The Issue Of Voting

How often have you heard that a college is its students? It's true. Georgia College is every John Doe, every Joe Grande, every you, and me. The college policies, regulations, and attitudes reflect those of the student body. Naturally we can't all run for President of CGA, RBC, or CA, all of us do not have the time or ability for leadership. Nevertheless, everyone is responsible, because it is up to every individual to vote the officers into their positions.

The student body will be introduced to candidates and their platforms at the next assembly. One should listen to their platforms, notice their good points, their flaws. Remember that selecting a candidate means choosing the person most representative of one's point of view.

Every student should be able to take part in his selection. In the person you choose an appropriate candidate for his respective office? Will people look at him and say he is representative of Georgia College? Is he honest, sincere, worthy of trust?

After hearing a candidate's platform, the voters should make it a point to look up the candidate's character and the probation of his campaign promises. Any one can make appealing campaign speeches in hopes that the voters will be gullible and accept them at face value. When a candidate, say for an office in CA, says that he will keep up the association's fine work in helping provide for those in need, sponsoring educational programs, and honoring the club's name, find out if he will be a responsible, sincere person who people from all walks of life can meet and remember as a credit to Georgia College? Or is he a典型ist, playing the part of a glib, respectable person just so he will get that all-important office. When the voters have seen the very candidate behaving, so often, in a manner detrimental to the prestige of Georgia College?

Is no one asking for every student who is going to vote for any office. Most of us do not have the desire or ability to be leaders, and leadership that it takes to be an officer, responsible, sincere person who people from all walks of life can meet and remember as a credit to Georgia College?

Last Wednesday night third floor Leeson staged a minor protest movement when they refused to elect a floor leader for their hall on the grounds that the rule requiring the floor leader to hold 11 o'clock room checks is a violation of the honor system under which the student body suppose to live.

Last Wednesday night third floor Leeson staged a minor protest movement when they refused to elect a floor leader for their hall on the grounds that the rule requiring the floor leader to hold 11 o'clock room checks is a violation of the honor system under which the student body suppose to live.

Under this honor system, girls are required to sign in and out every time they leave the dormitory after certain hours. By signing in and turning down the card, every girl is symbolically saying that she is in the dormitory. By requiring 11 o'clock room checks, judgment is saying that no girl is to be trusted and no girl's word is her honor.

Every fall, Judiciary punishes the honor system into the hands and hearts of every incoming Freshman, while weeping that the upperclassmen do not uphold this system. How can they expect the student body to uphold and believe in a system which they themselves do not seem to believe.

Honor Dorms

Benison, Kathy Dyrd, Susan Canco, and Mary Jane Hunt) will soon begin studying for the past five years of having an Honor Dorm at Georgia College is in the near future.

What is in your opinion of this idea, and do you think it is just another fad?

Is a good addition to the school or not? If you do have any opinion about such a dorm, please write a letter to the editor of the Colonnade or speak to any of the members of the committee.

G. C. To Host Gentrys

Take your calendar down, and draw a circle around February 7 - in fact, you could draw two or three! The reason for all the excitement is that the Gentrys are coming. You've been as much in the last tubes or heard them on the radio. Now you can see them in all their over-cooking glory and dance to their hits on Friday, February 7 at 8 o'clock in the GC Gym.

The Gentrys were formed from Memphis, Tennessee, and now reside in the El Paso, Texas area. Since 1964, the Gentrys have been one of the most popular groups in the nation and have toured Europe. In 1963 "Keep On Dancing" their first gold record went to number one on the charts and stayed there for six weeks. They have appeared on the Johnny Carson Show and the Ed Sullivan Show. GC students will be admitted free.

Markey In Concert Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock in Russell Auditorium the Georgia College Greek Student Chapter of the American Guild of Organists and several patrons are sponsoring an organ concert featuring George Markey. The performance by Mr. Markey, hailed by audiences and critics both in the United States and abroad, will be well worth attending.

Dr. Markey brings an extraordinary and fascinating musical background to the organ console. His piano lessons began at age five and progressed so very rapidly that at the age of eight he had begun intensive piano studies at Mannheim. After graduation, at age eighteen he was awarded scholarships for continued study in both piano and organ at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, where he studied piano with Rudolph Serkin and organ with Alexander McCurry. Mr. Markey also has received special instruction from the renowned Dr. Leo Sowerby.

Since his wartime military service and various church and teaching positions Mr. Markey has now become established as Associate Director of the Guilinette Organ School, New York City; Director of Music for the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City; and Professor of Organ at Westminster Choir College, Princeton, New Jersey.

Tickets for this concert are on sale by ASG members for $1.50, or any information about the concert can be obtained from Dr. Wolfersdigs.
Is My Honor My Own Or Does It Belong to GC?

Skeptical minds could be close to uncovering this situation, but the fact remains that Wednesday evening’s Honor’s Week Program, briefly concluded the situation, third floor Broussard, on a reluctant evening floor to a florist, and also a slight moment of ‘Depot’ Dean of Women, head of the student body, and advisor to the student body.}

They fill that sign on card again and are of the same indication that it is not rare to have a dud, a check is one of our honor of our honor and duty.

What is the purpose of a Wednesday morning room check when Thursday morning looks like just like that. Another interesting occurrence taking place is that the student body is an Honor’s Hour Card, who is going to check these cards, and who will check the cards? A double check of our honor.

What is the result of the honor on the honor card that is we are looking at the Honor’s Hour Card from last year, they have been made up to date and look over ten years from now. How do we need a double check of our honor?

What is wrong with enrolling when and where the urgent air is. You want to find out long enough that you have your business, whether you are going to call you when and when you are going to make your life now find. How do we need a double check of our honor?

Honor’s Week has been trying to supply us with a 1/2 inch of space provided on the sign to be put on a room check card. If you have a need to make a double check of our honor.

Each individual is going to be on his own. We will have to depend on ourselves to do it. Is there any possibility in our honor or does it belong to Georgia College?

Progress

Throughout its history Georgia College has been an institution of tradition distinguished by grace and quietness. Within two years it has achieved a professional transformation, and it is now the time to begin the task of determining if these changes have materialized.

As the result of this campaign it is the task of the student body to recognize needed changes and bring them to attention.

Many of the seen practical and traditional trainings on campus we must recognize that our change or fail. Many of those actual changes in actual courses must be looked at. It is a living working force, the driving factor in the building of the campus.

Cooperation brings to Georgia College many areas of a need where we are going to need to do some kind of a change. It is a living working force, the driving factor in the building of the campus.

Cooperation brings to Georgia College many areas of a need where we are going to need to do some kind of a change. It is a living working force, the driving factor in the building of the campus.

For many years the campus has been characterized by the growth of the number of students and intellectual curiosity. The growth and the changing of the student body has a noted advantage of the student body.

After the committee formulates a few concerns recommendations, the Committee will publish a further report to the student body.

Barbara Bryan

In this era of rapid change and progress, it is difficult to imagine that we are not facing the inevitable. Many of the choices we make today will determine the future of our society. It is crucial that we understand the consequences of our actions and consider the impact they will have on the world we live in. This is especially true when it comes to the political arena, where our leaders must make decisions that will affect the lives of millions of people.

Carol Gay

The College Government Association is made up of a group of dedicated students who work tirelessly to improve the lives of our classmates. They are committed to creating a better future for everyone, and their efforts are greatly appreciated. However, it is important to remember that the work of the CGA is not easy. It requires dedication, hard work, and a strong commitment to the betterment of our community.

Gail Presley

The right to vote is a fundamental right that should be protected at all costs. It is crucial that we do not take this right for granted, and that we fight to ensure that every person in our society has the opportunity to participate in the democratic process.

Stanley Conine

As a college student, it is important to be aware of the issues that affect our community. We must be active in our pursuits and take an active role in shaping the future of our society. This is especially true when it comes to issues of race and diversity. We must work together to create a world where everyone is treated fairly and with respect.

Marilyn Dickson

In the world of today, it is crucial that we all work together to create a better future for ourselves and for those who come after us. This requires a commitment to education, community service, and personal growth. We must all strive to be better versions of ourselves, and to help others to do the same.

Don Gillespie

We must all work together to ensure that our society is a place where everyone is treated fairly and with respect. This requires a commitment to education, community service, and personal growth. We must all strive to be better versions of ourselves, and to help others to do the same.

Pat Granger

The most important thing to remember is that we all have a role to play in shaping the future of our society. We must all work together to create a world where everyone is treated fairly and with respect. This requires a commitment to education, community service, and personal growth. We must all strive to be better versions of ourselves, and to help others to do the same.

Winning Entry In G.C. Monogram Contest

G.C. Downed By U. Of Fla.

The G.C. men's basketball team suffered a 56-45 loss to the University of Florida in their opening game of the season. The game was a close one, with the Colonials leading by 4 points at the half. The team played well, with guards doing a good job of scoring. However, the Colonials could not hold on to their lead and were eventually defeated by the Gators.

Contact: Voice Of The Students

Angela Jameson: "Most of us are at least 15 and we should be able to make our own decisions concerning what we do off campus." Henry Davis: "We want to have a place to go to feel comfortable and safe when we need it."

CGA voted on and passed a petition to allow women to take up off-campus residencies. The petition was passed by a vote of 30-10.

Colleen Taylor Named Miss Aurora

At the recent dance, January 25th, Colleen Taylor, a senior at Georgia, was crowned Georgia College's Miss Aurora of 1946. The choice of Miss Aurora was decided by a vote of the faculty and students. Colleen, who is a member of the Student Council and is a member of the varsity tennis team, was selected from a field of three candidates. The other two candidates were not announced until the end of the dance. Miss Aurora represents the ideals of the Georgia College co-operative, intelligence, scholarship, spirit and beauty. This year's choice was made by the faculty and students.

Fun And Games

Bad manners is a fun game that many GC students play. There are no rules and no one wins.

Lilt and run victims litter the halls after the ten-minute drags races between classes. Wounding a teacher is worth seven points – eight if she has been sick. The post office is a dangerous place, for there lurks the deadly umbrella. This vicious creature attacks from a burst and one never falls to the blow. The motto of the attacker is “It if still moves, make another stab at it.”

Today’sDivine is no rare that not just anyone can identify it. It’s not “cool” to smile. One should keep in mind, however, that “too cool” is 773 degrees or absolute zero. That, as it goes along.

Hippies' trip out on LSD: the unsuspecting people on the streets with a bit of help from a manic-depressive in a monocrome t-shirt. The Dr. Jekyll in Journalism becomes Mr. Hyde in the hall.

The only thing better than visiting the door in the prey's face is slamming the door on him. A hairy dook and a good show are as efficient as a launched kind. The air, the traveler never sees stars either.

Conversing in correct English is a big no-no. A lady never uses profanity unless she feels like it. Lip-reading is mandatory for those who sit under the loud speakers in the BU. There are two types of predators in the jungle book. The skinny sniper ambushed the unsuspecting and immediately assumed an air of complete innocence. The cruising brudder just navigates erratically through the crowd and never notices the mangled bodies he left in E.E.'s brave behind.

The inexperienced student really needs a course in “carnage survival.” Until he receives proper defensive instruction, a good rule to follow is “Move it or lose it.”

Red Letter Days

At one time or another in our college careers, we can usually manage to find ourselves in at least one embarrassing situation. Consider below is a list of the top ten embarrassing situations at Georgia College:

1. Since you have been at Georgia College how many times have you cut a class only to bump into the teacher five minutes later in the S.U.?
2. It is also very embarrassing to discover that the whole time the band was playing “Up & Away,” you were playing “Windy.” Only the Georgia College Band could appreciate that one.
3. Remember the time and the frequency and a hole in your under- wear? That was embarrassing.
4. Number four on the list is creating a disturbance in the library. It is very distracting when you pull out one book or shelf full, falls out on the floor. Just because your face is red and you go running around (incognito) to the other side... no one will ever find you out.
5. Have you ever dropped your drink during class because one of the revolvers on your tie hit the wall?
6. What's really funny is when you smash your nose on the desk and it comes down around your mouth. What's even worse is when you have on your blouse and the whole thing falls off. Possible solution: grab them and head freight to the next room.
7. Have you ever been mistaken for a tree or a fire hydrant, by the local campus dogs?
8. If you really want to get embarrassed try asking the girl next to you for a date only to find out she was a boy.
9. It is also rather embarrassing when you suddenly bump into the maintenance man who didn't yell “main man” on the hall until he was outside.
10. The most embarrassing situation of all is when your midterm grades are the same as your initials, Frederick Francis Floy.
