine what our campus needs and then seek to meet those needs. A college union, an addition dormitory, and a new dormitory are the forth- coming additions to our school.

This college union, the hub of student and faculty ac- tivity, will be built on the site of the growth of the student community. The union will house the student union staffs, the student activities are located in the student union.

As our enrollment in- creases, spaces to put in- coming students becomes a problem. It is for this reason that plans for a new dormitory have been made and approved. The new dormitory will be constructed in the area of North Woods and will accommodate approxi- mately 300 students.

The structure will be built so that it may serve as either a boys' or a co-educational dorm. If it is to be composed of three buildings, the center one being the "control" building and the two buildings edgevalley and of Georgia College's recently recon- structed and expanded library. At eight p.m., the same day, a reception will be given in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Bunting in the old Governor's Mansion. Official delegates, mem- bers of the Georgia College Col- lege faculty, Georgia College Founders members, members of the Board of Regents, Chancellor Simp- son, his Alumni representa- tives from other colleges, and professional societies present. On Thursday, October 17, at three p.m., delegates will meet in Chapel Hall. They will be taken on guided tours of Mill

Forced Famine

By David M. Mccomas

As of late a nagging disease has dominated the campus: they go about with a knish looking, but cheerful demeanor, a cautious observer might stare upon the cause: and uncover that it is a "Famine of Parking." The cause of this lies within the growing number of students on campus who need parking. The parking situation is so dire that the administration has decided to impose a "Parking Tax" on all students. This tax will be used to fund the construction of a new parking lot on campus. To avoid this tax, students are encouraged to carpool or use public transportation. The student body is divided on this issue, with some students angry at the administration and others who see it as a necessary evil. The issue will be discussed in the next meeting of the Student Senate.

The Dictatorship Of The Professors

By Jerry Bailey

Sitting in his office the dean of the college made his usual rounds. As he enters the room, the students all stand up and bow. "Good afternoon, my students," he says with a smile. "Today I have a special announcement to make. The college has decided to extend the classes by an hour. This is due to the fact that there is a major exam coming up. I know this will be inconvenient for some of you, but please bear with us. The professors are doing their best to prepare you for this exam. Thank you." The students groan in unison and return to their studies.

One Half Of A First Day On Campus

By Albertina Cadenza

This may perhaps be used as a guide to beginners. As you drive into this fair city of Sylvania, you will first note the absence of cars. This is not unusual; two-thirds of the students have never seen a car. However, you know that you are really going to college when you see the college which you are approaching. When you find that street in front of you, and turn left, you will notice a series of buildings. These are the dormitories. You will continue your journey and enter the main building. This building is quite large and contains all the facilities of a modern college. You will find that the classrooms are quite spacious and the professors are quite knowledgeable. You will be welcomed by the dean and introduced to the other students. You will then be shown to your dormitory and given a key. You will be surprised at the cleanliness of the rooms and the neatness of the beds. You will be asked to clean your room and make your bed. You will then be shown to your dining hall and given your meal. This will be a simple lunch of bread and butter. You will be expected to eat it quietly and in a formal manner. You will then be shown to your classroom and be introduced to your professor. You will be given a syllabus and a textbook for your course. You will be expected to read the textbook and prepare for your class. You will then be shown to your dormitory and given your bed. You will be expected to sleep well and wake up early for your classes.

Why Go To College?

By Pat Elliotting

When asked why they go to college, students give many different answers. Some say they go to college because they want to get a good job, while others say they go to college because they want to help others. Some say they go to college because they want to make a difference in the world. Others say they go to college because they want to learn something new. Some say they go to college because they want to meet new people. Others say they go to college because they want to travel. Yet others say they go to college because they want to have fun. Whatever the reason, college is an important step in life.

Day Students Adopt Symbol

Day students are a special group of students who attend the college but do not live on campus. They are a unique group and have a separate identity. The college is currently working on a symbol to represent day students. The symbol will be used on their clothes, on their ID cards, and on their cars. The symbol will be a red heart with a gold star in it. The heart represents love and the star represents excellence. The symbol will be adopted by the entire college community. The day students are excited about this development and feel that it will help them to be recognized and respected.

in the recent Disney spectacular "The Family Business," a political - rallying song catchy to the tunes of "The Times."
We can readily apply this epitaph in our own time to Richard Mil- houe Nixon.

And what are "the times"? What are the is- sues? What are the answers?

Along the campaign trail, Nixon has been stressing that, unlike Humphrey, he favors the retention of the Taft - Hartley's famous Section 14 b which permits states to enact strikes - to - work laws, thus abolishing compul- sory unionism. Unlike Humphrey, he vigorously disapproves with certain Supreme Court decisions in which have turned criminals - to - union leaders.

In Indianapolis after Humphrey had strongly suggested that was its cause, Nixon told an angry crowd that the crime wave was engulfing our nation. "Just like the Ad- ministration's program with two parts," Nixon stressed, "Mr. Humphrey has inaugu- rated over-emphasized poverty in this country as a cause of crime... the... war on poverty is not a war on crime and it is no substitute for a war on crime."

"Poverty," said Nixon, "cannot explain the rate of rise of the crimes of vio- lence and larceny among the youth of suburban America. Poverty cannot explain the 187 per cent increase in daytime burg- laries in this country in the, uh, teen - year period."

Nixon stressed: "There are thousands of honest criminals in the United States and that is why we must and do not because they are liv- ing in conditions of pov- erty and unemployment, can make a comfortable and a career of crime."

Recently, Nixon has also discovered that his campaign with Humphrey by scoring for his government action too free, too quick, and requesting the Ad- ministration to go - ex- cept the "bridge - building" efforts to the East. He has asked for a delay in the confirmation of the nomi- nees by the both of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, clearly the most im- portant Civil Rights Act of this century.

In short, Nixon has clearly disproved George Wallace's self - serving theory that there isn't a dime's worth of differ- ence between the two major party candidates. Nixon would like bringing more young people into government, to invite more constructive criticism, and to bring in the Lawrence's... and not in them.

This is a "Ban of our Time." This is Richard M. Nix-

Humphrey

"The time has come to speak on behalf of America, not a nation that has lost its way, but a nation, a great nation striving to better its way."

A vigorous and daring leader, Hubert Humphrey has in his 20 years of public service amassed a public record that is unequalled in its diversity, its range, and its breadth of vision. Increasing imaginative programs and act-ting as an innovator and a voice for progress, he has helped America transform many of her dreams into realities. The following highlights of his career serve as a clear indication of his devotion to American government, as well as his unusual abilities and capacities as a leader.

1. Civil Rights Hubert Humphrey has proved himself to be an experienced public servant in the field of civil rights. As headspokesman for human rights he was floor leader of the United States House of Representatives on the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, clearly the most important Civil Rights Act of this century.

2. Opportunity for Youth. In his ninth year at U.S. Senator, Humphrey propounded the first job training corps for unemployed youth. Last summer he headed the drive which found nearly 1/2 million jobs for unemployed youth.

3. War on Poverty S. Humphrey as the majority whip, led the drive for the fight against poverty. One of his last acts as Senator was opening the way for the passage of Headstart, the program to aid pre-school children.

4. Law and Order Joined as Mayor of Minneapolis, Humphrey modernized, professionalized, and strengthened the police department and led an fight against crime and against crime. Concerning law and order, Vice-President Humphrey had this to say: "I want one Ameria, not two, and so do you. To achieve it we must have a civil order and civil justice."

5. Foreign Policy As a member of the ca-cil of the National Security Council, Hubert Humphrey plays an important part in the decision-making on foreign affairs. He is constantly in touch with all aspects of international relations and responsibilities. His tenure as Assistant Secretary of State has been a keynote of the Department's efforts to foster peace in the Middle East, the last great hope for lasting peace and justice, the last great hope for lasting peace in the Middle East, the last great hope for lasting peace in the Middle East.

6. United Nations Hubert Humphrey has been the most effective of the United States representatives in the United Nations. He has served as a member of the Committee on Public Information, the Committee on Public Information, and the Committee on Public Information.

7. Social Security co."
