Dr. Goddard At Assembly

Former Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, U.S. Public Health Service, Dr. James L. Goddard, will speak at an assembly on April 15, at 4:00 p.m., in Russell Auditorium.

Goddard resigned last year after 27 months as the FDA chief. He is presently serving as Vice-President for Health Services for Electronic Data Processing Technology, Inc.

While he was Commissioner, Goddard battled against food and drug law violators and the pharmaceutical industry. According to the New York Times, "Goddard pulled drugs off the market, cracked down on drug advertising, and constantly threw in the face of the drug industry the companies' oft-repeated remarks of high-mindedness of purpose." He is credited with transforming the Food and Drug Administration into a forceful, effective agency for the protection of the American consumer.

Ohio. Goddard attended Mount Union College, Washington and Lee University, and Temple University. He received his M.D. from the George Washington University School of Medicine. Dr. Goddard has served the federal government in many areas including Chief of the Public Health Service's Accident Prevention Program, Civil Air Surgeon for the Federal Aviation Agency, and chief of the U.S. Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

Spring Quarter Enrollment

Georgia College's growing Enrollment for the spring quarter reached 1,551, as announced by Mr. Linton Cox, Registrar. This is the largest number ever to attend in the spring. It represents an increase of 200 students or 15.2% over spring quarter, 1964. This number is only slightly under the all-time record enrollment recorded for the winter quarter.

Another milestone for Georgia College is seen in the fact 90.5% of the students are men. This is the first time that the number of men has exceeded 90% of the total enrollment. Current projections indicate that the student population will grow to 6,000 by the mid-70's.

IN MEMORIUM

Comfort Costs

Since many women students have been wondering why they are among the "chosen ones" who must pay higher tuition simply because they live in Wells or in the new dorms, we offer this explanation. The cost of labor and materials used in the dormitories has increased. In order to meet the rising expenses, more money had to come from somewhere.

Since the students who live in Wells and the New Dorm have better rooms and more luxuries such as air conditioning and TV rooms, kitchenettes, and dressing rooms on each floor, the administration felt that they should be the ones to pay more for their comfort and convenience rather than making those who live in other dorms pay for something they don't get. So if you don't like having to pay more, just move close to the less expensive unconditioned dorms and suffer with the rest of us.
Colonnade-A Thing of the Past

Like any old elephant looking for a place to put his trunk, the Colonnade has found its place. It has lasted through the years of CSHC, WCC, WCC and years of GC, but it can no longer hold up under its tremendous strain. It has been the home of over fifty senior classes and dozens of faculty and students. It has been a place for students to gather, enjoy themselves, and make memories.

The main reason the Colonnade no longer survives is that the college staff has concluded that it is too dangerous to have a place like this.

In the future, the college will be looking for a new, safer location for such events. This decision was reached after careful consideration of all the factors involved.

The Colonnade has been a staple of the college community for many years, and its absence will be felt by many. However, the college staff is committed to ensuring the safety of all its students and employees, and this decision is in keeping with that commitment.

Thank you for your understanding and support.

Letters To Editor

(Contr. from pag 2) tration. I attended an- other school where the ad- ministration pretty much said what was to be done and not to be done. The students finally warned some say so about the way things were being run. The college refused and the last I heard when I left the school they were still having sit in demonstrations, bomb threats, and general disorder.

Please do not take this as a threat for it is every- thing but a threat. I just do not want anything to happen to this school as has happened to others. My only hope is that we can work together as one. For that one common goal of unity.
